ELVIS IS RELEASED AT LONG LAST. In observance of what would have been Elvis Presley's 58th birthday, the United States Postage stamp bearing his likeness will be released nationwide on Friday. Mark Stutzman, the Mountain Lake Park artist who illustrated the renowned stamp, will be in Memphis, Tenn., tonight along with his family as the birthday celebration gets underway at Graceland, Elvis' former home. Stutzman is to be interviewed on the TNT network this evening sometime between 8 and 10 p.m. during the network's "Elvis Marathon." The artist is shown above with his two children, Ivan and Felon. Postal Service employee John Kahly is also pictured as he gives a sneak preview of the famous postage stamp. While the first stamps will be released in Graceland one minute after midnight tonight, the rest of the country's P.O.'s will wait until noon tomorrow. For more information on the Stutzmans' trip, see separate story.

Four Found Guilty On Drug Counts As Result Of "Operation Intersect"

Four persons were found guilty of drug counts in Garrett County District Court last week. They had all been arrested as the result of "Operation Intersect," a drug interdiction program set up on Interstate 68 in November by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force, in cooperation with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and the Maryland State Police.

Three Pennsylvania men were all found guilty of possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) and handed 90-day jail terms (all but 48 hours was suspended and credit issued for time served), fined $100 each, and each placed on six months of unsupervised probation. Those sentenced included Matthew C. Emenheiser, 19, Jeffrey D. Cleaver, 18, both of York; and Michael J. Gawlinski, 20, Philadelphia.

In plea agreements with the State's Attorney's Office, drug paraphernalia charges against the men were not prosecuted.

The three had been arrested on November 13 of last year on Interstate 68 near the Amish Road. Police reports indicate that signs were posted on the Interstate to make vehicles aware of the drug interdiction and that drug scans would be completed. Police surveillance officers observed a Chevrolet Monte Carlo and noted that a front seat passenger in the vehicle was observed removing an object

Stutzman To Help Usher In Release Of Elvis Stamp

The long-awaited release of the famous Elvis Presley United States Postage stamp will occur tonight in Memphis, Tenn., at Elvis' home. A party with 1,000 invited guests will get underway at 10 p.m. this evening, and among the attendees will be Mountain Lake Park artist Mark Stutzman along with his wife, Laura, and their two children, Ivan and Felon. Stutzman is the illustrator of the renowned stamp, which won the most votes in an unprecedented national polling event held last spring.

The family, along with local friends Mark and Andrea Hays, will arrive in Memphis this evening in time for a welcome reception at 9 p.m. in Presley's car

Friendsville Residents Ask Mayor To Resign Following Recent Charge

Following a recent charge of indecent exposure filed against Friendsville Mayor Spencer R. Schlosnagle, a group of town residents attended a town council meeting Monday evening to ask for his resignation.

An estimated 50 to 60 persons attended the meeting to voice either their support or opposition to the mayor, who was also in attendance.

The charge of indecent exposure was filed against Schlosnagle at the Maryland State Police Barrack "C" in LaVale on New Year's Eve and the mayor was then arrested on the strength of a warrant following an incident that occurred at approximately 4:15 p.m. in the parking lot at Country Club Mall, LaVale.

According to Sgt. Milburn of the Maryland State Police, James M. Wilkerson stated that Schlosnagle, while in his vehicle, exposed himself to Wilkerson, who was operating a motorcycle in the parking lot.

During the Monday night meeting, some town citizens reportedly urged the town council to turn the decision over to the registered voters by placing the question on a referendum. While some citizens urged Schlosnagle to step down, others reportedly spoke out in favor of him.

According to one town council member, the meeting was conducted in an orderly fashion. Two community members who spoke stated they were not judging the guilt or innocence of the mayor but, according to one man, "We're tired of being laughed at all over the state because of the publicity the mayor has gotten, and we're tired of making excuses for him."

Another community member stated at the meeting, "If I were the mayor, I'd step down out of respect for myself, my family, and my town, and seek medical help." That individual stated that she felt no animosity toward the mayor, and had always had a good working relationship with him.

A spokesperson for the town council stated that the

Blaze Destroys Savage River Cabin Tuesday

Three volunteer fire departments were dispatched to a cabin along Savage River Road early Tuesday morning. The single-story wooden structure was fully involved in flames upon their arrival.

The Allegany County Civil Defense Emergency Center dispatched the Bloomington, Westport, and Barton VFDs to the scene at 3:08 a.m. Firemen remained on the scene for about five hours. The cabin, located about two miles north of Bloomington, burned to the ground.

Also responding to the scene was Tri-Towns Ambulance. There were no injuries reported.

Other details of the incident, such as cause of the fire and owner of the cabin, were unavailable.

REACHING OUT to assist the residents of Homestead, Fla., who were ravaged by a hurricane last August, are a number of Garrett County residents who departed for that area this week with a truck-load of donated building materials. Men from the Crallin Assembly of God, Deep Creek Baptist, and Pleasant View Baptist churches will spend the next week in Homestead, most likely helping to rebuild the Upper Room Assembly of God Church in Homestead that was destroyed by the storm. The 15-member group will be provided room and board at Central Bible Church in Miami. Donating building materials for the venture were Beachy Lumber Company and Piber Building Supplies, Oakland. Pictured above, left to right, are Ray Bashin, pastor of Crallin Assembly of God; Neil Winters, of Winters Construction; and Jim Habrick, of Beachy Lumber Company.

Video Network To Link GCC, ACC, and HJC

Governor William Donald Schaefer announced last week that the state and federal funds will be used to develop an audio/video network linking three community colleges in Western Maryland.

The network linking Garrett Community College, Hagerstown Junior College, and Allegany Community College is expected to be operational in the spring of 1993.

"This is the first step toward a network that will connect all colleges and universities in Maryland so that students anywhere in the state can have access to the academic programs they need," Governor Schaefer said.

The demonstration project will be funded jointly by the federal Appalachian Regional Commission and the Maryland Higher Education Commission.

A study of telecommunications in Maryland last year recommended development of a statewide, interactive video network connecting all 17 community colleges in Maryland.

The video links would be used for both instruction and administrative purposes. Among the possible uses are joint meetings via video conference; combining classes with small enrollments at individual campuses; date and document transmission; and regional programs on remote campuses.

As an example, the Western Maryland demonstration project might make high technology programs offered at Hagerstown Junior College available by video link in the two western most counties.

The network, which will cost an estimated $274,000, will employ interactive technology that will allow students and teachers to hold conversations.

Wayne Hamilton Resigns As Trustee Of Garrett Community College Board

Garrett Community College Board of Trustees Chairman Charles Bender announced the resignation of fellow board member, Wayne Hamilton, at Tuesday's regular monthly meeting of that board.

Bender read a copy of the letter sent to Governor William Donald Schaefer by Hamilton recently citing health problems as his reason for not completing his present term as trustee.

WELCOME, FIRST BABY OF 1993! - Daniel Tyler Lewis, weighing in at a whopping 11 pounds, one and one-half ounces and measuring 22 1/2 inches, was the first baby to be born this year at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. He arrived on January 2 at 4:57 a.m. via a natural birth and to the great glee of his first-time parents, Brian and Kelly Lewis, Oakland. The paternal grandparents are Robert and Mabel Lewis, Oakland. The maternal grandparents are Scott and Diana Geare, Cumberland; and Robert and Alma Hale-Cooper, Harrisonburg, Va. "We want to offer our deep appreciation to Dr. Herbert Leighton and his staff and to the OB staff for being so helpful to us," said the Lewises. "We are just thrilled with the birth of our son." The couple also expressed their appreciation to the local businesses who donated items and/or gift certificates to honor the birth of the first baby of the year. Those businesses include: C & C Stained Glass, train lamp; Crabtree Photography, studio photograph; Foodland, $20 gift certificate; Gregg's Pharmacy, $25 gift certificate; IGA, disposable diapers; J.C. Penney, surprise baby gift; Personality Yours, monogrammed baby blanket; Proudfoot's Pharmacy, baby gift; SuperVaki, surprise package; Toy Chest, $50 gift certificate; Treasure Island, $10 gift certificate; and WEPCO, teddy bear bank.

Bartlett Submits Missing Pennsylvania Man Found Dead In Woods Following Three-Day Search

The body of a missing elderly man from Pennsylvania was found on Tuesday, January 5, 1993, in Greenville Township, Pa., near the Garrett County line. A coroner's report indicated that he died of hypothermia.

Floyd E. "Jake" Livengood, 87, Salisbury, Pa., was last seen at his residence on Friday. His truck was discovered Saturday disabled on a rutted dirt road in the Piney Run area of Garrett County. Sunday's search covered an 1,800 acre area around the vehicle and the search was planned to be discontinued after Sunday.

Two hunters reportedly found Livengood's body near a river about three-quarters of a mile from where the truck was spotted. Family members said he was likely lost and was following the river since avid hunters know to do that when lost.

Assisting Pennsylvania police were the Maryland State Police, the Western Maryland Specialized Crime Scene Search Team, the Shaft, Eastern Garrett, Frostburg, Midland, Clarysville, Westernport, Barton, Salisbury, and Meyersdale fire companies, and Frostburg Area Ambulance.

Born September 7, 1905, at Salisbury, he was a son of the late John W. and Caroline (Folk) Livengood. He was the last surviving member of his immediate family.

Mr. Livengood was an electrician for New England Gear Works. He was a life member of Fort Hill Rifle and Pistol Club and a lifetime master for Outdoor Smallbore Rifle Prone.

Survivors include a number of nieces and nephews.

Friends were received in the Newman Funeral Home, Salisbury, where a service was set for today at 2 p.m. with the Rev. David Fetter officiating.

Interment was in the Salisbury Cemetery.

"Freeze Frames" is the name of a photography contest being sponsored this month by The Republican newspaper, the winner of which will receive a new 35mm camera. Readers are invited to turn to page A-7 in this issue and attempt to identify the local objects/scenes in the 20 photos, all taken by staff photographer Craig Phillips.

To participate in the contest, persons should identify as many photos as possible and submit their lists to The Republican at P.O. Box 326, Oakland. The deadline for entering is January 20 and the winner will be announced in the February 4 issue.

In the event that more than one person correctly identifies all 20 photos, the winner will be determined by a drawing from those entries.

A copy of the photos is also available at The Republican office, 108 S. Second Street, Oakland, for viewing by the public.

VEHICLE SHEARS UTILITY POLE - A young Grantsville man remains listed in "stable" condition in the high-level care unit of Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, according to a hospital spokesperson, after the vehicle he was operating struck a telephone pole early this morning. The pole broke into three pieces upon impact. Thomas Dale Durst, 18, received serious injuries in the 1 a.m. mishap. Maryland State Police at McHenry said the accident occurred when Durst, operating a 1979 Ford truck went on Alternate U.S. Rt. 40 just past the Casselman Road, was allegedly traveling too fast to complete a curve. The brakes apparently locked and slid into the telephone pole. The J.R. Tindal investigated for state police and did file charges in the accident. Durst was transported to the hospital by the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad. Grantsville volunteer firefighters were also dispatched to the scene by Garrett County Emergency Management. Photo by Craig Speicher

State Says End Of Year Economic Improvements Point To Recovery

Although the 1990-1991 recession affected Maryland's economy in 1992, prospects for a continuing recovery in 1993 are good, according to a Maryland Economy 1992 report issued by the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development (DEED).

"Maryland's economy has been somewhat slow in recovering from the recession," said Mark L. Wasserman, secretary of economic and employment development. "However, we are optimistic that the increased economic activity we have seen in Maryland during November and December will continue in 1993."

Secretary Wasserman presented the results of DEED's Maryland Economy 1992 report, prepared by the department's Office of Research, at a news conference today at the Maryland Communications Center in Baltimore.

"Number of factors indicate that Maryland's economy will improve in 1993," he said. "Earnings per worker are growing faster in Maryland than in the nation. Consumer confidence is up. People and companies have paid off many of their debts and are in a position to spend again."

In 1992, some restructuring occurred in the service sector of Maryland's economy, particularly in finance, insurance and real estate. Defense industries continued to downsize, as did the manufacturing and construction sectors.

"The defense industry is an extremely important part of Maryland's economy," said Secretary Wasserman. "We must continue to help our defense contractors and subcontractors diversify and find alternate markets for their products and services."

Secretary Wasserman also mentioned several long-term concerns about the state's economy, including the need for job growth, the commercialization of research, and the modernization of the state's manufacturing sector.

The state's unemployment rate increased from 5.7 percent in October 1991 to 6.4 percent in October 1992, the lowest rate recorded in 1992. Despite this increase, Maryland's unemployment rate continued to remain below the national average in 1992.

From October 1991 to October 1992, Maryland's civilian labor force increased 1.8 percent and the number of employed persons increased 1.1 percent. The nation's civilian labor force increased 1.0 percent and employment increased 0.6 percent during the same time period.

Initial claims for unemployment insurance (UI) fell from 31,920 in October 1991 to 23,223 claims in October 1992, a decline of 27 percent. A significant drop in initial UI claims, a leading economic indicator, usually signals that the economy is expanding.

Employment by place of work fell approximately 2.0 percent from October 1991 to October 1992 as the recession's impact on employment varied greatly from sector to sector. Manufacturing, specifically primary metals, electrical and electronic equipment, instruments, and textile mills and apparel.

"Many manufacturers have been restructuring, which shows up as a loss of jobs," said Secretary Wasserman. "This means that these companies should be more competitive and profitable in the long run."

Employment in the nonmanufacturing sector fell 2.1 percent from October 1991 to October 1992. The construction sector lost 5.5 percent of its jobs, while wholesale trade lost 4.2 percent.

Within the services sector, health services employment continued to grow, from 164,800 to 168,000, an increase of 1.9 percent. This sector of the economy continued to grow in Maryland throughout the recession.

In 1992, Maryland continued to outperform the United States in business vitality. According to Dun & Bradstreet, in 1991, the latest year for which data are available, Maryland had a business failure rate of 96 companies per 10,000, compared to a national rate of 106 per 10,000. Maryland's business failure rate was 9.4 percent below the national average.

Maryland's per capita income is fifth highest in the nation, although the rate of income growth slowed during and immediately following the 1990-1991 recession. In 1991, the latest year for which data are available, Maryland's per capita personal income was $22,189, up 1.7 percent from 1990 and 16 percent above the national average of $19,092.

During the first 11 months of 1992, Maryland counties issued 31 percent more permits for housing units than during the same period in 1991.

From October 1991 to October 1992, retail sales in Maryland rose 8.8 percent, compared with a 7.9 percent increase nationally. Preliminary information for November and December indicate that holiday sales in Maryland will push total retail sales for 1992 above 1991 levels.

During the first half of 1992, total foreign commerce at the Port of Baltimore, measured in tonnage, increased 17.9 percent from the previous year. Export tonnage increased 7.0 percent, while import tonnage increased 33.7 percent.

From January through November 1992, freight volume through Baltimore/Washington International Airport decreased 5.1 percent. Passenger traffic using the airport decreased 9.9 percent during the same period. The decline in air traffic activity can be attributed primarily to the cuts made in USAir's hub and strike activity during the month of October.

Although total passenger and freight traffic through BWI Airport decreased during the first 11 months of 1992, international passenger traffic increased by 9.9 percent and international freight volume increased by 2.6 percent during the first half of 1992.

from the glove box and handing it to a rear seat passenger. When the vehicle was stopped, the driver reportedly gave permission to search the vehicle. Police found a Salem cigarette pack containing two marijuana cigarettes and a smoking pipe in the console area. A smoking pipe and film canister containing suspected marijuana was found on Clearview.

In another "Operation Intercept" case, Stephen P. Anderson, 38, Parkersburg, W. Va., was found guilty of possession of CDS and possession of drug paraphernalia. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered by Judge Jack R. Turney in the case.

A surveillance officer reported that a white Toyota was observed with a passenger throwing something from the car as it approached the enforcement area. Anderson, the passenger, and the driver of the vehicle were searched after the vehicle was stopped and a plastic bag with suspected marijuana and a marijuana smoking pipe were reportedly found on Anderson. That arrest also occurred on November 13.

In other District Court news, Matthew M. Plevyak, 41, an inmate in the Garrett County Jail, was found guilty of malicious destruction of property.

Turney handed him a one-year jail term (to run concurrently with his present jail sentence), fined him $50, and ordered him to make restitution to the Board of Garrett County Commissioners in the amount of $315.

Plevyak reportedly flooded the Garrett County Jail by repeatedly throwing paper into the toilet. The damage resulted in three and one-half hours of custodial time to repair. Large balls of paper were found in the plumbing that had to be taken apart for repairs. Those charges were filed by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

At a sentencing hearing last week, Robert V. Vanderbilt, 21, Oakland, was handed a one-year suspended jail term, fined $25 on each count, and placed on 18 months of supervised probation.

He had been found guilty of three counts of battery in October 13, 1992, court proceedings. A pre-sentence investigation had been ordered by Turney at that time.

Vanderbilt had been arrested stemming from a September 7, 1992, incident in which he battered three persons at Sheetz Convenience Store in Oakland.

As conditions of his probation, he was ordered by the judge to totally abstain from alcohol and/or illicit drugs, attend and complete substance abuse counseling therapy, attend AA at the discretion of his probation monitor, and to have no violent contact with the three victims, Robert Beckman, Amanda Hauser, and Michael DeWitt.

A number of cases stemming from one incident on November 13 were heard in District Court last week.

Raymond Schroyer, 22, Richard L. Uphold, 32, Robin L. Frazee, 23, all of Friendsville; and Daniel R. Malone, 41, Grafton, W. Va., all filed various charges against each other and charges were also filed by the Maryland State Police.

Schroyer was charged with trespassing and malicious destruction of property (mdop) by Robin Frazee. He was found not guilty of trespassing and guilty of mdop. He was given a 60-day suspended jail term, fined $50, and placed on six months of unsupervised probation.

Schroyer was charged with battery by Daniel Malone. The judge found him not guilty on that count.

State police charged Schroyer with being disorderly in a public place, disturbing the peace, two counts of battery, and one count of breaking and entering. The judge found him not guilty on all counts.

Richard Uphold was charged by Frazee with trespassing. The judge found him not guilty. Malone charged him with battery and malicious destruction of property. He was found not guilty on those counts.

State police charged Uphold with breaking and entering, being disorderly in a public place, two counts of battery, and disturbing the peace. He was found not guilty on all those charges.

Daniel Malone was charged with battery and malicious destruction of property by Uphold. He was found not guilty on those charges.

Schroyer charged Malone with three counts of battery. He was found not guilty on all three counts.

State police charged Malone with being disorderly in a public place, one count of battery, and disturbing the peace. He was also found not guilty on all those charges.

Frazee was charged by state police with being disorderly in a public place, disturbing the peace, and one count of battery. She was found not guilty on all those counts.

Police said the altercation began at Ken's Tavern, Friendsville, in the parking lot and continued at Frazee's residence at the Guardian Apartments.

Richard F. Kratochvil, 40, Oakland, had six counts of doing business without a trader's license against him placed on the set docket.

He reportedly brought those late fees current before his court date. The judge did order him to pay his 1992 trader's license fees within the deadline.

Those charges had been filed by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. The report stated that Kratochvil operates a security business in which he is required to obtain trader's license and construction license. He reportedly failed to obtain those licenses in 1990, 91, and 92. He was also reportedly contacted in June and July by letter and had not obtained the licenses by September 24.

Seven counts of selling alcohol to minors against Jamie M. Goehring, 31, Mtn Lake Park, were dismissed because the judge ruled that she had been incorrectly charged. She was reportedly re-charged on civil citations.

Goehring had been charged after reportedly selling wine coolers and cigarettes to seven minors.

Randy L. Wiley, 29, Grantsville, was found guilty of violation of probation on an earlier drug possession charge.

The judge reinstated his earlier sentencing which was one year in jail (six months suspended) and 24 months of supervised probation. He had also been fined $500.

The conditions of his probation include: 1) complete Massie Unit additions program, 2) no violent contact with Susan Durst, and

New FDA Guidelines for Children

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) reminds child care providers to follow label instructions when giving nonprescription medicines to children. FDA Commissioner David Kessler says, "If you take a dose meant for an adult and simply reduce it for a child, you may be giving that child more than is needed - or not enough." FDA suggests:

- Examine dose cups carefully. Cups can be marked with various units of measurement.
- Check with a physician or pharmacist before treating a child with aspirin products. Aspirin should not be used for certain viral infections.

Sheriff's Office Activities Noted

Members of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office made various arrests this week and investigated an automobile accident in which two teenagers were injured and transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital. One remains there in fair condition.

Arrests

An Oakland man was charged with DWI (driving while intoxicated) on January 1 at 2 a.m. Roger L. Alexander, 49, was traveling on Rt. 39 when Dep. Jay Sowers noted that one of the defendant's headlights was out. After stopping him, Sowers conducted field sobriety tests which Alexander apparently failed.

After signing the DWI citation, Alexander was released, according to the report.

Four young area men were charged with theft on January 3, according to the report. Police responded to a call from an Oak Park resident who reported that an unidentified vehicle was parked at the Oak Park Church. Officers were then told that the car was driven to the bowling alley further down the road. Upon inspection of the vehicle, officers found four plastic milk crates, apparently stolen by the defendants.

Charged with theft were John D. Hetrick, 20, Patrick C. Burnett, 20, Michael L. Stewart, 18, and Randall H. Davidson, 18. They were all released on their own recognizance, according to a Sheriff's Office spokesperson.

Thomas E. Roes, 24, Grantsville, was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant to failure to appear in Worcester County District Court.

Michael L. Sisler, 28, Mtn. Lake Park, was issued a bench warrant from Garrett County District Court. Sisler is accused of violating his probation.

William F. Hunter, 33, Terra Alta, W.Va., was arrested in Anne Arundel County on the strength of a bench warrant for failing to appear in the local district court. Hunter was to answer to traffic charges, according to the report.

David P. Mastey, 36, Friendsville, was arrested on the strength of a warrant for violation of an exparte order. He was arrested on Dec. 31, according to the report.

Gary L. Tinsley, 42, Loch Lynn, was issued a bench warrant for failing to appear in district court to answer a CONSERVATION CREW AT WORK YEAR 'ROUND - The Maryland Conservation Corps crew now works throughout the year performing needed tasks in the state's forests and parks. The program began in Garrett County in early December and employs 10 workers between the ages of 19 and 25. The federally funded program is implemented through the Maryland Department of Natural Resources and recruits are hired on a contractual basis, receiving minimum wage and the guarantee of a job upon completion of the 11-month program. The career-training program incorporates on-the-job training in park management, historical restoration, and conservation. The recruits who successfully complete the program will receive $1,200 toward furthering their education and must use the money for that purpose within three years. Shown above are three crew members learning to prune apple trees at Potomac-Garrett State Forest this week. Many more projects are on line for the winter and spring months as well.

DWI charge. Tinsley turned himself in, explaining that he had thought the trial was Jan. 14 when in fact it was scheduled for Jan. 4. A new court date has been set, according to the report.

Vehicle Accident

A Clinton teenager remains in "fair" condition at Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a car wreck on Dec. 31. Robert J. Felix was a passenger in a 1987 Dodge Aries, driven by Jeremy S. Baker, 16, Oakland, when it crashed in the Pleasant Valley area. Baker was also transported to the hospital and was released on Jan. 3, according to a hospital spokesperson.

Baker was northbound on Pleasant Valley Road when, at approximately 8:30 p.m., he left the right side of the roadway and the car struck a fence and then hit two trees. Before coming to rest, the vehicle struck a third tree head-on.

Members of the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad and the Oakland Fire Department responded to the accident scene, as well as Garrett County Sheriff's Office deputies. The road was wet from rain at the time of the accident, according to the report.

The car was owned by Robert H. Felix Jr., Oakland. No citations were issued to the driver.

Bloodmobile Set At Oakland Armory On January 22

The Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross Blood Services, Johnstown Region, has announced its next blood drive on January 22 from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. at the Oakland National Guard Armory.

The blood drive is an effort to maintain the Johnstown Region's commitment to the blood and blood product needs of patients in the 64 hospitals it serves in 40 counties.

"There is a continuous need for blood donors in order to meet the needs of area patients with cancer, leukemia, and other acute and chronic illnesses, as well as the emergency blood needs of accident victims. The only source of blood is healthy people who come out to donate at their local blood drive," said Don Einolf, chapter executive of the Garrett County Chapter.

Einolf said that at the present time, there is a need for all blood types in local hospitals. He explained that because of emergencies or other certain circumstances, hospitals often experience a shortage of certain blood types, most frequently type O. A type O donor can give to any blood type recipient; however, a type O recipient can only receive type O blood.

The Garrett County Chapter is one of 43 chapters in the Johnstown Region.

"Financial Aid Night" To Be Held At ACC

The Allegany County Chamber of Commerce Education Committee will sponsor a Financial Aid Night for the tri-state area on Wednesday, January 13, at the Allegany Community College (ACC) theatre from 7-9 p.m. This event will afford area college-bound students and their parents the opportunity to receive information and assistance with 1993-94 applications for federal, state, and private financial aid.

Professionals from ACC, Garrett Community College, Frostburg State University, Hood College, International Beauty School, Maryland State Scholarship Administration, and the Federal Student Aid Information Center will be available to help with the process.

According to Al Coviello of the Garrett County Board of Education, the reauthorization of the Higher Education Act has undergone several changes recently, and students who were previously ineligible may now be eligible for some federal programs.

Coviello noted that January is "You Can Afford College" month, and that this is the time to begin the admissions and financial aid process. All new and current students and their parents are invited to attend the event, as are persons contemplating a return to school in the fall.

For more information, persons may call 722-9669.

Right To Life Group To March

The Garrett County Right to Life Chapter is sponsoring a bus for participants to attend the March for Life in Washington, D.C., on Friday, January 22. The march marks the 20th anniversary of the Roe vs. Wade decision. Registration will begin at 5:30 a.m. at Oakland Church of the Nazarene, located at the corner of Eighth and Oak streets. The bus will depart Oakland at 6 a.m. and make several stops. The first stop will be in McHenry at Deep Creek Baptist Church on Rt. 219 at 6:15 a.m., followed by stops at the Grantsville Holiday Inn at 6:30 a.m., and Central Assembly of God Church on Bedford Road in Cumberland at 7 a.m.

Marchers are asked to bring a packed lunch, signs, money for supper, and should dress according to the weather. Cost of transportation, including metrofare, is $18 per person. To reserve a seat, persons may contact JoAnn at 301-683-3756. Deadline for registration is January 13.

The day includes a rally on the ellipse, a march down Constitution Avenue to the Capitol, and lobbying legislators. The bus will return to Oakland between 11 p.m. and midnight.

Potomac Council BSA Sets Annual Popcorn Sale

Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, will hold its annual Council-wide fundraiser through February 5. The Council and the individual Scouts will sell Trail's End Gourmet Popcorn, the profits of which will help to finance the activities of the Council outdoor facility, Camp Potomac, and individual units. Profits also help Scouts defray their summer camp fees.

Trail's End Gourmet Popcorn is available only through this Scouting sale. Popcorn is the fastest non-sweetened snack in the country and is high in fiber and low in calories, according to a Council spokesman.

This year, Potomac Council is making five varieties available. In addition to the traditional three-pound bucket, microwave five-packs will be sold, as well as regular and light microwave 12-packs. These include two extra bags free. Also available will be 12 ounces of caramel corn.

Scouts will be taking door-to-door orders in their neighborhoods. For more information, persons may call the Scout Service Center, 301-729-1300.

Bowie Man Charged With Disorderly Conduct, MDOP

A Bowie man was charged with disorderly conduct and malicious destruction of property Sunday by the Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry.

John Joseph Sullivan, 28, was arrested after police were called to a Deep Creek Realty rental property on Deep Creek Drive in regard to a disorderly person.

Witnesses claimed that Sullivan threw a picture, breaking the frame, and that he was using loud and profane language. He was reportedly taken to the Garrett County Jail and was released on his own recognizance that same day, according to a Garrett County Sheriff's Department spokesperson. Tfc. W. Mowbray was the arresting officer.

MDOP REPORTED

In other state police news, a report of malicious destruction of property at Taps Up Ski Shop, McHenry, is being investigated.

The report indicates that sometime between 6 p.m. on Sunday and 8 a.m. on Monday, an unknown person shot the exterior cement wall of the ski shop with a shotgun.

Tfc. D.W. Broadwater is continuing his investigation.

He's At It Again...

As predicted Saddam Hussein is making threats again, most likely because of the change of administration in the United States. He is no doubt testing the waters to see if lame duck George Bush still has the support of the U.S. at large and, secondly, if new president Bill Clinton will tread most softly when it comes to this type of international intervention.

It seems that some kind of military strike by U.N. forces is imminent, and if that should occur we hope that, this time, the job is finished by the removal of Hussein as leader of Iraq. Having his entire armed forces decimated just two years ago obviously did not do the trick. The man continues to be a menace to society, not only on the world front, but also among his own people. Just a few months ago he ordered the execution of some 200 Iraqi businessmen, apparently fearing they were a threat to him. He obviously has no regard for basic human rights, even among his own countrymen. The end result of that mass murder is still greater hardship for the masses in Iraq, whose living conditions are deplorable.

Because of Hussein's on-going extermination of those closest to him, a coup or some other form of internal overthrow seems more and more unlikely. Thus, it will be left to outside forces to dispose of him.

It would be nice if Hussein could be removed without another massive attack by U.N. forces, in which other lives on both sides would be sacrificed. Surely the CIA and intelligence agencies of the other nations involved could come up with a plan that would result in his overthrow with little or no blood shed.

We are pleased that President-Elect Clinton is fully supporting the decisions of President Bush in this matter and is apparently prepared to be just as tough against Hussein. Even a hint of wavering or lack of cooperation between the two would be a boost to this international tyrant.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor and

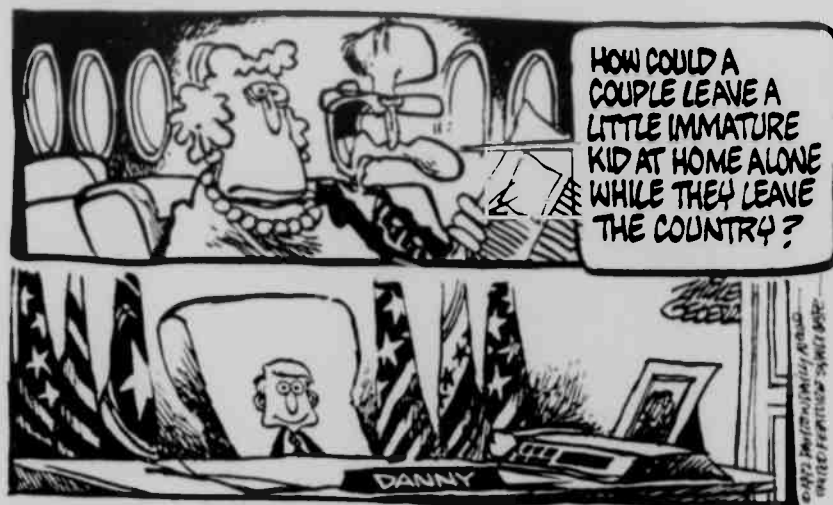

Garrett County Snowmobilers:

In the past several months, snowmobilers from Harford and Frederick counties have been getting involved in trying to start up a snowmobile trail system in the State of Maryland. Perhaps some of you have already been advised of this. Governor Schaefer has accepted that the idea has a tourist attraction, as well as an alternative for Maryland snowmobilers. We have already had two meetings with the Office of Tourism Development and DNR people, one in Bel Air and the other in Middletown. For both meetings, Garrett County representatives were invited, to no avail. At the Middletown meeting on October 14, 1992, Mr. Steve Sholl of the DNR recommended that initial trail system activity be confined only to Garrett County, since that is the best place to start and maybe the only area to consider for a snowmobile trail system. The latter idea ties in with the thought that Garrett County is also the best place in the state to attempt any tie-ins with Pennsylvania. Mr. Josh Waldorf, of the Office of Tourism Development, accepted the DNR's recommendation, and since the predictable snowfall in Garrett County also offers one of the best arguments for that fact, the rest of the attendees at the meeting agreed.

With the acceptance of DNR's proposal, a different focus on all of our efforts became apparent: where we all were looking at the idea of statewide trail acceptance, now Garrett County becomes the most important link. However, without the snowmobilers and other citizens of Garrett County becoming re-interested and re-involved in working toward a snowmobile trail system, we at this end of the state become outsiders who are pushing for a trail system in your county. That can and will be a problem, as we see it.

Is it possible that a meeting can be arranged between some seriously interested Garrett County snowmobilers, representatives of the Free State and Catocin Valley Snowmobilers, the Office of Tourism Development, and the DNR? We are willing to drive out to Garrett County to meet with you...or to make it fair for all concerned, to have a second meeting at a half-way point of your choosing. The purpose of the meeting will be to bring you up to speed on the depth of what has transpired thus far, and to rekindle your interest in the fine effort which the Garrett Task Force for Winter Trails started back in the '80s. Can a few people there become contacts for this effort, and become representatives for Garrett County in future meetings?

Some contacts are as follows: Josh Waldorf, Office of Tourism Development, (410) 333-6611; Frank Van Nostrand, Chairman of Trails Committee, Free State Snowmobilers, (410) 679-4148; George Kells, President, Free State Snowmobilers, (410) 836-0512; Jay Zeman, Vice President, Free State Snowmobilers, (410) 692-6790; and Bob Lach Jr., President, Catocin Valley Snowmobilers, (301) 829-0348.

We look forward to working with you.

Sincerely,
Frank Van Nostrand,

To the Editor:

The letter of Delegate Edwards, as published in your December 31, 1992, issue of The Republican, deserves a reply to more fully cover the situation described therein. As one who was involved in the making of the cited petition for term limitations, I feel obligated to make the reply in behalf of the citizens who signed the petition.

First, I must say we felt put down by the Delegate Edwards when he arbitrarily decided to ignore our petition. It's not that Delegate Edwards would be expected to agree with every issue presented to him. But if he disagrees there should be communication and discussion so that his reasoning for or against an issue can be understood by those involved and, for that matter, understood by all of his constituents. In his letter Delegate Edwards states, "If I don't agree with something, I'm not going to put in a bill just to do it." This is an arbitrary dictatorial position.

The petition cited in a letter was sent to Delegate Edwards on February 7, 1991. It provided for limiting the term of the office of County Commissioners to two terms (eight years). The petition contained 70 signatures of Garrett County citizens. They were obtained over a short period of time during the height of the Gulf War and during our worst winter weather. Circulation of the petition was cut short so as to meet the bill submission deadline of the General Assembly. Had more time been allowed for circulation of the petition it is believed an overwhelming majority of the Garrett citizens would have signed it. With rare exception every one contacted was ready to sign. Upon receipt we felt confident Delegate Edwards would introduce a bill to provide for a referendum on term limitations.

A response was not received from Delegate Edwards until April 8, 1991, after the recess of the General Assembly. To quote from his letter response, "You know my position on this issue because I have stated it publicly. Because one person who was elected had a part of the platform this particular issue does not indicate to me that there is overwhelming support for it at this particular time." Other than this quoted statement no rational or reasoning was given as to why he opposed the petition.

It was apparent the person referred to by Delegate Edwards was the newly elected County Commissioner Brenda Butcher who campaigned on limiting the commissioners to two terms in office. With this issue as part of her platform, Commissioner Butcher was elected by the highest number of votes ever received by a candidate for county commissioner.

In his letter Delegate Edwards states "If it was such a hot item, why didn't they write term limitations into the (home rule) charter?" From this statement it is apparent Delegate Edwards is not conversant with the provisions in the Maryland Constitution for preparation of home rule charters. Under the Constitution a charter board is appointed by County Commissioners to prepare a recommended charter form of government where by local laws may be enacted by the county instead of bills for local laws being submitted to the General Assembly in Annapolis. A charter does not enact local laws, it provides the means for the local government to enact such laws. Notwithstanding this was a vindictive statement inasmuch as the recommended home rule charter for Garrett County was soundly defeated by the voters and, thusly, Delegate Edwards legislative powers were not reduced. He could have also incorrectly said why wasn't local Sunday liquor sales written into the charter?

When it comes to the recent submission of the bill for a referendum on Sunday liquor sales in Garrett County, Delegate Edwards goes against his own policy statement in which he states he will introduce local legislation when it is favored by a majority of the three County Commissioners. In this instance two of the County Commissioners were strongly against the bill for Sunday liquor sales. However, in defiance of his own policy he introduced a bill to take it to referendum.

The point to be made in this reply is why should I be left up to Delegate Edwards to arbitrarily decide on what is good for Garrett County? Is he not obligated to find out what his constituents want instead of making arbitrary decisions on his own? Are the signatures of 770 citizens on a petition just to be ignored? Is he truly representing his constituents on local matters?

The letter of Delegate Edwards also contains statements in regard to salaries of Garrett County officials. His statements are misleading and fail to reveal how he has sidestepped responsibility. This will be the subject of a follow-on letter to the Editor.

John E. Hinebaugh Sang Run

To the Editor:

I feel that I must respond to Mr. Edwards' unfair attack on Mrs. Butcher, in which he uses pure disinformation and omission of facts, like: "Over the years I have basically taken the position that on issues that impact the commissioners' office, a majority of the board should favor it before introducing legislation and unless I totally disagree, then it has been introduced." Then you were in total agreement on the recently defeated immorally sick-booze on Sunday sales? Then—and unless I totally disagree, then it has been introduced."

News From Social Security Admin.

SOCIAL SECURITY RECIPIENTS MUST REPORT EARNINGS
by Thomas W. Armbruster
District Manager

If you worked and received Social Security benefits in 1992, you have until April 15 to report your earnings to Social Security if you earned over the annual limits. The 1992 earnings limits were $7,440 for beneficiaries under age 65 and $10,200 for beneficiaries age 65-69. The earnings limits do not apply to people who are age 70 and over the entire year.

The purpose of the annual earnings report is to enable us to compare your actual earnings with the estimate you provided when you applied for benefits or when you filed last year's earnings report. The benefits you were paid in 1992 were based on that estimate. If you earned less than you estimated, you may be due additional money. If you made more than estimated for 1992, you may have to repay some benefits.

The report should also include an estimate of the earnings you expect to make in 1993. Note that the earnings limits for 1993 are $7,680 for beneficiaries under age 65 and $10,560 for beneficiaries age 65-69. Again, your benefit check will be adjusted to reflect any excess earnings anticipated.

If your records show that you expected to have earnings over the 1992 limits, we will send you an Annual Report of Earnings form in the mail automatically. If you do not receive the report form by the end of February, you should call our toll free number to have one sent to you.

Failure to report your earnings by April 15 may result in substantial penalties. You can be penalized up to 1 full month's benefits and be required to repay an overpayment. You should be aware that filing a Federal income tax return does not take the place of filing an annual report to Social Security. Your report may be made by phone if you choose.

To file an earnings report or to get more information, call Social Security's toll free telephone number, 1-800-772-1213, any business day between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

An Update From The Superintendent

By
Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, Superintendent
Of Garrett County Public Schools

The School-Community Centers Program

The School-Community Centers Program (SCCP) began in 1971 through a cooperative effort of the then Governor Marvin Mandel and the General Assembly. The SCCP channels funds through the Maryland State Department of Education to allow schools to remain open after regular school hours for the purpose of both education and recreational activities. In many counties throughout the state of Maryland, a division of parks and recreation operates its programs with these funds. Garrett County is a relatively poor county and finds it difficult to support a parks and recreation department. As a result, the school board took on this responsibility when the funding became available and has operated it ever since.

Normally a winter program of 10 to 16 weeks and a summer program of approximately 10 weeks are operated. This year we will only be able to operate a winter program from basically January 4 to March 15, with no SCCP funds being available for the summer program. The change is a direct result of the financial condition in our state in that two years ago the SCCP was funded by a grant of over $27,000. This year's program is funded at $6,500 and, as a result, Mr. Tom Woods, the program director, has had to pare back the program to a minimum.

This year we will still have a good variety of offerings, including drop-in recreation, youth basketball, wrestling, weight training, music, computer studies, and tutoring at selected sites. Unfortunately, we cannot offer all of these activities at each of the sites. For a detailed listing of dates/times/sites please refer to last week's issue of The Republican, contact your school principal, or call the Board of Education and ask for SCCP information.

What's Happening in Our Schools?

* All public school classes resumed on January 4.
* The school year will be half over and report cards will come more or less on the way on Jan. 27.

Note: The Superintendent's Update can be heard every other Sunday on WMSG/WXIE Radio at 8:45 a.m. and every other Saturday on WKHL at 8:35 a.m.

Mr. Edwards, Hitler and most of the dictators throughout the world, operate exactly the same as you do, for they too decide what is best for the taxpayers, and just as you do, they also throw away any papers, petitions, that are presented by the taxpayers, into the circular file, when they disagree with the constituency. Mr. Hitler was elected to the German legislature, by due democratic process, just as you were elected to the Maryland Legislature, and both, after being elected, no longer felt that you were to serve the taxpayers, as you should, instead of patronizing them as you do.

Garrett County has a Salary Study Commission in which I believe to be a fair approach and one which has functioned well for many years. "You are so right! The only question is, who does it 'function well' for? Definitely not the taxpayers, for the present county commissioners' salaries are almost double the salaries paid by our neighboring county, and it soon will triple the neighbor salaries; this you call as functioning well—for a fraction of work that our neighbor county has to do."

Your next whopper: "The petition was headed up by some of the same people who put together the Charter that was recently defeated. If it was such a hot item, why didn't they write in term limits into the Charter?" Poor George—the Charter provided the procedure whereby, if the voters wanted term limits, they had the right to use those procedures, and get the term limits on the next General Election, which you now deny the taxpayer any right to even have his wishes considered on the ballot, since, as you so eloquently explained, "unless I totally disagree, then it has been introduced."

Boo oh boy, you and Hitler were/are tough on the taxpayers, as you patronize them. To keep my letter short, I must forego proving the rest of your letter, since it is consistent with the half that was shown to be crazy. You would have to live many lifetimes before you could reach the moral and ethical standards that Mrs. Butcher has.

Theodore Raynovich Sr.
Oakland

To the Editor:

Let's face it squarely for once in our lives: politicians and public "servants" believe they should not be treated like "ordinary" people. Why? Because they "know" they are "more equal" (better?) than the rest of us. That's how they rationalize making laws that apply to us, but not to themselves!

In the real world, if an Oakland Senior Center will serve meals on Monday, January 11 and Wednesday, January 13 and will be closed on Friday, January 15. Wednesday/Friday serving schedule will resume January 20.

WHITE HOUSE WATCH

By Warren Rogers

Last hurrah of a lame duck

WASHINGTON — President-elect Bill Clinton might be forgiven if he complained of a touch of dizziness from trying to keep up with all the comings and goings and jets, barrel rolls and loops of the lame duck currently performing his last hurrah at the White House.

After almost four years of a glib, deliberate, reactive incumbency, President Bush seems to be leaning to the attack on several fronts. To paraphrase Will Shakespeare, assessment of another leader in another day, we may soon be saying that nothing in Bush's presidency became him like the leaving it.

Almost every day we learn of a new Bush gambit, bold and provocative, significant and far-reaching.

And there is this. While Bush is doing his last hurrahs, at home and abroad, the Clinton transition team is doing double-takes, scratching its collective head and leaving through voluminous briefing books.

Where does it say about U.S. troops in Somalia? About possible air strikes against Serbian bases outside Sarajevo? About U.S. backslows of Iraqi jets? About Iran-contra pardons for Caspar Weinberger and some but not all others involved? About carrying out the historic START II nuclear reduction treaty that Bush is signing with Russia's Boris Yeltsin?

Somewhat, Clinton looks a little as he did back then in New Hampshire. Remember? Every time he turned around he was getting hit with something. Mostly, it was extramarital this and that, and what were you doing in London and even Moscow when your country was at war in Vietnam?

Now, as then, he keeps talking, responding to each new development and generally saying the right things. But he looks a little dazed and those smiles lack conviction. Now, as then, what Bush is doing to him is not the kind of transition he had in mind.

How can he hit the ground running on Inauguration Day Jan. 20, waving his Banner of Change, with all that leftover and unfinished business? And is it not all the more bitter since Bush surfaced it after losing the Nov. 4 election?

You have to go back to 1988 for a parallel, however vague. When Adams, intimated by his loss to Thomas Jefferson, made a bit of last-minute appointments that caused Jefferson problems for a while, Adams lost after only one term, too, thanks mostly to the unpopularity of the Alien and Sedition Acts of 1798 that he supported.

Jefferson had no stronger mandate than Clinton with less than half of the popular votes in the three-way race against Bush and independent Ross Perot. Jefferson actually was elected by the House of Representatives after he and Aaron Burr tied in Electoral College votes.

Much has been made — and deservedly so — of the careful, thorough job performed by the Clinton transition team. Whether it has come up with a Cabinet and sub-Cabinet that is "more like America," as Clinton promised, remains open to question. But there is no doubt the results reflect more sensitivity to the demands of women and minorities for representation.

Now there is a slew of problems and challenges that were not even in sight when the transition team began combing its lists of available talent. Thanks to the post-election activities of the despising Bush, stirring pots as he reaches for his hat and coat, Clinton may find his timetable and priorities scrambled.

Clinton has indicated he will be a hands-on president, drawing on a broad cadre of advisers to reach his own, independent conclusions. It begins to look as if he will have to put those hands to work unraveling foreign problems like how tough to get with the toughs in Somalia, Bosnia and Iraq, and how to coerce Ukraine into parting with its nuclear weapons in compliance with the Bush-Yeltsin START II — not to mention deciding how much support to give special prosecutor Lawrence Walsh's pursuit of the guilty in the Iran-contra debacle.

If Clinton is perceived as caught up in all that, while not moving fast enough on economic issues (translation jobs), his first hundred days could be a rocky honeymoon, indeed.

Revenge of the Lame Duck? Nah.

individual, or corporate entity, had treated the Justice Department - let alone its designated "special prosecutor" - in the cavalier fashion Judge Walsh's requests were handed. The Justice Department would have sent in their "storm troopers" to seal the files and intimidate and chastise any and all protesters in their wake - at the very least!

The fact is, the Bush and Reagan Administrations were, at times, totally non-responsive to Judge Walsh's requests, e.g., failure to submit President Bush's personal notes on relevant matters as requested - in a timely fashion. There were many other examples in the past six years.

It does no good to scream "foul" after the fact - when you know you acted surreptitiously in the first instance.

President Reagan had the option of challenging the restrictive Boland Amendments, which are considered unconstitutional by many. He could have leveled with the American people on the actions he wished to take via a "our hostages and Contra supply, and won't believe. Instead, he, and others, consciously chose to act outside the prevailing law of the land by institutionalizing lying to Congress. We are nothing if we are not a nation of liars, and not of men!

As a former Democrat who voted twice for Reagan and once for Bush, I firmly believe Reagan could have had it his way if he had had the sto do it all up front. He would have had the left leaning, near criminal-class Congress on his back, but in the end the American people, and the courts, would have helped him prevail. But when you elect a clandestine and devious course, however noble your motives, and lucid adroit knows a line of clear demarcation is being crossed and there is usually a price to pay for such actions.

Most other criminal classes accept the admonition: If you're not prepared to pay the price don't commit the act. Politicians and public "servants" however, do not have to even acknowledge the existence of such a premise - for they have created for themselves a precarious world in which responsibility can be shunted aside,

Mr. Weinberger: When you participate in "circling the wagon," you become a part of the action even if you don't fire your weapon, and your involvement automatically extends to the genesis of the problem being covered up.

Judge Walsh's gross mismanagement of the entire case is a given, as is the fact that we will never set our house in order without accountability in government at all levels! It has long been "conspicuous by its absence" and will remain so until term limitations take root and begin bearing honest labor by all its servants on behalf of the people!

3) not to return to the residence of Susan Durst.

Wiley had been charged with violation of probation on December 2 on the strength of a bench warrant.

Information had reportedly been obtained through confidential informants that Wiley had returned to marijuana and alcohol use and that he continued to mentally and verbally abuse Susan Durst. A Department of Natural Resources Police informant also stated that Wiley illegally killed a deer in November of last year. Fresh deer meat was reportedly found at his place of residence.

DWI CASES

Sentence revisions were granted for four persons who had been found guilty of DWI driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs in earlier court proceedings.

Judy C. Broadwater, 46, Md., was granted probation before judgment. She must also complete an alcohol clinic in Allegany County. She had been charged with DWI on August 16, 1992, by the Maryland State Police.

George R. Lauer Jr., 49, Md., was granted probation before judgment. He had been charged by the Maryland State Police with DWI on August 2, 1992.

Lawson Duckworth III, 23, Md., was granted probation before judgment. He had been charged with DWI by the Maryland State Police on June 20, 1992.

Stephen E. Miller, 35, Va., had his driving while intoxicated charge reduced to driving while under the influence of alcohol. He had been charged with DWI by the Maryland State Police on March 1, 1992.

AURORA/EGLON NEWS

TO CELEBRATE 92ND
Mrs. Lydia Harsh will be observing her 92nd birthday on January 12. Her address is: 931 Middleburg, Kent, Ohio 44240. Mrs. Harsh is a former Aurora resident, now residing with her daughter, MOUNTAINEERS BUSY.

Before reaching the month of December, the Egdon Mountaineer 4-H held two workshops on November 27, one for first-year members instructed by Arlene Lantz, Jeremiah Feather and Mark Uterback, and another on foods, led by Elaine Roth and Linda Snyder.

On December 14, the Food Committee met prior to the regular meeting to prepare the refreshments which were all made from recipes in their project books. Those participating were Micah Feather, Sarah Snyder, Matthew Bachtel, Shawn Rembold, Malinda Mayne, and Michelle Shaffer.

President Kevin Corbin called the meeting to order and the Activity Committee, Jeremiah Feather, Grant Harsh, Kim Collins and Kelly Kowalkowski, presented the devotions. Shawn Rembold led the 4-H and flag pledges.

Adam Bachtel and Jessica Shaffer reported on the first year member workshop while Sarah Snyder reported about the foods workshop. Allen Hartsell, absent at the Achievement meeting, was presented with his first-year pin. The club is making a donation of $25 to the Preston County 4-H Foundation and $15 to the IFYE program.

UNION AMBULANCE REPORTS

Union Ambulance made a total of 158 runs in 1992, 75 of which were medical emergencies. Of those 75, 56 required the assistance of medic. There were 22 non-emergency transports, 12 refused transport, 22 motor vehicle accidents, three DOA's, six standby calls to assist either Mt. Grove or Aurora VFD, and there were two mock disaster involvements. Other activities included assistance with the health and spirometry testing at the Aurora Fire Hall, two days at the Blackwater 100, four days at the Bluegrass Festival, one at the Potato Festival, and an escort of the cross-country cyclists through the area. These runs totaled 6,180 ambulance miles and many hours of donated time from the 21 drivers, 21 EMT's, nine aides, and four medics who compose the Union Ambulance personnel.

The organization noted appreciation to all of those who donated crafts and to the many who purchased them. Remaining crafts will be used for the planned spring auction. Proceeds from this sale, as well as from the auction, will go toward a building fund for a new squad hall.

The auction, now in the planning stages, will be taking donations, including items donated on consignment with partial payment going to the squad and part to the donor. More information will be forthcoming and it is requested that persons plan now for items to donate to this cause.

A mandatory class for Union Ambulance members will be held on Monday, January 11, at 7 p.m. at the Aurora School with Hollis Lipscomb present to teach concerning OSHA rules and regulations. All members, including drivers, EMT's, aides and medics, are required to attend the class and they also welcome members of both Aurora and Mt. Grove Volunteer Fire Departments.

A defensive driver's class is also being planned. Anyone interested is asked to contact Linda Martin at 735-6481 or Cindy Harsh at 735-6801 in the near future.

Union Ambulance needs and welcomes new members. PERSONAL MENTION
Beulah Hardesty of Aurora was taken last Tuesday to Garrett Memorial Hospital where she received treatment and returned to her home.

Lynn and Don Leckner of Shinnston and their daughters, Sara and Laura, were visitors last weekend at Aurora with her mother, Mrs. Gertrude Stemple, and her brother, Joe Stemple, and sister, Mary Kowalkowski, and their families.

Out-of-town relatives here to attend the funeral of Erma Forman and who visited in the home of Fred and Dortha Forman, Amboy, were Nancy Wiles, Crafton, a sister of Miss Forman and Mr. Forman, Anne Smith and Ralph "Buster" Smith Jr., Canonsburg, Pa.; Howard and Carol Wiles, Oakland, Va.; Mary and Gary Woodruff, Jackson, Ohio; Dale, Carolyn and Sarah McVicker, Reedsville, and Sandra Snoderly, Craig and Joann, Jeffrey Wiles, and Elizabeth Humsey, all of Fairmont.

Visiting on Monday after Christmas with Ron and Avenell Parsons, Egdon, were Joann and Mahlon Fisel of Downingtown, Pa. Leroy and Linda Roth of Troy, Ohio, and their father, Darrell Roth, Morgantown.

Paul and Shirley Hinch and Adam of Westminster were New Year weekend visitors at Aurora with their sister and family, Kirk and Anita Lantz and children. On Saturday they all, except for the Lantz son, Brian, who was ill, went to Cresaptown where they visited a brother, Larry and Donna Knotts and Heather, and their children, Greg Knotts and Suzanne D'Atri and their families, the occasion being Larry's birthday. They were accompanied by their mother, Lillian Knotts of Egdon.

Herb and Jean Starr returned last Tuesday from a holiday visit in Ohio with their children, Shirley Poling, Jenny Casto, Terry Starr, and Debbie Crites and their families and also visited Herb's mother, Annie Star at Twinsburg, with his uncles, Robert PUNKET and Raymond PUNKET, at Akron. They also visited with Mrs. Starr's brothers, Richard, Lyle and Dale Harsh and their families. Visiting the Starrs this weekend were Skip and Bert Bailey of Carrollton, Ohio.

Keith and Delores Douglas have moved from Ohio to their home in Aurora, the former Russell Z. Feather property. Mr. Douglas is now retired from employment.

Also moving to Aurora were Herb Galters who have purchased the former Josephine Stanton house, recently vacated by the Robert Dunkin family when they moved to the Pittsburgh area.

Visitors here this weekend for the funeral of Josephine Roth were Ken and Pauline Hausner of Cleveland, who were guests of Mrs. Mary Hausner, their daughter and her husband, Shirley and Wade Eggleman, also of Cleveland, who were guests of Gerald and Almeda Lipscomb, all of Horse Shoe Run, and J. Robert and Eileen Rembold of Pittsburgh, who were guests of their son and family, the Bruno Rembolds, at Egdon.

Frank and Wilda Blamble and Charles of Stemple Ridge visited their children at Christmas. Gary, Sherry, Erica, Emily and Elisha Blamble of Louisville, Ohio; Doris and David Watkins of Medina, Ohio; Brenda and Jeff Sayre and Ryan of Litchfield, Ohio. The entire family spent Christmas Day in the Sayre home.

Visiting this weekend at Stemple Ridge with the Frank Blambles were David and Doris Watkins of Medina, Ohio. They also visited with her grandparents, Viola Harsh, Elwood and Hazel Blamble.

On Sunday, January 3, the family of Viola Harsh met at her home for a holiday dinner. Present were: Frank, Wilda and Charles Blamble, Crystal Auvil, Joseph Paugh, Bonnie and Amelia Friend, Clyde and Willard Harsh, all local. Connie Harsh, Oakland, Ralph and Hannah Harsh, Todd and Mary Lenhart, David, Peggy, Dwight and Kari Snyder, all Albright; Kenneth, Millicent and Amanda Harsh of Bruceton Mills; David and Doris Watkins, Medina, Ohio.

Mrs. Frances Jefferies, 66, of Horse Shoe Run died Sunday, January 3, at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Paulette and "Butch" Wilson.

Tammy Moats, daughter of Harry and Marsha Moats, Aurora, left Sunday for Springdale, Ark., where she will be an employee for Cannon Express Trucking.

council will take no action at this time to impeach the mayor because, "we don't know what happened yet."

Just two weeks ago, a Garrett County Circuit Court jury overturned a guilty verdict handed down in Garrett County District Court after Schlossnagle was charged with battery against a Pittsburgh woman. He also faced charges of assault and battery and of telephone misuse during the last few years.

Schlossnagle was contacted this morning about the charge and the call for his resignation but declined to comment "at this time."

museum, located across the street from Graceland. During that hour, Mark will be interviewed live on the TNT network, as that station broadcasts an "Elvis Marathon" in honor of the late musician's birthday.

The official birthday celebration will begin at 10 p.m., featuring fireworks and several presentations. At exactly one minute after midnight, the first Elvis stamps will be released at a nearby post office. This office was built specially for the Elvis stamp event, constructed and opened in time to release the voting ballots this past spring, and now to be the location of the initial stamp release.

All other U.S. Post Offices will release the sought-after stamp on Friday at noon. The Stutzmans will tour Graceland and the surrounding grounds on Friday.

Saturday's agenda for the artist will include a luncheon for 300 Elvis Presley Fan Club presidents. Stutzman will be a guest at the event. The family will return to Mtn. Lake Park on Sunday.

More of Stutzman's work will be seen soon at McDonald's restaurants as his designs for cups will be used in the promotion of "Jurassic Park," a dinosaur thriller scheduled for summer release.

To obtain a signed lithograph of the Elvis stamp, see ordering information elsewhere in this issue.

Young Laker Women's Team To Open Campaign At Frederick CC

The Garrett Community College women's basketball team will open its season Friday on the road, traveling to Frederick Community College. Entering his fourth year as head coach of the Lakers is men's coach Dennis Gibson, who is assisted by Jamie Workman and former Garrett standout Marcia DeBerry.

Overall the team is small, but are very quick and good shooters," Gibson said. "The squad consists of nine solid basketball players who should definitely improve on last year's 4-16 record."

The 1993 Laker team will be highlighting the return of one of the region's top players, Heather Shepherd. Shepherd, who was a Region XX Honorable Mention Selection, led the Lakers in scoring averaging 16.6 points per game and an overall field goal percentage of 37.0 percent. In addition, she averaged 3.75 steals and assists per game.

Also returning from last year's team is former East Preston standout, Tracy Feather. Feather averaged 5.7 points per game and led the team in three-point field goal percentage with 32.4%.

Complimenting the Laker squad are new recruits, Krista Keplinger, Dawna Friend, Dana Brown, Charity Taylor, Karen Denham, Cara Wachter, and Michelle Duling.

A Potomac Valley Conference first team selection and product of Petersburg High School, Keplinger averaged 15 points per game.

During her junior year, Friend, a starter for the East Preston Eagles, posted solid performances. With the consolidation of the Preston County schools, competition for playing time increased; however, she remained a key player for the Eagles.

Brown, a five-foot-ten-inch forward/center and standout at Valley High School, averaged 10 points and 14 rebounds per game.

While participating in the dual sports of volleyball and basketball at Allegany High School, Taylor was named Best All-Around Female Athlete.

While at Elkins High School, Denham participated on the 1991 Conference and Sectional Championship teams. She averaged eight points, five assists, and four steals per game. However, she will not be eligible for participation with the Lakers until the end of January.

Rounding out the team are local recruits Cara Wachter from Northern High and Southern's Michelle Duling.

Wachter, who was named Outside Shooter MVP, averaged 10 points, eight rebounds, and three steals per game for Coach Harv Speicher.

A Second-Team All-Area selection, Duling was third in the area in scoring and led Coach Don Stemple's Rams with 19 points per game and averaged five assists. She was named Southern High's MVP.

"These girls need to understand it will take time for them to gel as a team, plus they start off the season with three of the top teams in the MDJUCO," stated Gibson.

Carlson Leads Southern Girls Over Fort Hill

Ingrid Carlson pumped in 19 points and grabbed 11 rebounds to pace the Southern varsity girls over visiting Fort Hill last night 63-44. It was the sixth win in eight starts for Coach Don Stemple's Rams.

Another key player in the victory was Carrie Newcomb, who recorded 16 points and seven steals. Josie Coviello added seven points and six assists.

The Rams were in control of the contest from the beginning, holding leads of 13-5, 29-12, and 45-22 at the quarters. It was the third loss in six games for the Sentinels.

Leading Fort Hill's scoring was Christa Smith, who

Husky Matmen Mash Mohigans For Seventh Win

The Northern High wrestling team upped its perfect record to 7-0 last night by mashing Morgantown High, 49-21, on the Huskies' mats.

Pin victories were recorded by Huskies Chris Rowe in the 135-pound division, Dean Green at 152, and Nathan Mickle in the 171-pound bout. Winning on points for Northern were Greg Miller (145) and Jason Fazenbaker (heavyweight).

Chris Barto (125), Mike Boyles (160), and Nathan Harman (189) earned pins for the Mohigans.

The Huskies will return to action this Saturday when they host the Garrett County Invitational. Other teams slated to participate in the tourney are Southern, Fort Hill, Hyndman, Westmar, Frankfort, Petersburg, University, and Keyser.

Ram Grapplers Fall To Keyser

Despite the fact that only two members of the Southern High School wrestling team lost their bouts last night against Keyser, the Rams were handed a 48-24 defeat, as the visiting Golden Tornado racked up most of their points via forfeits.

The under-manned Ram team was led by Jason Burgess (125), Mike Liller (130), Pete Strawser (145), and Sonny Livengood (171), who all recorded pin

Northern Girls Fall To Beall, Defeat Hyndman

The Northern High School girls' varsity was topped by host Beall Monday evening, 38-25, but came back to record a win Tuesday night at home against Hyndman. The split left the Huskies with a 4-3 record, which they will put on the line against Hyndman again on Monday.

Jenny Cain led the 6-1 Mountaineers over the Huskies on Monday with a 12-point performance, while teammate Jenni Price finished with nine points. Beall was on top throughout the contest, with leads of 11-4, 21-10, and 27-18 at the quarters.

Wanda Swartzwelder paced the Huskies with 11 points.

The Northern junior varsity was victorious in the preliminary game, defeating the Beall jayvees, 42-37, behind an 11-point effort by Laura Swartzwelder. The 1-3 Beall squad was led in scoring by Marli Zembower and Stacy Stakem, who each finished with seven points.

Wanda Swartzwelder also paced the varsity Husky offense Tuesday night in the win over Hyndman, as she netted a game-high 15 points. Bobbi Dolan added eight points and seven rebounds, Elida Schofield hit eight points, and Lisa Stephens contributed five assists.

The Huskies took control of the contest early, jumping out to a 7-2 lead by the end of the first quarter, stretching their advantage to 29-10 by halftime, and going into the final period with a commanding 43-14 lead.

The winless Hyndman team (0-5) was led by Trish Miller with eight points and Holly Helzer with seven.

The Northern jayvees also won in the preliminary game, rolling over the Hyndman junior varsity, 40-13.

Rams Ripped By Keyser, 85-60; Record Now 2-6

The Southern High Rams gave up an eight-point halftime lead and allowed Keyser to hand them an 85-60 thrashing Tuesday night on the Golden Tornado's floor. It was the sixth defeat in eight games for the young Southern squad.

The Rams held a two-point advantage, 20-18, by the end of the first quarter and led 42-34 at halftime. Keyser chipped away at the lead in the third stanza and went on top by one, 53-52, by the end of that quarter. Then, led by A.J. Stevenson, the Tornado poured it on in the fourth period to outscore the Rams, 32-8, and record the 25-point victory. Stevenson finished with a game-high 33 points, 15 of which were scored from three-point range, while B.B. Horton added 23 points and Corey Glass recorded 18.

Pacing the Rams' offense were Mark Elliott and Doug Copeland, who each netted 15 points. Jeremy Bosley was close behind with 14 points and Jeremy Sanders contributed 10.

The Southern junior varsity was edged in the preliminary game by the Keyser jayvees, 54-49 in overtime. Eli Rhodes led Keyser with 18 points and Brian Carlson paced the Rams with 16.

The Rams will host a strong Allegany team this Friday and then travel to Petersburg next Tuesday.

tion as a Garrett County commissioner. We will sorely miss the expertise of Wayne Hamilton."

GCC President Dr. Stephen Herman added, "When I came to this college as a freshman president some eight years ago, Wayne Hamilton was a steady influence for me. His understanding of Garrett County people was invaluable to me. I am indebted to him - both personally and professionally."

LEADERSHIP ACADEMY PRESENTATION

During Tuesday's meeting, Dr. Nancy Prisela, special assistant to the president, gave a presentation on the Mon Valley Leadership Academy, a curriculum development program with a focus on leadership development for economic development. She was assisted by Jon Loff, Continuing Education Department at Allegany Community College; and Tom Jones, Garrett County Economic Development director.

Prisela noted that the second module of the nearly year and one-half course was just completed and that the third module is set to begin in April.

Mon Valley Network is the parent organization of the Leadership Academy. It is an independent, non-profit organization incorporated in 1988 in West Virginia. The office is located on the campus of West Virginia University, Morgantown.

The network's Mon Valley includes the 18-county Monongahela River basin which extends from north central West Virginia into southwestern Pennsylvania and western Maryland. Financial support is obtained by annual membership contributions from organizations and individuals and by project grants.

The Mon Valley Tri-State Leadership Academy, with support from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation, is pioneer in training for regional leadership, community and economic development by creating a state-of-the-art telecommunications network, working to form a tri-state development compact and preserve and create jobs, and collaboration among academic institutions, communities, economic development, and other organizations.

The four modules of the academy deal with: 1) the valley's economy and its people, 2) social and political aspects of human organizational behavior, 3) organizational dynamics, and 4) grantsmanship, research, and program evaluation.

Each module of study requires a commitment of 30 hours of study over a 10-week period.

Those who wish to complete the full course are required to prepare development strategies for their parts of the Mon Valley. Their ideas will be brought together into the larger tri-state effort through participation in periodic valleywide conferences.

The enrollment fee is $150 for each module and scholarship assistance is available.

Loff and Jones both praised the academy and the work Prisela had devoted to it. Jones cited the "good regional applications" of the academy and praised the Kellogg Foundation for its grant funding of the academy.

"Nancy Prisela holds her own with other brilliant minds," said Loff. "She takes second to none in her leadership role and is a first-rate individual when it comes to the wonderful marriage of practice and theory."

Prisela also reported on the progress of the Tri-State Reciprocity Steering Committee. The committee meets four times a year and Prisela is one of the six members of that committee which supports existing inter-institutional reciprocity agreements. She said GCC would host the next meeting of the committee set for January 14-15.

FINANCIAL MATTERS

Ted Along, dean of administration, reported that while the college had to do some short-term borrowing (three-day loan) the college is in stable financial condition. "Overall, we're okay," said Along.

He also reported that the college is two points below even spending. He said that 90 percent of all budget requests have been submitted for next year and that representatives from each cost center will meet to defend their proposed budgets.

Along informed the board that the telephone system was put out for bids and that Executive from Hagerstown was awarded the contract. He cited some problems with the old system and that working out the "bugs" will likely save the college over $5,000 a year. The copy setter at the college is also being replaced with a more cost-efficient system that could save the college nearly $2,000 a year.

Along also apprised the board of recent automobile purchases for the college and changing insurance carriers for a more cost-effective policy.

President Herman stated that the $110,000 lost in rescissions to the college should conclude the cuts for the year. He said the college did not anticipate taking any dire measures to cope with rescissions and that cost-cutting measures and tuition surcharges had helped to offset cuts.

ACADEMIC REPORT

Dean of Academic Affairs Dr. Lillian Mitchell reported that the Winter Intercession successfully concluded and the Spring Session currently has 355 students enrolled, up from seven students last year at this time. That computes to one more FTE (full-time equivalency) for GCC.

She noted that 16 sections were filled and that placement testing is currently taking place.

Mitchell also reported that the paper work for the agricultural management program is in order and that the college is expecting it to be approved by the Maryland Higher Education Commission.

She also announced that the Adventure Sports brochure has been printed and is being circulated.

ORIENTEERING COURSE

President Herman announced the orienteering course that will be given at the college this semester and instructed by Lt. Col. Robert Turbyfill, the North American champion in orienteering.

Orienteering is a sport by which people find their way through wooded areas at a fast pace using maps and compasses.

"The three-day course would be a great family day and you have to see it to believe it," said Herman.

Herman told the board Tuesday that the recent grant received from the Appalachian Regional Commission and the Maryland Higher Education Commission was greatly appreciated by the college administration. Also receiving the grant was Allegany Community College and Hagerstown Junior College. The grant provides for rapid action telecommunications system to link the three colleges.

The colleges will be able to share conferences via television and share courses as well and would allow for interactive viewing. Herman said he would be in contact with Superintendent of Garrett County Schools Dr.

Jerome Rycavage to see how the local high schools could link to the system.

OTHER AGENDA ITEMS

Trustee Rob Michael suggested a history orientation course that would make Garrett County history a mandatory course so that students might have a better working knowledge of the resources in the county. The board said it would take his suggestion under advisement.

Bender reported on recent state meetings and Trustee Marjorie Fratz commended Bender on the "countless hours he spends regarding GCC matters."

Bender urged the board to attend the Governor's Conference on Higher Education set for February 8 in Annapolis. He is attempting to set up a meeting with local legislators during the conference.

The next board meeting is set for February 16.

Maryland Tax Booklets In The Mail; Changes For Families, Seniors Noted

Increased filing levels, a new deduction for two-earner couples and higher benefits for senior citizens are some of the changes Maryland state income taxpayers will find in their 1992 state tax booklets this year, Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced at a joint IRS-state news conference in Baltimore on December 30.

"Electronic filing of Maryland income tax returns is being offered again this year. Contact your local tax preparer to see if he or she is participating in the program," Goldstein said, adding that tax preparers must be approved to participate in the IRS electronic filing program before they are admitted to the state's program.

"Increased filing levels will allow taxpayers to have more income before they're required to file. For example, single taxpayers under 65 do not have to file a Maryland return unless their gross income was $5,900 or more last year. The minimum filing level for taxpayers over 65 filing joint returns is $12,000.

"As a result of a new tax break, two-earner couples can subtract up to $1,200 or the wages of the spouse with the lower earnings - which ever is less - on their Maryland return, using long Form 502. Couples with a federal adjusted gross income of $150,000 or more can subtract up to $1,000.

"This benefit will save taxpayers time in completing their return since they will be filling in only one column of entries rather than two - as required in previous years under the combined separate filing method, which has been eliminated," Goldstein said.

The comptroller noted that the new two-earner deduction applies only to wages - not income from pensions, interest, dividends or to business income. A worksheet is included in Instruction 13 in the Maryland tax booklet to help taxpayers calculate the new deduction.

"Aside from increased filing levels for taxpayers 65 and older, senior citizens will also benefit from Maryland's maximum pension exclusion, which has been increased to $12,300 for 1992. The exclusion applies to taxable pensions.

"The comptroller reminded taxpayers that Social Security and Railroad Retirement benefits are not taxable in Maryland. In addition, Maryland no longer offers a tax break for capital gains.

"Due to action taken by the Maryland General Assembly and local governments, taxpayers in five Maryland subdivisions will be paying higher local 'piggyback' taxes on the 1992 state tax forms.

For 1992, taxpayers residing in Allegany, Baltimore and Montgomery counties are subject to a 55% local income tax rate, while Prince George's and Talbot County residents are liable for a 60% rate. Wicomico County residents pay a 20% rate. All other counties and Baltimore City levy a 50% local income tax rate.

"Helpful worksheets are included in the state tax booklet to assist taxpayers affected by these changes. Please be sure to enter the correct amount of local income tax on line 62b, based on the county in which you live," Goldstein said.

Local income tax rates are set by local officials and collected by the State Comptroller's Office on state income tax forms to save local governments the cost of collecting the tax.

"A new 6% state tax bracket created by the Maryland General Assembly will affect some high income taxpayers. Single individuals, dependent taxpayers or married couples filing separately will be subject to the 6% rate on taxable income over $100,000. The rate also applies to married couples filing jointly, head of household or qualifying widow or widower with taxable incomes over $150,000.

"The comptroller noted that the local income tax is limited to 50% on any income above the threshold amounts for the new 6% tax bracket.

"Taxpayers who choose the standard deduction - instead of itemizing - on their 1992 state form will discover that the worksheet for calculating the correct amount of standard deduction should be easier to use. The worksheet is included in Instruction 16 of the state tax booklet. About 27,000 tax returns filed last year contained an error in calculating the amount of standard deduction.

"Form 123 once again allows approximately 200,000 students and other single or dependent taxpayers to claim a refund of taxes withheld by their employers even though their gross income is less than the amount required to file - $5,900 for 1992. This easy-to-use form has only five lines to fill out and avoids delays in processing these refunds," Goldstein said.

"Certain taxpayers whose earned income and federal adjusted gross income are less than the federal poverty level guidelines may claim a special poverty level tax break on their Maryland return. The poverty level worksheet in Instruction 13 of the state tax booklet helps taxpayers determine if they qualify for this benefit.

"Taxpayers whose earned or adjusted gross income was $22,370 or less for 1992, and who qualify for the federal earned income credit on their federal returns, also qualify for an earned income credit on their Maryland return. The Maryland benefit is one-half of the federal earned income credit. "Nearly 143,000 taxpayers claimed the Maryland benefit last year. That's almost 8% more than the number who claimed it during the previous year, so awareness of this benefit seems to be growing," Goldstein said.

"The contribution feature for the Chesapeake Bay and Endangered Species Fund will appear on the 1992 return again, following four years during which taxpayers donated a total of more than $4 million. Last year more than 90,000 taxpayers donated over $1,115,000.

Comptroller Goldstein reminded taxpayers that all 18 Maryland income tax offices will offer free state tax assistance Monday through Friday, until the filing deadline, Thursday, April 15, 1992. The hours of assistance are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Extra hours of assistance will also be offered on all state holidays and certain weekends during the filing season. The addresses and telephone numbers of all 18

Maryland income tax offices are listed on the back of the state tax packet in most local telephone directories. The state-wide toll-free number for free state income tax assistance is 1-800-MD TAXES (1-800-638-2937).

The Proud Shall Bow Down

The proud evergreen stands in defiance of winter. Unlike many trees, winter cannot ravage her hush emerald cloak. She reigns supreme, surveying God's creation from a lofty throne, arms spread wide, standing erect in regal majesty. Yet, when the snow covers her domain, she, too, bows to the earth, in deference to the Creator, as her branches bend with the weight of winter... and she is even more beautiful.

Psalm 22:29 proclaims, "Yea, to Him shall all the proud of the earth bow down." As we bow in worship to our Maker this Sabbath, may we be aware that we are ever more regal when wearing the stately cloak of humility.

WHAT CAN YOU TRUST?
January 10, 1993

Background Scripture: 1 Peter 1:3-25
Devotional Reading: 1 Peter 2:1-10

One of the recurrent themes in the 1992 presidential campaign was "Whom can you trust?" Actually, it is a question that goes far beyond which candidate you voted for as President of the United States.

I think that very often we are overly discouraged and even cynical because we forget that no human being is ever 100 percent trustworthy - neither President nor mere citizen of the United States. Even Jesus' closest disciples let him down in his greatest hour of need. So, discouraged with human trustworthiness, some people ask instead, "What can you trust?" Some answer with a plethora of material things. But things are even less dependable than human beings, because, as Jesus put it, "moth and rust consume and thieves break in to steal." And, we might add: the best of investments can go belly-up in a hurry.

KEPT IN HEAVEN
The writer of 1 Peter is obviously struck by two polarities. On the one hand is the transitory nature of just about everything in this world. Quoting Isaiah 40:6, Peter says: "All flesh is like grass. The grass withers, and the flower falls, but the word of the Lord abides forever" (1 Peter 1:24, 25). At the same time, he speaks about the one thing/person in whom we can trust: "You have been born anew, not of perishable seed but of imperishable, through the living and abiding word of God" (1:23).

What does he mean by a "living hope?" The fountain of this hope is Christ who, by the power of the resurrection, lives in us. "By his great mercy we have been born anew to a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, and to the inheritance which is imperishable, undefiled and unfading..." Although others may fail us, and despite the perishability of all else, that which is the basis of the hope by which we live our lives is Christ resurrected. "Through him you have confidence in God, who raised him from the dead and gave him glory, so that your faith and hope are in God" (1:21).

It is important, however, that we realize that, while our hope will be fulfilled, it does not keep us from crosses along the way. Actually, the good news of Jesus Christ is, not that we are saved from facing tribulation, but that we will be victorious over tribulation because of the living hope we have in Jesus. As Peter says "now for a little while you may have to suffer various trials" (1:6). But the hope is greater - infinitely greater - than the trials. As someone once said, "Life with Christ is endless hope, without Him a hopeless end."

COVER
STORYIn past, friction was no fiction on 'Law & Order'

BY LYNN HOOGENBOOM

Christopher Noth and Jerry Orbach are rehearsing a scene for an upcoming episode of NBC's "Law & Order" (airing Wednesdays) in a spare New York City studio.

Noth and Orbach, who play

Christopher Noth

Detectives Logan and Briscoe, run through their lines as the director adjusts camera angles. There are two quick takes, and a break is called.

Noth steps off the set and is grabbed by a waiting TV reporter, who joshes with him about being the "black cat on the set," because he is on his third partner (Orbach) in three years. Noth returns to shoot another scene, then a longer break is called, giving him time to chat with this reporter about the changes.

Asked if Orbach works any differently from his other two partners, George Dzundza (1990-91) and Paul Sorvino (1991-92), Noth laughs.

"A lot more easily," he says. "I had to go through hell and high water sometimes with my first partner." He pauses. "I don't know how to answer this, because you get into things I'm not so sure that I want to talk about."

Still, Noth makes no secret of the fact that he and Dzundza didn't get along, although he adds that the off-screen tension brought an unusual edge to their on-screen partnership. He has nothing but good to say about Sorvino, but their differing approaches to acting made it difficult for them to work together.

"Most of my problems were with my first partner, not Paul," Noth emphasizes. "Paul and I differed philosophically on acting on a kind of cerebral level. What he thought was good acting I didn't agree with. But I'm talking on a friendly level. There are many parts of Paul that I adore."

But with Jerry, I can do what I want without worrying it's going to bother him. With Dzundza, I always felt he was watching to see what I was doing, not to act with me but to counter it in a way. It's a weird sort of thing that actors sometimes do. With Jerry, a natural generosity is what I'm getting so far—knock on wood."

Being comfortable with an acting partner is particularly important on a plot-oriented series like "Law & Order."

"It's sort of an implied law here that you're not going to go into the personal lives of the characters," says Noth. "So you have to bring it all subtextually, and then you let people's imaginations take it where it will go. It's little things. Which point of view are you going to take a strong attitude on, which is going to roll off your back? What's really going to bother you, what's going to crack you up? If you work on that and get specific about that, hopefully that will show up on the celluloid."

Jerry Orbach (l.) and Christopher Noth star as Detectives Briscoe and Logan in the arral-and-trial drama "Law & Order," which airs Wednesdays on NBC.

TV DIALOGUE

BY TONI REINHOLD

PRE-'POLTERGEIST' Was "Poltergeist" JoBeth Williams' first film? Also, did she ever have a regular TV series? — U.S., Kodiak, Alaska

Williams in "Poltergeist"

Williams made her film debut in the 1979 Oscar-winning movie "Kramer vs. Kramer." She has never had a TV series of her own, but she did have roles in the daytime series "Somerset" (as Carrie Wheeler, 1975-76) and "Guiding Light" (as Brandy Sheloe, 1977-81). Williams won fame in 1982 for her performance in the original "Poltergeist." Her other films include "The Dogs of War" (1980), "Star 80" (1980), "Endangered Species" (1982), "The Big Chill" (1983), "American Dreamer" (1984), "Teachers" (1984), "Desert Bloom" (1986) and "Poltergeist II" (1986).

'SONG' STORY I was in high school when the movie "Brian's Song" first appeared on TV. I vaguely recall that it was based on a true story. If this is so, please remind me whose life it was about. — K.P., Anchorage, Alaska

This 1970 TV movie was based on the real-life story of pro football player Brian Piccolo and his friendship with fellow Chicago Bears player Gale Sayers, who lent his support during Piccolo's lengthy bout with terminal cancer. Piccolo was portrayed by James Caan, and Sayers was played by Billy Dee Williams.

LONE-STAR STAR — Is Ann Miller a Texas girl? I remember reading about her when I was a little girl and she was a budding star. I'm almost sure that she's from our state. — E.R., Galveston, Texas

Yes, Dancer and actress Ann Miller was born Lucille Ann Collier in Houston on April 12, 1919. Her many films include "You Can't Take It With You" (1938), "Reveille With Beverly" (1943), "Easter Parade" (1948), "On the Town" (1949) and "Kiss Me Kate" (1953). You may be interested in reading her 1974 autobiography, "Miller's High Life."

HERE COMES THE BRIDE — Wasn't the woman who played the bride of Frankenstein in her own TV series? — H.M., Preston, Kan.

Elsa Lanchester, who starred in the title role of the 1935 horror classic "The Bride of Frankenstein," played Miss Margaret Culver on "The John Forsythe Show" (1965-66) and Aunt Henrietta on "Nanny and the Professor" (1971). She died in 1986.

'Elvis & the Colonel':
the man and the legend

BY FELICIA A. FEASTER

In an ever-growing genre of Elvis fact and fiction, NBC airs "Elvis & the Colonel: The Untold Story" (Jan. 10), starring Beau Bridges and Rob Youngblood. While Bridges admittedly has the easier task of playing the man behind the King, Colonel Tom Parker, Youngblood, as Elvis, does much to undermine the limited credibility of this seriously flawed docudrama. Youngblood's impersonation isn't convincing. Admittedly, though, the emphasis here is on the Colonel, the manager of Elvis' life and business, whom this drama faults with driving Elvis' career into the ground. Even Elvis' girth seems to take on the proportions of the Colonel's similar heavy influence, as is demonstrated in a ridiculous montage of Elvis singing "Are You Lonesome Tonight?" at various venues as his weight escalates with each verse. This type of silly gimmick characterizes the drama, which also features Elvis narrating events in flashback.

Beau Bridges

seemingly lending credence to all those rumors about Elvis returning from the grave.

• Tim Matheson stars in "Mood Indigo" (NBC, Jan. 11) as a troubled criminal psychologist trying to get to the bottom of a mystery without ruining his professional standing. While elements of this mystery are filched from other thrillers, "Mood Indigo" remains a standout in the TV movie circuit, intriguing and suspenseful, with a clever, if not entirely applicable, use of old detective-movie techniques. As Dr. Peter Hellman, Matheson provides the voice-over narration, and a jazzy, low-key soundtrack and visual style link the film to the film noir. Matheson comes across as a sort of head-shrinking Sam Spade. The film interweaves details of Dr. Hellman's previous life in New York and the murder of his wife with his present work as a teacher at a Seattle university. The pain of Hellman's past begins to intrude on his present when a woman accused of murdering her husband piques the doctor's interest in her case. Into this complicated mixture is added some emphasis on Hellman's professional psychoanalytic tricks for unlocking the secrets of this case through dreams—his own and patients'. A technique that is compelling, if a little exaggerated.

• "Rambling Rose" (Showtime, Jan. 16), the charming, beautifully acted story of a misunderstood girl adopted by a kindly Southern family in the '30s, makes its cable premiere. Laura Dern and Diane Ladd (Dern's real-life mother) star.

THIS WEEK

Emmylou Harris

LONE-STAR Serenade: "Austin City Limits" returns for its 18th season on PBS Saturday, Jan. 16 (Check local listings). Former member of the Monkees Mike Nesmith and Emmylou Harris and the Nash Ramblers headline the opening show. • Robby Benson directed the episode of "Evening Shade" airing Monday, Jan. 11, on CBS. In the episode, Wood and Ava try to get Molly into a fancy private school. • On Tuesday, Jan. 12, HBO airs another installment in its "Lifestories" series of fact-based family dramas. "No Visible Bruises: The Katie Koestner Story" takes up the issue of date rape. • Joseph Gian, who portrayed Detective Tom Ryan on "Knots Landing" from 1989-91, reprises that role in the CBS series beginning with the episode of Thursday, Jan. 14. Ryan, you may remember, once abandoned Paige at the altar on their wedding day and was last seen fleeing town with a suitcase full of cash taken from Nick and Anne. • On Thursday, Jan. 14, PBS airs "The Changing of the Guard: A Pre-inaugural Special" (Check local listings). Judy Woodruff and Paul Duke anchor this look at the style and symbolism of past inaugurations and preview that of Bill Clinton next week.

SOAP SCOOP

'Santa Barbara' sinks
but leaves a fine legacy

BY CONNIE PASSALACQUA

It's time to stock up on tissues for the final episode of "Santa Barbara," which will air Friday, Jan. 15.

In the end, it was the defection of the local affiliates that killed "SB." But the beginning of the end was probably the forcing out of the show's creators, producers and head writers Jerome and Bridget Dobson, in November 1987.

Nancy Grah

The show had its real glory days under the Dobsons. It was the very embodiment of the couple's sophisticated, witty writing style. The real city of Santa Barbara, Calif., was the Dobsons' home, and they aimed to bring to television the kind of intelligent, if slightly eccentric, people who lived there. Who could forget the late Dame Judith Anderson (also a Santa Barbara resident), then in her 80s, as Minx Lockridge, dropping those delightful double-enders? Or Sophia Capwell, (as played by Judith McConnell), coming back to town to the family she had deserted years ago by disguising herself as a man for several months? Or Mason Capwell (played by the incomparable Lane Davies), a snotty, spoiled attorney who muttered Shakespearean asides about all he did and at one point turned out to have an alter identity, the Wild West-inspired Sonny Sprocket?

Perhaps the most impressive "SB" character of all was the strong, independent attorney Julia Wainwright (played by Nancy Grah). She first appeared in 1985, determined to find a man solely for the purpose of impregnating her so she could be a single mother. This had never been done on family-oriented soaps before—or on TV at all.

In late 1985 and 1986, "SB" became the hip show to watch. But due to a contract dispute with New World and NBC, the other owners of the show, the Dobsons were exiled from the soap until 1991, when the coup won an ownership lawsuit. They came back as writers briefly, but their work was a disappointment. While they were gone, the idiosyncratic show had gone too far afield from their original vision.

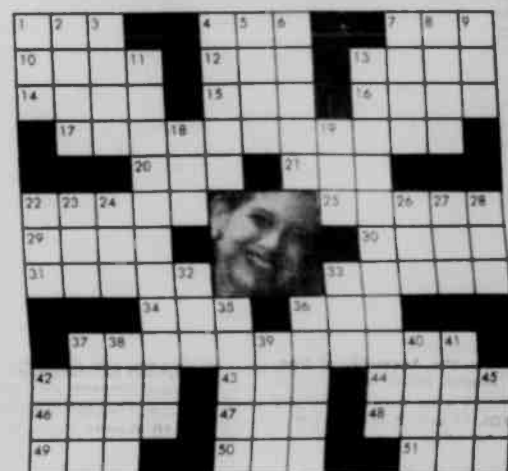

Because of "SB" is many intelligent and creative moments, it may well be as fondly remembered as that other great cerebral soap in the sky, "The Edge of Night" (which was canceled in 1984). The real tragedy is that "SB" will be replaced by two game shows. NBC now has only two remaining soaps, "Days of Our Lives" and "Another World." New soaps are becoming too expensive for a network to create. But at least we had "SB" for eight-and-a-half years.

IN FOCUS

The Arctic fox, a solitary boreal predator about the size of a large house cat, is the subject of "Ice Fox" on "Nature," airing Sunday, Jan. 10, on PBS (Check local listings). The episode focuses on two pairs of foxes that come together in summer to breed and raise their young. The coastal family lives well north of the Arctic Circle on Norway's Spitzbergen Islands, and the tundra family lives deep in Russia's Siberia.

IN FOCUS

From the drilling of the first oil well in Titusville, Pa. in 1859 (pictured), through the Persian Gulf War, "The Prize: The Epic Quest for Oil, Money and Power" examines oil's central role in the evolution of the modern world. The series premieres Monday, Jan. 11, on PBS (check local listings), with subsequent installments airing nightly through Thursday. The series is based on Daniel Yergin's Pulitzer Prize-winning book.

IN FOCUS

Roaming Rose 1991 airs Saturday, Jan. 16 on Showtime. During the long, hot summer of 1935, Rose Lauen (Dorn, r.), a girl of dubious background, comes to work for a genteel family of Southerners, the Hillers. Brother, the Hillers' young son, Lukas Haas, 1, finds Rose's exuberant sexual nature enticing, but her appeal is universal. Mr. Hiller, Robert Duvall, and Mrs. Hiller, Diane Ladd, also fall under her bewitching spell.

In the Kitchen

a Taste of Eastern Europe

IT'S HEARTY, CLASSY AND SOUL-SATISFYING, and Americans are discovering how perfectly warming it can be for a cool fall day meal. It's Eastern European cuisine, and it's taking the world by storm.

Whether it comes from Poland, Russia or Armenia, traditional Eastern European food translates into flavorful marinades, robust meats, pilaf, paprikash and delectable desserts, made lighter than ever to please 1990s tastes.

Try these wonderful dishes by assembling a special autumn dinner from American lamb, olive oil and tea.

American Lamb, leaner than ever particularly when labeled Certified Fresh American Lamb, offers a rich-flavored, mouthwatering entree, which always should be served pink to complement its tenderness.

Olive oil, a 6,000-year-old tradition, is becoming an American favorite. Usable in all manner of food preparation, this monounsaturated oil is considered to be one of the healthiest available. That's why it works equally well in the marinade as it does in the low-calorie Russian Cheesecake.

Of course, America's beverage of choice for this fine meal has to be quality tea. Well-brewed and served piping hot, it's the ideal accompaniment for the meal. Tea also works as an incredibly tasteful ingredient in the meat marinade.

After sampling how deliciously these wonderful ingredients adapt to Eastern European tradition, you'll want to keep the lines of communication open between these countries that have contributed such delightful recipes to the world's cuisines.

Directions for brewing good, hot tea

1. Bring freshly drawn cold tap water to a rolling boil.
2. Rinse out your teapot with hot water to warm it.
3. Put 1 teabag or 1 teaspoon loose tea per serving into the pot.
4. Pour 5-6 ounces of water (for each cup) over the tea.
5. Brew by the clock and not by the color 3-5 minutes, then remove teabags or strain loose tea before serving.

RACK OF LAMB WITH PERSIAN TEA MARINADE

(4 servings)

- 2 lean racks of fresh American lamb (approximately 2 pounds, 8 ribs each), well-trimmed
- Persian Tea Marinade

In nonmetallic pan, place lamb racks, meat side down, and pour on tea marinade. Cover and marinate 4-6 hours, turning twice.

Remove lamb from marinade and place lamb, meat side up, on roasting rack in shallow roasting pan. Roast in preheated 375 degree F oven to desired degree of doneness: internal temperature of 140 degrees F for 25-27 minutes per pound for rare; 150 degrees F for 28-30 minutes per pound for medium; 160 degrees F for 31-33 minutes per pound for medium-well. Remove from oven, cover and let stand for 5 minutes. Slice and serve.

PERSIAN TEA MARINADE

(2 cups)

- 1 cup boiling water
- 2 tea bags (use favorite brand of black tea)
- 1 cinnamon stick
- $\frac{1}{4}$  cup extra virgin olive oil
- $\frac{1}{2}$  cup finely minced onion
- 5 garlic cloves, minced
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh mint or 2 teaspoons dried mint leaves, crushed
- 2 tablespoons fresh rosemary leaves or 2 teaspoons dried rosemary leaves
- 4 teaspoons lemon pepper
- 2 teaspoons salt

In medium bowl, combine water, tea bags and cinnamon stick. Allow to brew for 5 minutes. Remove tea bags and cinnamon stick.

Stir in olive oil, onion, garlic, mint, rosemary, lemon pepper and salt.

WALNUT PILAF

(4 servings)

- 2 tablespoons extra virgin olive oil
- $\frac{1}{2}$  cup crushed vermicelli
- 2 cups chicken broth
- 1 cup long grain rice
- $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon salt
- $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon black pepper
- $\frac{1}{4}$  cup toasted, coarsely chopped walnuts
- 2 teaspoons minced parsley

In heavy 2-quart saucepan with cover, heat olive oil. Brown vermicelli, stirring constantly. Add broth, rice, salt and pepper.

Cover, bring to a boil, lower heat and simmer for 20 minutes or until liquid is absorbed. Fluff with fork, stir in walnuts and parsley. Serve.

RED PEPPER PAPRIKASH

(4 servings)

- 3 tablespoons extra virgin olive oil
- 2 medium red onions, cut into crescents
- 6 red bell peppers, sliced thin
- 2 garlic cloves, minced
- $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoons sweet Hungarian paprika
- $\frac{1}{2}$  cup chicken broth
- $\frac{1}{2}$  cup chopped plum tomatoes
- $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon black pepper
- $\frac{1}{4}$  cup red wine vinegar
- 3 tablespoons sugar

In large skillet, heat olive oil. Sauté red onions until tender, approximately 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add bell peppers, garlic and paprika. Sauté for 8-10 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Add broth, tomatoes, salt and pepper, simmer for 5 minutes. Remove from heat, stir in vinegar and sugar. Serve warm or cold.

RUSSIAN CHEESECAKE

(20 servings)

Crust

- 2 cups (approximately 50 cookies) finely ground vanilla wafer cookie crumbs
- $\frac{1}{4}$  cup toasted almonds, finely ground
- $\frac{1}{4}$  cup powdered sugar
- $\frac{1}{4}$  cup light olive oil

In medium bowl, blend vanilla cookie crumbs, almonds and powdered sugar, mixing well. Add olive oil and stir to moisten all ingredients. Using 9-inch spring-form pan, pour in crumb mixture and prepare crust by pressing crumbs in bottom and 1 inch up sides of pan. Bake in a preheated 325 degree F oven for 10 minutes. Cool.

Filling

- 4 cups (32 ounces) low fat cottage cheese
- 1 cup (8 ounces) low fat vanilla yogurt
- 2 eggs
- 3 egg whites
- 3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
- 4 teaspoons lemon zest
- 2 teaspoons vanilla extract
- $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 cup powdered sugar
- 3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- $\frac{1}{4}$  cup golden raisins

Topping

- 1 cup (8 ounces) low fat vanilla yogurt

Using a food processor or electric mixer, blend until smooth, cottage cheese, yogurt, eggs, egg whites, lemon juice, lemon zest, vanilla, cinnamon, powdered sugar and flour.

Stir in raisins and pour into crust. Bake in oven at 325 degrees F for 1 hour, 10 minutes or until center is almost set (Cheesecake becomes firm as it cools.) Cool. Top with yogurt. Refrigerate, slice and serve.

SPICY ARMENIAN LAMB LENTIL SOUP

(8 cups)

- 6 cups stock
- $\frac{1}{2}$  cups lentils, rinsed, discarding unusable lentils
- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 pound lean fresh American lamb boneless stew meat, well-trimmed and cut into  $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch cubes
- $\frac{1}{2}$  cup chopped onion
- 4 garlic cloves, minced
- 2 teaspoons paprika
- 2 teaspoons salt

In 4 quart pan, combine stock and lentils. Bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer for 1 hour, stirring occasionally.

In large skillet, heat olive oil and brown lamb, onion and garlic, stirring for approximately 6-8 minutes. To partially cooked lentils add lamb onion mixture,

- $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoons ground cumin
- 1 teaspoon black pepper
- 1 teaspoon ground coriander
- 1 teaspoon dried tarragon leaves, crushed
- 5-10 drops red pepper sauce
- $\frac{1}{2}$  cup finely chopped dried apricots
- $\frac{1}{2}$  cup chopped plum tomatoes
- 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley or mint garnish

paprika, salt, cumin, black pepper, coriander, tarragon, red pepper sauce and apricots.

Simmer for 30 minutes or until lentils are tender. Stir in tomatoes and lemon juice. Garnish with parsley or mint and serve.

Student Literacy Writing Contests To Begin Jan. 21.

Governor William Donald Schaefer will kick off the "Maryland You Are Beautiful" Student Literacy Writing Competition at 10:30 a.m. on Thursday, January 21, at Magothy River Middle School, 241 Peninsula Farm Road in Arnold. This year's theme is "Say No To Drugs - Say Yes To Success." Immediately before the kickoff event, 100 Magothy River Middle School students will participate in a television public service announcement promoting the 1993 competition in conjunction with Governor Schaefer.

Open to all Maryland public school and participating private school students, kindergarten through 12th grade, the competition will run from February 1 to March 1, 1993. Students compete on four levels: K-2, 3-5, 6-8, and 9-12. Top entries will be judged by professional educators. More than 170,000 students statewide entered last year's competition.

The competition is co-sponsored by the "Maryland You Are Beautiful" Program, directed by Floraine Applefeld, the Maryland State Department of Education, directed by Dr. Nancy Grasmuck, and the Governor's Drug and Alcohol Abuse Commission, chaired by Dr. Neil Solomon.

Every student who enters will receive free discount coupons to Paramount's Kings Dominion Theme Park. The 12 finalists will be honored at an awards ceremony and luncheon with Governor Schaefer in Annapolis in May. The first place winners in each level will receive a week-end for four in historic Annapolis, overnight accommodations with two-day complimentary passes for a family of four at Paramount's Kings Dominion. Each finalist will receive complimentary baseball tickets for four and special recognition by the Baltimore Orioles, and a savings bond from Car-First/Columbia-FreeState Health Systems.

The competition's major contributors are Paramount's Kings Dominion Theme Park, Car-First/Columbia-FreeState Health Systems, the Baltimore Orioles and WBAL Radio.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Promoted To Sgt.

Raymond P. Bixler, of Company C, 121st Engineer Battalion (CBT), Maryland Army National Guard, was recently promoted to the rank of sergeant while assigned as a team leader in the 3rd Platoon, 1st Squad. Some of the schools he has attended are: truck driver, combat engineer, and PLDC (primary leadership development course). He is now in the NBC (nuclear, biological and chemical) school.

Sergeant Bixler is also working on the Jennings Randolph Road Project. He resides in Deer Park with his wife, Joyce.

U.S. Marine Cpl. Arthur E. Strahin, son of Arthur E. and Karen A. Strahin, Route 2, Terra Alta, W.Va., was recently promoted to his present rank while serving with 1st Battalion, 8th Marines, 2nd Marine Division, Camp Lejeune, N.C.

The 1989 graduate of East Preston Senior High School joined the Marine Corps in July 1989.

Scottie H. Carr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carmie Carr Jr., Mt. Storm, W.Va., recently enlisted in the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program.

Carr, a 1992 graduate of Union High, was scheduled to attend Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex., on December 17.

According to TSGT Jay Worrell, the local Air Force recruiter, Carr will earn credit toward an associate degree in applied sciences through the Community College of the Air Force upon completion of basic training and technical training school.

Tire Recycling Being Researched By State Highway

There are about 13 million used tires in Maryland stockpiles; an additional four million are discarded annually. According to Maryland law, scrap tires will not be accepted in landfills after 1994. The Maryland State Highway Administration (SHA) is hoping to find a use for these tires by incorporating the scrap-tire rubber into road construction projects.

SHA will be joined by the Maryland Environmental Service (MES) and the University of Maryland to research the use of scrap tire rubber in asphalt pavements. MES will provide a grant to the University of Maryland and SHA will provide a $310,000 for the research.

Both SHA and MES will participate in a special advisory group overseeing the project.

In August 1991, SHA began a pilot project by testing a small portion of MD 543 in Bel Air with asphalt-rubber binder. The object of the initial study was to determine distinctions between the physical properties of asphalt-rubber binder pavement and a conventional asphalt cement pavement.

The program is intended to reduce the amount of scrap-tire rubber in Maryland," said Sam Miller, SHA deputy chief engineer, office of materials and research. "The complicated process involves shredding the tires, separating steel and fabric, grinding, bagging, transporting to the asphalt plant and then blending with the asphalt."

Through this research, SHA will improve mix design procedures, plant productivity and quality control for future use of rubber asphalt in highway pavements. Remaining problems that need to be addressed involve the costs, longevity, and ability to recycle rubber asphalt pavements.

Once the Maryland law goes into effect in 1994, MES will manage the disposal of scrap tires, while SHA expects to incorporate scrap-tire rubber into highways and roads throughout Maryland in accordance with the Federal Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act (ISTEA). The new federal legislation requires five percent scrap-tire rubber to be used per ton of asphalt laid for the year 1994. The requirement grows to 20 percent by 1997.

"The new research will give SHA and MES a chance to work together to find the best way to use scrap-tire rubber in construction," said SHA Administrator Hal Kasoff. "We are hoping this will be a major benefit to the environment while providing quality pavements for our customers."

Without their help and that of many other groups, organizations and individuals who purchased gifts, the project could not have been the success that it was.

A special thanks is given to our co-sponsor, radio station WKHJ-FM which operated in conjunction with the Rotary clubs by providing timely announcements throughout the course of the project, and to the Diesel Institute of America for handling bulk transportation requirements.

We also wish to thank the Salvation Army for furnishing 8 dozen teddy bears and baby dolls, and the Garrett County Homemakers for preparing clothes for them.

To one and all, your help and generosity enabled the Clubs to distribute food, clothing and gifts to 199 needy Garrett County families. Because of your efforts, these families enjoyed a brighter Christmas. Your kindness is sincerely appreciated.

Christine Pifer Becomes Bride Of Evan Root In November Ceremony

Christine Renee Pifer became the bride of Evan William Root on November 7, 1992, in a double-ring ceremony at Faith United Methodist Church, Cranesville, W. Va. Rev. Charles Legg officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Lawrence and Donna Pifer, Terra Alta, W. Va., and the groom is the son of Harold and Kaylene Root, Shepherdstown, W. Va.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride was escorted to the altar by her father.

The bride was attired in a white satin gown with a sweetheart neckline. The bodice was accented with iridescent sequins and simulated pearls. Appliques also on puffed, long tapered, laced sleeves with pearl accents and pointed cuffs. The back of the gown had an opened V back which dipped to a large bow accented with sequins and pearls and a full chapel train with scalloped lace around hem. She wore a sequined and pearl tiara with waist length veil. She carried a cascading bouquet of white roses accented with lily of the valley, gypsophila, and pearl sprays.

Jennifer Friend, Shepherdstown, friend of the bride, was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Sandy Carlin, Hagerstown, friend of the bride, and Kimberly Pifer, Morgantown, W. Va., sister-in-law of the bride. Danielle Kiamore, Onego, W. Va., niece of the groom was flower girl. Bridesmaids and flower girl gowns were royal blue accented with lace on bodice with bows on puffed sleeves and back. The gowns were made by the groom's mother.

The bride's mother was attired in a jade evening dress. The groom's mother wore a fuchsia evening dress.

Serving as best man was Robert Kerns Jr., Charles Town, W. Va., friend of the groom. Groomsmen were William Prather, Shepherdstown, friend of the groom, and Harold Root Jr., Shepherdstown, brother of the groom. Billy Wines, Brandywine, W. Va., nephew of the groom, was ring bearer. The groom and his attendants were attired in black tuxedos with electric blue bow ties and cummerbunds. The fathers wore black tuxedos with vest and bow ties.

Barbara Metheny, Terra Alta, was the organist. Tina Freeland, Terra Alta, cousin of the bride, served as acolyte and guest book attendant. Flowers for the wedding party were handmade by bridesmaid Sandy Carlin.

The parents of the bride hosted a reception at Alpine Lake Lodge, Terra Alta. The decorations by Party House, Oakland, were colors of royal blue and white.

The three-tiered cake was baked by Thelma DeWitt, Terra Alta and decorated with royal blue and white flowers. The cake had two staircases leading to two side cakes with a blue fountain under the first tier accented with baby's breath and ivy.

Serving as master of ceremonies and DJ was Greg Bolyard of WKMM Radio, Kingwood, W. Va.

After a honeymoon to Canaan Valley, W. Va., and Massanutten Resort, Va., the couple set up residence in Martinsburg.

START A NEW TREND - LEARN TO BECOME FIT

A farmer's wife and mother of young children recently summed up her activities: this is not work anymore - this is stress!

There was a time when physical work (from morning to night) and the resulting production were the most important factors in a person's life. How the people felt about it and themselves was a distant second or not considered at all unless it affected the output.

We know today that mental and physical health must go together if production is to be optimal. Not only that - a person must be happy and enjoy what they are doing if worthwhile things are to be accomplished.

On the farm, with its never-ending tasks, it is easy to become overwhelmed and overworked, and increasingly see value only in hard physical labor. Test: Do you feel good about your accomplishments at the end of the day (week)? Or do you only see work that needs to be done yet?

This article does not imply that the answer lies in working less, but in the way we look at work and our needs. The approach to each task should be looked at - is a pattern identifiable? Are we always hurrying? Is work and decision-making shared and delegated? Does every day include a task you love? Even though we value work so highly, we are human beings first. Our personal needs have a way to create frustration, headaches, fatigue, muscle cramps, elevated blood pressure, loss of work output and increased chances to have accidents if they are not satisfied.

There still are people who ignore (deny) personal feelings. Some appear strong because of the effort needed for denial. Often though their demands create stress in others; specifically family members suffer under the suppression. Could it be done better for everyone concerned?

If you find yourself at a stage in life where planning

Trim & Tone is more than a workout, it's FUN GROUP EXERCISE, and EDUCATIONAL. If you have never tried a class at Brenda's Body Shop or have not attended a class for several months, Trim & Tone is the class that will change your mind about exercise. Summer is just a few months away so what better time to begin toning muscles and losing extra body fat. The movements in Trim & Tone are easy to adapt that it's a perfect workout no matter what age, shape or size you might be.

any improvements or changes takes too much effort - stop - you may be approaching a danger zone concerning your health, family relationships, financial situation, time or work management.

Planning changes, even if it improves things, takes a lot of effort. Our ability to endure unpleasant activities is greater than the desire to remove problems and shortcomings. This is inherent in human nature, but more pronounced in women because their traditional place in society.

The best chance for instituting change exists if planning the transition is seen as another job, an activity that requires time, family communication and sharing.

To become mentally and physically fit, the following ideas should be considered:

- *Think positive
- *Get adequate rest and sleep.
- *Have a planned exercise program!
- *Practice endurance with a smile.
- *Spend time each day on an enjoyable activity.
- *Share and delegate work, and
- *Make a conscious effort to get along with family members.

Tax Deductions Not Allowed For Some Providers

Carolyn W. Colvin, Secretary, Maryland Department of Human Resources, has announced that beginning with the 1992 income tax year, illegal family day care and child care center providers will not be allowed to deduct their operating expenses in filing state income tax returns. This is under a new law enacted by the Maryland General Assembly last year.

She said the State Income Tax Division will enforce the new law by auditing the tax returns of illegal providers. The tax law is a follow-up to the highly successful "Registration Amnesty" legislation, which allowed persons caring for children in their home illegally to enter the registration process without fear of fines or penalties.

"This is part of a systematic campaign by the Department of Human Resources to encourage regulated child care," said Secretary Colvin. Other disincentives to providing illegal child care in addition to the non-allowability of tax deductions are: difficulties in obtaining liability insurance to protect their operations; a $1,000 misdemeanor penalty; barriers to participation in the Federal Child Care Food Program; and state subsidy program; and the prohibition from advertising without a valid registration certificate.

In Maryland, persons regularly caring for non-related children in their own home for compensation must register with the Maryland Child Care Administration. Failure to do so subjects an illegal provider with up to $1,000 in criminal fines and $5,000 in civil penalties.

LIONS CLUB NEWS
The Friendsville Lions Club held its Christmas dinner and program at the Sand Spring Church and Community Center on Saturday, Dec. 19. There were approximately 37 present. The dinner had been prepared by the ladies of the church.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR PRESERVATION of some of our most beautiful historic structures are so often lost through neglect or sometimes accident, such as fire, but the former J.F. Grimes residence in Deer Park is an exception, as the owners of the property since Mr. Grimes have been diligent in keeping this magnificent house in shape and intact over the years. The old photo above, on loan from retired Judge Lewis R. Jones, is published courtesy of the Garrett County Historical Society and The Republican. The photo below was taken this week by Craig Phillips. Persons desiring information about membership in the Historical Society may obtain it at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland or any of the library branches throughout the county.

A donation was presented to the club by Lion Barry Frazee and a check was given by the Lions Club to the Friendsville School PTA, accepted by Mrs. Judy Livengood.

After dinner everyone adjourned to the church where a service was led by Pastor Mark Lawson, his wife, Kathy, and their son, Adam. It was noted that Lion Frazee's donation had enabled the club to fill 47 food boxes and insure future service to the community.

Each lady was presented a gift of sweets.

The first meeting of 1993 for the Friendsville Lions Club will be Thursday, Jan. 14, at 6:30 p.m. at the Yough Valley Restaurant.

Crisis Management!

Stories about the savings and loan crisis have been told many times over the past couple years. The situation is national in scope, yet seems to play no direct part in our daily lives, or does it?

If you plan to buy or sell a home soon, and financing is involved, you should know more about the appraisal process. Appraisals have always been a requirement for new mortgages, but important changes may now affect your purchase or sale.

Effective December 21, 1992, all mortgages insured by federal agencies must have an appraisal by a "licensed" appraiser. So, what's new, you ask?

Until now, individual states had no licensing agencies for appraisers. As a result of the new law, however, the states have rushed to implement licensing laws for appraisers.

As the many appraisers have met their state's new licensing requirements, they have become better educated. They have learned that if the lender later forecloses on the mortgage, suffering financial loss as a result of their over-appraisal of value, the appraiser may be liable to the lender. This may cause an appraiser to be more cautious when arriving at "fair market value" on a property.

Whether buying or selling, this situation could result in a "low" appraisal on a property. Real estate agents will play a vital role in avoiding this unpleasant occurrence.

Since appraisers use information about other homes which have sold, known as comparables, in their appraisals, it is essential that they have access to the most up-to-date figures available. This data is rarely available to "by owners," yet can be readily supplied by a knowledgeable agent.

Real estate agents will be playing an increasing important role in the successful sale of homes. Acting as an information resource to local appraisers, an agent may hold the key to an on-time real estate closing.

Understanding real estate dilemmas and their solutions is our business, and we'll happily share our knowledge with you. Why not give us a call at 387-5303 or drop by our office at McHenry Plaza

Companies sometimes earn public recognition for efforts to hire older men and women. In Pennsylvania, the state's Department of Labor and Industry turns the recognition into an annual event, honoring outstanding employers of the elderly in a Hall of Fame. The latest large-corporation winner is an insurance company whose three office sites conduct campaigns to hire the elderly. One division recruited 50 men and women from a retirement community to assemble and copy claims, provide customer service and sort mail. Among the attractions they offered flexible schedules, recreation programs shaped for older people and a subsidized cafeteria.

Marie Miller, 76, is a great-grandmother, raises quarter-horses in Washington, New Jersey, and is the oldest member of the American Coaster Enthusiasts. She has been riding steep roller coasters for decades, always in the front seat for the best view. A heart attack and bypass surgery two years ago haven't stopped her. For her, the rides aren't stressful but serene fun.

BITTINGER-GLADES

CHURCH NEWS
Ashley Dawn Eggleston, infant daughter of Dan and Crystal (O'Brien) Eggleston, was baptized Sunday during the worship services of St. John's Lutheran Church.

Catechism class met Sunday evening.
Joint Council will meet Tuesday, Jan. 5, at 7:30 p.m., followed by individual council meetings.

The annual yearbook will soon be published. All reports are to be in by January 31.

A seminary student, Jonathan Litzner, of Dubuque, Iowa, arrived at the Bittering parish January 5. All parish members are encouraged to offer him an invitation to visit.

PERSONALS
Mr. and Mrs. Noah Zook of Herrington, Del., spent several days with Miriam Brennenman and her mother. On December 30, a carry-in supper was served to all the brothers and sisters of the Brennenman family. They included, along with the Zook family: Mr. and Mrs. Alton Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Puffinburger, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Brennenman, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Brennenman, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Yoder, Elmer Brennenman, and Marvin Beitzel.

Mrs. Lottie Brennenman served Christmas dinner to 22 members of her family.

Christmas Day dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Miller were: Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brennenman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Brian Saulpaw, San Francisco, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Murphy, and daughters, Kim and Carla.

Miss Olive Bender spent the Christmas holidays visiting her brother in Orrville, Ohio, and other relatives near by.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Buckel spent the Christmas holidays visiting their son in southern Maryland and their daughter and family in Arkansas.

Leslie Buckel, Michael Geis, and Tina Bittering spent Wednesday night with Les Stanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stanton entertained Mr. and Mrs. Roger Cutler and Mr. and Mrs. Lenny Poholsky and son with a New Year's evening supper.

Martha Glotfelty and Marion Stephens were New Year's Day dinner guests of Raymond and Isabel Klotz. On Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Mike Fazenbaker and daughter, Amanda, came to visit Martha in her home. They purchased the former home of Mary Forney and moved in on December 9. Mike is employed with the Department of Natural Resources, Wildlife Division, in Garrett County.

On New Year's Day, Margie and Mick Browning, David, Mary and Grace Glotfelty were guests of Cora Glotfelty. Her daughter, Dorothy, Greenbelt, was a week's visitor at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. James Glotfelty hosted a birthday dinner on Sunday to celebrate the birthdays of Tom and Cheryl Glotfelty and Tony Carey. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. William H. Oester, Karmen Carey, Taylor and Timmie Glotfelty, and Ida Reckner.

Jean Cope spent Wednesday afternoon with Fern Beachy, Kenneth Maus left for six months participation with the Jeremiah group.

HOMEMAKER NEWS
The Bittering Homemakers Club held its monthly meeting, Nov. 24 at the home of Ethel Buckel. Eight members were present.

The club deviated from the scheduled topic, "Literacy" and instead watched a slide presentation of Puerto Rico.

The slides were prepared by Extension Agent Irmgard Kosielski during her summer vacation. Club members Fern Beachy and Ethel Buckel had both toured Puerto Rico, also. Ralph Buckel assisted with the projector.

Plans for the 1993 club programs were discussed.

No December meeting was held and most members attended the Community Christmas Party, held at the fire hall.

The January meeting will be held January 26, 1 p.m., at the home of Kathryn Bowser. The topic is undecided.

In the second row, same order, are: Pat Forman, star rank and citizenship in the nation merit badge; David Peterson, star rank; and Charlie Nolan, tenderfoot. In the back row, same order, are troop leaders Mike Dahus, Dale Eaton, Al Covello, and Tom Peterson. Troop 22 meets Wednesday evenings from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at the National Guard Armory in Oakland. All boys ages 11-17 are welcome to attend a meeting and consider membership.

Top Jazz Band To Give Concert At Arts Center

The Sounds of New Orleans, the Crescent City's premier jazz band that has performed across the United States, in Europe, and in South America, will present a concert, Tuesday, January 19, at 8 p.m. in the Church McKee Arts Center on the campus of Potomac State College, Keyser, W. Va. The concert is being sponsored by Highland Arts Unlimited.

This group is one of the oldest established bands on Bourbon Street, playing the full range of New Orleans standards, Dixieland, Ragtime, and Rhythm and Blues. Rene Netto, featured performer, is known as one of the New Orleans' most versatile musicians. He plays flute, clarinet, alto, tenor, and baritone sax, in addition to trombone. His colleagues over the years include Ronnie Cole, Pete Fountain, Al Hirt, Tony Martin, and Frankie Laine. He performed on the Lawrence Welk Show, at Economy Hall, The Famous Door, Cabaret Toulouse, and Chez Frank.

Returning from a tour of South America several years ago, The Sounds of New Orleans performed at the GOP Convention in New Orleans with Jimmy Maxwell. Recently they opened for Chuck Mangione and Dizzy Gillespie at the 8th annual San Antonio Jazz Festival.

The Sounds of New Orleans concert is funded by Potomac State College, the West Virginia Commission on the Arts, the National Endowment for the Arts, and memberships. There will be no advance sale tickets; the box office will open at 7:30 when tickets can be purchased for $10 for adults and $5 for students. Doors will open for members at 7:15.

The Church McKee Auditorium is handicapped accessible; inquire at the box office for assistance.

Highland Arts Unlimited members and Potomac State

College students with proper ID are admitted free.

Free Eye Exams Being Offered Through January

Nearly 100 Maryland optometrists, including one in Oakland have agreed to provide free comprehensive eye examinations to low income working families as part of the national VISION, USA project, reports the Maryland Optometric Association (MOA).

"Potentially eligible patients need to call a toll-free line during the month of January to be qualified for the free eye examination," explained Dr. Brian Manspeaker, an optometrist in Elkton who is the voluntary statewide chairman for the project.

The national toll-free telephone number is (800) 766-4466, and calls must be made in January between the hours of 8 a.m. and 10 p.m.

Callers will be screened and matched with one of the participating doctors of optometry from their local community. The callers are then notified and advised to contact the optometrist to make an appointment, generally from March 7-13 which is "Save Your Vision Week."

Dr. James Jones, Oakland, is participating in the program, as are Dr. James Poland, Frostburg, and Dr. Jeffrey Poland, Cumberland.

"The project attempts to get optometric services to low income workers and their families who have not private or governmental health insurance, and who have not had an eye examination within the last twelve months," said Dr. Manspeaker.

In Maryland, the MOA Educational Foundation helps to fund the project so that those patients needing corrective eye wear receive it at low or no cost.

In 1992, 446 Marylanders received free comprehensive eye examinations through the VISION, USA program. In addition, corrective eyewear was dispensed to more than 100 individuals at no cost.

CRIME SOLVERS
Members of Garrett County Crime Solvers are currently seeking information about a breaking and entering of a Grantsville residence.

On October 30, 1992, unknown suspects illegally entered a home located just south of Grantsville on Rt. 495. Once inside, the culprits stole a Smith & Wesson .22 calibre revolver, a Panasonic camcorder, a portable cellular phone, a gold pocket watch, and approximately $1,000 in cash.

The incident took place sometime between 5 and 9 p.m. The total loss was estimated at $2592.

All leads in this case have been exhausted and Crime Solvers is seeking help in solving it. Any person with information about this or any other unsolved crime is urged to contact Crime Solvers at 334-1975. Callers do not have to give their names nor appear in court, and rewards up to $1,000 are available to persons who provide tips that lead to arrests.

Weight Loss Mystery Baffles Scientist

WASHINGTON - Scientists are baffled by a natural food ingredient that caused people to lose weight even though they were instructed not to alter normal eating patterns. Although neither scientists and studies may not agree, a study published in The British Journal of Nutrition found that the ingredient, a natural plant extract, can cause significant weight loss. Several explanations for the weight loss are suggested, but the most likely according to scientists is a Finnish study, in that colicids seem to decrease the intestinal absorption of calories. However, universal acceptance of this theory will depend on further study.

National Dietary Research, an organization committed to the research and development of nutritional solutions to world-wide health problems, has successfully isolated and incorporated a series of colicids into a unique food tablet called Food Source One. A significant breakthrough in nutritional weight control, Food Source One provides a scientifically designed method for weight loss. When taken as directed, Food Source One replaces high calorie fats with lower calorie nutrients, thereby providing optimum nutrition with a minimum number of fat calories. According to a study in the American Journal of Clinical Nutrition, you do not need to restrict the amount of food you eat to lose weight, just the fat.

Food Source One is unlike any other product on the market and is available immediately because it is not a drug and only contains natural ingredients already known to be safe. Physicians and pharmacists are praising Food Source One as a natural, drug free alternative for confronting obesity.

Noncredit registration will be taken on a first-come, first-serve basis and should be completed at least one week prior to the starting date of class. Payment may be made by mail or in person at our office. We accept VISA or MasterCard. Please call us at (301) 387-6666 Ext. 169 or (301) 245-4133.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Course fees, when indicated, include a $4 registration fee. An out-of-county and out-of-state differential fee will be assessed for those courses marked with an asterisk (*). Maryland Senior Citizens (persons 60 years of age or older) may participate in these courses tuition free but are responsible for materials and/or lab fees that may be assessed.

REFUND POLICY

Refunds will be made in full if you withdraw from a course prior to its first session, provided the course tuition/fees exceed $20, or if the course is cancelled. If you withdraw prior to the second class meeting, you are entitled to a 75% refund provided the number of classes scheduled is equal to or exceeds five sessions and the course/tuition fees exceed $20. THERE WILL BE NO REFUND AFTER THE SECOND CLASS SESSION. In order to receive a refund a "withdrawal" form must be completed.

CREDIT/NONCREDIT COOPERATIVE OFFERINGS

Courses with titles and course numbers listed in italics are credit courses which are open to students on a noncredit basis. The noncredit student pays the listed tuition as well as out-of-county/out-of-state differential (if applicable), the cost of textbooks (if desired), the cost of materials, and other fees as indicated. Noncredit students are not required to take course examinations or complete other assignments which may be required of credit students. Priority for enrollment will be given to those students who enroll for credit.

Farm Bureau Says Espy Good Choice For USDA Head

President elect Bill Clinton's selection of Rep. Mike Espy (D-Miss.) to become the next secretary of agriculture is a good choice, according to the American Farm Bureau Federation.

AFBF President Dean Kleckner noted that Espy's congressional district, which includes the Mississippi Delta and parts of Jackson, is one of the largest agricultural districts in the country, considering the value of the soybeans, cotton and rice—major export commodities—produced there.

Espy is credited with assisting in the development and promotion of the catfish industry in Mississippi.

"He has been particularly attentive to the concerns of farmers in his district and it is our belief he will do the same for farmers and ranchers throughout the country," Kleckner said.

Espy has served in Congress since he was elected in 1986. He recently was re-elected to his fourth term with 78 percent of the vote. He has served on the House Agriculture Committee and on the House Budget Committee since taking office.

"The fact that Espy has been receptive to Farm Bureau and has stood up for agriculture during his six years in Congress is a good indication of the strong leadership which must be shown by an agriculture secretary," Kleckner added.

Espy's pro-business stance will be important in defending the free market policies of a farm program that emphasizes competitiveness in international trade, Kleckner said.

He noted that Espy has attended GATT negotiations in Geneva, discussed the North American Free Trade Agreement in Mexico and traveled to various foreign locations to learn and provide support for American agriculture.

He also has become an advocate for rural development and nutrition programs, and has been active on a variety of fronts including crop insurance, disaster assistance and support of alternative crops.

"Espy has established a congressional voting record favorable to Farm Bureau, such as supporting a balanced budget amendment, opposing grazing fee increases and working to retain the availability of minor use chemicals," Kleckner said.

"As the Mississippi Farm Bureau has indicated, perhaps the most significant qualification that Rep. Espy will bring to the position of secretary is that he will communicate the importance of agriculture in the consideration of any pertinent issue."

Espy, a lawyer-businessman, lives in Madison, Miss. Before his election he had served as an assistant attorney general for consumer protection and an assistant secretary of state for public lands in Mississippi. He attended Howard University and the University of Santa Clara Law School.

Effort Should Be Made To Conclude GATT Talks

Farm Bureau cautioned that "unacceptable compromises" in world trade talks reached in the next few weeks to meet the fast-track deadline could eliminate Farm Bureau as an active supporter of the final agreement.

In a letter to U.S. Trade Representative Carla Hills, AFBF President Dean Kleckner urged that the U.S. "make every effort" to conclude the GATT negotiations by the end of January, but noted that an agreement reached at the expense of future U.S. market opportunities in foreign markets would be unacceptable.

Kleckner said benefits to U.S. agriculture from worldwide reductions in subsidized exports could be overshadowed by a potentially indefensible agreement on market access—a situation that would erode the support of the U.S. farm community. The trade negotiations have recessed for the holidays.

The 1987 Maryland Agriculture Census shows that Maryland had hog and pig sales of $37 million.

Milk-You May Have A Refund!

If you shipped less milk in 1992 than you did in 1991, you are eligible for a refund from the Budget Reconciliation Act. Don't be bashful about claiming it because it's your money. On an average, you have been paying in around 13 cents per hundred-weight all year. This year the government collected over $180 million from the dairy farmer. The intention of the Act was to reward the farmer who reduced production. Add up the milk weights on your 1992 and 1991 milk check stubs. If you produced less milk this year, take your stubs to the ASCS office in the courthouse and make your claim.

No Subs For Duds

A small Florida company has developed a machine that cleans clothes without detergent, uses only cold water and recycles waste water instead of sending it down the drain. The system uses an electrical ozone generator that pumps ozone into the wash water. Ozone breaks down the organic molecules that make up normal dirt and grime. The force of water washes them away. Dirt is filtered out of the wash water, which is then pumped back into the holding tanks for reuse. Water can be used hundreds of times before it needs to be replaced. The machine uses cold water because the unstable ozone molecules last longer at lower temperatures. The system saves energy normally used to heat water, as well as the water itself. And because the system uses no soap, it does away with the rinse cycle and thus saves time. The machine was designed for institutional customers like hotels, nursing homes, diaper services and prisons. Sometime in the near future you will probably see the machine on the market for the average household.

Russia Late On Payments For U.S. Farm Products

Russia remains suspended from USDA's export credit program, and now owes $100.1 million in late payments, according to USDA. Russian officials continue to assure the U.S. that payments will resume "shortly." Russia began defaulting on payments in early December. Russia and other republics of the former Soviet Union have used the export credit program to finance the purchase of about $5 billion worth of U.S. farm products since January 1991. Banks are required to notify USDA if borrowers under the program are more than 10 days late with payments. If those notices are not filed, the banks risk losing USDA's promise to make up missed payments. So far no banks have requested payment from USDA for any of Russia's defaults.

Maryland Secretary Of Agriculture Speaks To Farm Bureau Delegates

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Robert L. Walker spoke to the assembled delegates at the Maryland Farm Bureau convention in Clinton, December 8, telling them that maintaining the integrity of the Maryland Department of Agriculture is essential. Referring to a proposal to merge the department with other state agencies, he called such an idea, "a disaster."

"We need the Farm Bureau to help make sure that Maryland doesn't become the only state in the union without a department of agriculture," Walker said.

"The talk of merging departments brings to my mind bigger bureaucracy. It has never been my view that bigger means better in government. Agriculture needs a strong voice in Annapolis," said Walker.

He went on to describe departmental successes during the past year including the opening up of new farmers' markets, the expansion of the "Maryland with Pride" program and the success in international marketing.

"Much of our success in the international marketplace comes from the strong commitment and leadership of Governor William Donald Schaefer. He continues to push Maryland companies to expand their market possibilities," Walker said.

He also spoke to agriculture's continuing to meet new challenges in the environmental area. He described the new regulations in place for the state's expanded nutrient management program which will increase ten-fold the number of acres involved in nutrient management.

In concluding his speech, Walker called on the Farm Bureau to join with him and continue to work as a team to "keep agriculture as the mainstay of Maryland's economy."

GARRETT COUNTY FARM BUREAU HONORED — Garrett County Farm Bureau was honored for program excellence in three program areas during 1992. The award was presented during the recent Maryland Farm Bureau Convention held in Clinton. Maryland Farm Bureau awards gold star recognition in eight programs. Garrett County Farm Bureau earned gold stars for information, discussion groups and women activities. Brooks Hamilton, right, Garrett County Farm Bureau president, is pictured accepting the Gold Star Award from C. William Kniff, president of the Maryland Farm Bureau.

it remains wet into the spring. Farmers who couldn't complete their fall tillage may find themselves rushing to till soggy fields this spring, which will lead to compaction. I would caution against working those wet fields if you can avoid it. You may want to consider tillage methods that cause less compaction. No-till or minimum-till systems offer definite advantages on wet fields.

The moldboard plough, followed by secondary tillage, is a leading cause of compaction. Once it occurs, deep, subsoil tillage, such as with V-rippers, requires a lot of time, energy and expense. Prevention definitely can save you money and improve yields.

Dear Dr. Bohling, This past year, we had both stressful and ideal growing conditions. What type of hybrids should I plant in 1993?

Again this year, farmers have been reminded that conditions and the growing season will always vary. Your chances of producing a profitable crop are increased if you diversify your hybrid choices and select at least three corn hybrids that have demonstrated top performance under both stressful and ideal conditions. I generally recommend dividing your corn acreage between 25 percent early season, 50 percent mid-season and 25 percent full-season hybrids. You can vary the ratio to meet your own needs, but always maintain some acreage of each maturity group. Your seed dealer should be able to help you select high-yielding hybrids that provide a good range of maturities, along with the stress tolerance best suited to your particular growing conditions.

Dear Dr. Bohling, I've been reading over plot results from the university and seed companies. Why do some varieties' ratings change positions so much in different plots?

The reasons relate to what corn breeders call the "genotype-environment interaction." We want consistent hybrids that give stable yields in different growing conditions. Some hybrids, however, are just the opposite. They have the genetic potential for great yields when growing conditions are just right, but finish toward the bottom of the plot when conditions are poor.

Look for hybrids that don't necessarily win every plot, but rate up in the top 10 percent, regardless of whether it is a high-yield or low-yield environment. These hybrids have high yield potential and good yield stability for years when Mother Nature doesn't fully cooperate. Avoid varieties and hybrids that jump around in terms of performance.

Dear Dr. Bohling, I'm planning to try no-till for the first time this spring. How can I determine which corn hybrids will work best?

Fortunately, corn breeders over the years have selected for traits that help hybrids adapt to no-till conditions. One of these is good early vigor. Because soils are often cool and wet, no-till farmers need hybrids that take off and grow rapidly under those conditions. Also, some diseases and insects can create problems in no-till systems. Whenever possible, select hybrids featuring good levels of resistance to the dominant pests in your area. Most seed companies provide ratings for seed germination, early vigor and insects and disease resistance. Your seed supplier should be able to identify the best hybrids for no-till in your particular situation.

If you have questions for Dr. Bohling, write to him at: Crop Talk, DEKALB Plant Genetics, P.O. Box 20421, Kansas City, MO 64195 or call 316-764-3739.

From The Trenches

Cattle Free By '93. Not!

Well, here it is, 1993, and we still have cattle! Over the past few years, we Montanans saw the animal-rights slogan "Cattle Free by '93" trumpeted in the media and schools. The recent movie A River Runs Through It featured gorgeous Montana scenery, but its promotion featured fund-raising pamphlets from Jeremy Rifkin's "Beyond Beef Coalition."

Anti-cow propaganda even infiltrated public schools through a children's performing troupe called "Youth for Environmental Sanity" (YES!). The troupe leader, Ocean Robbins, is the son of John Robbins, heir to the Baskin-Robbins ice cream empire — who claims that his manifesto, Diet for a New America, was "channeled" to him by a giant talking cow and pig. His revelation: cows are deforesting the Amazon with one end, while pumping out enough flatulence to melt Antarctica with the other.

Despite the convincing source of this information, the animal-rights attempt to put the last cowboys out of work by 1993 failed, primarily because ranchers joined forces with other groups targeted by animal-rights activists — especially non-humans.

But this summer, a new attack on the nation's cattlemen was launched, not under the auspices of animal-rights groups, but of the "Greens." Recent memoranda circulated by the Sierra Club and the National Wildlife Federation (NWF) named the National Cattlemen's Association (along with such groups as Putting People First) as members of a secret cabal of capitalist exploiters hell-bent on reducing Mother Earth to a barren wasteland.

NWF President Jay Hair tried out this tack at last July's Symposium on North America's Hunting Heritage, in Bozeman, Montana. He told his audience of sportsmen that we race a grave threat to the American way of life. This threat, he explained, comes from a group straight out of Captain Planet and the Planetes.

"They are not concerned with the best interests of you as individuals, or as hunters, or for the American way of life. They are right-wing ideologues pursuing an anti-environmental agenda designed to have unlimited access to America's public lands for massive exploitation and short-term political profits."

"They want to open up national parks and wildlife refuges to oil and gas drilling and mining. They want to log the last trees from public lands. They want to graze every blade of grass from riparian areas across the West."

Come on, Jay. Every blade of grass? Wouldn't that make it difficult to keep raising cattle?

According to Mr. Hair, the very existence of people who disagree with him about any ecological issue is evidence of a conspiracy, "a grasping, greedy group — backed primarily by large industries like Exxon..."

Wait a minute. According to Protecting the Environment by Jo Kwong Eckard (1990), Mr. Hair's own group, NWF, is financially backed by none other than perfidious Exxon! It accepting corporate pelf conveys guilt by association, then Mr. Hair himself has Valdez oil on his hands, a paid agent of the conspiracy to exterminate the last blade of grass!

In fact, NWF's donor list is a veritable Who's Who of such "villains": ARCO, Amoco, Mobil Oil, Pennzoil, Tenneco, General Motors, Dow Chemical, DuPont, Monsanto, 3M, General Electric, IBM, Ciba-Geigy Corporation, Baltimore Gas & Electric Company, Duke Power Company, the Coca-Cola Company, Combustion Engineering, Inc., Weyerhaeuser, Waste Management, Inc., and even the Washington Post — for which untold trees are butchered daily.

Why do these companies invest so heavily in "Green" groups like NWF?

Because the "Greens" lobby to restrict the supply of resources available for human use. This artificially inflates the value of resources owned by big business, while strangling new competitors in their cribs. If a company does this directly, it's restraint of trade, if it pays the "Greens" to do it, it's "environmental responsibility."

If, 80 years ago, the railroad industry could have funded the "Greens" to get the site for Henry Ford's automobile plant "protected," it would certainly have done so. No doubt Western Union and the whale-oil industry would have done the same to Marconi, Bell, and Edison.

A sufficient regulatory cost would have crushed these innovators, allowing the old industries to survive, wealthy and powerful, to this very day. But that cost would be borne by the average person, stuck with a nineteenth-century standard of living, life expectancy, and infant mortality rate.

Corporations that use NWF and similar organizations to lobby for regulation may buy themselves protection from emerging competition, but at the cost of heaping ever-mounting burdens and costs on consumers, workers, and taxpayers.

It is not surprising that companies with their eye on the short-term bottom line pursue such cynical policies. What is encouraging is that any company could be far-sighted and public-spirited enough to support groups seeking to ease the regulatory nightmare that is progressively strangling the American dream.

Mr. Hair's attempt to turn sportsmen against cattlemen is the old strategy of "divide and conquer." The fact is that the founder of American conservation, Teddy Roosevelt, was not just a hunter, but a rancher. Those who harvest domestic animals and wildlife are not enemies, but allies, with a common interest in conserving resources. There is a symbiotic relationship: cattlemen produce and maintain riparian areas and wetlands in the West, where game can thrive, while sportsmen help protect calves on the range by controlling predators.

A little study shows the same is true of the other productive activities denounced by Mr. Hair. His ploy would use sportsmen to attack all other land uses. But as sure as day follows night, the power used to crush cattlemen (or loggers, miners, oilmen, or fishermen) would next be turned against hunters. We're not that dumb. We know, as Ben Franklin said, that "we must hang together, or we shall certainly hang separately."

Mr. Hair and his ilk just don't get it. Wise Use is not a conspiracy, or even a "movement." It is an awakening network of diverse interests for responsible conservation — enhancing the quality of life through scientific resource management and the sustainable use of renewable resources.

Putting People First will never be a protection racket like the "Greens," so we will never shake down payoffs from big business like they do. We must rely on people power. Fortunately for us, that is our secret weapon.

Cattle? Let's have more in '94!

Thank You

We would like to express our appreciation to everyone who sent flowers, food and cards; or who helped in any way following the death of our mother, Anna M. Matthews.

We extend our appreciation to everyone at Garrett Memorial Hospital for the care she received, especially Dr. Tedde and the third floor staff.

A special thanks to Home Health Care Service, the Rev. Don Matthews, Rev. David Kismore, Rev. Charles Teets, the Stewart Funeral Home, and the ladies who prepared the lovely meal for the family following the funeral.

Each month, "Crop Talk" will address four agronomic questions that crop producers have asked agronomist Dr. Richard Bohling. The column will emphasize problems and solutions to these issues — not products — and he wishes to encourage readers to send him any crop related questions they might have.

As Agronomic Services Manager for DEKALB Plant Genetics seed company, Dr. Richard Bohling regularly answers farmers' questions and solves crop-production problems. He and his staff of professional agronomists provide technical information and support services to seed dealers and customers, evaluate new hybrids and varieties and coordinate the company's Field Analysis and Comparison Trial (FACT) program. To do so effectively, Bohling works to stay abreast of all aspects of modern agricultural technology, including crop protection, fertility, tillage methods, equipment and plant genetics. Dr. Bohling received his B.S., M.S. and Ph.D. degrees from Iowa State University. He specialized in soil fertility and plant physiology. He began work with DEKALB in 1978 as manager of production research, and has held his current position since 1980.

Dear Dr. Bohling, I harvested some wet fields last fall. Should I worry about soil compaction, and if so, what should I do?

I suspect a considerable amount of compaction occurred during harvest and fall tillage, but I'll be most concerned if

Nutrient Management Planning Assistance Available In W.Va.

by Joe Hutton
Preston Co. SCS

In recent years we in agriculture have heard a great deal about the regulation of fertilizers and manures. Pennsylvania for instance had specific legislation (House Bill 496) that would require Nutrient Management Planning for agriculture. West Virginia has General Groundwater Protection Rules for Fertilizer and Manures which would require large agriculture operations to implement Nutrient Management Plans. In both states the regulations have not become law, but it is anticipated that efforts will continue to make them laws.

It is important for us in agriculture to be economical and environmentally sound. Economically we want to produce the most food and fiber with the least cost. Environmentally we need to produce the greatest amount of product with the least amount of environmentally sensitive resources (example: fertilizer). Producing food and fiber at the least cost should reduce possible risk to polluting the environment.

In Preston County, W.Va., we have saved fertilizer, maintained production and reduced possible risk to the environment by utilizing the Nitrate Quick Test for Corn. Corn production demands the largest amount of nitrogen of any crop in the United States. The Nitrate Quick Test for Corn is a management tool that helps farmers determine amounts of side-dress nitrogen needed to produce the crop to a predetermined realistic yield goal. In Preston County during the last two corn seasons we have saved $16,000 or 60,000 pounds of nitrogen fertilizers. That's an economic and an environmental savings to everyone.

Proper utilization of nu

Soybean Research Develops New High-Tech Uses

There's more to a soybean than meets the eye. With surprising regularity, agricultural researchers, largely with funds generated by the new nationwide soybean checkoff, are finding new ways to use the high-protein seed.

For example, promising research is under way to create soybean-based fast food containers that can be recycled as livestock feed; biodegradable containers for bedding plants which, as they self-destruct, slowly release organic nitrogen fertilizer into the soil; or clothing made of soy fibers which have the texture of silk.

It is now domestic uses such as these that soybean industry officials hope will put the crop on a better footing on the supply and demand saw-saw and boost prices for the nation's soybean farmers.

To that end, the soybean boards of five Mid-Atlantic states — Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Virginia — have agreed to consider jointly funding new use research.

The boards administer the nationwide checkoff in their states. And although each annually funds research projects in its own state, board members are aware that utilization research often is prolonged and potentially too expensive for any single state's budget to absorb.

Also supporting the rationale for shared funding projects of this kind is the fact that the results of utilization research — such as the development of the new soy-based fuel and the material for building materials called "New Stone" — have application not only across the nation, but potentially around the globe.

Scientists and researchers in five states interested in the utilization research funding program are asked to meet at the Mid-Atlantic Soybean Office, P.O. Box 319, Salisbury, MD 21803, or to phone (410) 742-9500.

trients (nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium, etc.) is the key to Nutrient Management Planning. Soil nitrate testing is one tool used in Nutrient Management Planning. Some steps to nutrient planning that can save financial resources and reduce risks to the environment are:

- 1) Test your soils and follow the recommendations.
- 2) Analyze manure for nutrient content.
- 3) Determine application rate for manure.
- 4) How and when will manure be applied.
- 5) Calibrate your manure spreader.
- 6) Consider residual nitrogen from legumes.
- 7) Choose supplemental fertilizers needed.
- 8) How and when will supplemental fertilizers be applied.

STANDING TIMBER FOR SALE

Contract SR-06-93
Negro Mt. Gate Well
The Maryland State Forest and Park Service is offering for sale the following timber on 38 acres of Compartment #6 of Savage River State Forest. Said timber is estimated to cut 144,396 BD FT of live sawtimber and 5,872 BD FT of dead sawtimber according to the International "Saw Kerf Rule, and 124 cords of hardwood pulpwood, more or less. All tallied trees 11" D.B.H. and larger with at least one 16 log to a 8" top D.B. with less than 50 percent defect were tallied as sawtimber.

Timber is located along a state forest access road approximately 1 1/2 miles south of the intersection of Route 40 and the Zehner Hill Road and lies just north of Interstate 68. Timber is offered for sale subject to the following conditions:

1. Timber will be shown at 9:00 a.m. on Monday, January 18. Anyone interested in seeing this timber may meet at the intersection of Route 40 and the Zehner Hill Road.
2. Contract and Forms will be available at the showing or from the Savage River State Forest Headquarters, Rt. 2, Box 63-A, Grantsville, MD 21536 or phone 301-895-5759.
3. A Security Bond in the amount of 10 percent of the bid submitted must be posted upon submission of the bid to the Maryland Forest and Park Service.
4. The Operator must be a registered Forest Product Operator in Maryland for 1993 and hold a certificate of Erosion and Sediment Control training to be awarded successful bidding.
5. A Performance Bond in the amount of 10 percent of the bid submitted must be posted upon acceptance of the contract by the State of Maryland. The Security Bond may be applied to cover the Performance Bond.
6. All timber volumes noted in this offering are estimates. Parties bidding on this timber should determine such volumes to their own satisfaction. No adjustments on the basis of volumes will be made with buyers.
7. If mutually agreeable to both buyer and seller, an additional timber sale area adjacent to this sale, may be purchased by the awarded contractor at the same price per MBF as originally bid.
8. Bidder may pay 50 percent of bid price on acceptance of the contract, with the remaining 50 percent payable within 90 calendar days from bid acceptance. If buyer selects this option, the delayed payment must be covered by a payment surety bond in a form acceptable to the state.
9. Bids will be received until 1:00 p.m. on Monday, February 1, 1993.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE OF VALUABLE IMPROVED PROPERTY

COPPER KETTLE RESTAURANT ROUTE 135, MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK, MARYLAND

Under and by virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage from Helen Victoria Berry and Sandra Sue Campbell, a partnership d/b/a "Copper Kettle," dated January 27, 1989, and recorded in Liber No. 526, folio 345, one of the Land (Mortgage) Records of Garrett County, Maryland, default having occurred under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and it having been duly assigned to the undersigned for the purpose of foreclosure, I hereby give notice that I will, on in the Rotunda of the Courthouse, in the Town of Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, offer for sale, and sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the following property, to-wit:

FRIDAY, JANUARY 22, 1993

At the hour of 10:00 a.m.

ALL that lot, piece or parcel of land, and improvements thereon, lying and being in Election District No. 16, Garrett County, Maryland, and being more particularly described as follows:

BEGINNING at an iron pipe set in the southeasterly boundary of Maryland Route 135, said iron pipe being 786 28 feet northeasterly, as measured along said highway boundary from an iron pipe set at the second corner of the 64.02 acre tract conveyed to Sanders Enterprises, Inc., by deed dated January 24, 1984, and recorded in Liber No. 255, folio 312 of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland; running thence North 50 degrees 15 minutes East along said highway boundary, a distance of 500.00 feet to an iron pipe; thence leaving said highway boundary and with a new division line, South 67 degrees 00 minutes East, a distance of 392.57 feet to an iron pipe, thence South 50 degrees 25 minutes West, a distance of 500.00 feet to an iron pipe; thence North 67 degrees 00 minutes West, a distance of 392.57 feet to the beginning, containing 4.00 acres of land, more or less.

SUBJECT to a reservation to the use of that certain right-of-way as presently exists extending across the parcel hereinabove described, from Maryland Route 135 to other property and residence abutting the subject tract, with full rights of ingress, egress and regress to the said right-of-way and road unto Sanders Enterprises, Inc., its successors and assigns.

BEING the same as conveyed by Dennis R. Reams to Helen Victoria Berry and Sandra Sue Campbell, a partnership d/b/a "Copper Kettle," by deed dated January 27, 1989, and recorded in Liber No. 526, folio 343, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The property will be sold subject to the statutory right of the United States of America Internal Revenue Service, to redeem. The property will be sold subject to all conditions, liens, restrictions and agreements of record affecting same, if any.

TERMS OF SALE: A cashier's or certified check of TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS ($10,000.00) shall be paid at the time and place of sale, except no deposit shall be required of the mortgagee, his heirs or assigns, balance in cash at settlement, except that if the mortgagee, his heirs and assigns, is the purchaser, a credit will be allowed for the mortgage debt, which shall be twenty (20) days after final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court of Garrett County, Maryland, unless said period is extended by the assignee, her successors or assigns, for good cause shown, time being of the essence. The property will be sold subject to all restrictions, liens, covenants and encumbrances of record. In the event that the purchaser fails to go to settlement as required, the property shall be re-sold at purchaser's risk and expense. Taxes, water, rent, and all other municipal liens and charges to be adjusted to date of sale. All other public charges and assessments payable on an annual basis shall be adjusted to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes, document preparation and title insurance shall be borne by purchaser.

The improvements are being sold in an "as is" condition with purchaser responsible for any and all housing or zoning code violation.

1993 - LOOKING AHEAD TO A GREAT YEAR!

We've tallied our sales and marketing successes for 1992 and the results show that 1992 was a very good year. Our sales agents didn't just sit around waiting for the phone to ring, they worked consistently, diligently, and long hours using the proven systems from Better Homes & Gardens to market and sell Garrett County real estate, especially the HOME MARKETING SYSTEM and the HOME BUYING SYSTEM.

A&A Realty listings successfully marketed in 1992 - $15,000,000. A&A Realty additional sales through the Multiple Listing Service - $2,291,000.

During 1993, you will see our advertising format in The Republican change slightly. Monthly, you will see a recap of new listings with photos as well as closed sales. In this way, you will be able to track the market activity in Garrett County right along with us.

In today's issue, we have recapped the sales that took place in the 4th quarter of 1992 and our new listings since Thanksgiving.

For answers to your questions about buying or selling real estate, please contact any of the members of the A&A team.

Blaze Destroys Finzel House Early Saturday

A Finzel family lost most of their possessions early Saturday when fire gutted their single-story wood frame house and its contents.

Volunteer fire fighters from the Eastern Garrett, Grantsville, Frostburg, Clarysville, and Shaft fire departments were called to the Florence Willard residence, located along Sampson Rock Road about three miles north of U.S. Rt. 68, at 5:25 a.m. According to Eastern Garrett VFD Chief Marsh Smith, two rooms and the attic of the house were fully involved in the blaze upon the arrival of the first units.

Smith said Mrs. Willard and her teenage daughter were awakened at about 5:20 a.m. by a smoke alarm. They fled the house and drove to a neighbor's residence to call for assistance, since the telephone in their house was disconnected.

State fire investigator James Martin responded to the scene and determined that the fire originated in a bedroom. He said the cause was apparently accidental, but was still under investigation. Chief Marsh said the estimated loss of the house and its contents was at least $60,000.

Firemen remained on the scene for about five hours. Also responding were the Frostburg Area Ambulance and Northern Rescue Squad. Although no persons were transported to the hospital for injuries, one unidentified fire fighter sustained a minor eye injury that was treated at the scene.

The Willard family is reportedly staying with relatives.

Oakland volunteer fire fighters were summoned Sunday morning to the Edward Parks residence along

Commission Reports Bloomington Water Intake Project Complete

The Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc. has completed the project to relocate the raw water intake structure on the Savage River. The facilities to take water from the river have been moved from near the Route 135 bridge crossing the Savage River to a location just above the Savage River Road Bridge above the point where Aaron Run stream enters the river.

The Bloomington Improvement Association turned over the Bloomington Water System to the Garrett County Sanitary District primarily because of problems maintaining good water quality in the system. The district then discovered that poor water quality was caused by a defect in the intake structure which permitted water of poor quality from the ground at the intake to enter the system. The district took measures to correct the problem immediately by repairing the leaks to keep the groundwater out of the system.

Responding to concerns expressed by the community that the water system was always susceptible to contamination from groundwater at the intake structure as well as potential contaminants entering the supply from Aaron Run, which contains mine drainage and potential leachate from landfills, the district pursued funding to relocate the intake.

The district then applied for grants through the HUD Community Block Grant system and asked the U.S. Bureau of Mines to fund a portion of the project. Grants were awarded for the project in the amount of $145,250 from a HUD Community Block Grant, and the Bureau of Mines provided $20,750 for the project, for total grant funding for the estimated project cost of $166,000.

District Engineer Jeff Gilbert designed and provided

Activity Fair For Area Youth Set For Jan. 21

An Activity Fair will be offered at Dennett Road Elementary School by that school's PTA on Thursday, Jan. 21, in an effort to inform local youth of various activities available to them in Garrett County. The fair will begin at 7 p.m., according to Asa McCain, school principal and event organizer, and is open to all area children age two through 14, as well as their parents.

There will be at least 16 area activity representatives present, set up in booths. Brochures will be available for each activity, describing specifics of each one and listing various costs, age groups, and other pertinent information.

Some of the activities to be represented include wrestling clubs, Red Cross swimming lessons and swim team information, Department of Natural Resources Scales and Tales and Junior Ranger programs, girls' softball, cub and boy scouts, 4-H summer camp, karate, little league, Dribblers Club, College and Me program, Southern Mat Club, soccer, and football.

Saturday Mishap Sends Virginia Man To Hospital

A young Virginia man was treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital Saturday afternoon, according to a nursing spokesperson, after he was injured in a single-vehicle mishap on Interstate 68, west of Md. Rt. 42.

Eric B. Gurnsey, 18, Falls Church, was injured when the 1985 Chrysler LeBaron he was operating east on I-68 crossed both lanes and struck a guardrail on the right shoulder of the roadway with its front end, according to reports filed by the Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry. The vehicle then reportedly traveled over the guardrails and down an embankment, overturning several times before coming to rest on its wheels.

Tfc. G.S. Becker investigated the 6 p.m. mishap and did file charges. He did note that Gurnsey was wearing a seat belt at the time of the mishap which likely

Commissioners Extend Tax Credit Program

The Garrett County Commissioners this week renewed their support for a tax credit program - known as the manufacturer's personal property tax credit - that allows Garrett County manufacturers a three-year tax credit when they make a substantial capital investment in new production equipment and/or tooling.

In order to qualify, a manufacturer must have purchased and placed into service at least $100,000 worth of equipment or an amount equivalent to at least 25% of the assessed value of all production equipment at the designated manufacturing location during the specified calendar year.

While qualified manufacturers receive a three-year 50% tax credit, those located in one of Maryland's three enterprise zones within Garrett County receive a 75% credit.

Garrett County Economic Development Director Tom Jones told the commissioners that Bausch & Lomb, Inc., has taken advantage of the tax credit, which has been in place in the county since 1990. As a result of the commissioners' approval, that company will receive a tax credit this year for $872,568 worth of equipment purchased.

Jones also explained that Garrett County is one of only three counties in the state that still provides the tax credit.

"We feel it is a way to encourage manufacturers to invest in machinery," said Jones, adding, "If they don't make that investment, there is often a decline in productivity."

The commissioners agreed that the tax credit is an important incentive in keeping local manufacturers competitive in the marketplace.

Any manufacturer who has made a substantial capital investment in production equipment or tooling during 1992 may contact the Garrett County Economic Development office at 334-1920 to qualify.

Maryland General Assembly Convenes; Government Reform To Be Major Issue

As the 1993 Maryland General Assembly began this week, reports have indicated that lawmakers will be getting down to the business of dealing with the way state government operates, and considering proposals that would result in a downsizing of government. As revenues slowly climb, controlling costs seems to be taking precedence over more tax hikes and severe budget-cutting measures that have plagued the state during the last few years.

District 1-A Delegate George C. Edwards recently stated that the current session will provide an opportunity for the General Assembly to give serious consideration to government restructuring plans. More specifically, the possibility exists that some state departments will be merged to alleviate duplication of services.

He did note, however, that the budget would still be considered a "major issue" even if the worst seems to be over in terms of the state's economic hardship.

Legislative leaders have called for unity among the lawmakers, hoping that cooperation will prevail so that the workings of state government may become more efficient, and have more of long-term effect in solving the state's budget problems.

According to reports, legislative leaders R. Clayton Mitchell, House speaker, and Thomas V. Mike Miller, Senate president, as well as Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer, all have stated they have no intention of supporting any increases in taxes or fees this year.

Although this year's session will not be plagued with such emotional issues as abortion and large tax increases, some issues facing the assembly promise to cause at least a moderate amount of controversy including the effort that will be made by Montgomery County legislators to recover funds that county lost as a result of the recent decision by the state to end a program that paid the Social Security costs of teachers and other county employees. If that funding formula were to be changed to favor the wealthy jurisdiction, it would likely hurt the poorer ones, according to reports.

Another issue receiving attention is Governor Schaefer's recent implementation of the Keno lottery game, which has brought a significant amount of revenue into the state in its early stages but which is opposed

First Rabies Case Of 1993 Is Confirmed

The Maryland Laboratories Administration confirmed Garrett County's first positive rabies case of the year on Jan. 5, according to a Garrett County Health Department spokesperson. The animal was a raccoon, and was found dead on Dec. 31 on the William Shreve property, off Shady Dell Road.

The dead animal was located near two tied dogs, which had apparently killed the raccoon during the night. The dogs were destroyed following the incident because they were not vaccinated against the disease. Five unvaccinated cats were also possibly exposed and were euthanized.

All pet owners should have their dogs and cats vaccinated against rabies and should keep the vaccines up to date, the spokesperson advised. If a pet encounters a suspicious wild animal, owners should not touch the dog or cat for at least two hours. This will allow time for any virus deposited on the pet's coat to die and reduce the risk of human exposure.

Rabies is an infectious virus disease of the central nervous system which can be transmitted to humans from other animals and can be fatal.

A CAPACITY CROWD was on hand at Penn Alps in Grantsville Saturday night to enjoy Vivaldi's Four Seasons, presented by the Pro Arte Chamber Orchestra of Boston, and to participate in the dedication of Penn Alps' new Great Hall in honor of Penn Alps founder, Dr. Alta E. Schrock. Dr. Schrock is pictured below center with Penn Alps Board of Directors President Doris Ours, who introduced Dr. Schrock. Construction of the Great Hall was completed literally hours before the 7:30 p.m. concert. Pictured above are Evelyn Duesck, manager of the Pro Arte Chamber Orchestra, and Arturo Delmoni, conductor and violin soloist. Ms. Duesck is the daughter of Jack Duesck, consultant administrator of Penn Alps, Inc., who is also the conductor and music director of the Brooklyn Heights Orchestra in New York City, provided an entertaining explanation of Vivaldi's famous work before and after each of the four sonatas. Delmoni has been a guest conductor of a number of orchestras throughout the country and has been a soloist with such orchestras as the Boston Philharmonic and the Boston Pops. He received his musical training at the Juillard School and pursued postgraduate studies with Josef Gingold and Jascha Heifetz. The Grantsville concert was sponsored by the boards of Penn Alps, Inc., and Spruce Forest Artisan Village, Inc. Among the donors for the dinner concert were: Beschy Advertising, Eleanor A. Duesck, Frank's Coffee Service, Cliff Maust, North Star Promotions Inc., W.S. Lee & Son, and Yoder's Meat Packers. The Penn Alps Great Hall is now available for meetings, receptions, recitals, and other gatherings.

Scouts Collect 27,000 Pounds In Food Drive

For the fifth consecutive year, the Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, have collected record amounts of food for local families. "Scouting For Food," the national "good turn," began in 1988. Scouts from across the country ask their neighbors and local businesses to provide food for those less fortunate, and contribute the collected bounty to local area food banks, pantries, and churches for local distribution.

"We set another new record this year," said Council Executive Brad Burr. "The more than 27,000 pounds of food collected by Scouts went directly to local food banks and churches to provide the help so many need, especially at holiday time. This collection helps the needy and gives Scouts a chance to help fill a real need in the community."

Deep Creek District collected 1,919 pounds, Nemacolin Trail District 9,065 and Tri-Valley District, 15,919 pounds of food.

In Nemacolin Trail, most food was taken to the Western Maryland Food Bank

WAITING IN LINE FOR ELVIS - Although the line of Elvis stamp seekers snaked around the Oakland Post Office on the day of the famous stamp's release, OIC Postmaster Jerry Hatley has indicated that the stamp is still available at the Oakland, Deer Park, and Mtn. Lake Park post offices. The much-publicized stamp was designed by Mtn. Lake Park resident Mark Stutzman, and was released at noon on January 8 in honor of what would have been Elvis Presley's 58th birthday. Stutzman was in Memphis last week, where the stamp was officially released one minute after midnight on that date at a Graceland post office. While Stutzman was scheduled to be interviewed on a TNT station television show entitled "Elvis Marathon," planning problems and general confusion resulted in the artist being overlooked by the show's master of ceremonies George Klein. Stutzman expressed some disappointment in the way the event was run, noting several organizational difficulties. A highlight of the event for the artist was when he met Priscilla Presley and her daughter, Lisa Marie. He said the two women were gracious and friendly, congratulating him on his accomplishment. Stutzman will be on hand in Oakland this Saturday from 8 a.m. to noon to greet customers and autograph stamps and other related items for area residents. WKHJ-Radio will broadcast live from the office and television stations have been notified of the event. Hatley announced that the Oakland office is planning to offer two other related items on Saturday - a printed program from the Memphis, Tenn., celebration as well as a 12x12 print of the stamp. "We will be the only office in the country to offer these items," Hatley said. "They will be available for a limited time only and there is a limited number. Both items are collectibles with a print of the stamp on them and a cancellation from the first day of issuance in Memphis." Hatley explained that Stutzman will be able to autograph all items except the 12x12 print because of various contractual agreements. "We are looking forward to Saturday and are pleased to offer this to the community," Hatley said.

Garrett County Clerk Responds To Questions On Various Local Issues

by Sherry Frantz

As a new year unfolds, taking stock of county government's role in certain aspects of the county's future seems an appropriate undertaking to try to facilitate communication between county officials and the public. Toward that effort, we offer an interview with Garrett County Clerk Robert Fousek on several issues we feel play an important part in determining the voice and philosophy of county government.

Q: Could you explain why the official stance of the county commissioners, as a board, is negative regarding the issue of bonding authority?

A: The traditional stance, and as generally reflected by the taxpayers in the past, has been in opposition to bonding -- the most recent example being the Southern High School bond referendum.

Q: But they've only ever really responded to specific bonding questions, and never to the general question of whether or not we should be granted the authority to bond in general.

A: To the best of my knowledge, that issue has not been presented to the voters in the form of a referendum question during the last twelve years that I've been here. But, once again, I think that Garrett County, like most rural counties, generally tries to operate on a pay-as-you-go basis which, at times, can be difficult when you're dealing with major capital expenses. It requires more planning and foresight when trying to anticipate your future needs to accumulate the necessary funds.

In the case of Southern High School, once the commissioners found out that the project -- because of change in the state funding formula -- would require greater participation by the county, they reacted to that by beginning to accumulate, as fast as possible, necessary reserve funds in order to accommodate that project up to what they thought to be their financial capacity at that time -- that being $2.5 million. Therefore, you now have a largely renovated high school and no outstanding indebtedness associated with it. Hopefully those improvements will be good for a 20-year period.

Obviously, when you get into a bonded indebtedness, the interest payments will often far exceed the principal amount -- much the same as the homeowner with a mortgage.

Q: But didn't the board a few years ago agree to go ahead with another major capital improvement project (the Glendale Bridge project), part of which was going to be funded with a $1 million loan? And, even though it was to be an interest-free loan, it was still a loan and that seems to be contrary to the basic attitude of the majority of the board.

A: I think in that instance where you have a no-interest payment situation, you are basically losing nothing other than financing a capital investment over a specific period of time -- in this case, 10 years -- at no additional cost to yourself over and above what your normal capital debt retirement would be on. If we, in fact, had to come up with a million dollars on our own, it may take us several years to accumulate the additional million dollars versus having an annual debt of $100,000 that actually gives us free use of our money for a certain period of time. It may, in fact, only have taken us five years to accumulate $1 million but, in this case, we can accumulate it, earn interest on the money that we accumulated, and get a no-interest loan, and that's what I see as the advantage of that particular project.

Also, when they're looking at the Glendale Bridge project, they were also looking at several other projects at the same time -- the most significant being the financing of the landfill, and the second most significant being the high school renovation project -- so you had three major capital projects they knew were coming down the pike at the time they made that request to the state of Maryland.

Q: You said that other rural counties generally do as we do -- that is, pay as you go.

A: Yes, I think that's a safe assumption. I would estimate that 50% of the 17 rural counties in Maryland avoid long-term indebtedness as much as possible.

Q: Do you know, though, if most of them have obtained the enabling legislation for bonding authority?

A: No, I don't have that specific information on hand.

Q: In your opinion, what are the biggest issues the county government will have to deal with in the near future?

A: From a financial perspective, funding for education and county roads -- included in that county roads category is the landfill -- are the most challenging. They represent almost 75% of the county budget. Finding adequate resources and, at the same time, continually trying to provide an affordable tax rate is always a challenge. It is hard to determine what the break point is with the citizens with regard to an acceptable tax rate, and what issues, concerns, and priorities come before the county and the cost associated with them.

Obviously, we have a very dispersed population in the county. Their priorities don't necessarily keep in line with each other's. There are a lot of different views out there on a lot of different issues.

Q: What about from a growth standpoint?

A: I believe the demand for county services will continue to increase.

Q: For instance?

A: For instance, some services will have to be increased primarily as a result of state mandates. Others are related to increased population impact, such as schools, libraries, road systems, etc.

Q: On growth restrictions?

A: On growth management, on land usage, on regulations, whether it's storm water, flood plain, building, electrical, or plumbing codes. Many of these issues have not been addressed heretofore by, once again, the rural counties and there are many initiatives that actually start at the federal level which are passed on to the state, and the state continues to pass on to the county those responsibilities. Obviously, when you pass on the responsibility and not the funds to administer them or adequately oversee them, then it makes it difficult to achieve them in the fashion they should be achieved without increasing county staff or contracted county services.

As you increase staff or contracted services, you're impacting on the budget and you're trying to keep the tax rate affordable even though you may have more responsibilities or duties that you didn't have before.

"I believe the demand for county services will continue to increase."

Q: That economic handicap notwithstanding, does our county government believe that growth management regulations should be in place?

A: In the case of building codes, I believe the board has mixed emotions, and I believe each board member feels differently, but the majority of the board probably favors, if there is to be building codes in the county, that the county determine the level. Also, if they are forced to have a building code, then the state should subsidize those funds to help offset the costs of enforcing the codes. There do seem to be some state initiatives underway to establish statewide building and electrical codes. The electrical code would be similar to the plumbing code the county was forced to adopt a couple of years ago.

When development expands rapidly, you leave yourself vulnerable to questionable business practices and shoddy workmanship. Up until a few years ago, I think generally everyone knew who was a good builder and who was a bad builder, and the industry regulated itself to some extent.

My philosophy has always been "let the buyer beware." There is a certain amount of responsibility or diligence on the buyer's part to check things such as reputations, quality and if you don't know those answers it's the purchaser's responsibility to do some of that checking versus us blacklisting, if you will, or following up to make sure one contractor out of every 10 may not be putting up their studs the right way.

Q: Let's talk about the recycling effort. In general, where are we with that effort and what's the status of the new landfill -- especially in light of the fact that a certain amount had to be taken from the landfill budget to make up for a shortfall because of state cutbacks?

A: We took a very small portion -- I believe $75,000 -- from our planned landfill capital expenditures for this year which, based on the cash outlay for the landfill, we weren't obligated to use those funds this year so basically it was an unanticipated surplus when we prepared the budget. It's not going to impact the deadline or the plans for the construction of the new landfill in any manner. We are currently negotiating with the contractor for the landfill.

Within the month, we'll be receiving the final results of our solid waste collection system study. Included in there will be recommendations relative to recycling at those sites. There seems to be a definite need to monitor those sites and limit the amount of hours they are open to blend, ideally, recycling into those centers.

Sheriff's Office Statistics For 1992 Released

Incidents of crime handled by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office in 1992 were lower on average than the year before, according to Sheriff Van Evans, who recently released the office's statistics for 1992. While there were no homicides in the county last year, the incident of rape rose from three to five, and the number of thefts climbed from 1991's figure of 161 to 1992's total of 167. All other crimes were down in number, as well as arrests. These statistics are only those of the Sheriff's Office and do not include any activities of the Maryland State Police, Evans clarified.

The total number of calls received by the Sheriff's Office was 6,245. The officers investigated 104 traffic accidents, issued 263 citations, and served 4,076 miscellaneous papers. The office logged 779 arrests, including 40 persons charged with DWI (driving while intoxicated).

Assault and battery cases numbered 221. The number of breaking and entering cases was 75, and there was one robbery logged. Sixteen cases of motor vehicle theft were recorded.

The average daily population of the Garrett County Jail was 44.3 (40.8 male, 3.5 female) in 1992. Evans noted that the average in 1991 was approximately 46. The legal maximum number of prisoners at the jail is 36 men and 8 women. The sheriff explained that a visitation room has been modified with cots to handle the intermittent overflow of incarcerated persons.

The total number of men admitted to the jail in 1992 was 580. The total of women admitted was 73, with a total of 653 admissions. Releases number a total of 660, with 585 men and 75 women.

DNR Recruit Class Includes One Local Man

Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP) Superintendent Col. Franklin I. Wood has announced that 18 NRP recruit officers, including one from Garrett County, will graduate from the NRP Training Academy on Saturday morning, Jan. 16, during a ceremony in Annapolis.

The 42nd recruit class will be honored during a commencement ceremony at 10 a.m. at the Anne Arundel Community College's Pascal Auditorium. Maryland Department of Natural Resources Secretary Torrey C. Brown, M.D., will be the keynote speaker at the graduation ceremony.

Colonel Wood says this extremely diverse group of recruit officers from throughout Maryland are a special class since 1993 is the agency's 125th anniversary.

"This fine group represents excellence and the proud future for conservation law enforcement in Maryland," Colonel Wood says. "In a year that will be spent remembering NRP's proud tradition, these 18 individuals will be asked to carry that heritage into the future."

Among the recruits is Jeffery W. Sweitzer, 25, of Swanton.

The recruit officers have spent 26 weeks at the Natural Resources Police Training Academy in Matapeake. The academy has a live-in facility for both men and women for the duration of the training. The recruits receive a thorough education in law enforcement, vigorous physical training, and extensive practical experience. Classes are devoted to leadership development, general police studies, criminal law, search and rescue, fire fighting, emergency medical services and law/vehicle operation.

Unlike other law enforcement agencies, the recruits undergo extensive training on conservation issues and are schooled on hunting, trapping and fishing laws, regulations and conservation philosophies.

All recruit officers will be given Marine Patrol assignments throughout the state soon after graduation. They will each be a part of a supervised field training program where they will work with experienced officers for a period of time before assuming full law enforcement responsibilities.

MSP Report Two Of Three Stolen Vehicles Recovered

Two of three vehicles reported stolen last Thursday from a used car business on Md. Rt. 42 were found abandoned Saturday on the Old Morgantown Road, according to a spokesperson at Barrack W. McHenry, of the Maryland State Police.

Robert K. Thomas, Friendsville, reported last week that a red 1989 Ford F-350 rollback pickup truck, a blue and black 1989 Geo Tracker, and a silver 1985 Ford Tempo were stolen from his used car lot. The vehicles were reportedly valued at $24,000.

An unconfirmed report indicated that the pickup is still missing. Tfc. P.R. Brown is investigating and indicated that no arrests have been made in the case.

GCC Board Seeks Nominations For Outstanding Contributor

The Board of Trustees of Garrett Community College announced today that it is inviting nominations for the Award for Outstanding Contributions to Garrett Community College. This award is given annually at GCC's commencement exercise. Any member of the community may submit a nomination, and all nominations are warmly encouraged.

The purpose of the award is to recognize individuals or organizations that have significantly and positively influenced GCC's mission and educational goals. Persons who would like to recommend a candidate, may contact the GCC Office of the President at 387-6666 for further information and a nomination form.

To be considered, nominations must be delivered to the GCC Office of the President no later than February 18.

SKIS STOLEN
Cpl. G.R. Chaney of the state police noted that there were two more ski thefts last week.

Michael Pfennig and Christopher Walsh, both of Bridgewater, N.J., told police that their 190 Olin skis and 185 Atomic skis had been left unattended at the resort and were stolen.

Cpl. Chaney again reminds skiers that they should never leave their skis unattended and to have a friend watch them or to lock them up when not in use. The theft occurred on January 5 at 9 p.m.

Arrests Logged By GC Sheriff's Office

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office logged several arrests this week and is investigating a theft case that occurred at the Keyser's Ridge Truck Stop.

Two unidentified men entered the Keyser's Ridge Truck Stop on Tuesday night and purchased a pack of cigarettes. When paying for the item, the men apparently confused the clerk and got away with approximately $50. The first suspect is a black male in his mid-40's weighing approximately 240 pounds. He is 5'9"-10" tall and has grayish-black hair. He was wearing a beige shirt at the time of the incident.

The second suspect is also a black male, weighing approximately 170-190 pounds with black hair and a black thin beard. He is probably in his early 30's and is also 5'9"-10" tall. At the time of the alleged crime, he was wearing a blue toboggan, a thick necklace, and dark pants and shirt. The vehicle involved was a brown Chevrolet Celebrity with Ohio tags #VSP-094.

An investigation is continuing into the case and any person with possible information about it is urged to contact the Sheriff's Office.

In other Sheriff's Office news, a Terra Alta, W.Va., man was arrested and charged with driving while intoxicated (DWI) on January 7. Clarence J. Boogher, 45, was stopped by Dep. J. Sowers on Rt. 219 South at approximately 3:30 a.m. after the driver crossed the center line.

Stephen F. Durst, 39, Oakland, was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant by Dep. M. Proulx on Saturday. Durst has apparently failed to pay deferred payments to Garrett County District Court following a DWI conviction.

A bench warrant was served to Joey W. Martin, 19, Grantsville, for failure to appear in district court. Martin was scheduled to face a charge of malicious destruction of property.

A bench warrant was issued for August Knapp, 25, Oakland, for failure to appear in court. Knapp was scheduled for a court appearance, according to the report.

Thomas V. Carletti, 26, was served a bench warrant issued from Worcester County. Carletti posted $500 bail and was released, according to the report.

Dannie A. Stemple, Oakland, was served a bench warrant for failure to appear in Allegany County District Court. He was arrested Tuesday.

The Sheriff's Office members are also investigating a theft case that occurred at the Grantsville Holiday Inn. Steven Walterhoefer, manager of the hotel, reported that sometime on Jan. 4 a person or persons vandalized a Coca-Cola vending machine and another vending machine. The suspects apparently broke the machines' lock mechanisms with a blunt object and removed change from inside.

There was over $400 damage done to the machines, according to the report.

Swanton Man Is Found Guilty On N.R.P. Charges

A Swanton man was found guilty on a number of Natural Resources Police charges in Garrett County District Court recently.

Charles M. Wilson, 30, was found guilty of the following charges: spotlighting with a weapon and fined $50; possessing a loaded gun in his vehicle and fined $50; driving while intoxicated, 90-day suspended jail term, $500 fine, and 18 months of supervised probation. He must also pay court costs. Wilson was ordered by Judge Jack R. Turney to attend a drinking and driving program at his own expense. Both of his guns were forfeited to the state.

Wilson was found not guilty of hunting while intoxicated.

He had been arrested on October 24 by Department of Natural Resources Police Officer Walter May, assisted by Garrett County Sheriff's Officer Larry Gnegy.

Mtn. Lake Park Man Found Guilty On Battery Counts

A Mtn. Lake Park man was found guilty of two counts of battery in Garrett County District Court proceedings last week and sentenced by Judge Jack R. Turney.

Mark T. Best, 32, was sentenced to a six-month suspended jail term, fined $25, and placed on one year of supervised probation for each count. The sentences will run concurrently.

Best had been charged with those counts by his estranged wife, Emma Best, who stated that he had come to her home on two separate occasions and refused to leave. In one of those incidents, he reportedly threw Mrs. Best to the floor and in the other incident he reportedly pushed her.

In other District Court news, Katherine L. Burns, 23, Oakland, was found guilty on one count of battery.

The judge sentenced her to a six-months suspended jail term, fined her $25, and placed her on one year of supervised probation. She was also ordered to have no violent contact with Theresa Friend. Her sentence and probation are to run concurrently with her current sentence and probation for a previous offense.

Burns had been charged with battery by Friend following an October 22 incident at the Short Stop parking lot in which Burns reportedly got out of her car and cursed Friend and then hit her in the face. Friend also contended that Burns had been harassing her at work.

Charles Housley, 18, Mtn. Lake Park, was found guilty of assault and trespassing on private property by presiding Judge Timothy Finan of Allegany County.

Housley was handed three-month suspended jail terms and placed on one year of supervised probation for each count. The sentence and probation are to run concurrently. He was also ordered to stay away from Jerry Cline and to seek alcoholic counseling. In a plea agreement with the State's Attorney's Office, charges of disturbing the peace, being disorderly in a public place, and harassment were not prosecuted.

Housley had been charged with those offenses by Jerry A. Cline, Mtn. Lake Park, following an August 18 incident in which Housley reportedly came to Cline's residence after being told not to do so and refused to leave. Cline said that Housley threatened him with bodily harm and cursed him.

Timothy J. Getz, 20, Mtn. Lake Park, was found guilty of one count of battery. Judge Turney sentenced him to a 90-day suspended jail term, fined him $50, and placed him on one year of supervised probation. In a plea agreement with the State's Attorney's Office, a charge of reckless endangerment was not prosecuted. He was also ordered to have no contact with Ann Heckler.

Heckler, Rowlesburg, W.Va., had charged Getz with those offenses following a November 27 incident when Getz told her to leave his residence and she reportedly went upstairs to her daughter's bedroom. She contended Getz came in and closed the door and pulled a gun out of the back of his pants. She said he then grabbed her shirt and pointed the gun at her head. At that point, she reportedly yelled for her cousin and he put the gun back in his pants.

Kimberly A. Dillon, 31, Oakland, was found guilty of being disorderly in a public place. Turney sentenced her to a 60-day suspended jail term and fined her $50.

Dillon had been charged by the Oakland City Police Department on November 20 after they received a call regarding a disorderly person in the alley between the Garrett County Jail and Subway. When the police officer arrived, he reportedly found the defendant lying in the alley. She told the officer her boyfriend was in jail and she wanted to go to jail, too. The officer then asked her where she lived and offered to take her home. She refused several times and was placed under arrest.

DWI CASES

Daily F. Lewis, 42, Md., was found guilty of DWI (driving while intoxicated) and handed a one-year jail term (six months were suspended), fined $1,000, and placed on 24 months of supervised probation. He was also fined $150 for driving while revoked. In a plea agreement with the State's Attorney's Office, charges of driving an unregistered vehicle and failure to drive right of center were not prosecuted.

Lewis had been charged with those offenses by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office on August 27.

A motion to revise a DWI sentence for David E. White, 46, Md., was denied by Judge Finan. He had been arrested for DWI on June 2, 1991, by the Maryland State Police.

Howard V. Sisler, 22, Md., was found guilty of DWI last week. The judge ordered the case held sub-curia for one month. Sisler had been charged with that offense on January 1, 1992, by the Maryland State Police.

Randy W. Nazelrod, 28, Md., was found guilty of DWI. He was handed a 30-day suspended jail term, fined $500 ($300 suspended), and placed on one year of DWI monitoring.

A DWI charge against Timothy M. Davis, 39, W.Va., was not prosecuted because of test results and a plea. He was found guilty of driving a commercial vehicle with alcohol in his blood or on his breath. He was fined $100. He had been charged with DWI on November 12, 1992, by the Maryland State Police.

Shannon N. Rinard, 18, Md., had a DUI (driving while under the influence of alcohol) charge against her placed on the stet docket. She was granted probation before judgment on a negligent driving charge and fined $100 and found guilty of a license restriction violation and fined $25. She had been arrested by the Maryland State Police on November 13.

A bench warrant was issued for Gary Tinsley, 43,

Md., who failed to appear in court last week to face a DWI charge and a charge of throwing a substance on the highway. His bond has been set at $1,500. He was arrested on November 14 by the Maryland State Police.

Dr. Olwine Joins Emergency Room Staff At GCMH

In its continuing effort to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of Emergency Room services provided to the community, Garrett County Memorial Hospital recently announced the addition of Robert Olwine, M.D. to the medical staff as an emergency room physician.

A 1957 graduate of the University of Virginia Medical School in Charlottesville, Dr. Olwine completed his surgical residency at the University of Virginia and the Lahey Clinic in Boston.

"I think we are fortunate in having a fine surgeon with good primary care experience come to work in our Emergency Department," said Jim Harvey, who is responsible for physician recruitment at Garrett Memorial and the director of planning and program development.

Olwine served as medical director of the New Beginnings Adolescent Drug and Alcohol Center in Dorchester County in the past year, where he provided general medical care in addition to treating drug toxicity and alcohol problems.

Olwine also spent 20 years at the Vancouver Clinic, a multiple specialty group, in Vancouver, Wash., where he provided care for patients experiencing general medical problems in addition to providing surgical services to patients requiring emergency care.

"After performing every aspect of general surgery for over 30 years, I'm anxious to get back to the grassroots of medicine, treating the basic problems people experience from day to day," said Olwine. "I've enjoyed professional contacts with Garrett Memorial's Medical Staff including nurses and other Emergency Room personnel who provide a very high standard of medical care and professional service to patients."

Bring On Soccer...

An excellent presentation was made by Dave Spirk at Tuesday's Board of Education meeting, culminating with a recommendation by the School Activities Review and Evaluation Committee that soccer be added to the list of sports teams in Garrett County's two high schools.

Spirk, who spoke on behalf of the Mountaintop Soccer Association, presented statistics on how dramatically the sport has grown in Garrett County in just the past three years. When the MSA, then the MS League organized in 1990, 100 area youth of all ages comprising eight teams participated. In 1991, there were 181 participants, comprising 16 teams. This past fall season, 264 youth played soccer with 20 teams in action. The games this past season also featured certified referees, as 12 local soccer "dads" earned certification last summer.

Spirk noted that soccer is the most widely played sport in the world, and it is a sport which can be played by a variety of sizes of players. Height and weight have little to do with one's ability on the soccer field, as it often does in, say, football or basketball.

He also pointed out that Southern and Northern high schools are among a tiny minority of schools in the state that do not have soccer programs. So acquiring opponents would be no problem, as nine area high schools have already expressed the willingness to put the Rams and Huskies on their schedules.

The opportunities for soccer scholarships and/or some other form of post-high school play for local youth are another plus for this program.

With the Board of Education budget so tight, some may believe that the additional cost of another sports program cannot be justified. However, not only is soccer one of the least expensive of all sports programs, but also the MSA is ready to donate $2,000 plus the first set of uniforms to get the program started.

The Board of Education will vote on this recommendation at its February meeting. Given the information shared by Mr. Spirk in his presentation and the overwhelming support of soccer in Garrett County, we sincerely hope the proposal will receive a quick, affirmative response.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I want to thank the many wonderful citizens of Western Maryland for the warm relationship we have shared since 1977.

As you know, last year's election was an historic one. I was pleased to have had the opportunity as an aide to Congressman Byron to be so involved in the life of your county.

The issues of Western Maryland will continue to be debated and discussed. There is no doubt that the recession has been very destructive for many families and areas of our district. It is my hope that the people of Western Maryland will continue to pay close attention to what is happening in our nation and region.

I have been fortunate to have had the opportunity to help make government work for individuals, businesses and community groups and organizations. There are so many great friends in each county.

that I want them to know that I appreciate their personal support.

I thank them for their kind thoughts and support. Best wishes.

Sincerely,
R. Douglas Mathias
Westminster

To the Editor:

The Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry would like to thank all those who assisted in the search of the late Floyd Livingood in the Pine Run area of Garrett County recently.

Included are: Western Maryland Crime Scene Search Team members Bernie Zlomek, Dept. Natural Res.; Carl Skidmore, Md. State Police/Ret.; Eastern Garrett County Volunteer Fire Dept. and Chief Marsh Smith; Salisbury Volunteer Fire Dept. and Chief Dave Short. AM COM 1 Communications Vehicle, Allegany County Civil Defense, Somerset County Search Team/K-9 Units, and

Maryland State Police Aviation and K-9. Maryland volunteer fire departments included volunteers from Eastern Garrett, Grantsville, Frostburg, Clarysville, Barton, Midland, Shaft, Westport, and Potomac. Pennsylvania volunteer fire departments included volunteers from Salisbury and Meyersdale. Ambulances were provided by the Frostburg and Salisbury areas. Food was provided by Allegany and Garrett County Chapters of the American Red Cross, Eastern Garrett Fire and Auxiliary, Salisbury Fire and Auxiliary, Meyersdale Fire and Auxiliary, McDonald's of Frostburg, Roy Rogers of Frostburg, and Frostburg Pizza.

Also to be thanked are those local farmers who assisted with tractors and access to the areas that had to be searched, Paul Wright and John Meese.

We would also thank those who used their vehicles to transport food and searchers and for the use of the 4-wheelers that saved many steps.

A search of this magnitude could never have been accomplished without the cooperation and dedication of volunteers from these organizations.

Sincerely,
Md. State Police at Barrack W. McHenry

To the Editor:

The staff of the Garrett County Health Department Home Health Services wish to publicly thank Central Alarm and the State and County Roads Departments for their help in making the numerous home visits possible over the past year. Without the cooperation of these agencies, many of the necessary daily visits to homes throughout the county during the recent December snow and sleet storms would have been impossible.

A special thanks to the Northern Garrett County Roads Department crew who managed to keep county road openings open for the rescue squad to transport a home health patient to the hospital!

We feel very fortunate to be a part of the Garrett County community where the various agencies, medical and hospital staff continue to cooperate and work together to strengthen and support its citizens.

Sincerely,
Norma B. Bolding, R.N.
Director, Garrett County Health
Dept. Home Health Services

To the Editor:

If anyone in Garrett County and the surrounding area has a patient at the Veterans Administration Center Hospital in Martinsburg, W.Va., and would like for me to check on them and let you know their progress, etc., I will gladly do so.

Most of the time I can be reached at (304) 263-3228 (day) and (304) 267-6461 (evening).

Sincerely,
Eleanor A. Pritts
Martinsburg, W.Va.

To the Editor:

This is a second follow on letter in reply to the letter of Delegate Edwards, as published in The Republican issue of December 31, 1992. The first letter pointed out how Delegate Edwards arbitrarily ignored a citizens' petition for term limitations and abridged his own policy for introducing local county legislation. This letter replies to Delegate Edwards' statements in regard to salaries of Garrett County officials which I believe are misleading and fail to reveal how he has sidestepped responsibility. In his letter Delegate Edwards states "Garrett County has a Salary Study Commission which I believe to be a fair approach and one which has functioned well for many years."

"Eating Together" sites are now operating two days per week will use Day 1 and Day 2. The menu for the week of Jan 18-22 is as follows:

Day 1 - Cole slaw, liver and onions, mashed potatoes, stewed tomatoes, roll, sherbet.

Day 2 - Hamburger Stroganoff, buttered noodles, brussels sprouts, fruit cocktail.

Milk, coffee, and tea are served with all meals.

On occasion, a site may opt to make a substitution in the menu. Senior citizens who wish to eat at one of the "Eating Together" sites are asked to call the individual site to check the menu for the day and to make reservations.

Across the nation, millions of dollars have been spent removing asbestos from buildings because of the threat to the public's health. Given the documented rise of second-hand smoke, how can we fail to take similar action to remove tobacco smoke from our buildings? These measures don't cost taxpayers or business owners a dime - they actually save them money in the long run!

Cigarette smoking in the presence of non-smokers can no longer be defended as an issue of free choice. Tobacco smoke hurts everyone - smokers and non-smokers alike. We're all at risk.

I appeal to all citizens of Garrett County to join those who have already begun to protect themselves, their families, their employees and the public from the dangers of second-hand smoke. The benefits to our health and safety will be immediate and lasting for generations to come.

The Mind Wanders

So Long, Son
by Pam Ashby

I spent Saturday shopping for tea towels, assorted utensils, salt and pepper shakers, and various other homemaking necessities. I spent Sunday washing, drying, and ironing clothes and rummaging through cabinets and closets to see what groceries and linens the family could spare. No, I'm not leaving Joe. My 21-year-old son is striking out on his own this week.

Now mind you, it's time and this was the agreement: "If you choose to work rather than finish college then you must move out during your 21st year." That was three years ago, however, and suddenly he's 21. The time has literally flown by. Who knew? I applaud his efforts to make it on his own, but the mother-controlled strings of my heart are broken and I doubt if they will ever quite heal. It is all a part of life, though, and my life will go on. So despite my achy-breaky (sorry!) heart, I'm trying to console myself with the benefits of "one less bell to answer."

Benefit one: Four or five fewer loads of laundry each week to sort, wash, dry, and put away (except when he runs out of quarters and runs home to throw a load or six into my washer).

Benefit two: A gallon less of milk, five pounds less of meat, 10 pounds less of snack foods, and about two and one-half liters less of cola to buy each week (except when he happens to stop by for breakfast, lunch, or dinner).

Those were the only benefits I could foresee, except that he will be out on his own learning the meaning of life -- that being that one's paycheck is rarely in direct proportion to one's financial responsibilities.

As I scrubbed some pots and pans for Jamie to take to his new pad the other day, I looked out the window and there in the backyard were Jamie at age 10 and our late family dog, Gretel, playing happily. I fell apart. And he held me and he said "Be happy for me, mom." Then while cleaning the bathtub, I remembered the wild bath times my little toddler used to have. Crazy Foam, a fleet of tugboats, wind-up fish, and Weebles were always part of his bedtime ritual and they were some of the best times in my life. Later, as I folded his laundry one last time, I smelled each piece lovingly. Sentimental mothers know exactly what I'm talking about here. I've been a closet laundry sniffer for a long time. There's nothing more comforting than to absorb yourself in your child's fresh, clean clothes except, of course, to snuggle with the kids themselves.

I'm breaking up here. Let's go on to the hilarious memories, like the time I swatted Jamie on the rear for some minor infraction and he rolled, back-flipped, and somersaulted back the hallway, landed feet in the air against my bedroom door, and laughingly shouted, "Mom! That's child abuse!" What a pip!

He's never been a stranger to whoopee cushions, firecrackers, or salamanders. He loves a good joke and he has the same warped sense of humor that I possess. He does great impersonations of "Church Lady," Eddie Murphy, Wayne (of Wayne's World), and George Carlin. He loves football and softball. Pizza and nachos are still his passions. He'll likely survive on Oodles of Noodles and Campbell's soups. And that's okay. Joe and I once lived on mayonnaise and crackers for a week early in our marriage and I didn't even like mayonnaise.

The tough times ahead will make him stronger and I must let go now and wish him love, peace, and happiness in this new chapter of his life. So long, son, and good luck.

There are many who would disagree that the Garrett County Salary Study Commission, for reasons best left unsaid, has functioned as it should. Aprime example is the salaries paid to the Garrett County Commissioners. Based upon a September 1991 survey, Garrett County Commissioners are paid an annual salary considerably higher than the salaries of 14 other Maryland counties. Fourteen other counties which, all but two, have a much greater population and tax base than Garrett. A good example is our neighboring Allegany County. With a population of almost 80,000 their commissioners are paid an annual salary of $12,000. Garrett, with a population of slightly over 28,000, are paid an annual salary of $25,500 which will increase to $28,000 in 1994. To quote from the Cumberland Times-News issue of January 7, 1993, "Although Allegany population is 166 percent greater than Garrett County, the neighboring commissioners pay is 91.7 percent higher."

The final report of the 1992-93 Allegany County Salary Study Commission was presented to the Allegany Commissioners this past January 6, 1993. That Salary Commission recommended the salaries of the Allegany Commissioners be increased on a graduated scale from $15,000 in 1995 to $18,000 in 1998. This recommended increase for the years 1995 through 1998 is still considerably less than the current salaries of the Garrett Commissioners. It will be most interesting to observe the salary recommendations of the 1992-93 Garrett County Salary Study Commission which I understand will be forthcoming this February.

The current unreasonably high level of salaries for the Garrett County Commissioners are the result of legislation introduced by Delegate Edwards and passed by the General Assembly in Annapolis. It is my belief that Delegate Edwards became aware that many Garrett citizens were not pleased with the unreasonably high salary levels caused by his legislation and expected him to do something about it. Here is what he had done about it:

During the General Assembly of 1991 Delegate Edwards introduced house bill number 645 to amend the Garrett County local law pertaining to establishment of salaries of local elected officials. This bill, which was enacted into public local law, transferred the responsibility for enacting salary legislation from the jurisdiction of Delegate Edwards to the jurisdiction of the Garrett County Commissioners. No longer will the Garrett Salary Study Commission recommend salary changes to Delegate Edwards for enactment into law by the General Assembly. Now, the Salary Commission will make their recommendations to the Garrett County Commissioners for enactment into law by a county ordinance.

I believe Delegate Edwards made this change in our local law for two reasons:

First, if the status quo or increases in the salaries of the County Commissioners were enacted into the forthcoming new salary law, he knew there was a good possibility that the law, by petition, would be taken to a referendum. Local laws enacted through the General Assembly are subject to referendum by petition. However, a law enacted by a Garrett County ordinance cannot be taken to a referendum. Thus, by the transfer of the jurisdiction to the County Commissioners, the citizens' right of petition for referendum would be taken away and he could thereby protect the high salaries of the commissioners.

Second, Delegate Edwards, being well aware of the detrimental controversy over the high salaries of the commissioners, took the easy way out. He transferred the responsibility and jurisdiction for local

While there are still several Maryland counties yet to be heard from, it is almost a certainty that Garrett County is now the only county in Maryland that does not have the right of referendum on law that establish the salaries of their elected county officials.

And Then There Were Three . . .

By Mary Sincell McEwen

Triplets The mention of the word conjures up for most people visions of three cribs in a neat row, identical outfits in threes, and a specially-made three-seater stroller. It's a charming picture - the three little look-alikes smiling sweetly in an arranged photograph or climbing playfully on their mother. And after thinking of these pleasant images, the everyday person or single-child parent may go back to his or her everyday life, simply not realizing what the birth of triplets truly means, and how traumatic, overwhelming, and earth-shaking the event is for all those involved.

The earth shook for Accident residents Betsy and Jerry Herpel about two and a half years ago when a lab technician told the couple that Betsy's sonogram image showed three fetuses.

"Are there three heartbeats?" was the mother-to-be's first question. She said her main concern at that moment was getting these three babies safely into the world. Carrying triplets is risky for both the mother and the children, and the path to birth can be tenuous, wearisome, and even frightening. Getting adjusted to the reality of three kids at once was not difficult, though, for the Herpels.

"I knew I was going to have to put my Nikes on and just do it," Jerry said. And a short visit with the content family is evidence enough to show anyone how the couple has indeed "just done it."

Betsy Dudley and Jerry Herpel were married August 8, 1986, in Baltimore. The couple first resided in Oakland (later moving to Accident), and worked together to establish the Deep Creek Pharmacy which is located in the McHenry Plaza. For nearly five years, they were a couple. Then, on January 14, 1991, at Ruby Memorial Hospital in Morgantown, they became a family - an instant one - with the additions of Grace Anne, Edward Richard, and William Gerard. Edward was born first, weighing in at five pounds; Grace Anne was second at a tiny two and a half pounds, and William brought up the rear at four and a half. Although Grace was the smallest, she was the healthiest of the three, as the boys both experienced respiratory problems at first.

Those first days remain a blur to Betsy because she had the children via a Caesarian section and was only semi-conscious for several days. She then developed a dangerous illness of the blood - septicemia - and remained indisposed for over a week. During this time, Jerry was "right in there," he said, taking on his new duties of changing lots of diapers, feeding the hungry infants, and generally learning how to handle those tiny bodies. The neo-natal intensive care nurses were exceedingly amused at the new father as he knelt on the floor (all 6'5" of him) to put his arms in the two holes of the incubators, and while caressing his babies told them in a full, normal voice all about the latest happenings in the sports world.

"The nurses just cracked up at that," Betsy recalled. "I could hold Gracie in one hand, with her neck supported by my fingers and her behind on the base of my palm," Jerry said, holding out his hand.

As with most multiple births, the Herpel babies were born prematurely by about six weeks. Betsy had been in the hospital on complete bed-rest since December 5, also a routine procedure when a mother is expecting more than one baby. The physicians first thought the C-section would have to take place even a week earlier because of concern for Grace, who was apparently losing weight in utero. They were able to give the children one more week of development, however, before performing the surgery.

While Betsy's initial memories are foggy, Jerry remembers the amazing birthday as a heady time.

"I gave away a gross of bubble gum cigars and wore three buttons on my shirt - 'It's a girl!' 'It's a boy!' 'It's a boy!' I was euphoric. And the people at Ruby Memorial were great. The cafeteria food was even good," Jerry said. The couple clarified their reason for having the babies out of town was solely because of the special birth circumstances. They voiced support of the local hospital, but explained that Ruby Memorial's neo-natal care unit is specially staffed and equipped to meet the needs of extraordinary births.

During this interview with the family, the children climbed on their parents, asked them several questions, and cautiously flirted with the photographer. Grace seemed to be the most verbal, speaking in a high, sweet voice, while Willy quietly went about his own important business of playing with a new Christmas toy. Edward cuddled with his father and watched his mother as she spoke of her first months with the tiny infants.

AND UP YOU GO, WILLY! William gets a little taste of flying as his daddy tosses him with ease. An avid sportsman and the owner of a successful business (Deep Creek Pharmacy), Jerry Herpel's life was already a busy one before the happy addition of Ed, Will, and Grace. His pharmacy education comes in handy when sickness descends upon the household, which can be yet another trying situation for multiple families.

"For about three months, lots of family helped us out," she said. "And I was pretty private for a while. People probably thought I wasn't very nice at first because I was so protective. But with three preemie babies, a mother has to be protective."

Betsy went on to explain how the fear of losing one or more of the children is a real issue with all parents of triplets, as they often have respiratory problems caused by under-developed lungs or other difficulties as a result of premature birth. While any parent experiences anxiety, for instance, over the danger of SIDS (Sudden Infant Death Syndrome) with one baby, the parents of triplets fear for the lives of three at once.

"It was difficult at first to deal with everyone's curiosity, too. People would see us out walking and they would ask 'what are they?' I always wanted to say, 'well, they're humans.' It's not that I didn't understand the fascination - that's natural - but I also wanted people to understand that we weren't a circus attraction. I didn't want to upset anyone, but I also felt extremely protective. You do what you have to do," Betsy explained.

The couple was quick to answer "no" when asked if they ever got their children mixed up.

"Willy had hair at birth," Jerry said. "That helped. Edward and Grace were similar, and from the back, they sometimes confused me for a minute. But we've never really had a serious problem telling them apart."

The babies were fussy infants, rarely sleeping through the night. After family members went back home, Betsy attempted to handle the babies herself with sporadic help from some employees of the pharmacy.

"I was determined I could do it," she said. "I had always managed things before. I was convinced I could handle it all, and I tried for six months. Then I lost my mind," she said, only half-jokingly. At that point, the Herpels hired Kristie Moon, Oakland, to help out five days a week from nine to five. Jerry works at least five days a week at the pharmacy, sometimes 13 hours a day, so Kristie's assistance was and is invaluable. Keeping three two-year-olds entertained is one huge task.

Some years ago, Betsy worked as a corporate personnel consultant for an insurance company in Rockville, and also was employed by Deep Creek Realty for some time before the babies came.

"I miss working somewhat, but I'd never trade it for the world," Betsy said of her current important job. "I've never worked harder in my life than I have these past two years." (Jerry was quick to add that Betsy does indeed still help out at the pharmacy, despite her endless mothering tasks.)

To help keep the parents of multiples from going completely berserk in times of stress known only to multiple families, support groups have been established. The Triplet Connection, a non-profit support organization based in Stockton, Cal., has been Betsy's saving grace.

The organization, described as a "network of caring and sharing for multiple birth families," publishes a quarterly newsletter full of helpful information, from prenatal nutrition to disciplining mischievous toddler trios. Correspondence from parents fills the publication, telling of each couple's unique journey to birth or of the tender empathy each writer feels for the readers who are experiencing the triplet phenomenon and all its trials. Other letters tell of the heartbreaking, anguishing loss of babies, either at birth or shortly thereafter. To single-child parents, the newsletter opens a door of understanding - if only slightly - into the lives of these special people.

The Herpels have a network of friends - all multiple parents - whom they may call at any time to ask questions, get advice, give advice, or to just talk. The Triplet Connection newsletter contains the names of those who are "awaiting a miracle" and those who are "celebrating a miracle" from all over the country, and the publishers help others get in touch with them and offer them support. Betsy stressed that any couple expecting multiples should get the newsletter as the information is up-to-date and enlightening, and the support is invaluable. Pre-natal nourishment is an imperative factor for a woman expecting multiples.

BABY EQUIPMENT TIMES THREE - Whatever baby items single-child parents purchase for their little one, triplet parents have to add two more, of course. These photos show two common pieces of equipment - a stroller and car seat - tripled. The Herpels obtained some specialty items through the help of the Triplet Connection support group, as well as through the help of friends and family. The car seats below were obtained with the assistance of the Garrett County Health Department - a helpful boost for multiple and single-child families alike. Jerry is shown above taking the trio for a spin, and the babes at four months old are shown below. Pictured left to right are Grace, William, and Edward. "And no, we didn't name them after British royalty," Betsy said, in answer to the apparent speculation of several people. "They're all family names," Jerry explained.

Rileys Celebrate 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Riley, Rt. 3, Oakland, were guests of honor at a surprise party December 12 at the Crellin School in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary. The party was given by their two children, Melanie and Willie, both of Oakland. They were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Meyers, Crellin, who were witnesses for the Rileys at their wedding.

Approximately 65 friends and relatives were present as the couple arrived. After greeting those present, they had a toast to their marriage, family, and friends, cut the cake baked for them by JoAnn Glottfely, and opened gifts. A gift from several friends was a wall telephone, long a wish of Wanda's, arranged by Linda Riley.

The couple was married December 9, 1967, at Oak Park Church of the Brethren by Rev. Edgar Shingleton.

Dennis, a 1963 Southern High School graduate, has been an employee of Island Creek Coal Company for 29 years. He is a son of Mrs. Ethelwyn Riley and the late Audley Riley. Mrs. Riley is the former Wanda Glottfely, daughter of the late Paul and Ethel Glottfely, and is a 1966 graduate of Southern. She is self-employed. Dennis is a volunteer fireman with Gorman VFD and had occasion to use his training at the party when tissue paper from the gifts got too close to a lighted candle.

The couple has been part of the White Church community for 15 years and attend White United Methodist Church.

EGLON HOMEMAKERS MEET

President Linda Lewis was both hostess and lesson leader for the January 5 meeting of the Eglon Extension Homemakers at the Eglon Memorial Building. "Boosting Your Self-Confidence" was the topic of discussion.

Devotions included a poem, "Hugs," and scripture from Proverbs. The special feature was a demonstration of how to fold a paper strip so as to bring two paper clips together and how to fold and cut a five-point star.

Thank-you notes were received from the Food for Preston effort and from Union Ambulance for the monetary donations. The levity section included a joke and a candy count.

Refreshments were served to Avenell Parsons, Sandra Hauser, Lillian Knotta, Leticia Bonner, Rebecca Teets, Mary Rembold, Jean Winters and visitor, Sharon Hammel, by the hostess.

CALCAMP DINNER

The family of Lura Calcamp met January 3 at the Mountain Grove Community Building for a family Christmas dinner. ### Logging Workshops For West Virginia Loggers Slated

The West Virginia Division of Forestry announces the next series of logging workshops for the eastern Panhandle of West Virginia (District III). These workshops are mandatory for those loggers who are becoming certified loggers and will be logging in West Virginia. The certification is required under the Logging Sediment Control Act and will go into effect July 2, 1993.

The Logger Workshops consist of three subjects: Best Management Practices, First Aid, and Logger Chainsaw Safety courses. The BMP and First Aid Courses are eight hours each. The Chainsaw Course is four hours.

Best Management Practices (BMP) are guidelines used when considerations are given to building a road, crossing a stream, and using topography. Loggers must work with various soil types. They have to know how to deal with erosion and the climate of their operating area, and apply this knowledge to properly layout and construct roads (both haul and skid).

Each certified logger is to have a valid first aid course. Some loggers are EMTs and first responders; most are carded in the American Red Cross Standard First Aid Course. This course is broken into two parts. A four-hour adult CPR course with certification good for one year, and four hours of first aid training with certification good for three years.

The Logger Chainsaw Safety Workshop is taught by Tim Ard who is a chainsaw professional, but not a logger. This course is not to teach loggers how to harvest trees, but how to do it safely. The March 25 and 26 classes will be the last time the Chainsaw Course will be offered in the Eastern Panhandle before July 2, 1993. If this course is missed, a logger will have to travel to the central or southern part of the state to receive training in May.

Anyone interested in attending these workshops can pre-register for the workshop by calling the West Virginia Division of Forestry's Romney Office at (304) 822-4512 Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Locations and times will be provided to those who are pre-registered.

SIDEBOTTOM BIRTH
Jim and Rhoda Siddall of Aurora are announcing the birth of their first child, a daughter, born January 8 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Weighing six pounds, seven ounces, she has been named Savannah Rae.

Grandparents are Beverly Wiles of Horse Shoe Run and Luther and Christine Wiles of Aurora. Carolyn and Charlie Wiles of Brookside are the maternal grandparents, and Louise Gregory, Mtn. Lake Park, is a paternal great-grandmother.

CORRECTIONS
Omitted from the recent Moats birth announcement was the name of Mrs. Edith Reckart, the maternal great-grandmother of Terra Alta.

In the Norwiah birth announcement it should have stated that Marie Shaffer is paternal (not maternal) great-grandmother.

BOWLING PARTY
Following the January 6 meeting of TOPS, members were joined by women of the Aurora U.M. Church for a luncheon at Denny's and an afternoon of bowling at Par-Matt Lanes in Oakland.

Making the trip were Dorothy Spaid, Reese Conrad, Wilma Helmick, Virginia Jones and granddaughter, Kristan Jones. Donna Snyder, Carol Wotring, Doris Adams, Phyllis Adams, Alma Snyder, Hazel Durst, Wilda Stemple, and Martha Bolyard.

PERSONAL MENTION
Bonnie Douglas of Ashland, Ky., spent last week with her mother, Mrs. Maxine Hauser, Stemple Ridge. She was joined for the weekend by her husband, Charles Douglas, who is employed presently at Fairmont, but will be moving this month to Bluefield.

Kevin, Becky, and Brian Fike of Terra Alta spent a portion of the holidays with their grandmother, Louella Fike, Aurora.

Morgan Fulk of Brookside is a patient in Monongalia General Hospital, Morgantown, where he was transferred from Garrett County Memorial last week.

Jean Lantz is also a patient in Garrett County Memorial after being taken there last week from Cortland Acres Nursing Home.

Free Tax Help To Be Offered In Terra Alta

Free tax assistance is available through VITA, the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance program sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service. VITA volunteers are trained and certified to prepare basic personal income returns. They also alert taxpayers to credits and other benefits to which they might be entitled.

The primary VITA Site for Preston County will be at the Terra Alta Town Hall, on Thursdays from 10 a.m. to noon, Feb. 4 through April 15.

Special VITA Sites can be arranged for special groups at other times and places. Persons who want to arrange a Special VITA Site may call Milton Crum at 304-789-2201 in Terra Alta.

And Then

and the publication as well as the support group members provide pertinent nutrition information. Betsy said interested persons can contact her through the Deep Creek Pharmacy if they need more information on the Triplet Connection.

On the Herpel homefront, daily life is certainly active.

"People who pass by our house think we're a daycare center," Betsy laughed. Sleepless nights make for bad days for the mother of three, compounded by the fact that the triplets don't always sleep very well. When asked when the children began sleeping through the night, Betsy replied, "Hopefully next month."

Despite all the trials of the day, however, both Jerry and Betsy asserted again and again how blessed they feel and how happy they are with their three darlings.

Watching the three develop is intriguing, as they each reach milestones in their own time. Grace walked at 11 months, the boys at a year. All three are communicating well for two-year-olds, with Grace perhaps commanding the largest vocabulary so far. (She had counted backwards from 6 just before the interview.) They rely on each other, as is normal for triplets, and they get along well.

"There is really very little shoving or pushing," Betsy said. "They're dependent on each other, so we really don't like to separate them for long. It confuses them and they worry."

Kristie Moon related the story of taking the three to church. Edward apparently decided to sit with a friend, and when Grace realized he was not with her and William, she began yelling for him - during the service - beckoning him to come to her.

"She was really nervous about him being in another pew," Kristie said.

The cost of rearing triplets is, of course, tripled. Diapers, clothing, medical attention - all of it tripled.

"We've been blessed with many good friends," Jerry said. "They've given us lots of hand-me-down clothes and equipment. It's been great."

For all the adjectives used to describe what it's like to have triplets, the words "real life" come to mind, when all else is said. After all, when things get tough, Betsy and Jerry can't stop caring for the three children. They can't just set aside the demanding lifestyle and go for a vacation or even a quiet walk. The varying ordeals are daily, and the parents must take them in stride and move on. Ardent love is wholly evident in the family, as Jerry smiles proudly at the mention of his children, bouncing them on his knee, and Betsy holds each of them close, soothing them after a fall or cheering them on in their accomplishments. The trials are real, the endless duties and chores are real. But on top of that, the rewards are real - and three-fold - for these loving, special parents.

Happy birthday, Herpel triplets. May you and your parents have a terrific third year.

Registration Still Open For GCC Evening Courses

Students may still register for a number of evening credit courses at Garrett Community College in the spring semester. According to registrar Deloris Edgar, her office will remain open Mondays through Thursdays until 6:30 p.m. for the next two weeks to accept registrations.

A number of courses have been scheduled in the Oakland and Crellin areas for the convenience of residents of Southern Garrett County and West Virginia. Two sections of introduction to Computers (CS105) will be taught by Charles Pariseau at Southern Middle School, one on Mondays and one on Thursday evenings. Introduction to Literature (ENG102) will be taught by Joan Crawford at Southern High School on Mondays from 5:30-8:30 p.m.

Four courses will be given at Crellin Elementary School including Business Law (BUS203), taught by Raymond Sturbin on Tuesday evenings; Principles of Sociology (SOC101), taught by Bonnie Swyter on Tuesday evenings; Consumer Lending (BUS294), taught by Ted Along on Thursday evenings; and Basic Speech (SPC101), taught by Anna Marie Williamson on Thursday evenings.

Some evening courses offered at the McHenry campus are still open for registration. Most of the classes meet from 6:30-9:30 p.m. one evening a week. Monday evening courses include Accounting II, Supervision and Personnel Administration, Expository Writing, and The Family. Tuesday evening courses include Fundamentals of Welding, Pagemaker, and Basic Speech. Courses meeting on Wednesday are Introduction to Small Business, Advanced Woodworking, Introduction to Literature, and Pipes and Drums. Thursday courses include Intermediate Photography, Industrial Electricity, Economics, and Mass Media.

Persons desiring further information about these or other courses should call the Student Assistance Center at 387-6666 or 245-4133.

The births of four infants this week at Garrett County Memorial Hospital were announced this morning by a hospital spokesperson.

A son was born January 8 to Lynn Edwin and Julie Luise Ervin Frazee, Friendsville.

A daughter was born January 8 to James Leon and Rhoda Lee Wiles Sidebottom, Aurora, W.Va.

A son was born January 11 to Robert Dale Sr. and Danelle Leigh Meeks Upole, Oakland.

A son was born January 12 to Joseph Alexander and Amy Lynn Bernard Refosco, Oakland.

THE COUNTRY KITCHEN RESTAURANT located on Md. Rt. 42 announced recently that it is now under new management and has added a bakery to the business. The bakery features fresh baked goods daily, including breads, rolls, cookies, pies, and doughnuts. As reflected in its name, the restaurant provides a country atmosphere with old-fashioned home cooking. "We cater to local people," said Rick Smearman, manager, "and our style of cooking and our prices reflect that." Located in the Country Village on Rt. 42, between Deep Creek Lake and Friendsville, the restaurant also features daily specials. Business hours for the Country Kitchen are 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. daily. The restaurant may be contacted by calling 301-746-5583.

Admissions were listed at 59 with 62 discharges. This morning's census shows 39 patients.

Ivan Jay Humberson and Rhonda Leigh Jackson, Frederick, announce the birth of their first child, Emily Claire Humberson, born January 2, 1993, at Shady Grove Adventist Hospital, Gaithersburg. Maternal grandparents are JoAnne Jackson, Potomac, and the late Ronald L. Jackson. Paternal grandparents are Thelma Humberson, Friendsville, and the late Omer J. "Jack" Humberson.

A son, Sean Patrick, was born to Bob and Nancy Rollman, Mtn. Lake Park, on January 4, at Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

Jerod R. Buckel Awarded Semester Academic Honors

Jerod Robert Buckel was recently awarded semester academic honors by the University of Maryland at College Park for the 1992 fall semester for achieving a 3.5 grade point average.

He also received recognition at the university for an essay titled, "Smoking Ban Benefits Everyone," published in The Diamondback, a student publication.

Buckel is currently a freshman at Maryland, majoring in chemical engineering. He graduated from Northern High School in 1992 and is the son of Philip and Sondra Buckel, Bittering.

Adventure Sports Institute Weekend Held Recently

Fifteen members of the Executive Council of the Adventure Sports Institute recently attended a weekend meeting here in Garrett County. The weekend's activities included a Friday evening reception and sing-along at New Germany State Park, a Saturday morning business meeting at Garrett Community College, followed by an afternoon orienteering experience at New Germany, and an evening concert at the college.

During the business meeting, former state senator John Bambacus, professor of political science at Frostburg State University, was elected chairman of the Council, and Bill Endicott, coach of the U.S. Canoe and Kayaking Whitewater Slalom Team, was elected vice chairman. Items on the agenda for the meeting ranged from ideas for programming and events to suggestions for fund raising and promotional activities for the Institute.

The Adventure Sports Institute, developed cooperatively by Garrett Community College and Frostburg State University, has emerged as the first comprehensive center of its kind designed specifically for the purpose of promoting healthful outdoor adventure recreation. Currently housed at Garrett Community College, the Institute is headed by college president Dr. Steve Herman, with Don Storck as executive director.

The first project officially organized by the Institute was the U.S. Canoe and Kayak Team Olympic Trials on the Savage River in May, an event in which personnel from state and local government agencies, local businesses, and the two colleges cooperated to plan, organize, and promote. In September, the Adventure Sport two-year academic degree program was implemented at GCC, with Mike Logsdon as program director.

Council members discussed recruitment for the degree program, in which students can receive an A.A. degree from GCC, then transfer to Frostburg State University for a B.S. in Recreation with an Adventure Sports emphasis.

Dr. Bob Kaufmann of the Physical Education Department at Frostburg State University suggested that high school guidance counselors be made aware of the Adventure Sports program so that they can inform their students who prefer careers in the out-of-doors to those behind a desk. Other suggestions for promoting the program included Boy Scout and Girl Scout magazines, outdoor recreation publications, and youth organizations.

Dr. Harold Corda, chairman of the Health, Physical Education and Recreation Department at Frostburg State University, spoke of the document developed by the Department of Health and Human Services, which specifically details ways to improve health during the decade.

Other items for discussion included possible future roles for the Institute as a job clearinghouse for the adventure sports industry, as a research center for the testing and development of sportswear fabrics and sports equipment, as an organizer and promoter of events similar to the Olympic Trials, as a provider of programs for youth, and as a provider of adventure experiences for elderhostels and other senior citizens groups.

A guest speaker at the meeting was Mike Erickson from the Pursuit Group who described ways that private enterprise could become involved with activities of the Adventure Sports Institute.

Following the business meeting, Council members and their families traveled to New Germany State Park for lunch and an afternoon of orienteering led by Lt. Col. Bob Turbyfill, head coach of the U.S. Orienteering Team.

MS Super Cities Walk To Be Held In Cumberland

The annual Multiple Sclerosis "Super Cities Walk" will be held in a number of locations around the country and state this year, including Cumberland. The local 10K walk will be held on Saturday, March 27, at the Allegany Canal Park in Cumberland. The purpose of the walk is to raise money for research to find a cure for this chronic disabling disease.

After the success of the local "Super Cities Walk" held in Oakland last year, members and their families of the Garrett County Multiple Sclerosis Self-Help/Support Group plan to attend the Cumberland walk, and those who are able will take part in the walk. Anyone wishing to walk with the Garrett County support group should call Judy Smith, 387-4926, or Helen Wolfe, 334-2112, for more information. The group also urges all the other Garrett County groups who took part in the fund raiser last year to take part in this year's event.

MS is a chronic disabling disease of the central nervous system with unpredictable symptoms which can be mild or severe and may come and go without warning. The disease can cause weakness, numbness, loss of balance, slurred speech, vision impairment and even paralysis. Any one person may suffer from as few as two of these symptoms or from all of the symptoms. At least one million Americans and their families are affected by multiple sclerosis. Over 2,700 Marylanders have multiple sclerosis, and approximately 50 cases are known in Garrett County alone.

As yet, there is no way to prevent or cure MS, but there is hope. The money raised in the MS Super Cities Walk will help fund research and provide services and programs aimed at improving the quality of life for MS families in the community.

Most walkers raise $100 or more in pledges. Sponsors can pledge per kilometer or give an outright donation. Many walkers have a special person to walk for, a family member or friend. Those who don't know anyone with MS, but would like to dedicate their efforts to a particular person, may be interested in the sole mates program which can match the walker with an individual with multiple sclerosis. The walker will receive an "I'm walking for..." sticker to wear on walk day plus detailed information about their sole mate and how they're living with MS.

For more information and a registration form, those interested may write "Super Cities Walk For MS," National Multiple Sclerosis Society, Maryland Chapter, 1055 Taylor Avenue, Suite 201, Baltimore, Maryland 21286-9846, or call 410-821-8626.

Husky Matmen Coast To Victory In Garrett County Invitational

The Northern High School wrestling team coasted to an easy victory in the nine-team annual Garrett County Invitational Tournament, held on the Huskies' mats Saturday.

Six members of Coach Scott Stough's team earned their way into the championship rounds and five of them came away with titles in their respective weight classes. The Huskies amassed a total of 146 and one-half points to capture the team title.

Finishing a distant second was Clay-Battelle with 117 points, followed closely by Petersburg with 113. Fort Hill with 96, Westminster with 85 and one-half, Southern with 77, Keyser with 73, Hyndman with 44, and University with 24.

Capturing individual championships for the Huskies were Todd Burdock in the 103-pound division.

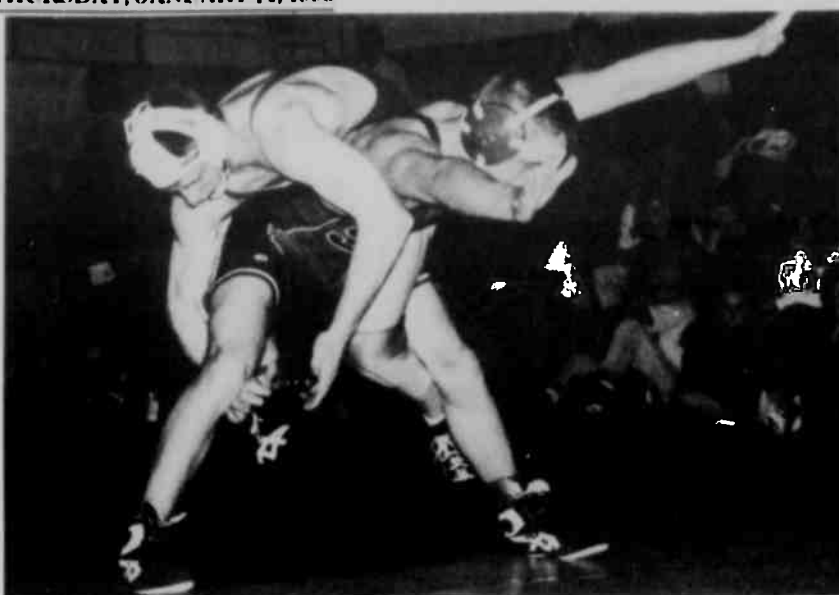

Chris Rowe, 135 pounds, Allen Bittinger, 140 pounds, Greg Miller, 145 pounds, and Jason Fazzenbaker, heavy-weight. Nathan Mickle won the runner-up title in the 171-pound bout.

Southern's Jason Burgess was the winner of the 125-pound title, while teammate Sonny Livengood took the 171-pound championship. Pete Strawser was the runner-up to Miller in an exciting 3-1 decision in the 145-pound division.

See photos and captions for more information on individual wrestlers from Southern and Northern.

GARRETT INVITATIONAL CHAMPION and still undefeated is Southern Ram Jason Burgess, a junior, who took the 125-pound title to improve his record to 7-0 on the season. Above, Burgess, on top, works to pin Westminster's A. Wilson. Burgess had already earned two pins earlier in the tournament day, making him one of only two grapplers in the tourney to win all matches by pins. Northern Husky Chris Rowe (135-lb.; season record 10-0) also claimed his title exclusively by pins. Burgess, who took a fourth place finish as a freshman at the 1991 State Tournament, is aiming for his second state finish this year, and shares his undefeated status with junior teammate Sonny Livengood, who won the 171-lb. Invitational title by virtue of a forfeit from Northern's Nathan Mickle in the final round. Photo by Craig Spelcher.

THE IMPOSSIBLE DREAMER, Husky senior Jason Fazzenbaker, holds his unidentified semifinal opponent in a headlock while watching the clock. After winning this match, Fazzenbaker, who weighs 200 pounds and ideally would be wrestling at 189 lbs., went on to claim the 275 lb. title in a spectacular comeback against Fort Hill's P. Van Meter. In the first period of the championship battle, Van Meter threw Fazzenbaker onto his back for a takedown that was the unintentional equivalent of a body slam, which stunned Fazzenbaker and instantly stopped the match. Fazzenbaker recovered within regulation injury time-out, but lagged 5-0. Wrestling in obvious pain—the match had to be stopped a second time—Fazzenbaker tediously fought back to upset Van Meter in the last minute, 7-6. The biggest (smallest?) surprise of the Husky season, Fazzenbaker weighs 200 pounds, but so far has competed at 275 pounds, usually against much larger opponents. As recently as the week before, he overpowered a 263-pounder that towered over him. In only his first full varsity season last year, Fazzenbaker finished among the top six in the state at 189 pounds. Thus far on the season he remains undefeated at 10-0. Photo by Craig Spelcher.

Huskies Remain Undefeated With Win Over Beall

The Northern High wrestling team remained undefeated last night by recording a 46-30 win over visiting Beall. The victory upped the Huskies' dual meet record to 8-0.

The Huskies and Mountaineers each recorded five pins on the evening, but a decision by Northern's Greg Miller in the 145-pound bout, coupled with forfeit wins by Nathan Mickle (171) and Josh Rush (189) gave Northern the win.

Recording pins for the Huskies were Tirrell Burdock (103), Matt Wolfe (112), Chris Rowe (135), Allen Bittinger (140), and Dean Green (152).

Earning pins for Beall were Brandon Swisher (119), Todd Vogtman (125), Anthony Berry (130), Ben Harnan (160), and Jason Swisher (heavyweight).

The Huskies will participate in the annual Pepsi Tournament at Fairmont, W.Va., this Friday and Saturday.

Standing, same order, are: Coach Stough, Nathan Mickle, Jason Fazenkaker, Lee Collins, Steve Savage, Brian VanSickle, Josh Ruah, Jason Hestop, and Coach Daymond Schmuck.

Huskies Tripped Up By Union Before Crushing Hancock, 60-38

The Northern High Huskies were tripped up by undefeated Union last Friday night, 58-48, in Mt. Storm, W.Va., but then rebounded for an easy Mid-Appalachian League win over visiting Hancock, 60-38, Tuesday night. The split left the Huskies with a 6-3 mark, which they will put on the line at Oldtown this Friday evening.

Leading the 8-0 Union Tigers against the Huskies was Matt Davis, who hit five three-point shots, finished with 21 points, and recorded seven steals.

The Huskies held a two-point advantage, 16-14, at the end of the first period, but were then out-scored in the second stanza, 19-11, to give the home team a 33-27 lead. The Tigers were on top by five, 44-39, after three quarters.

Rob Speicher led the Huskies' offensive effort with 17 points, while Bill Younkun finished with 10. Also reaching double figures for the Tigers was Chris Evans with 11 points. Hershel Seabolt added eight points and 10 rebounds and Jim Idleman recorded nine points and five assists.

The Northern junior varsity was edged in the preliminary game by the Union jayvees, 44-42.

Paul Edwards, Brian Kamp, and Speicher led the Huskies to their easy win over Hancock Tuesday night. Edwards finished with 16 points, his best total to date, Kamp netted 13 points and grabbed 15 rebounds, and Speicher added 13 points and six assists.

Northern wasted no time taking control of the contest, building a 17-9 first-quarter advantage, leading 34-18 at halftime, and on top 44-28 after three periods. They led by as many as 18 in the third quarter.

Hancock was paced in scoring by Shane Little with 12 points. It was the sixth defeat in nine starts for the Panthers, whose league mark is 1-2.

The Huskies are currently 0-3 in the league.

The Northern junior varsity also won the preliminary contest, 43-28, over the Hancock jayvees behind a 19-point effort by Justin Hinebaugh. Seth Tracy scored 13 for Hancock.

Rams Fall To 2-8 With Losses To Allegany And Petersburg

The 1992-93 season is turning into a long ordeal for the Southern High varsity boys' team, which recorded its seventh and eighth defeat this past week against a pair of wins. The Rams were topped by Allegany, the area's top-ranked team, last Friday night in Oakland, 73-60, and were then nipped Tuesday night by host Petersburg, 47-46.

D.J. Jessie scored 19 points and grabbed 11 rebounds to lead Allegany, while Chris Powell recorded 16 and Jake Dorman scored 10 to go with his seven rebounds.

The Rams trailed 19-11 at the end of the first period, were down by 10 at halftime, 35-25, and were behind 54-37 after three periods. They could get no closer than 10 points in the fourth quarter. Jeremy Bosley, the only returning starter from last year's squad, led the Rams with 18 points and nine rebounds. Ten of his points came on 11 throws from the foul line. Jeremy Sanders finished with 10 points.

The Southern junior varsity was whipped in the preliminary game by the Allegany jayvees, 50-30. Michael Fields and Mike Carter scored 17 and 11 points, respectively, for Allegany and Rick Skipper paced Southern with 10 points.

A turn-around jumper by Shawn Sarap with just 10 seconds left in the game sent the Rams down to their one-point defeat at the hands of Potomac Valley Conference foe Petersburg Tuesday night.

The Rams trailed by a few points throughout most of the game, but were on top by one when Sarap hit his winning shot. Southern had one last chance to win the game, but a shot at the buzzer was no good.

The score was tied at 11 apiece at the end of the first quarter. Petersburg held a 21-17 advantage at halftime and was on top 35-32 after three periods.

Sarap led the 4-4 Vikings with 17 points and eight rebounds, while Chad Cooper also pulled down eight rebounds.

Bosley, who had three three-point buckets, paced the Rams with 19 points. Mark Elliott finished with 14 points.

The Southern junior varsity was edged by the Petersburg jayvees in similar fashion in the preliminary game, 42-40 in overtime.

After meeting Mt. Savage this Friday, the Rams will be off until the following Friday, Jan. 22, when they will host Frankfort.

Lakers Topped By CCAC-South Before Being Whipped By Hawks

The holiday layoff seemed to take its toll on the Garrett Community College men's basketball team, as the Lakers dropped a 77-70 decision to visiting CCAC-South on Monday and then fell to Hagerstown Junior College last night, 81-63, also at McHenry. The pair of losses dropped the Lakers season mark to 5-8.

The Lakers started strongly against CCAC-South, moving out to a 21-13 lead with 12 and a half minutes left in the first half, but South rallied to take a 29-28 lead at the 6:25 mark. The lead exchanged sides several times and the Lakers were on top, 42-41, at halftime.

The score remained close throughout the second half. South built a 73-67 lead with 51 seconds left in the game before Laker Scott Newman hit a three-pointer to make it 73-70.

Garrett then forced a steel and was positioned to cut the lead further or tie. But Freddy Wilson was called for a foul underneath and the ball went back to South with 29 seconds left. The Lakers were forced to foul, but South made good on its free throws to seal the win.

The Lakers were led by Ed Gerald with 14 points and eight rebounds. Brett Rice finished with 13, Wesley Tubbs added 12, and Newman and Kenny Gross each added 10 points. Gross also recorded nine steals and Wilson grabbed 11 rebounds and handed out eight assists.

Dave London paced South with 21 points, while John Ernst and Luke Emmerling each scored 12 and Damon Simms contributed 10.

The Lakers were never really in the game last night with Hagerstown, as the Hawks jumped out to a 35-15 lead in the first half. The only highlight of the contest for the home team was in the second half, with about six minutes remaining, when the Lakers went on a 16-1 run to cut Hagerstown's lead to 59-48. Near perfect foul shooting by the Hawks down the stretch led to the 18-point win.

Tubbs led the Lakers' scoring with 13 points, Newman finished with 12, and Wilson and Gerald each hit 11. Wilson and Newman each grabbed eight rebounds and Gross was credited with three assists.

Leading the Hawks' offensive effort was Shahid Perkins, who finished with 22 points. Jay Thompson scored 16 and Damien Canon added 10.

Laker Women Open With Loss, But Then Defeat Hawks, 77-72

The Garrett Community College women's basketball team, coached by Dennis Gibson, opened its season Friday evening with a 90-63 loss to nationally ranked Frederick Community College in Frederick, but came back for a big 77-72 victory last night over visiting Hagerstown Junior College.

Meghan Flynn powered Frederick, ranked 10th in the country in the latest NJCAA poll, as she pumped in 23 points against the Lakers, while Latoya Hall and Jennifer Raspberry each finished with 17.

The Lakers trailed 45-33 at halftime and Frederick gradually pulled away throughout the second half. A lack of practice time, coupled with the fact that the Lakers are a young team, were major factors in the outcome of the game, according to Gibson. While it was the first game for the Lakers, it was the 11th contest for Frederick (8-3).

Michele Duling, a former Southern High School standout, led the Lakers in scoring with 19 points and was also credited with three assists and four steals. Krista Keplinger added 12 points and Dana Brown finished with 11 points and eight rebounds for Garrett. All of Keplinger's points came on three-point shots, while Duling netted three long-range buckets.

Also reaching double figures for Frederick was Jill Turner with 11 points.

Heather Shepherd hit a career high 29 points last night against Hagerstown J.C. with 22 of those points being bucketed in the second half. She also grabbed eight rebounds and dished out eight assists.

Duling was close behind with 26 points and eight assists, while former Northern High standout Cara Wachter added 10 points and Krista Keplinger netted five points and pulled down nine rebounds.

The Lakers held a 37-26 halftime lead and, behind the hot shooting of Shepherd and Duling, held off the Hawks through the second half.

Club Offering Cross-Country Ski Instruction

The Sierra Club is offering beginning instruction in cross-country skiing the weekend of January 22-24 at New Germany State Park. The instruction includes a Friday evening classroom session and on-the-snow instruction Saturday morning. The class will be broken into ability-based small groups for further instruction, practice, and guided ski touring the remainder of Saturday and Sunday.

Chief instructor of the course is Rita Dubansky, an experienced instructor and former racer. Ms. Dubansky, who is Finnish, is a graduate of Jyväskylä University with a major in recreational sports training. She will be assisted by experienced skiers, most of whom are ski hosts at New Germany State Park. In the event of no snow, hikes in the park will be conducted.

Cost of the instruction is $45, which includes lunch Saturday and Sunday. Enrollment is confirmed with payment of a $10 non-refundable deposit. Ski rental may be arranged by calling 301-689-8515.

To reserve a slot in the class and for further information, persons may call 301-805-5881.

Results Of Wisp Racing Events Are Announced

Two ski racing events were held this past week at the Wisp Ski Area in McHenry, including a Washington Ski International Series race and the first Coca-Cola Junior NASTAR Team Challenge.

Winning the age 21-29 division of the Washington Cup slalom race on Saturday were Guy Wassertzug (51.38) for the men and Lisa Ehringer (36.89) for the women. The 30-39 division winners for men and women were Eric Bloom (38.22) and JoEllen Burford (48.20).

Male winners in the age 40-49 division were: Rick Mattero (45.77), followed by Steve Burford (46.14) and Sam Schutte (47.43). Sara Leach was the winner in the women's division with a time of 44.59.

Dan Van Gelder won the men's 50-59 division in 43.71, followed by Guss Morrison in 50.53.

Thirty-four racers ranging in age from 8 to 20 comprising six teams are entered in the weekly NASTAR competition. Over the season team members collect points based on their order of finish in their age category, as well as the NASTAR medal points they earn.

The team of Jack Alvarez Jr., Bill Scofield, Noelle Collins, Julia Geisler, Josh Lilley, and Erin Neil earned 30 points, while the teams of Chris Wiltson, E.J. Scofield, Kristen Heslop, Lee Bailey, Amanda Bell, and Jessie Bailey; and Todd Gibson, Beau Gibson, Sara Johnson, Jessica Bolden, and Skyler Bolden each earned 27 points.

Recording 24 points was the team of Tim Williamson, Jason Herman, Amy Shanbrook, Mindy McCarty, Brandi Frazee, and C.R. Sliger. The following two teams received 22 points: Aaron Mountain, Jarrett Bolden, Chris Jones, Bo Johnson, Jarrod Sues, and Bridgett Frazee; and Chad Montgomery, Chris Herman, Jane Williamson, Heidi Frazee, and Nick Gangler.

Team Challenge competitions are held every Wednesday night at the Wisp. The same format is used on Thursday nights for the Budweiser Adult Team Challenge. Persons interested in participating may contact the Wisp Race Department (387-4911) for more information.

Team NASTAR races are held on Wednesdays and Thursdays beginning at 6 p.m. and they are also open to non-team competitors.

Another event set for this Saturday, Jan. 16, at the Wisp is the Mid-Atlantic Snowboard Series Slalom, to begin at 10 a.m. There will be NASTAR races Saturday, Sunday, and Monday at 11 a.m.

dance and exercise classes under the direction of Tammy Tressler (Garrett Gymnastics), Brenda Brosnihan (Brenda's Body Shop), and Jeannie Matras (Step By Step Dance Studio) will be available, as well as material on the tennis and golf opportunities and the "hoop shoot" contest all sponsored by the Elks Club.

Private music teachers will be on hand to provide lesson information (piano and other instruments), according to McCain.

"Our goal is to make this an annual event," the principal said. He explained that at the conclusion of the fair, each brochure or information sheet will be used to compile booklets of activities, and these will be made available to interested youths.

"It's easy to miss out on things if you don't even know what's being offered," McCain said. "This fair will provide students and their parents with needed, useful information."

Schaefer also plans to introduce legislation, as he has in the past, that would make military-style assault weapons less available. It is expected, however, that the proposal will have more success this year.

For the second year in a row, Schaefer is also pushing for legislation that would help improve Maryland's air pollution problems by imposing stricter standards on vehicle emission controls.

construction engineering services, including inspection. The construction contract was awarded to Frank Arnold Contractors, Inc., Oakland, in the amount of $134,805.84. The final project cost, including project administration, land purchase, engineering, and construction is $187,099. This amount is $21,099 more than the estimated project cost of $166,000, for which grant funds were obtained for the project.

The district has advanced funds for the project deficit and the amount will be added to the existing debt on the system. The funds will be repaid using the ad valorem tax method, which will not have a significant impact on water user rates, according to Wendell Beitzel, administrator of the Garrett County Sanitary District.

Beitzel, stated that "The relocation of the intake structure will provide the community of Bloomington with a better supply of water which is not susceptible to potential sources of contamination from groundwater at the old site or mine drainage and landfill leachate from Aaron Run."

OBITUARIES

ROBERT B. WINTERS

Robert Bliss Winters, 86, Mtn. Lake Park, died Thursday, January 14, 1993, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Born February 13, 1906, in Horse Shoe Run, W.Va., he was a son of the late Arthur C. and Alice (Whetzel) Winters.

He was a retired auto mechanic, having worked at a number of garages in the Oakland area. He was a member of the Oak Park Church of the Brethren.

Survivors include his wife, Hazel (Fresh) Winters; two daughters, Mrs. Louise Biser, Oakland; and Mrs. Peggy Lou Haines, Mtn. Lake Park; one brother, Arlie Winters, Berkeley Springs, W.Va.; two sisters, Hilda Winters, Mtn. Lake Park; and Lula Harvey, Melbourne, Fla.; four grandchildren; and six great-grandchildren.

Friends will be received in the Durst Funeral Home Friday from 2-4 and 7-9 p.m.

A service will be conducted Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Oak Park Church of the Brethren with the Rev. Paul Stauffer officiating.

Interment will be in Garrett County Memorial Gardens.

A REMARKABLE RECOVERY has been made by Bill Maffett, 64, Sanders Lane, who has been working diligently in his fight to regain his speech and the use of the right side of his body following a stroke he suffered last April 1. Bill has made an "excellent recovery and has been an inspiration to other stroke patients," said a spokesperson for the Allegheny Rehabilitation Association, located at the Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home in Oakland. Sources at the rehab center indicated that Bill came to them "not walking and not talking." He now talks and is walking with the aid of a walker. Although Bill has been unrelenting in his recovery effort, he says there were times when he wanted to give up. When he was asked what kept him going, Bill motioned toward his wife, Phyllis, and said, "She did." Phyllis matter-of-factly responded that Bill had always provided for her and their four children. "Now it's my privilege to care for him," she said. Phyllis added that the whole experience has been a series of trial and error discoveries, adding that the smallest tasks sometimes presented the biggest challenges. Bill is shown above performing one of the excruciating rehabilitation exercises and, at right, walking out of the building after his last regularly scheduled session with the therapists. At home, he will continue his therapy and check in at the center on an occasional basis. Bill hopes to enjoy enough of a recovery to be able to spend some time in the great outdoors this summer. He is tired and frustrated by his lack of freedom but his persevering spirit will undoubtedly prevail.

Clerk Responds

When you have a manned site it allows for several things: it prevents out-of-county refuse -- that the county taxpayers have to pay to have processed; it is a reassurance that what is permitted to go into the containers is what's placed in there, and it also aids the person trying to dispose of recyclables in providing them with the proper manner in which to recycle.

Ideally, the county wants to make those as accessible to the public as possible and to encourage their usage as much as possible. We currently have one grant in hand which is for site improvements on our collection sites for the purpose of not only improving them from an aesthetic standpoint but also for securing them and making them more accessible, with better identification, lighting, fencing, and proper screening. Once again, to try to encourage the users of those sites to take pride in their county and with the philosophy that if you give someone something decent to work with, they will have more respect for it.

Another grant has been applied for that will be used for the construction of a building at the new landfill for recyclables. In that same grant package, we have also asked for such items as a paper shredder and baler, a tire shredder, and a freon extraction machine.

Once again, with regard to recycling, Garrett County has to be lumped in with the other rural counties. Lack of market is a nationwide problem, and it is a statewide problem, and it is more severe in areas such as Garrett County when you have a limited number of recyclers in a very large area. The markets are very soft. They have become more stringent, more picky, as to what they will and will not accept. And right now you're at their whim, unless you have a contract with them, to dispose of some of the recyclables.

The enhancements put into place by virtue of the grant funding will help us find a better market by allowing us to store our recyclable until we have enough to attract a market.

I think the state has certainly been lax. I really do. They basically issued a mandate as to what degree of recycling is required of the subdivisions and threw a lot of fluff in there as to what would be available to assist and what they're going to do to promote, and what they're going to do here and there, and I've seen very little. Very often, people we deal with don't respond back to us or they change positions and that position may remain empty for months. If it's such an important aspect the state should be supportive.

Q: I think it's a very poor showing that they force a recycling program that is impractical in some situations.

Q: Finally, there's been some concern about the lack of news coming from the commissioners' office. Can you comment on that?

A: I think it indicates that the residents are generally satisfied, with no major issues and most of the minor issues being resolved.

Q: Could it also mean that there is a level of frustration among the residents or a feeling that making appointments with the commissioners is not the way to get things accomplished?

A: No, I really don't see that. I think, more so than ever, the commissioners have been more diligent, responding back to those requests they do receive in a relatively expedient fashion with either the good news or the bad news. Obviously, it would be much easier if all the news was good news but it doesn't work that way. I think they've been keeping more abreast of what the situations are and trying to resolve them in a timely fashion.

In all fairness to whoever sits in those three commissioner seats, requests to free are never ending, whether it's at home or at the food store, it doesn't make any difference. People don't generally look at a watch when they're talking to them.

encounter this problem every school day. The problem is crossing a muddy ditch with no platform on which to walk. Every student who drives to school come into our newly renovated building dragging clumps of mud, water, and slush. I really don't believe that it would have cost that much money during the renovation to build a small sidewalk, bridge, or platform to span the length of this "pit." This ditch is not only a hassle, but it is also a very dangerous problem that should be dealt with.

The school obviously realizes that students have to cross through this mess. This is due to the fact that during Garrett County's "big snow," a path was plowed for students to pass through in this area.

Personally, I have unnecessarily ruined at least two pairs of shoes. This problem could easily and inexpensively be corrected if someone would take the time and initiative to do so.

On behalf of the muddy-shoed students of S.H.S., thank you for hearing our cry!

Sincerely yours,
Heather Prince

To the Editor:

Say it isn't so, Roscoe, say it isn't so. Just an hour after taking the oath of office as our new congressman in the 6th district you, Mr. Bartlett, turned your back on a key campaign promise. During the campaign you bragged about taking the "Lead or Leave" pledge which committed you to leave Washington if the national deficit was not cut in half within two terms. This you claimed separated you from other double-talking politicians.

During the same campaign you ridiculed your opponent,

Delegate Tom Hattery for not signing this pledge. Mr. Hattery is an experienced legislator. He recognized the appealing gimmickry of this pledge and knew it would cost him votes by not signing it. He had a tough choice to make in the heat of a campaign: easy votes or simple integrity. Mr. Hattery kept his integrity.

As for you, Mr. Bartlett, you now claim that there was a loophole in your promise that lets you off the hook of keeping it. Hmmm. Say it isn't so, Roscoe, say it isn't so.

To the Editor:

This letter serves as both a notice and a challenge. First of all, it is to notify the Garrett County area residents that it's time for another G.C.C. theatrical production. The show is a melodrama entitled, "Only an Orphan Girl." It is the classic story of good versus evil where the villain holds the mortgage to the property of the good-hearted farm family. Auditions for the show will be held on January 18 and 19 at 7:30 p.m. at the G.C.C. auditorium. No previous theater experience is necessary. The cast consists of the villain, the orphan, the farmer, his wife and son, the villain's deserted wife, and the widowed neighbor. Each role will be a challenge, as well as a fun-filled experience.

Now for the challenge! It is my understanding that many people feel that plays are boring and in no way entertaining. Wrong! This show involves a large amount of audience participation. Therefore, I am challenging the residents of Garrett County to attend the show on March 4, 5, or 6 at 8 p.m. and March 7 at 3 p.m. to see how much fun and enjoyment one can gain from an evening at the theater. I hope to see a lot of people there. Thank you for your time and support.

Sincerely,
Nate Motz

To the Editor:

I operate a multi-million dollar recreational type business within this state and need advice. I think that someone out there can help solve my problem. I will hire anyone that has family members that work for me at this present time. I make sure all employees have their paychecks and all the benefits that money will allow. If money is law my employees can ask for more and we get it for them.

I give each employee their area and make sure their work is labor free. If needed I hire office staff for them, to free up their workload. Each employee is to be an extension of me. I only insist that my employees have communication within their areas of work and I want my desires heard. These employees never listen to me. They constantly make decisions against my judgment. They tell me what they are going to do and will not listen to anything I want. What would any other multi-million dollar business do when employees won't listen to their boss? By the way, I promised never to fire or lay-off anyone.

It primarily is clean work, and we furnish all vehicles needed plus expenses. I always hire family members, because they are used to the system, that my employees use. I only ask that when openings come up, that my employees keep the openings secret so that the public does not get involved. If employees have a family member that is in need of work I insist that my employee create a job for them. All I need is their name, social security number so that they can get their paycheck and benefits on time. The only other requirement is they must have a driver's license so I can get a vehicle to them as soon as possible.

Here is my problem: I pay these people and I want to have my views heard. What should I do to impress on these people that they should at least value my opinions?

Thank you,
Frostburg

Williamson Founds Garrett County Poetry Society

"Although not exactly following in the footsteps of Robin Williams' Dead Poets Society in the movie of the same name, the Garrett County Poetry Society nevertheless has cultural aspirations that deserve to be noticed," according to John Williamson, founder of the Society.

The Garrett County Poetry Society held its first meeting on November 19 at Garrett Community College. The group has now moved its meeting place to Oakland's Ruth Enlow Library one Saturday a month at 2 p.m.

The library's film room is lined with classic works of literature, creating a perfect atmosphere for a meeting oriented to literary concerns," said Williamson.

The main goal of the Poetry Society is to promote the cultural appreciation and definition of poetry.

"Poetry is much needed in our society today," Williamson stated. "Our culture tends to be so dominated by business concerns that we don't give enough attention to our emotional needs. Reading and writing poetry is one way that people can do this."

The Society is focused on three main areas, according to Williamson. First, at the monthly meetings, participants have the opportunity to read their own poetry in a supportive and nurturing surrounding.

"We are not all trying to be professional poets here," Williamson observed, "although there are some among us who are certainly capable of falling into that category. Our main concern is to encourage people to express themselves poetically and enjoy the fulfillment of this self-expression, whatever their level of ability."

Secondly, the Poetry Society provides a kind of workshop whereby members can learn how to write more skillfully.

"We're always ready to offer helpful hints on how to increase skills and develop oneself in the craft of poetry," stated Williamson. "But that's only if the person is receptive to it. We're not here to criticize and downgrade. We want to support, nurture, and encourage."

The third goal of the Poetry Society is to sponsor prominent poets in the Garrett County and Tri-State region to come to read their own works publicly at the monthly meetings.

"I also have the goal of having the Society sponsor a poetry writing workshop once per year at which the instructor will be a poet noteworthy in the Tri-State region," the founder said. "This will not only make Garrett County important as a cultural focus point in our region, but will also provide an opportunity for a noted poet to share his or her work and talent with both area residents and participants who would come to the workshop from outlying locations. I also would like the Garrett County Poetry Society to hold an annual dinner to commemorate our accomplishments during the year."

Williamson's own background in the field of literature is extensive and has occupied most of his energy since he first entered college more than 20 years ago. Since that time, he has earned a B.A. in English from Arizona State University, and an M.A. in world literature which he obtained in 1991 from the Foreign Language Department at West Virginia University in Morgantown, W.Va.

He has taught literature, English composition, and humanities at Garrett Community College, and has worked as a substitute teacher for the Garrett County Board of Education. His publications of poetry include Stepalk, which won the Golden Poet Award in 1989 from World Poetry Association, In Defense of Dreaming, and The Song of Human Hope.

He has published one short story, Date, in Innisfree, a literary magazine in California. He is currently working on a short novel, The Runaway, and a full-length epic novel In Praise of Victory, about a young couple's struggles to make their way in the world with their small family.

Earlier in his career, Williamson was the founder and publisher of the literary magazine, Sunbelt Survivor, where he lived in Arizona. He was also the State Writing Contest chairman in 1985 when he was a member of the Scottsdale Jaycees.

As to why he has such a devotion to literature and writing, Williamson remarked, "I guess it's in my blood. When I was in college, instead of getting drunk on weekends on wine and beer, I went to the library and intoxicated myself on the world's greatest poetry."

Persons desiring additional information about the Society may attend the next meeting set for Saturday, January 23, at 2 p.m. in the film room of the Oakland Branch of the Ruth Enlow Library, or may call Williamson at 334-8865.

How Much Is It Worth?

There is a great difference of opinion about the worth of a piece of art. One man thinks it the worthless scribbling of a child while another may find it to be a masterpiece.

There is a similar difference from one person to another regarding personal values. One may prize honesty above all other virtues. Another may feel that loyalty is more important. The kind of values one holds is strongly conditioned by one's upbringing. Churches and synagogues play a vital role in shaping these values for those who are fortunate enough to have been reared to attend regularly.

Just as it takes education to appreciate art properly, so it takes religious education to make moral choices. Don't leave such matters to chance. Make sure your children receive the kind of religious education of which you approve. Attend the church or synagogue of your choice this week.

Background Scripture:

Acts 11

Devotional Reading:

Ephesians 2:11-22

More churches have flourished and even come apart at the seams because of someone's insistence that their way is "the only way." Sometimes, like that, it is boldly said, and other times more subtly. Nevertheless, many of us assume that there is but one way to worship, to baptize, to teach, to believe, or to witness, and it is our way!

Several times a year I am engaged by local churches to conduct a weekend program. I am often surprised to find that one or more members of these churches began their participation in these programs with an attitude of deep suspicion. My wife and I have just returned from such a weekend in a United Methodist church several hundred miles from Dallas, our home. At the end of the last program, one man told me that, his first impression was what I might have been "of the Devil," but that he was glad to find that, despite some things I had said that were troubling to him, I wasn't.

FINALLY "O.K."

This man and I are both followers of Jesus Christ, but, because I didn't enunciate my faith in the same terminology that he does and believes to be essential, he began with considerable doubts about the validity of my Christianity. I am glad that eventually he came to the conclusion that I am "O.K.", but troubled to think that we could have been alienated from each other because my way was not his way. Although we come from two different worlds, the fact that we are both disciples of Jesus Christ should have been a bridge to bring us together, rather than to separate us.

Maybe I've used analogy here before, but it doesn't matter. A little boy charged his friends an admission fee, admitting them to his backyard so they could see the eclipse. Christians are sometimes like that, assuming that the eclipse can only be seen from their own backyard, when, in reality, it belongs in no one's backyard. So, the experience of God is dependent upon no "one way," no single doctrinal interpretation, no one candid statement, because God is bigger than any of our backyards.

In Act 11 we can see the painful manner in which some of the earliest Christians learned this lesson. Whatever they thought about Gentile converts to Christ, they did not believe that it was possible for them to have any kind of relationship with them. Circumcised Jewish Christians certainly could have nothing to do with uncircumcised Gentile Christians. There was but one way and that was not the way! Even the most discerning of the apostles knew that.

WITHSTANDING GOD

But, apparently, God's way was different from theirs. So, Peter returns to the Jerusalem church and tells of an absolutely amazing thing that happened to him at Joppa: God told him to minister to some Gentiles and then, when they accepted Christ, the Holy Spirit fell on them, just as it had to the Jewish Christians in Jerusalem. Reluctantly, Peter let God's revelation overcome his prejudice: "If, then, God gave the same gift to them as he gave to us when we believed in the Lord Jesus Christ, who was I that I could withstand God?" (11:17).

Good for Peter! He asked the skeptics in the Jerusalem church the same question we must always ask ourselves: who are we that we should withstand God? And we need to take personally the admonition which God gave Peter in his dream: "What God has cleansed you must not call common" (11:9). Other Christians may worship differently, verbalize their faith differently, and have experiences that are beyond our own, but we must not reject them. It matters little if they do not do it our way, so long as it is one of God's ways.

COVER
STORYTo 'Designing' Ivey,
all the stage is a world

BY LYNN HOOGENBOOM

Judith Ivey is most comfortable on stage, specifically the Broadway stage. So playing B.J. Poteet on "Designing Women" (Fridays on CBS) has required a few adjustments on the part of the

Judith Ivey

Tony Award-winning actress.

"Technically there's a few things that you have to rethink," she says. "The most obvious is that in television you need to be in the shot with somebody else. On stage, you'll pose yourself in a certain way and give a little distance because you're filling the stage. So when you have a two-shot on 'Designing Women,' I'll be leaning back and giving some space. And what I really need to do is lean in."

But stage actors tend to have a much easier time adjusting to film than film actors do to the stage.

"It's because there are so many people doing other jobs in film," she explains. "There's someone pulling the focus, framing the picture, deciding who's in the shot. On stage, you wear all those caps. You have to be the focus puller, and you have to be the one to be still when it shouldn't be on you."

I've found sometimes that actors who predominantly work on film get on stage and they keep busy because they realize the eye is on them. But they don't know when to be still because it's your turn."

To outsiders, Ivey seems to have stepped into the "Designing Women" hot spot. She has replaced Julia Duffy, who in turn had replaced Delta Burke. Both Duffy and Burke left feeling that their experiences on the series had been less than ideal.

"It's funny," says Ivey. "It never occurred to me until people brought it up. Then all of a sudden I think, 'Gee, should I be more worried? Am I being rather Pollyanna-ish about this?' It never occurred to me that I would be in a hot spot. And because I am a fan of the show, I thought, 'My gosh, could it be any better than to be asked to join this cast?'"

Although theater is still her favorite medium, TV runs a strong second. In fact, Ivey is one of the rare actors who prefers TV movies to feature films. "It's faster, and I'm actually working," she says.

"It makes you wonder why feature films take so long," she adds. "I certainly understand that if you're going to go for beautiful subtle lighting it might take longer to do it, rather than just put a bunch of lights up so you can see everybody's face. But I've always been impressed with the quality of TV movies I've participated in and what they've achieved in a very tight schedule. So when I've been in feature films, I wonder, 'Why are we sitting here so long? Did everybody go to lunch and they forgot to tell me?'"

TV DIALOGUE

BY TONI REINHOLD

CAPTIVATING CAROL — What a great personality Carol Burnett is! In what year did she start in show business? Did she star in any series other than "Mama's Family" and her own musical-comedy show? — D.C., Belleville, Ontario, Canada

Carol Burnett

Burnett originally intended to study journalism at UCLA, but her knack for comedy coaxed her into theater arts studies. After an impromptu performance at a society bash in 1954, one of the party-goers loaned her $1,000 (which she later repaid) to go to New York City. She won her first regular TV role in late 1955 as dummy Jerry Mahoney's "girlfriend" on ventriloquist Paul Winchell's Saturday-morning kids show. She then won a regular part in the prime-time comedy series "Stanley" (1956-57). From 1958-59, she was a panelist on the quiz show "Pantomime" and in 1959 she starred in the Broadway hit "Once Upon a Mattress." But Burnett first achieved real television success as a regular on the variety program "The Garry Moore Show" (1959-62), for which she won her first Emmy Award, in 1962. She then was a co-star of the variety show "The Entertainers" (1964-65) before attaining television immortality in the classic "Carol Burnett Show" (1967-79), which won three Emmys as Best Musical Variety Series. It was on that show that she created the character of Eunice Higgins, which she played in occasional guest spots in the spinoff series "Mama's Family," which starred Vicki Lawrence.

BILL IS BACK ... FOR NOW — I understand that Bill Cosby already has another series. What is it called? — K.P., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Cosby has returned with a syndicated remake of the 1950-61 quiz show "You Bet Your Life," which was originally hosted by Groucho Marx. The new version is true to the original format, which combines comedy and banter with guests from unusual walks of life, who are then challenged to answer various questions. However, due to low ratings, the remake is scheduled to cease production at the end of the current season.

BILIGRASS SAWYER — Where is Diane Sawyer from? A.W., Houston

"PrimeTime Live" co-anchor Sawyer was born in Glasgow, Ky. and raised in Louisville.

Hemingway plays mom fighting to free child

BY FELICIA A. FEASTER

A custody dispute waged over several continents, "Desperate Rescue: The Cathy Mahone Story" (NBC, Jan. 18) covers much of the same material detailed in the theatrical release "Not Without My Daughter," starring Sally Field, about a mother and daughter held against their will in Iran. In this case, Maribel Hemingway plays Cathy

Haun and Hemingway

Mahone, whose 7-year-old daughter (Lindsay Haun) is kidnapped by her Jordanian ex-husband and sequestered in the Middle East under her father's custody. Hemingway not only performs wonderfully as a mother devastated by her child's absence, but in an even greater acting coup, she does a fine job imitating a Texas drawl. It is more adventure thriller than woman-in-jeopardy tale, the real narrative juices of "Desperate Rescue" flow when Mahone and a team of former Army Delta Force commandos launch an elaborate plan to smuggle Mahone's daughter, Lauren, out of Jordan. "Desperate Rescue" packs a lot of action and suspense of the non-violent variety that make it highly watchable, although some will find its politics questionable.

A drama loosely modeled on the "Robocop" films, this time with a prison inmate rather than a cyborg fighting crime. "Marked for Murder" (NBC, Jan. 17) is less interesting, and somehow more unbelievable than the sci-fi film Powers Boothe stars as the inmate, whose moniker, "The Sandman," no doubt refers to his deft ability to put a hurting sleep on his enemies. Sandman is recruited from a tough Los Angeles prison to help the local police force fight crime with an insider's perspective, but he is soon alienating fellow lawmen by busting up their links to the mob and actually fighting the bad guys they've been ignoring. "Marked for Murder" is packed with dumb-witted, spectacular violence, but it takes a simplistic, ugly approach to its vigilante theme.

Katharine Hepburn talks candidly about her career and personal life in the TNT special "Katharine Hepburn: All About Me" (Jan. 18), a captivating 90 minutes of self-revelation and film clips spanning an amazing movie career. It begins with her origins in a free-thinking, progressive Connecticut family. Rare family photos and home movies accompany Hepburn's descriptions of her tomboy childhood and aspirations to stardom. "All About Me" is a fascinating mixture of Hepburn the actress and Hepburn the woman.

THIS WEEK

SCHEDULE Shuffling: There are some shifts in the networks prime-time schedules beginning this week. On ABC, "Civil Wars" and "Going to Extremes" complete their time-slot swap. "Civil Wars," the divorce-lawyer drama starring Mariel Hemingway and Peter Onorati, premieres in its new Tuesday time slot on Jan. 19, while "Going to Extremes" airs its second episode in its new Wednesday-night slot on Jan. 20.

"Going to Extremes" fans had better catch it while they can, the drama airs another episode Jan. 27, then will be replaced by a series of specials. Its future is uncertain.

DAYTIME changes are in store for NBC viewers beginning Monday, Jan. 18, as "Santa Barbara" leaves the air. It will be replaced by two shows based on popular board games, "Scrabble" hosted by Chuck Woolery, and "Scattergories," hosted by Dick Clark.

MEANWHILE, Fox premieres its long-awaited Tuesday-night lineup on Jan. 19. "Class of '96" revolves around a group of freshmen at a fictional Eastern college, and "Key West" stars Fisher Stevens as a young writer who moves to the Florida community after he hits the New Jersey lottery.

SOAP SCOOP

Seaforth Hayes walks the plank on 'DOOL'

BY CONNIE PASSALACQUA

"Days of Our Lives" has asked the liveliest of soap icons, Susan Seaforth Hayes (who plays Julie Williams), to leave the show. Hayes came back to "DOOL" two years ago (without her on-screen and real-life husband, Bill Hayes, who had played Doug), after a six-year absence. Doug and Julie were, of course, the soap supercouple of the early '70s, as the Hayeses mixed sexual sizzle with real love, creating a long-term, genuine sense of bonhomie with the show's fans.

In 1990, NBC's hyped Seaforth Hayes' return to "DOOL" with wealthy, "divorced" Julie supposedly set to be the adversary to evil Victor Kiriakis (played by John Aniston). Instead, spunky Julie became a sound investment board for the show's oft-mundane younger characters. Her rightful slot on the show was taken by Louise Sorel (who plays Vivian Alamain), who arrived a year ago after playing fabulous vixen Augusta Lockridge on "Santa Barbara." Most soaps don't have room for more than one woman in the fiftysomething range. What a shame!

Seaforth Hayes came back as fiery as ever and looking great. But stupidly, Julie was hardly ever used in the story, which squandered Seaforth Hayes' talent and sparkle.

Julie is, of course, a key member of the show's core family, the Hortons, whose presence goes back to the show's first episode in 1965.

Also leaving "DOOL" for personal reasons is Patsy Pease. Since coming back to the show after tending to the serious health problems of her baby son, Russell, Pease had been starring in a splashy story line that has been meant to be the daytime equivalent of "The Three Faces of Eve." Her three identities have been Kimberly, Lacey and Clare. Taking Pease's place will be multisoap veteran Ariane Chase, who as Ariane Munker, was best known for her portrayal of walking headache Marianne Randolph (1975-77) on "Another World."

Mary Dusay (who formerly played Myrna Clegg on "Capitol") filled in for Louise Sorel on "DOOL" recently, after Sorel injured her back during a trip to New York City. Dusay, who is also great at witchy roles, is said to be a major contender for the role of Alexandra Spaulding on "Guiding Light," a role that was vacated last summer by the incomparable Beverlee McKinsey. Just when are they going to recast that role? This is currently the best backstage cliffhanger in the soap world. Hey, Seaforth Hayes might be a fair choice!

SPORTS CALENDAR

Conference title games may be disappointing

BY CHRISTOPHER HULL

Recent history is any indication, the National Football League might as well pack it in and call it a season after the NFC championship game, which airs Sunday, Jan. 17, on CBS. The AFC title game airs the same day on NBC. The winners meet in Super Bowl XXVII on Jan. 31.

The NFC champions have won eight straight Super

John Madden

Bowls and 10 of the last 11. And as a rule, they've taken the games in convincing fashion. In the current eight game streak, the NFC champions have beaten the AFC titlists by an average of 20.75 points — almost three touchdowns.

Unfortunately for television viewers, over the same eight years, the NFC championship games haven't been much more competitive than the Super Bowl. Since '85, the NFC champion has won the NFC title game by an average of 19.5 points. Only two of the games were settled by a touchdown or less.

Over in the AFC, the chamampionship games have been a bit more watchable, despite the fact that the average margin of victory has been 15 points. That's because about a third of that average is attributable to Buffalo's 51-3 thrashing of Los Angeles in the 1991 title game.

Pat Summerall and John Madden call the action for CBS at the NFC title game, while Dick Enberg and Bob Trumpy do the same for NBC at the AFC championship. Enberg and Trumpy will be in the broadcast booth for NBC's coverage of the Super Bowl.

This week, ESPN's coverage of men's college basketball includes eight games featuring top-25 teams.

On Sunday, Jan. 17, Virginia travels to Durham, N.C., to take on ACC rival and two-time defending national champion Duke.

On Monday, Jan. 18, Connecticut travels to Washington, D.C., to play Georgetown in the Big East, and Kansas goes to Manhattan, Kan., for a Big Eight game against intra-state rival Kansas State.

On Tuesday, Jan. 19, Indiana goes to West Lafayette, Ind., to take on Big Ten rival Purdue, and Kentucky plays Alabama in an SEC interdivisional game in Tuscaloosa, Ala.

On Wednesday, Jan. 20, Virginia continues its tour of the Tar Heel State when it is in Chapel Hill to play North Carolina in an ACC game.

On Thursday, Jan. 21, the state of North Carolina and the ACC are featured again when North Carolina State visits Duke, and later that night San Diego State travels to Provo, Utah, to take on WAC favorite Brigham Young.

IN FOCUS

Kevin Kline and Danny Glover star in "Grand Canyon," premiering Saturday, Jan. 23 on HBO. It takes a serious look at the ways in which an intersecting group of Los Angeles are affected by casual violence. Director Lawrence Kasdan doesn't completely pull off his ambitious project, but this 1991 entry is genuinely provocative and stands head and shoulders above 90 percent of the movies being produced in Hollywood these days.

IN FOCUS

Laurence Gilliard Jr., Mark Malone and Matty Rich play friends in the Hedrick project looking for a short cut that will get them "Straight Out of Brooklyn." Rich made his directorial debut with this gritty 1991 drama, which shows that the ultimate victims of anger and rage tend to be those closest to the angry and the enraged. It airs Wednesday, Jan. 20 on PBS's "Great Performances." (Check local listings.)

IN FOCUS

Fans of the Great Kate have a special treat in store on Monday, Jan. 18 as TNT airs Katharine Hepburn. All About Me Hepburn, seen here in 1942's "Keeper of the Flame" is both subject and host of the 90-minute profile which is a remarkable retrospective on a remarkable woman. Hepburn's home movies and memorabilia are part of the reminiscence in which she discusses her life career and long-time relationship with Spencer Tracy.

Volunteers To Be Honored Via State Program

The Governor's Office on Volunteerism has announced that nomination forms are now available for 1993 Governor's Volunteer Awards, which honor outstanding individual and group volunteers and recognize their contributions to the citizens and communities of Maryland.

"At the start of this New Year, take time to spotlight a volunteer - a special person or group that makes Maryland brighter year-round," said Governor William Donald Schaefer.

Volunteers can be nominated in one of 11 categories of service, including: Arts and Culture, Education and Literacy, Environment, Health Care, Public Safety, Social Services, Recreation, Seniors, Students, Workplace, and Special Events. Anyone familiar with the volunteer's activities may submit a completed nomination to the Governor's Office on Volunteerism by February 15, 1993.

Recipients are selected by a panel of judges appointed by the Governor's Volunteer Council. The awards will be presented at a ceremony during April, which is National Volunteer Month. All nominees will receive a certificate signed by Governor Schaefer. For further information or a nomination form, persons may call the Governor's Office on Volunteerism at (410) 225-4496.

PARTICIPATES IN PROFESSIONAL MEETING - Gerry Beachy, R.Ph., FASCP, owner of Beachy's Pharmacy in Grantsville, recently participated in a four-day professional program in Orlando, Florida, that brought over 2000 pharmacy leaders together from around the world. The program, the American Society of Consultant Pharmacists' (ASCP) 23rd Annual Meeting, provided continuing education in vital areas such as care for AIDS patients and the latest treatments for Alzheimer's disease. Participants gained insight into treatments for illnesses and conditions such as osteoporosis, herpes zoster, sleep disorders, and incontinence; mastered new management techniques to make their practices more efficient and effective; and learned about ways to improve patient outcomes and the quality of life for the elderly. ASCP is a national professional association representing more than 5000 pharmacists who provide pharmacy and consultant services to nursing homes, home health care, prisons and jails, mental institutions, hospice, and other long-term care institutions and organizations. Beachy is a fellow of the Society and a consultant pharmacist at Goodwill Mennonite Nursing Home in Grantsville.

Earns Degree At Misericordia

Maggie McCann, Mtn. Lake Park, graduated in December from College Misericordia. She was one of more than 320 men and women receiving undergraduate and graduate degrees from the college.

McCann was awarded a bachelor of science degree in special education. During her college career, she participated in Council for Exceptional Children and Campus Ministry.

A graduate of John Carroll High School, Birmingham, Ala., Ms. McCann is the daughter of Katherine McCann, Mtn. Lake Park.

Misericordia is a four-year, independent coeducational college located in Dallas, Pa. Approximately 1,500 men and women pursue master's and bachelor's degrees on a full-time part-time basis.

PSC Announces Scholarships From DelSignore Funds

The Potomac State College Foundation, Inc., has received funds from the Carl DelSignore Foundation of Cumberland sufficient to provide two scholarships for 1993-94 worth $1,500 each.

The Carl DelSignore Foundation was created under the terms of the last will and testament of Carl DelSignore who died August 27, 1985. DelSignore was born in Bayard, W.Va., in 1920, served as a submariner in World War II, and worked as a coal miner and coal miner operator until his death.

His principal mining company was the Buffalo Coal Company, which has engaged in coal mining in West Virginia and Western Maryland for more than 30 years. During his lifetime DelSignore was recognized as a leader in the coal industry and his company has received many awards for its mining and reclamation work from the United States Department of the Interior and the Department of Natural Resources for the states of Maryland and West Virginia.

Recipients of the awards must be from Grant or Tucker counties in West Virginia. Additional information may be obtained from the Financial Aid Office at Potomac State College.

G.C. Democrat Club Meets; New Committees Chosen

The Garrett County Democrat Club met Wednesday, January 6, in the Bavarian Room at the Wisp. There were 15 members present. The meeting was conducted by Joseph Fink, president.

New committees were selected and plans for the upcoming Jefferson Jackson Day event were discussed. Doris Goldsborough was named chairperson for the planning committee.

It was noted that several members plan to attend the Maryland Democratic Party Inaugural Gala on Sunday, January 17, in Washington, D.C. Some members also plan to attend the inauguration on January 20.

Curran Issues Warning About Telemarketers

"Make sure you never disclose your checking account number or other personal, identification numbers in response to a telephone solicitation from someone you don't know," warns Maryland Attorney General J. Joseph Curran Jr. "Deceitful telemarketers can use these numbers to withdraw money from your account without your knowledge or authorization."

The Attorney General reports on this new telemarketing scheme in the latest issue of "Tips for Tough Times," the one-page consumer alert leaflet prepared by the Consumer Protection Division in Curran's office.

According to the publication, fraudulent telemarketers have been known to use the consumer's bank account number and RTN (routing and transit number), which appear on checks, to issue a demand draft to have money automatically withdrawn from a consumer's account and deposited into their own account or telemarketers can have the money electronically withdrawn and deposited into their own account.

In a typical scenario, telemarketers obtain the checking account numbers when they call consumers to ostensibly offer low interest or secured credit cards, guaranteed loans, sweepstakes or magazine subscriptions.

"But even if you don't accept the offer, if you give the telemarketer your account numbers you may still lose money," Curran said.

Many people are not aware that an unauthorized withdrawal has been made until they examine their monthly statement and notice that it lists a debit they didn't authorize or a debit in an amount more than they authorized, the publication notes.

"Tips for Tough Times" identifies ways consumers can avoid being victimized by this scam, including never giving their checking account numbers and reviewing their bank statements each month to verify all withdrawals. It advises consumers to sign the proper authorization forms with their bank if they want to have their bank account automatically debited by a reputable company, such as a utility or insurance company, to make regular payments.

The publication advises consumers to notify their bank immediately if they discover that their bank account was debited without their authorization. It also cites examples of reasons unscrupulous telemarketers have given for claiming the need for account numbers, including such excuses as to check your credit, and "for identification purposes."

Curran's office distributes "Tips for Tough Times" throughout the state via a communications network made up of more than 200 local employers, agencies, labor unions, churches, community associations and service groups.

Companies or agencies interested in receiving a copy of the publication with their name on it should contact the Consumer Protection Division in Baltimore at (410) 234-1655.

Pulitzer Prize Winning Poet To Visit FSU

The Western Maryland Writer's Workshop announces that Pulitzer Prize winning poet Galway Kinnell will be on the Frostburg State University campus for a two-day residency February 21-22.

On Sunday evening, Feb. 21, at 7:30 p.m. in the Lane Center, Kinnell will offer a reading of his work, including selections from his prize winning book Selected Poems. On Monday, February 22, at 9 a.m. in the Library 237, he will conduct a workshop. Both events are free and open to the public. A reception and book-signing will follow Sunday evening's reading.

"Covering a range of topics including children, war, porcupines, bear and death, Kinnell celebrates a vision exquisitely honed by language and grounded in the imperative that we live most fully when we live deeply within our own experiences," stated one critic. "No one else writes poetry so gorgeous or daring; no one is so flat-out emotional nor so beautifully and persistently philosophical."

Kinnell won both the Pulitzer Prize and the American Book Award in 1983 for Selected Poems. He is the author of nine books of poetry and currently teaches at New York University, dividing his time between that city and Vermont, where he is the

DEED Recognizes Various State Training Programs

Governor William Donald Schaefer and the Governor's Workforce Investment Board (GWIB) have recognized 13 participants in state training programs and issued $1.4 million in performance awards to local Private Industry Councils (PICs) at the sixth annual Awards Luncheon of the GWIB and the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development (DEED).

"We are happy to honor these participants because of their determination and the good example they set for others," said Governor Schaefer. "These training programs are very important because they give the participants an opportunity to support themselves and become successful."

At the luncheon, held to day at the Holiday Inn in Annapolis, Governor Schaefer presented the Governor's Award for Excellence to the Upper Shore Private Industry Council/Service Delivery Area, which was named "Service Delivery Area of the Year." The Sandtown/Winchester Youth Opportunities Unlimited (Y.O.U.) Program was named "Employment and Training Program of the Year."

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

U.S. Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Bradley A. Hensley, son of William F. and Berta A. Parrish, Terra Alta, W. Va., was recently promoted to his present rank while serving aboard the guided missile destroyer USS Kidd, home ported in Norfolk, Va. Hensley joined the Navy in July 1980.

Newly promoted Air Force Senior Airman Lori A. Skidmore, an apprentice communications-computer systems operator, has arrived for duty at Osan Air Base, Songdon, South Korea. Skidmore is the daughter of retired Army Staff Sgt. Ronnie L. and Darlene F. Skidmore, Route 1, Accident

State Industry Council/Service Delivery Area, which was named "Service Delivery Area of the Year." The Sandtown/Winchester Youth Opportunities Unlimited (Y.O.U.) Program was named "Employment and Training Program of the Year."

SWANTON SAILORS MEET AGAIN - Being away from home on Christmas Day can be a dreary day, but the two sailors from Swanton shown above made the most of it. BM2 Robert O'Brien who lived on Rt. 2 in Swanton and BM3 Marshall Godwin, Rt. 1, met in Egypt over a year ago, both having been on different ships. This year they met again in Bahrain and spent the holiday together. Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Brien. Godwin is a son of Flora Godwin and the late Raymond Godwin.

gram of the Year."

Recognized for outstanding accomplishments were seven participants from Project Independence (Maryland's welfare-to-work program), three students involved in the Maryland's Tomorrow program (the state's drop-out prevention program), two individuals in programs sponsored by the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) and one person in the Career and Technology Education program.

These programs are designed to help people overcome barriers to employment such as adult illiteracy, dropping out of school, obsolete skills and welfare dependency. The awards luncheon paid tribute to the workforce investment system in Maryland, which emphasizes education, training, and skills development in the state's workforce.

Incentive awards, made available through the federal Job Training Partnership Act and the state's Project Independence (PI) program, were presented to PICs which exceeded performance standards during the past program year. These awards are based on the service delivery areas' performance in assisting unemployed and disadvantaged Maryland residents in finding employment. Receiving the award for the Western Maryland PIC/SDA was Teresa Nutt.

Incentive awards, which included both JTPA and PI monies, went to the following Private Industry Councils: $28,121 to Anne Arundel County; $435,045 to Baltimore City; $370,236 to Baltimore County; $34,500 to Frederick County; $69,114 to the Lower Shore; $69,821 to Mid-Maryland; $95,741 to Prince George's County; $24,104 to Southern Maryland; $74,810 to the Susquehanna Region; $132,342 to the Upper Shore; and $138,715 to Western Maryland.

This year, the Most Valuable Persons (MVP) awards were presented to Donalds Thomey, Ernest Dorsey and the Worcester County Project Independence Team, which includes Eleanor Brewer, Susan Erskine, and Fred Smith. The MVP awards are given to the person or persons who have made outstanding contributions to the workforce investment system.

The public is invited to attend a presentation by Ms. Joan Willey, staff member of the Appalachian Regional Conservation Committee of the Sierra Club, which will begin at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, January 19, at the Unitarian Universalist Fellowship, 211 South Lee Street, Cumberland.

Ms. Willey expects to address:

Forestry legislation which could impose a "severance tax" on timber cut on private land, and a bill which could require local governments to allow timber cutting in residential areas;

Legislation which could potentially restrict public participation in the permitting processes for some types of facilities, such as landfills and garbage incinerators;

A "takings" bill which was narrowly defeated in 1992 will be reintroduced in 1993, requiring the state to reimburse property owners for any loss in potential land value due to environmental regulations, such as for wetlands or shore protection;

"Clean car" legislation which would mandate that cars sold in Maryland conform to California tailpipe emissions standards;

A bill which would put a "gas guzzler" tax on low fuel economy cars sold in Maryland and which would authorize a "sipper" rebate on purchases of fuel efficient cars;

Potential bills on solid waste management and planning.

In addition, Ms. Willey will briefly address a few major bills to be considered during the current Congressional session, such as reauthorization of the Endangered Species Act and the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act.

The program will close with some tips for more effective communication with local legislators and information about environmental "lobby day" to be held in Annapolis on February 15.

CHURCH NEWS

Lectors for Sunday services were Jennifer Peck, St. John's, Audrey Brenneman, Emmanuel, and Janis Durst, Zion. Catechism class will meet this Sunday at Emmanuel from 5 to 7 p.m.

Jennie Weller served as organist at Zion on Sunday morning.

ZION'S WOMEN MEET
Zion's Women of the ELCA held their monthly meeting in the church on January 5. The topic "Can we do evangelism here?" was led by Leta Baker. The program was designed to enhance the awareness of, and generate enthusiasm for, doing evangelism in a local context.

The scripture text was the Great Commission as recorded in the Gospel of Matthew. The hymn "Rise, Shine, You People" was read as a choral reading.

Judy Stanton presided over the business meeting. Leta Baker presented the monthly and annual reports of the treasurer and also a report of the activities of the past year.

The "Block of Hope" was prepared for return to Women of the ELCA, relating the activities of the local unit which was relevant to ministry to women and children in poverty. These blocks will be displayed at the Triennial Convention to be held in Washington, D.C., August 7-10.

Two resolutions that birthday offerings during 1993 from members from Zion will go to the ELCA in observance of the fifth birthday of the organization, celebrated at the Second Triennial Convention. Baby quilts are currently being made for the layette ministry of Our Saviour's Lutheran Church on the Rocky Bay Indian Reservation in Montana.

Subscriptions were received for the magazine "Lutheran Women Today." Those who have collected postage stamps for the National Lutheran Home project should turn them in as soon as possible.

The next meeting is scheduled for February 2.

In Loving Memory Of Our Darling DARLA DIANE DEWITT "Heaven's Very Special Child"
By: Edna Massimilla
A meeting was held quite far from earth
"It's time again for another birth."
Said the Angels to the Lord above,
"This special child will need much love."
Her progress may seem very slow
Accomplishments she may not show,
And she'll require extra care
From the folks she meets way down there
She may not run or laugh or play
Her thoughts may seem quite far away
In many ways she won't adapt
And she'll be known as handicapped.
So let's be careful where she's sent
We want her life to be content.
Please, Lord, find the persons who
Will do a special job for you.
They will not realize right away
The leading role they're asked to play
But with this child sent from above
Comes stronger faith and richer love.
And soon they'll know the privilege given
In caring for this gift from heaven.
Their precious charge, so meek and mild
Is Heaven's very special child.

Approximately 25 persons from St. John's Lutheran Church, ELCA, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Reichenbecher on Friday evening to surprise Mrs. Reichenbecher for her birthday anniversary that occurred that day, Jan. 8. Mr. and Mrs. Reichenbecher and Mrs. Gertrude Glass were at the Goodwill Mennonite Nursing Home, Grantsville, on Sunday to visit with George Hetz and Mrs. Artie Georg.

A group of friends and former classmates of Miss Heather Golden met at the home of her parents, Edward

SOME OF THE FINEST Belgium and Percheron horses, imported from Europe, were housed in this enormous barn, built circa 1910 in Accident by Fred Fox of Friendsville. Workmen kept the barn clean at all times and only the choicest hay was stored in the mow. The horse business began to fade in the 1920s and the barn was no longer used. Area young people used the mow for a basketball court until the structure burned October 30, 1931. ## DEED Grant Provides College Funding To Vets

The Office of Employment Services of the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development (DEED) has received a grant under Title IV-C of the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) to train eligible veterans in one-year certificate programs offered by Maryland's 17 community colleges.

This grant provides one year of funding to the DEED Office of Employment Services Veterans Affairs Division which will help place 70 veterans in training during the 1993 program year. The Office of Employment Services anticipates placing the eligible veterans in Maryland a community colleges during the spring semester.

"We are happy to add this additional resource to the many other opportunities we provide for veterans," said Paulette Hall, executive director of the Office of Employment Services. "This educational vehicle will help eligible veterans improve their skills as well as explore new career possibilities."

Eligible veterans cannot be recipients of any other veterans' benefits. They also must be in one or more of the following categories: disabled veterans, recently separated veterans (having left military service within the last 48 months), or Vietnam-era veterans.

All interested veterans may obtain specific information about the program by calling (410) 333-5353.

The Golden Years

by Melissa Groves

During the 1980s, the number of Americans 85 or over increased by 38 percent, and the population of those in their late 80s and their 90s continues to grow. In many cases, they depend on care by daughters or sons who are in their 60s, or older. One study found that, of the 31 million Americans over 65, eight million -- about one in four -- were caring for parents, other relatives or friends. One researcher on aging forecasts that caring for aging dependent parents while one also is occupied with the needs of children and grandchildren "will be the major domestic crisis of the 21st century."

Julia Child, known worldwide as the French chef, has turned 80 and had knee surgery for the third time, but she hasn't put away her cooking utensils. She works 10 hours a day, she told an interviewer, and plays golf and does sit-ups or other exercises 40 minutes daily.

Remember When? 1946 -- An industrial power tool adapted for home use made its highly successful debut in stores. Priced at $16.95, the 1/4-inch electric drill is credited in large part for opening the "do-it-yourself" era.

Series Of Classes For Manager And Supervisors Stated At McHenry Campus

A series of classes starting this month at Garrett Community College will offer the opportunity for both managers and supervisors to strengthen their skills in meeting the many challenges of supervision, according to Sandy Major, program coordinator. These classes are designed to build the skills and knowledge that will be most practical and valuable in meeting the diverse needs of the employees, managers, and owners of area businesses. All class materials have been revised and upgraded for the new school year in order to incorporate specific elements of quality management, Ms. Major said.

Participants may choose to take one or all of the six mini-classes being offered as part of a Fundamental Skills of Management and Supervision Series. They have been designed to meet the specific needs of those who manage or supervise employees in business, health, service organizations, or school settings. The content of each of these classes is interrelated to the content of the other classes.

In order to address the individual needs of each participant, each class is limited to 12 students.

"Managing to Hire and Develop Good Employees," the first of the series, will begin on January 26. Participants in this class will gain new effectiveness as supervisors by focusing on practical issues that are critical to hiring, developing, and keeping good employees, Ms. Major said. Key topics include: employee selection; orientation; training and development; job descriptions and policy manuals; performance evaluations; effective supervisory techniques; legal responsibilities; progressive discipline; and termination. The class will meet on January 26 and February 2 from 6:15 to 9:30 p.m.

"Building Employee Productivity" is designed to help each participant explore and strengthen motivational and leadership skills that will help assure a productive, motivated work force. Key topics include: basic motivational techniques; the dynamics of effective leadership; developing team building skills; delegating to motivate; using situational leadership; and the components of personal change. The class will meet February 9 and 16 from 6:15 to 9:30 p.m.

"Strengthening Your Assertiveness and Communication Skills" will enable participants to build confidence and personal power by learning to effectively use assertiveness techniques and basic communication principles, according to Ms. Major. Practical "hands on" learning experiences will be offered in: assessing and strengthening assertiveness skills; practicing effective communication techniques; focusing on listening to communicate; and giving and getting positive feedback. The class will meet February 23 and March 2 from 6:15 to 9:30 p.m.

"Communication Challenges for Supervisors" will help supervisors confront "the really tough supervisory and managerial situations in a positive win-win fashion," said Ms. Major. In order to participate in this class students must have completed "Strengthening Your Assertiveness and Communication Skills." The class will include skill building opportunities in: dealing with problem employees; managing difficult customers; terminating employees; conducting performance evaluation; and coaching and team building. The class will meet March 9 and 16 from 6:15 to 9:30 p.m.

"Making the Time To Manage" will enable students to discover ways to manage time that will help them handle stress and enjoy their jobs, Ms. Major said. Practical individualized learning experiences will be focused on: values, goals and priorities; time management techniques; getting past procrastination and personal time wasters; increasing and using prime time; and conducting effective meetings. The class will meet March 23 and 30 from 6:15 to 9:30 p.m.

The final class, "Planning, Organizing and Controlling," will help students focus on improving the quality of products and services. Participants will improve skills in: operational planning; organizational structures; implementing control systems; and decision making. The class will meet April 6 and 13 from 6:15 to 9:30 p.m.

Since space is limited, those interested in these classes should register immediately. To obtain information on any of these classes or other business classes, persons may call Ms. Major at 387-6666, ext. 180.

Eastern Star Chapter Meets

Oakland Chapter No. 67, Order of The Eastern Star, met January 5 at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple.

The meeting was opened in regular form with Worthy Matron Deborah Raynovich presiding. The flag ceremony was led by the Worthy Patron Theodore Raynovich. The Worthy Matron's opening thought was "A New Year."

The Worthy Matron thanked her substitutes and refreshment committee. Her closing thought was "No Problem to Intricate."

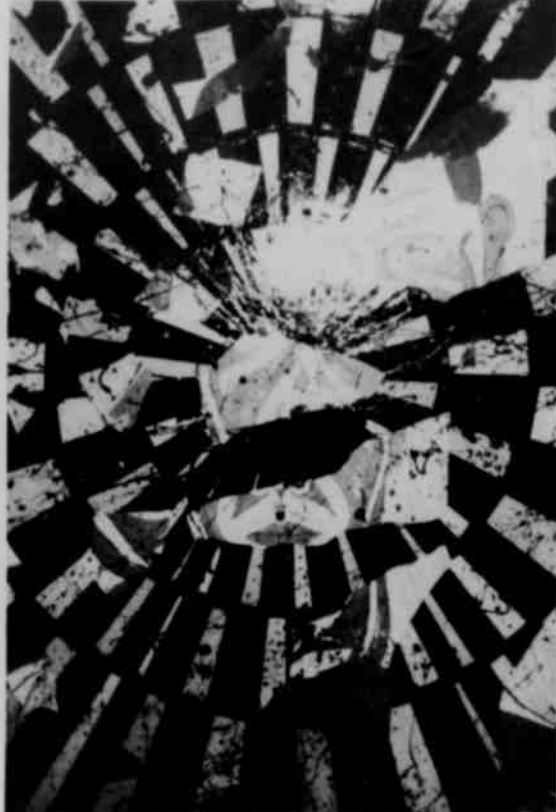

Officers were reminded that there will be practice on Monday, January 18, at 6:30 p.m. for initiation. The Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron urge members to attend.

Tax Assistance To Be Offered By Area Agency

The AARP Tax-Aide Program, sponsored by Garrett County Area Agency on Aging, is beginning its third year in Garrett County. Tax-Aide is AARP's largest community service program, drawing on volunteers to help one and a half million people a year file federal, state, and local tax returns, according to an AARP spokesman.

Under a cooperative agreement between AARP and IRS, Tax-Aide participates in the IRS Tax Counseling for the Elderly (TCE) program. Tax-Aide assistance is provided free of charge and is intended to help low and moderate income older persons with tax returns.

According to local volunteer coordinator, Bea Crocco, the Tax-Aide counselors will be available at the Ruth Enlow Library, Oakland, and

AN EXHIBIT OF PAINTINGS by local artist Timothy H. Kepple is currently on display in the Frostburg State University Lane Center. The paintings will be displayed through mid-February. The paintings represent three years of work, and explore the artist's past through different artistic influences and life experiences. Comprised mainly of self-portraits, the paintings depict certain time periods in the artist's life, and the event, people, and close friends that helped to shape his life. Drawing on the ideas of Op art, post-modernism, and modern artists such as Marcel Duchamp, Kepple creates an artistic medium unlike any other, according to an FSU spokesman. Kepple is a senior fine arts major at FSU and is the son of Howard and Bernice Kepple, Oakland.

at the Oakland Senior Center, Mtn. Lake Park (scheduled to be announced later) to assist senior citizens and low-income individuals on a walk-in basis. Additionally, the counselors will travel to other nutrition sites, nursing homes, the homes of shut-ins, and will see clients at the Area Agency on Aging (AAA) office, 221 South Third Street, Oakland, upon request. Persons wishing to schedule an appointment at one of the additional locations may contact AAA at 334-5856.

The Tax-Aide Program is scheduled to begin February tionist, who was nominated for her "outstanding efforts in communication, customer satisfaction, division activities, and community relations," according to a B&L spokesman.

Ms. Malcolm has been with Bausch & Lomb for 13 years and has held jobs in manufacturing, inspection, assembly, and her current position as receptionist.

She has been active in the development of the GENESIS process and has held positions on the Plan Name and Recognition teams. She is also a recruiter for the American Red Cross Blood Drives held at Bausch & Lomb and she is the company photographer and display person.

"Iori puts in that extra effort every day," the spokesman said. "She is a wonderful company representative and a valuable asset to Bausch & Lomb."

Also recognized in December was Henry Kifer for his efforts in team work, safety, quality, communications, productivity improvement, and problem solving. "Henry leaves no stone unturned in his quest for solving a problem. As a team player, Henry works well in all situations facing him," the spokesman said.

Brian Snyder was recognized for his outstanding efforts in quality, job flexibility, customer satisfaction, productivity improvement, and problem solving. "Brian's knowledge and job flexibility makes him a valuable team player. Brian's commitment to quality always ensures a job well done," the spokesman said.

The members of the Recreation Team were recognized for their outstanding efforts in teamwork and customer satisfaction. "During the year the Recreation team contributes many long hours and preparation in such tasks as the company picnic, adult and children's Christmas parties, the Autumn Glory Float, and Kids' Easter egg hunt in the spring," the spokesman said. The team members are: Alice Madigan, Lynn Wiles, Dan Wiles, Shirley Rivenbark, Angie Reall, Liz Frazee, Ruby Coen, Jill O'Connell, Paul Howdyshell, Martha Green, Naomi Tichinel, Melissa Grimm, Susan Willis, Harret Johnson, Wilma Howdyshell, and Peggy Everly.

State, County Jobless Rates Rise In Nov.

Maryland's unemployment rate increased slightly to 6.5 percent in November from October's 1992 record low of 6.4 percent. Although the November rate reflected a small increase in unemployment, the employment picture for the state remained relatively unchanged.

In Garrett County, where large increases are the norm during November, the unemployment rate jumped from 9.0 percent to 10.2 percent, with temporary layoffs in manufacturing contributing to the rise. The November 1991 rate was 10.3 percent.

"Employment in Maryland remains essentially unchanged, mirroring seasonal and national trends," said Mark L. Wasserman, secretary of economics and employment development (DEED). "The increased hiring in retail for the holiday season, which began in November, was a good sign that we are beginning to experience an economic turnaround."

During November, employment declined by 3,725 persons to 2,431,712. Even with this decline, employment continued to exceed year-ago levels for the eighth consecutive month. The withdrawal of workers from the labor market somewhat offset the decline, holding down November's jobless increase to 2,327 persons.

The increase in Maryland jobless rate mirrored the national rate, which rose from 6.8 percent to 7.0 percent in November.

A separate survey of businesses showed that Maryland's employment picture reflected normal seasonal trends. The trade sector, buoyed by gains particularly in general merchandise and apparel stores, made its best pre-holiday showing since 1989. Hiring in this sector, coupled with gains in trucking, health services, government and educational services, helped to offset seasonal declines in construction, amusements, hotels, agriculture and business services.

Signs of a slow but continuing economic recovery also were visible in other economic indicators.

Payroll employment and manufacturing wages increased in November. Al-

RECEIVES VOLUNTEER AWARD - Donna Durst, McHenry, was notified recently that she was the recipient of a regional volunteer award given for outstanding service by Volunteers in Police Support, Maryland State Police. Durst was selected for the volunteer work she does for the Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry. She was selected by an independent board in Pikesville on the merits of a report filed by her supervisor. Durst's duties at the barrack include typing, filing, fingerprinting for various job applications, and answering the telephone. She reports to the barrack at least one day a week. This is the first time the awards have been given across the state. "We are proud of her accomplishments," said Barrack Commander L. C.H. Hinnant. "She, along with the other two volunteers we have here in McHenry, are valuable assets to the barrack. We are really pleased with the program. Volunteers really help pick up the slack we feel with the loss of personnel for each budget cut." Hinnant also commended Gerald Iman, Kitzmiller, and Joseph Connors, Hemlock Acres, a retiree from the state police, who both volunteer their time to the barrack. Pictured with Durst and her award plaque is First Sgt. D.E. Stanton of Barrack W.

though Maryland's payroll employment increased by 4,600 jobs in November, it remains 2.1 percent below last year's level.

Unemployment insurance claims benefit payments continue to remain below year-ago levels, while more housing permits have been issued in Maryland during the first 11 months of 1992 than during all of 1991.

Unemployment insurance claims... Initial claims for unemployment insurance (UI) in November were 8.3 percent below November 1991 levels. Continuing claims were 13 percent lower, while UI benefit payments were down 8.3 percent.

Average hourly wages... In Maryland's manufacturing industries increased by 9 cents, due largely to a 13 cent increase in nondurable industry wages.

Housing units authorized... In November, 1,946 housing permits were issued in Maryland, down 4.1 percent from November 1991. However, housing permits issued during the first 11 months of 1992 exceeded 1991 levels by more than 25 percent in Maryland and 15.5 percent in the nation. More permits have been issued in Maryland during the first 11 months of 1992 than during all of 1991.

Retail sales... Estimated retail sales in Maryland totaled nearly $3.28 billion in October, the latest month for which retail sales data were available. Retail sales were up 8.8 percent in Maryland and 8.4 percent in the United States over October 1991 levels.

Air cargo... Movements at BWI Airport totaled 19.7 million pounds in November, up 1.6 percent from November 1991.

New automobile registrations... Totaled 19,324 during November, down 1.4 percent from last year.

Statewide, unemployment rates in November ranged from a low of 3.7 percent in Montgomery County to a high of 14.8 percent in Worcester County.

Consider physicians and pharmacists as your primary medication information sources. Pharmacists are interested in all aspects of medicine use. Before taking prescription or nonprescription medicines, ask your pharmacist about:

- What is the use of the medicine?
- What should I expect it to do?
- When should it be taken or used?
- How long should I take it?
- Are there any side effects?
- Should I avoid alcohol?
- Should I avoid other medicines?

Adventure Sports Activity Courses Set At GCC

While other students are hitting the books on college campuses throughout the country during the 1993 spring semester, students in the adventure sports courses at Garrett Community College will be hitting the ski slopes, the mountain trails, and the whitewater rivers, according to a college spokesperson.

In this region of Western Maryland where the climate and topography provide a natural outdoor recreation area, Garrett Community College has scheduled a variety of activity/skills courses for students in the Adventure Sports academic program and other interested persons.

The two-year Adventure Sports program, developed cooperatively by Garrett Community College and Frostburg State University, prepares students for middle management positions in the fast growing adventure sports industry. The program leads to an Associate in Arts degree from GCC, and is articulated with Frostburg State University to which a student may transfer for a four-year Bachelor of Science degree in Recreation with a concentration in Adventure Sports.

According to Mike Logsdon, academic director of the Adventure Sports program, the activity courses have been scheduled at times that should be convenient for part-time students, as well as for those in the program. Each course is offered for one credit with an outdoor education designation at Garrett Community College.

Three different levels of Alpine skiing have been scheduled at the Wisp Ski Area beginning in January. Beginning Alpine Skiing (OED 131) and Intermediate Alpine Skiing (OED 132) will be given Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons from January 4-22; other sessions of these courses will meet on Thursday evenings, from January 28-March 4. The two courses will also be given in sequence on Fridays, from January 29-March 13. For more advanced skiers, Slalom/GS Racing (OED 233), will be given in the evenings during January and February taught by Heather Savage, instructor of the Wisp Ski Academy.

A first time offering, Beginning Orienteering (OED 111), will be given during the weekend of March 19, 20, and 21 by national champion orienteer Lt. Col. Robert Turbyfill. In this course students will learn how to use map and compass to navigate overland. Lt. Col. Turbyfill, a former U.S. Marine Corps officer who is now in the National Guard, is head coach of the U.S. Orienteering Team.

Following the ski season, a course in Mountain Biking (OED 192) will be given on Fridays, from March 12-April 30, taught by Brian Heselbach, mountain biking competitor. The first session of this class will meet in the college gymnasium.

Three whitewater courses will also be taught on Fridays during the same weeks. Canoeing I (OED 147), Fundamentals of Kayaking (OED 148), and Rafting and River Guiding (OED 165) will be taught by Mike Logsdon and Bob Ruppel, owner-operator of Riversport.

For those who seek the challenge of climbing mountains, two levels of Rock Climbing will be taught by internationally-known mountain climber Chris Warner in three-day periods. Introduction to Rock Climbing (OED 121) will be given April 16, 17, and 18, and Intermediate Rock Climbing (OED 122) April 23, 24, and 25. In both courses, students will learn rock climbing techniques and related safety factors at sites located in Garrett County and nearby West Virginia.

In addition to these and other skills courses, students in the Adventure Sports program take courses in communications, literature, mathematics, science, natural history, business management, computer science, economics, and marketing. Students may still enroll in the program for spring semester which begins January 25. Persons desiring further information about the adventure sports courses or the program may call Mike Logsdon at Garrett Community College, (301) 387-6666 or (301) 245-4133.

Southern High School Student To Attend Presidential Inauguration

T. David Jones, a junior at Southern High School, recently received word that he will be attending President-Elect Bill Clinton's inauguration and participating in other inaugural events during his stay in Washington, D.C. the week of January 16-23 as part of the planned curriculum of the Presidential Classroom.

In addition to the various inaugural events planned, Jones will also spend the better part of two days on Capitol Hill exploring current issues in seminars with members of the U.S. House of Representatives and the U.S. Senate.

As part of his studies, he will be attending committee hearings, caucus meetings, and open forums with the members of Congress and will participate in "crossfire sessions" with other students from across the United States to discuss current political issues and their solutions.

Presidential Classroom provides a vigorous academic curriculum for students interested in government and its impact on society. To qualify for the program, students must maintain at least an overall "B" average and show strong leadership capability. Classes and meetings run from 8 a.m. until 10:45 p.m. each day, providing a first-hand look at the operations of the federal government.

David is the son of Tom and Alana Jones, Oakland, and the grandson of Joyce Skidmore, McHenry. Last year, he served as Southern's HOBY Ambassador. He is a member of the school's track and mock trial teams and was cast in this year's SHS theater arts production of the Seven Keys to Baldpate. He currently serves as a peer counselor and plans to pursue a degree in medicine upon graduation from Southern.

Maryland Income Tax Offices To Be Open Jan. 15

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says all state income tax offices will be open from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m., Friday, January 15, when most other state offices will be closed in observance of Dr. Martin Luther King's birthday.

All state income tax offices will also remain open Monday, January 18, which is designated as the federal recognition of Dr. King's birthday.

Taxpayers can get questions answered over the telephone or in person, pick up forms, or even have their state income tax return completed free of charge if they have a completed federal return with them.

NHS Vocalist Selected For English Tour

Anthony Wayne Layman, a tenth-grade student at Northern High School (NHS), has been notified that he has been selected for membership in the American Musical Ambassadors (AMA) Orchestra and Choir tour of England. This select concert group, composed of outstanding high school musicians and vocalists from all over the United States, will tour England for nearly three weeks next July.

A tenor vocalist, Layman, Grantsville, is a member of NHS Chorus, directed by James Board.

The tour group will visit Manchester, York, Warwick, Bath, Glastonbury, Salisbury, Winchester, Windsor, and London. Highlights of the tour will include concerts in the abbeys, cathedrals, and parks of England. A special feature of the tour will be a home stay with English families in Salisbury. Students will visit many sites of musical and historical importance as well as seeing the popular tourist attractions.

The American Musical Ambassadors have taken over 4,000 outstanding young musicians and vocalists to Europe and England in the past 22 years. Conductors of the musical groups are among the most prestigious directors from throughout the United States. The 1993 conductor is Dr. Robert Klotman, former director of outstanding high school groups and past chairman of the music education department at Indiana University.

The purpose of the tour is to foster cultural and personal relationships between students of the United States and the people of England. AMA students, through their high standards of musical excellence and equally high standards of personal excellence, have indeed served as fine representatives of American youth and as ambassadors of goodwill through their music, according to a spokesperson for the group.

Layman will need sponsors from local businesses, family, and friends to help defray the cost of the trip.

LWV HOSTS ANNUAL GET-TOGETHER - The League of Women Voters of Garrett County hosted its annual get-together with elected officials and agency heads Saturday at the Oakland residence of Connie Margison. Among the topics of informal discussion were: direct communication by phone and mail; interaction with county commissioners; Garrett County black bears; active support of the Greater Oakland Business Association; Rt. 39 bridge in Oakland; the new Oakland town hall; the Oakland B&O Railroad Station; the Oakland water treatment plant; the reconstruction of the welcome to Oakland sign; developers looking into the surrounding area and considering possible annexation; passport services offered; appointment versus election of the clerk of the circuit court; growth and expansion of Appalachian Crossroads; and the Board of Education. Pictured left to right above, front, are: Charlotte Sebold, Board of Education member, Connie Margison, LWV president; and Senator John Hafer. In the back row, same order, are: Bill Aspinall, Appalachian Crossroads executive director; Delegate George Edwards; Oakland Mayor Asa McCain; and Clerk of the Circuit Court David Martin. Senator Barbara Mikulski's representative was expected to attend, but was kept away by bad weather conditions.

Layman has also, once again, been selected to go to Ocean City to perform in the All State Senior Choral Concert on March 8. Last year, he was honored by being selected ninth in the state out of approximately 1,200 students competing for this honor. The odds were even greater this year as approximately 1,400 students tried out, with only 240 being selected.

OBITUARIES

FRANCES B. IZZETT
Frances Bernice Izzett, 67, Frostburg, formerly of Cumberland, died Thursday, January 7, 1992, at Sacred Heart Hospital, Hospice Unit.

Contagious Mastitis Confirmed On Maryland Dairy Farm

Dr. Charles Stewart, a mastitis veterinarian with the Maryland Department of Agriculture, has reported Maryland's first case of incurable, contagious mycoplasma mastitis. Stewart urges Maryland dairymen to tighten their sanitary practices to avoid other outbreaks.

The disease was observed by Stewart last April in about 10 percent of a Western Maryland dairy herd. Cultures taken from 25 cows with clinical mastitis were positive for Mycoplasma bovis, the organism responsible for the condition.

The affected cows suffered mastitis in three or four quarters which resisted treatment with mastitis tubes and extra-label antibiotics. Their symptoms were "typical," according to Stewart.

The cows exhibited runny noses followed a few weeks later by thick, pus-like secretions from infected quarters of the udder.

Dr. Jim Fearer, state veterinarian located in Garrett County, contacted Dr. Stewart and was told that although he (Stewart) felt it would be unfair and unprofessional to disclose the exact location of the affected herd, he did say that it is not located in either Garrett or Allegany County. Fearer said that this (mycoplasma mastitis) is just one more thing a dairyman must watch out for. "It's another case of 'buyer beware' and can be added to the list of diseases farmers must be aware of when buying cattle along with John's Disease and Bovine Leukosis," Fearer stated.

Stewart said that dairy cows become particularly susceptible to M. bovis following stress, especially after transportation or introduction of newly purchased replacements.

"The organism can be spread several ways," Stewart said. "It may be spread by aerosol droplets from the respiratory system when the cow sneezes or coughs. Other ways include milkers or milker's hands and contaminated multiple dose vials of medicine and syringes."

According to Stewart, mycoplasma mastitis cannot be diagnosed in the field, but a combination of factors can help a dairyman decide if a cow should be tested for the condition.

"With this mastitis, they are not systemically sick, they keep eating, they feel okay but do develop pus-like secretions, usually with more than one quarter involved. That's different than regular mastitis," Stewart said.

"Sometimes, several weeks before the outbreak, the farmer might observe a respiratory problem running through the herd, particularly runny noses.

"Put two and two together," he advised. "If you see runny noses, more than one cow affected with more than one quarter affected, or have had new cows introduced recently, and have had no response to treatment, call your veterinarian."

"I also think there may be asymptomatic carriers (cows that don't exhibit symptoms of the disease but do carry it)," Stewart said.

"The most important consideration in preventing the mastitis is keeping a closed herd," Stewart added. "I'm pretty sure the herd that got it was because of moving animals in and out. (Mycoplasma mastitis) has been observed in Pennsylvania, and with the way cows move around these days, there's a good chance that's how it was transmitted."

Isolating new cows won't guarantee safety because the incubation period for the organism has not been established, he added. "It's always a good idea (to isolate) for any disease, but I'm not sure how long they would have to keep the animal in isolation."

Dairy farmers who suspect a cow has mycoplasma mastitis should have the cow tested. If the sample is positive, the entire herd should be culled. Cows who test positive must be culled.

Although samples are currently sent to laboratories in Iowa and Pennsylvania, the Animal Health Lab at College Park is working on the ability to culture Mycoplasma, as a special growth media is needed to culture the tiny colonies of the organism, according to Stewart.

Moldy Corn Toxins
Several samples of moldy corn have been analyzed for the mycotoxins-Aflatoxin and Vomitoxin. So far all the tests have been negative for the two mycotoxins; however, according to Dr. Arv Grybauskas, Plant Pathologist, the organism that causes the toxin called fumonism is more likely to be a problem in our moldy corn. Unfortunately, none of the laboratories check for fumonism. I would suggest that you use caution in feeding moldy corn. I would recommend that you blend the moldy corn in with good corn. I would not feed the moldy corn to horses, pigs or chickens.

Results Of The 1992 Maryland Field Corn Hybrid Trials
I now have available in my office the results of the 1992 corn trials. If you would like a copy, let me know.

Farm Bill Law-Must Keep Pesticide Usage Records!
Starting this year all farmers are required by federal and state law to keep a record of all pesticides used on the farm. These records must be kept for a two-year period. To assist you in keeping the records, I have made up a pesticide usage sheet containing all the information areas that you should record. These record sheets are available free upon request. As I understand, only the EPA, Maryland Department of Agriculture, Maryland Department of Environment and the Maryland Health Department are the only agencies that may demand to see a copy of your pesticide records. Keeping pesticide records is a good idea anyway. These records are useful in evaluating pest control effectiveness and planning next season's pest control programs.

New Food Labeling Rules Published by FDA

The Food and Drug Administration says new food labeling rules will be published January 6. FDA has estimated the new label will cost processors from $1.3 billion to $2.3 billion over 20 years. Industry officials said costs of analyzing foods and changing labels could go much higher. The rules require use of labels that disclose presence of 13 nutrients, assign definitions to terms like "light" and "reduced," and restrict claims of health benefits from a particular nutrient. Although the rules are final, comments on technical matters will be accepted until early February.

Refunds Of 1992 Dairy Deductions Begin This Month

Refunds of amounts deducted from 1992 commercial milk marketings under the Dairy Refund Program (DRPP) will begin in January 1993, according to Kenneth R. Bachtel, chairperson of the Garrett County ASC Committee. The program is authorized by the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990.

The Act calls for a 11.25 cents per hundredweight reduction in the price received by producers for all milk produced and marketed for commercial use in calendar year 1992. "This amount was increased on May 1, 1992, by 2.4 cents per hundredweight, for a total of 13.65 cents per hundredweight, to compensate for refunds paid under the 1991 program," Bachtel said.

USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service collects the milk assessments and ASCS will issue any refunds required.

Under the DRPP, milk producers requesting a re-

Almost 30% of Maryland cash receipts were produced by broilers. The top seven commodities totaled almost 80% of all cash receipts. Greenhouse and nursery took a distant second place with almost 15%, followed by milk with almost 14%, soybeans at 7%, corn at 6%, cattle and calves at 5.5% and chicken eggs at just over 4%. All the other agricultural commodities including hogs, vegetables, fruit, hay and specialty crops provided the remaining 20% of all cash receipts in Maryland.

fund must establish their milk marketings for the refund year, 1992, and the immediately preceding calendar year, 1991, before the refund request is made. "They must request refunds from our office between January and March 15, 1993," ASCS official Bachtel said.

Producers may be eligible for a refund payment under the DRPP if they can provide evidence that their 1992 milk marketings did not exceed their 1991 milk marketings.

For more information on the DRPP, producers should contact the Garrett County ASCS Office.

Garrett Soil Conservation District Celebrates 50th Anniversary This Year And Looks Back At The Past

The "Dust Bowl" days of the 1930s saw wind erosion that was so bad that dust from the West was blown across half the United States: over Maryland, Washington, D.C., and on out to sea. Prior to the Dust Bowl, there was only minimal national attention given to sediment and erosion control.

In 1933, Dr. Hugh Hammond Bennett became the Director of the Soil Erosion Service, a new agency in the Department of Interior. In 18 months of operation, 41 soil and water demonstration projects and 50 Civilian Conservation Corps Camps were assigned to erosion control work under his direction.

His position provided Bennett, a long-time advocate of conservation, a forum to testify before congressional committees, and he effectively did this through his use of plain talk and theatrical drama. One example was his testimony before a Senate committee on a House bill which proposed to set up the Soil Conservation Service as a permanent agency.

This was in March of 1935, and the second great dust storm had begun. From newspaper, radio, and telephone accounts, Bennett was able to predict when the clouds of dust would arrive in Washington, D.C. He dragged out his testimony till the clouds arrived, darkening the sky and filling the air with grit - a bit of Texas for every congressman to grind between his teeth and a bit of Oklahoma to radden their eyes. This soil, swirling in from a 2,000 mile journey, told the committee that this man Bennett was right and that something must be done immediately!

On April 27, 1935, Congress passed and President Roosevelt signed Public Law 46, the first soil conservation law in the history of the world. This was the beginning of the Soil Conservation Service and the first time that soil conservation was national policy.

On February 27, 1937, President Roosevelt sent a letter to the governors of all the states. He urged them to adopt the Standard Soil Conservation District Act, which was attached to the letters, and encouraged its passage in their respective legislatures.

"My Dear Governor," he wrote, "The dust storms of the past few years have underscored the importance of programs to control soil erosion. I need not emphasize to you the seriousness of the problem and the desirability of our taking effective action as a nation and in the several states, to conserve the soil as our basic asset. The nation that destroys its soil destroys itself."

The new law provided for the formation of "soil conservation districts." With amazing foresight, the founding fathers of that time recognized the fundamental principal that for a conservation program to be successful, it must be run by local people who own the land. Today, there are over 3,000 districts across the nation working with landowners to encourage them to adopt and follow conservation practices.

Maryland passed its "Soil Conservation Law" in 1937, which contained or-

The local governing body of soil conservation districts is called "District Board of Supervisors." The first Garrett District Board of Supervisors included Foster Yost, Harry Porter, John Beachy, Emerson Bishoff and Paul Friend. The Garrett District was served from Allegany County by Bill Nace until the spring of 1944 when an office was opened in Oakland on the second floor of the McLaughlin Building. John Carter was the Extension agent at that time and assisted Bill Nace in the formation of the district.

Sometimes people become confused between the Garrett Soil Conservation District, which is pointed out as a "local unit of government" and the Soil Conservation Service. The Soil Conservation Service was created by Public Law 74-46 which was signed by President Roosevelt on April 27, 1935. SCS was the federal government's way of providing help to the local soil conservation districts. With the federal government providing research, technical, educational, and financial assistance through the Soil Conservation Service, conservation districts flourished and made great progress in getting landowners and users to adopt-

Deere National Consumer Campaign Helps Farmers Tell Their Story

Research shows that farmers and ranchers are increasingly concerned about how everyday consumers perceive them. In an age when farmers are only two percent of the population and food safety scares can pop up overnight, it's a valid concern.

A recent Deere & Company sponsored national survey found farmers are concerned about their standing with consumers and want companies like John Deere who do business with farmers to help educate consumers about agriculture.

The first step taken by Deere in response is a six-part series of brief news articles. Accompanied by graphs, the articles deliver positive facts about farmers and agriculture in a way consumers will find intriguing and easy to read.

Each article describes, in less than 300 words, facts about the productivity and efficiency of farmers and ranchers - and how that benefits individual consumers and the economy in general.

For example, one of the articles explains how outstanding productivity allows U.S. farmers to produce enough products to earn 25 percent of their income from foreign consumers. Plus, the agricultural export industry creates more than one million U.S. jobs.

When they think of a farmer most urban consumers likely picture a man. To help create a more balanced perspective, one of the articles tells consumers that women operate more than 130,000 U.S. farms. It also says most U.S. farms are family farms. And on most family farms women play important management roles. Often, they are in complete charge of one or more portions of the family farm.

and related memorabilia is planned along with several feature articles pertaining to various programs of the District. The District would like to hear from anyone who might have old photographs of district supervisors, officials or activities.

One article describes how U.S. farmers aren't always the world yield-per-acre champs, but they're usually the best at lowest labor-and-supplies cost per bushel, pound or bale. That's a major reason why U.S. consumers enjoy the lowest food-cost-to-income ratio of any nation.

An article about farm-land ownership attacks the urban myth that U.S. farming has gone through a corporate takeover. This article drives home two points: that non-family corporations own only three tenths of one percent of farms, and that U.S. agriculture is efficient because of hands-on management by family farmers.

Most consumers may be aware that food starts on farms, not in a supermarket. But how many know that important non-food products also come from farms and ranches? One of the six articles addresses this topic, listing lifesaving insulin, biodegradable plastics and import-reducing motor fuel as some of the non-food farm products benefiting consumers and the U.S. economy.

Few of today's urban consumers know anyone who farms. Nor do they realize that each farmer produces enough food and fiber to meet the needs of 94 U.S. consumers and 34 foreign consumers - 128 people fed by each U.S. farmer. The article discussing this explains that U.S. farmers invest in, and correctly manage, a tremendous amount of technology. This allows farmers to more than meet demand in a system that spends only 24 cents of every food dollar to pay farmers.

This national public information campaign is distributed to more than 10,000 newspapers. The target newspapers are primarily

Farm Focus

Your Food Dollar

U.S. citizens often hear that they spend less for food than people in any other country.

It's true. In the United States, the average family spends 10.3 percent of its income on food, the lowest percentage of any country. Comparable percentages in other countries include France, 16.4 percent; Japan, 18 percent; Venezuela, 25.6 percent; Russia, 28 percent; Mexico, 31.9 percent; and India, 52.5 percent.

How does the U.S. economy provide the lowest food cost to income ratio of any economy? The United States doesn't have the highest income per person or the lowest food prices. There are other countries that provide more food subsidies and countries where prices, including food prices, are much less.

U.S. food costs are a small percentage of families' incomes because, starting at the farm and continuing right through to the supermarket, the United States has the most productive food industry. U.S. farmers have the best overall productivity of any farmers. Some countries' farmers produce more bushels of wheat or pounds of rice per acre than U.S. farmers. But U.S. farmers have mastered the art of producing almost the best yields at rock bottom labor cost per bushel, pound or bale. U.S.

Graphic provided by Deere & Company

farmers are also very efficient in their use of land, seed, machinery, fertilizer, weed and insect control, and all the other supplies needed to produce a crop.

Then, after U.S. farmers have produced food with low costs per unit for labor and supplies, the food transportation, distribution, processing, packaging and retailing industries move the food from farm to table with great overall efficiency and productivity.

The Dinner Party Returns

Oven Roasted Lamb Rib Chops with Rosemary Apple Dressing and asparagus spears is attractively presented on Corelle Hibiscus plate and brass charger. Savory Apples 'n' Horseradish Sauce is a unique condiment addition to the supper menu. Apple Granola Crunch is served in a Sculptured Pyrex dish pretty enough to go to the table.

The setting says festive, the menu says enjoy!

Dazzling Spring Super Stars... Lean fresh American lamb and flavorful recipe-ready applesauce, apple slices and apple juice team up with colorful Corelle Hibiscus dinnerware and sparkling Sculptured Pyrex bakeware to create a memorable springtime supper.

Supper Ready in Minutes... Set the stage with roasted lamb rib chops, so naturally tender, mild and at their best served pink. Present the chops on a bed of piquant rosemary apple combread dressing, from oven to table in just 30 minutes. Take the lamb to the table in the heat-resistant bakeware that is festive enough to serve in and helps keep the entree warm. You'll get rave reviews.

It's Dessert Time ...

The dessert comfort quotient is set to the max with a choice of two wonderful mouth watering, crumb topped apple desserts... one baked in the microwave, the other baked conventionally. Many leading food and health authorities advocate five servings of fresh fruits and vegetables each day. Applesauce, apple slices and apple juice are quick, easy ways to satisfy that recommendation.

Microwave Applesauce Streusel Cake with Sliced Apple Topping

Apple sauce gives moisture and tenderness to this cake.

Topping
1-3/4 cup all-purpose flour	1 cup granulated sugar
1/4 cup granulated sugar	2 cups all-purpose flour
1/4 cup packed brown sugar	1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon	1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
2 tablespoons margarine or butter	1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
3/4 cup chopped nuts	1/4 teaspoon ground allspice
Batter
1/2 cup margarine or butter	2-1/4 cups (21 ounce can) apple pie filling
	Whipped cream (optional)

To prepare topping: In small glass bowl, combine flour, granulated sugar, brown sugar and cinnamon. Cut in margarine or butter until mixture is crumbly. Stir in nuts, set aside.

To prepare batter: In 4-cup heat-resistant glass measure, melt margarine or butter. Microwave on HIGH (100% power) for 2 to 3 minutes or until melted. Stir in applesauce and sugar, set aside. Sift together flour, baking soda, cinnamon, nutmeg and allspice and pour into large glass mixing bowl. Add applesauce mixture to dry ingredients and blend. Pour into buttered 13x9x2 inch heat-resistant glass baking dish. Sprinkle with topping. Microwave on HIGH (100% power) for 9 to 12 minutes, rotating dish once half turn every 3 to 4 minutes. Cool cake on wooden board. Cut into squares and spoon on apple pie filling. Top with dollop of whipped cream if desired. Serve. (Makes 12 servings.)

Festive Setting... Add your own special dazzle to your everyday dinnerware. Accent it with brass charger plates, ribbons that twist and twirl and the glow of votive candles. Be inventive. For a quick, easy centerpiece, arrange flowers in a 3-cup Sculptured Pyrex mixing bowl filled with glass marbles to anchor the flowers. Clean Up Is A Breeze... At the end of the evening, kick off your shoes and relax. You've cooked and served in the same dishes, now use the convenience of snug-fitting snap-on lids for easy food storage. Sensational Spring Recipes... These sensational spring recipes are yours to mix and match. Create your own festive menus. Spring has sprung... celebrate and enjoy!

Microwave Applesauce Streusel Cake with Sliced Apple Topping is easy to prepare with ingredients from the pantry. Microwave it in the Sculptured Pyrex dish; this cake can be stored conveniently in the same dish thanks to its snap-on lid.

Apple Granola Crunch

Apple pie filling on the pantry shelf is a quick, easy ingredient for many recipes. The aroma of this extra easy dessert will tantalize your guests. Served piping hot from the oven, it makes a delicious dessert that will be asked for again and again.

2 cans (21 ounces each) apple pie filling	3 tablespoons bran cereal flakes
3/4 cup biscuit mix	1 tablespoon wheat germ
1/4 cup rolled oats	1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/4 cup packed light brown sugar	1/4 cup margarine or butter
	1/2 cup chopped nuts
	Vanilla ice cream (optional)

In 8-inch heat-resistant square glass baking dish, evenly spread apple filling, set aside. In medium bowl, combine biscuit mix, oats, brown sugar, bran cereal, wheat germ and cinnamon. Cut in margarine or butter until crumbly. Mix in nuts. Sprinkle over apples. Bake in preheated 375°F oven for 35 minutes until golden brown. Take to table and serve with vanilla ice cream, if desired. (Makes 12 servings.)

XX Then was the last time you gave a dinner party?
VV Get your calendar out right now! Isn't it time to call up good friends, celebrate a holiday or special occasion such as a birthday or engagement or just get the family together? There is no need to fuss...just set the table and serve these delectable, easy-to-prepare recipes that can be done in less than one hour. But don't tell anyone how easy it was.

Oven Roasted Lamb Rib Chops with Rosemary Apple Dressing

Lamb rib chops and sirloin steaks, lamb strips for stir-fry and fajitas are some of the many cuts available at the supermarket. This lamb rib chop recipe is a great do-ahead entree.

3 tablespoons olive oil, divided	2 cups corn bread stuffing, crumbled
1/2 cup chopped onion	2/3 cup canned apple pie filling, chopped
2 cloves garlic, minced	1/2 cup apple juice
2-1/2 teaspoons dried rosemary leaves, crushed, divided	1 cup chopped walnuts
1/2 teaspoon salt	8 lean fresh American Lamb rib chops, cut 3/4 inch thick
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup finely diced red bell pepper

In large skillet, heat 1 tablespoon oil and saute onion, garlic, 2 teaspoons rosemary, salt and pepper for 3 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add red bell pepper, corn bread stuffing, apple pie filling, apple juice and walnuts; mix well. Using 13x9x2-inch heat-resistant glass baking dish, make a layer of dressing, set aside.

In large skillet, heat remaining oil and quickly brown lamb chops on each side; do not cook. Place lamb chops on top of dressing. Sprinkle with remaining rosemary.

Roast in preheated 350°F oven:

20-24 minutes for rare 140°F

25-29 minutes for medium 150°F

30-34 minutes for medium-well 160°F

To serve: Spoon dressing onto plate and top with 2 lamb chops. (Makes 4 servings.)

Easy-Oven Barbecued Denver Lamb Ribs

Barbecued Denver Lamb Ribs appetizer or main course entree can be roasting in the oven while you relax with your guests. At the meat case, look for Certified American Lamb for even leaner lamb cuts.

Barbecue Sauce:	5 drops hot pepper sauce
1/4 cup apple juice
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
1/2 cup chili sauce	Denver Lamb Ribs:
1/4 cup applesauce	2 lean fresh American lamb Denver ribs, 8 ribs each, about 1-1/2 pounds
1 tablespoon packed brown sugar	1 teaspoon lemon pepper
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard

In 1-quart saucepan combine apple juice and onion and simmer for 2 minutes. Stir in chili sauce, applesauce, brown sugar, Worcestershire sauce, dry mustard and hot pepper sauce. Simmer for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. KEEP SAUCE WARM.

In 13x9x2-inch heat-resistant glass baking dish with roasting rack, arrange ribs meat-side-up. Sprinkle with lemon pepper. Roast in preheated 375°F oven for 30 minutes. Generously brush on WARM barbecue sauce and roast additional 20 to 25 minutes. For appetizer, cut into individual ribs and serve. For entree, use one rack of Denver ribs per serving. (Makes 4 appetizer servings.) (Makes 2 entree servings.)

Lamburger in a Pastry with Sweet, Hot Mustard Sauce

The puff pastry and lean fresh ground lamb combination is absolutely delicious and can fit any entertaining budget.

1 package (17-1/4 ounce) frozen puff pastry sheets, defrosted at room temperature for 20 minutes	1 egg, beaten
1/2 cup fresh bread crumbs	1/3 cup minced onion
1/2 cup skim milk	1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
2 pounds lean fresh American ground lamb	1 teaspoon salt
	1/4 teaspoon ground allspice
	Sweet, Hot Mustard Sauce

In small bowl, combine bread crumbs and milk, set aside. In large bowl, blend together ground lamb, soaked bread crumbs, egg, onion, Worcestershire sauce, salt and allspice. Divide lamb mixture into eight equal portions, set aside. Cut each pastry sheet into 4 equal pieces. On floured surface, roll out each piece into 8-inch square. To make each lamburger, spoon 1 teaspoon Sweet, Hot Mustard Sauce onto center of pastry, top with portion of lamb mixture. Bring up opposite corners of pastry together and pinch tips to close. Pinch pastry edges together to seal. Place seam side down on baking sheet. Bake in preheated 350°F oven for 30 to 35 minutes or until golden brown.

Sweet, Hot Mustard Sauce: In glass bowl, mix together 2 tablespoons dry mustard, 2 tablespoons prepared Dijon style mustard, 1/2 cup granulated sugar, 1/4 cup cider vinegar and 2 tablespoons dry white wine or water. Cover and let stand 4 hours or overnight. In 1-quart saucepan, mix together 1 beaten egg and mustard mixture. Cook over medium-low heat for about 15 minutes until thick and smooth, stir constantly. Do not boil. Serve warm or chilled. Cover and store in refrigerator. (Makes 8 servings.)

Nutrients per serving: calories 503, protein 27g, carbohydrate 33g, fat 28g, cholesterol 148mg, dietary fiber 5g, iron 4mg, sodium 678mg.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to determine the foreclosure of a certain mortgage in the following property, situate in Election District No. 16, Garrett County, Maryland, sold by the County of Taxes for Garrett County and State of Maryland to JAMES P. TASKER and DONNA L. TASKER, his wife.

All that parcel of land situate in Election District No. 16, known as Lot No. 34 in the Town of Mountain Lake Park and being the same as described in a deed from Lela Helbig to Lewis L. Tasker and Eleanor D. Tasker, his wife, dated August 22, 1975, and recorded in Liber No. 361, folio 189, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The Complaint states, among other things, that the amounts for redemption have not been paid, although more than six months and one day from the date of sale has expired.

IT IS THEREUPON, this 15th day of December, 1992, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, ORDERED that no objection to the insertion of a notice of this Order in some newspaper having general circulation in Garrett County, once a week for four successive weeks on or before the 15th day of January, 1993, warning all parties to appear in the said proceedings, be made and appear in the said proceedings on the 15th day of February, 1993, to answer the Complaint, and that a judgment will be rendered in the property and cause in the Plaintiffs' favor, subject to the clear of all liens.

State Calendar Of Events For 1993 Available

The Maryland Office of Tourism Development announced this week the availability of its 1993 Maryland Calendar of Events, an annual publication listing thousands of events planned around the state. The publication is free to the public. The latest edition of the Calendar of Events features a 12-month format with 56 pages of listing. The calendar features listings of events for those with special interests. Included are scheduled exhibits at Maryland museums, family fun adventures, a partial schedule for Maryland sports teams, and events planned for the Maryland Fall Horse Festival. The calendar also includes a $1 discount coupon for "Maryland on Display," the tour and travel showcase to be held in Baltimore's Festival Hall April 2-4.

George Williams, director of the Office of Tourism Development, part of the Department of Economic and Employment Development, said, "We are proud to be able to offer this calendar to the public. We've incorporated the suggestions of people who have used the calendar in previous years, and designed it to be easy for people to find out about all the exciting things to do in Maryland in

The cover of the 1993 Calendar of Events features an aerial photo of Oriole Park at Camden Yards, the award-winning ballpark in Baltimore's Inner Harbor. Baltimore will be the site of the 1993 All-Star FanFest beginning July 8 and ending with the 64th All-Star Game July 13.

Copies of the 1993 Calendar of Events are available in all Maryland Travel Information Centers, or by calling 1-800-272-8563.

Sociology To Be Offered By GCC At Crellin Site

A new course has been added to the Garrett Community College spring semester credit courses scheduled at Crellin Elementary School in the evenings, according to a college spokesperson.

Principles of Sociology (SOC101) will be taught on Tuesdays from 6-9 p.m. by Bonnie Swyer who plans to use an interactive approach and to employ a variety of audio-visual materials in teaching the course that presents a study of social groups and systems.

The course will begin on Tuesday, January 26, and will meet for 13 weeks. Students may register for Sociology 101 and other spring semester courses at the Registrar's Office of the college Mondays through Thursdays from 8:30 a.m. - 6:30 p.m. Persons desiring further information about courses or registration should call the Student Assistance Center at 387-6666 or 245-4133.

Thorn Found Not Guilty Of Child Abuse, Sex Offense

A seven-woman, five-man jury found a Garrett County Board of Education employee not guilty of charges of child abuse, three counts of fourth degree sex offense, and assault and battery. Benjamin C. Thorn, 47, Oakland, pleaded not guilty to all the charges. Presiding Judge Fred A. Thayer also acquitted the defendant of one charge of third degree sex offense.

Thorn, a school counselor and 21-year employee of the school system, was accused of molesting a female over a span of six years when the girl was aged 12-18 years old, beginning in 1984. The female alleged that the defendant had fondled her and kissed her on several occasions. Thorn maintained his innocence throughout the trial, and the jury deliberated for approximately two hours before rendering the final decision.

Since the allegations arose against Thorn in September, he has been on paid leave from the Garrett County Board of Education school system. Superintendent of Schools Dr. Jerome Ryscavage announced this week that Thorn has been reinstated in an administrative position at the Board of Education central office.

Local Hunters Kill 1,000 Deer By Muzzleloader

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary Torrey C. Brown, M.D., announced last week that the preliminary count of deer killed totaled 4,656 during the muzzleloader season, which concluded January 2. This figure compares to 4,763 deer taken in 1992.

"Hunters have enjoyed an outstanding season hunting in the state this year," Dr. Brown said. "The muzzleloader season continues to be an important part of the sport and our deer management program," he noted.

Garrett County reported the highest count of 1,000 deer taken, compared to 752 last year. Allegany County reported the second highest kill of 708.

Updated numbers for the firearms season total 36,087 deer taken statewide. This figure is up from previously reported totals due to significant changes in the final totals for Kent, Queen Anne's and Cecil counties. Last year's total was 31,426.

The total kill in Garrett County was 2,901, fourth highest in the state.

The deer bow season continues until January 30. Wildlife officials expect that final official counts from the three seasons will be available in mid to late February.

SCHOOL BUSES COLLIDE—Two school buses collided on the steep Southern Crosscut Road this morning because of icy road conditions. It is estimated that between 37-42 students were taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment of minor injuries and for observation. All the students were released, according to unconfirmed reports. While the identification of the bus drivers was not known at press time, it was determined that the bus traveling down the steep hill lost traction and began to skid. A bus approaching up the hill was struck in the side left rear even though the driver attempted to pull the bus into a yard on the right side of the roadway. The freezing rain reportedly began to late this morning to delay opening schools. The snow emergency plan was put into effect at 10:30 a.m. Icy roads also caused a fatal tractor-trailer mishap on Interstate 68 this morning within minutes of the school bus mishap. State police said the icy conditions are now spreading into Allegany County and extreme caution is advised for those who have to travel. See separate story for details of both accidents.

Education Board Hears Soccer Pitch And PTA Requests; Selects Architect

The Garrett County Board of Education held its monthly meeting last week, continued to Monday of this week, discussing several topics. The board members heard a presentation from the Mountaintop Soccer Association to introduce variety soccer teams to the county's high schools as well as comments and requests from members of the area's PTA's Parent-Teacher Association. An architect for the Southern High School locker room renovation was chosen, and the maintenance supervisor answered questions concerning a recent problem with the water supply at Northern High School, which has been corrected.

Individual MEAP benefits are based on the type of fuel used and household income. The gross income eligibility standards for one is $851 maximum; two persons, $1,140 maximum; three persons, $1,446 maximum; and four persons, $1,744.

The benefit is sent to the heating supplier after certification of the application. Renters, whose heat is included in their rent, will receive a letter indicating a benefit was sent to the landlord. That amount is deducted from rent payments.

MEAP is a one-time per year assistance benefit. Clients are urged to continue making regular payments for fuel benefit provided within 24 hours. Proper documentation of income must be provided in advance of emergency delivery, and these deliveries will be deducted from the regular benefit.

Applications can be filed at Garrett County Community Action Agency, 380 West Liberty St. on a walk-in basis. Persons may call (301) 334-9431 Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., for more information.

Spirk described the growing program by comparing it to the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad were DeWitt and his passengers, Lance L. Logsdon, 17, Oakland and Sarah D. Park, 13, Oakland. Also transported were King and his passengers, Cathy J. King, 26, Oakland, and Michael D. King, one year. All six persons were treated and released, according to a hospital spokesperson.

DeWitt was cited for driving through a red light, according to the Sheriff's Office report.

KEEP YOUR WINTER CASUALS ON and take in this year's Winter Frolic benefiting Hospice of Garrett County, Saturday, February 6, at 6 p.m. at the Oakland American Legion, remind Hospice volunteers planning the event. The Frolic will be complete with dancing to "The Classics" with music from across the decades and a cozy "mountain lodge" theme inside. Gathering aids and plenty of warm woolens, organizers include, left to right above, Doris Goldsborough, Jackie Johnson, Ruth DiPaulo, Eleanor Plachta (chairperson), Brenda Butcher, and Linda Lancelotti. Not present for the photo was Anna Mary Fritz. To make reservations, persons may call 334-5151.

McHenry Woman Injured When Car Overtakes

A McHenry woman was injured Sunday when the vehicle she was operating struck a ditch and overturned, according to reports filed by the Maryland State Police. Barrack W. McHenry, Claudia R. Kelly, 19, was treated and released for minor injuries from Garrett County Memorial Hospital, according to a hospital nursing spokesperson.

Police said the accident occurred when Kelly, operating a 1988 Subaru GL, east on the Hutton Road, west of Tomar Drive, skidded off the road. The vehicle then struck a ditch and overturned.

Tfc. D.W. Broadwater investigated and charged Kelly in the 9:35 a.m. mishap. She was reportedly wearing a seat belt at the time of the accident. She was taken to the hospital by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

DWI MISHAPS
A Grantsville man was charged with DWI (driving while under the influence of alcohol or drugs) Saturday following a one-vehicle mishap.

Robert L. Hutzell, 29, was charged with that offense after being treated and released from Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, following the mishap.

State police said the accident occurred when Hutzell, operating a 1985 Chevrolet Blazer north on Md. Rt. 495, failed to negotiate a left curve and ran off the right shoulder. The vehicle then reportedly struck a guardrail and a utility pole before overturning. Police said the vehicle slid 405 feet on its top from the point of impact. A C&P Telephone pole was destroyed.

Tfc. J.K. Moore investigated and reportedly filed other traffic charges against Hutzell. Reports indicate that he was wearing his seat belt at the time of the accident. He was transported to the hospital by the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

In another DWI mishap that occurred on January 12, Daniel A. Georg, 22, Accident, was treated and released from the local hospital following a single-vehicle accident along Md. Rt. 135.

Police said Georg was operating a 1988 Chevrolet Corsica and attempting to

Two additional ski thefts were reported last week. Wendy Cohen, Arlington, Va., said that her Elan skis were placed on the ground and when she returned to retrieve them, they were gone. She said the theft occurred on January 14 following a two-vehicle accident at the intersection of Weber Road and Rt. 135.

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office responded to the scene and investigated the mishap.

Michael A. DeWitt, 18, Oakland, was reportedly traveling southbound on Weber Road and drove through a red light at the Rt. 135 intersection. His vehicle was struck by another driven by David W. King, 28, Oakland. The accident occurred at approximately 9:30 p.m.

Transported to the hospital by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad were DeWitt and his passengers, Lance L. Logsdon, 17, Oakland and Sarah D. Park, 13, Oakland. Also transported were King and his passengers, Cathy J. King, 26, Oakland, and Michael D. King, one year. All six persons were treated and released, according to a hospital spokesperson.

DeWitt was cited for driving through a red light, according to the Sheriff's Office report.

VACATION HOME BURGLARIZED
A Sky Valley vacation home was broken into and burglarized sometime between January 4 and January 15, according to owner, William Davis.

He reported that breaking and entering and theft to state police on January 15 and said that $3,952 worth of items were taken.

Tfc. J.K. Moore is conducting an investigation.

Election Redistricting Proposal To Be Topic Of Public Hearing
The Board of Supervisors of Election for Garrett County will be conducting a public hearing on a proposal that will change the Garrett County Commissioner Election Districts in order to achieve a more equitable population distribution throughout the three districts.

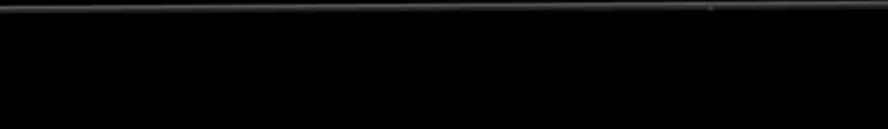

The meeting will be held Wednesday, January 27, at 7 p.m., in the commissioners' meeting room at the Garrett County Courthouse.

Following each decennial census of the United States, Garrett County, according to state registration and election laws, must evaluate the population of the county as the cause of two school buses colliding on the Southern Crosscut Road this morning at 8:15 a.m., according to investigating officer Cpl. G.R. Chaney. According to Emergency Management figures and state police figures, between 37 and 42 students were taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for minor injuries and observation. They were reportedly all released after treatment.

Cpl. Chaney said the accident occurred when one bus had just left Southern High School and was traveling down a rather steep grade on the Southern Crosscut Road. He said that the bus lost traction and skidded over the center of the roadway. At the same time, a second bus had just dropped off students at Denney Road Elementary School and was heading up the Southern Crosscut Road and observed the skidding bus. The unidentified bus driver took evasive action and attempted to move his bus to the right toward an open yard. However, the buses collided when one bus sideswiped the left rear of the other bus.

The bus numbers were given as 16-A and 75-A in unconfirmed reports, but the drivers of the buses were Continued on Page A-9

A NEW DISTRICT COURT ROOM and temporary administrative offices were opened this week after extensive renovation. The offices are temporary until completion of the renovation of the existing court offices and court room. Contractors doing the work include Devlin Inc., Success Floor Coverings, and Naylor's Plumbing and Electrical Division. Persons will now enter the new double doors of the building to conduct court business. Amidst all the moving and confusion, the employees of District Court are pleased with the size and layout of the new court room. Pictured below left to right are Sue Herthman, county clerk/chief clerk; Irene Boone, cashier; Tom Matthews, criminal clerk court recorder; Garrett County District Court Judge Jack R. Turney; Sandra Kolb, traffic clerk court recorder; and Bill Rice bailiff. Not present for the photo were Kathy Stafford, administrative clerk, and court commissioners, Charles Pariseau, Douglas Buckley, and Ron Maters.

Local Man Arrested For Disturbing Peace, Animal Cruelty

A Mtn. Lake Park man was arrested last Friday by Dep. J. Green of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office for disturbing the peace, behaving disorderly, and for animal cruelty. Joseph R. Kisselbach, 38, was released on his own recognizance. Also arrested was Jay S. Dixon, 22, Swanton, who was with Kisselbach at the time of the alleged disturbance.

According to the report, the two defendants entered the property of Barbara Stemple on Fingerboard Road. Michael R. Stemple, 20, reportedly heard noises and went outside to investigate. According to the report, Stemple saw Kisselbach kicking the family pet, a Shetland sheep dog, that was tied to a box in the Stemple's yard. Police were contacted and the two were later arrested. Dixon was charged with disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace.

Kenneth J. Haslbeck, 39, Kingsville, was arrested on Jan. 16, charged with DWI (driving while intoxicated). Haslbeck was stopped near the Arrowhead Deli, according to the report.

A Rawlings man was charged with DWI on Sunday. Eric G. Weimer, 30, was stopped for having a faulty exhaust and when talking with the defendant, the officer detected the odor of alcohol. The officer, Det. J. Murphy, also discovered three baggies of suspected marijuana and a small pipe. Weimer was cited for DWI as well as for possession of a controlled dangerous substance and paraphernalia.

A man with no fixed address was arrested on Jan. 7, cited for several violations. Steven A. Hardesty, 29, was charged with burglary, theft, and breaking and entering a residence. He was released on $10,000 bond, according to the report.

Stephen F. Durst, 39, Oakland, was arrested on the strength of a Garrett County District Court warrant on Jan. 13. Durst was charged with theft of food and drink from The Board Room, Oakland, according to the report.

A bench warrant was issued for Kenneth D. Neff, 31, LaVale. Neff was charged for violation of probation.

James H. Weeks Jr., 32, Oakland, was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant for failure to pay deferred payments for a DWI conviction. He apparently owed $1,505.

Earl L. Dawson, 25, Elk Garden, W. Va., was served a bench warrant for failure to appear in court. Dawson was scheduled to answer a DWI charge.

Porcaro Earns Recertification From Surgery Bd.

John L. Porcaro, M.D., F.A.C.S., Oakland, successfully completed the requirements for recertification by the American Board of Surgery.

Since 1976, the American Board of Surgery issues certificates to its Diplomates that are valid for 10 years. Once certified, the surgeon who wishes to maintain certified status must complete a recertification process, which includes a review of credentials to determine if the surgeon has continued surgical education, is respected by his peers and is active in the practice of surgery.

Passing a written exam is also required. This written examination consists of questions from a broad group of topics including anatomy, physiology, nutrition, bacteriology, antibiotics and wound healing. There are questions regarding head and neck and breast pathology, in addition to questions covering gastrointestinal and abdominal pathology. Vascular surgery and trauma as well as cancer surgery and immunology are also examined. There are also questions covering such topics as pediatric surgery, thoracic surgery, gynecologic, and urologic surgery.

The American Board of Surgery ordinarily allows five attempts to pass the recertification examination. Dr. Porcaro scored in the top 20th percentile on his first attempt, thereby completing all the requirements for recertification.

Porcaro has practiced general surgery at the Garrett County Memorial Hospital for 10 years and is also a clinical assistant professor of surgery at West Virginia University in Morgantown. The scope of Dr. Porcaro's surgery includes all types of general surgery, including laparoscopic gallbladder removal, laparoscopic hernia repair, and laparoscopic tubal sterilization. He also regularly performs major vascular surgery, gynecologic surgery, gastroscopies, colonoscopies, and surgery for carpal tunnel syndrome.

Dr. Porcaro practices with Dr. William Fedde and Dr. John Green at their office in Oakland.

PSI's Ordered In Several Circuit Court Cases

Pre-sentence investigations were ordered in Garrett County Circuit Court for four criminal cases involving theft and drug charges by presiding Judge

Fred A. Thayer recently. Four other defendants received various sentences for violation of probation, driving while intoxicated (DWI), and resisting arrest.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for an Elk Garden, W. Va., man who pleaded guilty, alford plea, to three charges of misdemeanor theft. Bail was continued for Thomas B. Dale Jr., 25, pending sentencing.

Dale was apparently involved in several incidents of theft, beginning in 1990. He (in addition to other involved individuals) was accused of stealing a Bolen riding lawn mower from Milton DeWitt, Oakland, in September 1990. He then stored the mower, worth $1,200, in Elk Garden.

Dale was also allegedly involved in the theft of a Stihl chainsaw from Mark Arnold, Oakland, in May 1991. The saw was later found stored at Tuell's Taxidermy Shop in Elk Garden, having been brought there by the defendant, according to the court document. In a third case, Dale apparently stole a Makita drill and a Sears Craftsman circular saw items owned by Gary Heginbotham from the Timbers Development, Oakland. These items were also located at Tuell's Taxidermy Shop.

Another order for a pre-sentence investigation was given for a theft case involving a Markleysburg, Pa., man, John H. Miller, 30, pleaded guilty to storehouse breaking and entering. Other charges of theft and destruction of property were not prosecuted. Thayer revoked Miller's bail and remanded him to the custody of the Garrett County Sheriff pending sentencing.

Miller incurred the charges after he and his wife, Lisa, apparently broke into the Friendsville Amoco on June 4, 1992, and stole cigarettes, lighters, a radio, motor oil, and a portable space heater. The suspects broke the front door glass to enter the establishment, according to the court document. The loss in the case was set at $535.

Ronald W. Cogley, 31, Oakland, pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana with intent to distribute and possession of cocaine. Charges of possession of cocaine with intent to distribute, possession of marijuana, and conspiracy were not prosecuted. Thayer ordered a pre-sentence investigation in the case.

Cogley incurred the charges after he apparently bought one pound of marijuana and one eighth of an ounce of cocaine from an undercover agent of the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force. The incident took place in March 1992 at the Alpine Village Motel near Deep Creek Lake.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for a 33-year-old Accident man pleaded guilty (alford plea) to the charge of distribution of marijuana. Everette W. Morgan was granted continued bail until sentencing. A charge of possession of marijuana was not prosecuted.

Morgan was arrested in the spring of 1992 after he apparently met twice with an informant for the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force and sold him a baggie of marijuana. The incidents took place at the J&I Trailer Park in Accident, according to the report.

An Oakland man will serve 30 days in the Garrett County Jail for the offense of resisting arrest. Roger L. Savage, 44, Oakland, pleaded guilty to the charge in a November 1992 trial, and was sentenced to one year in jail with all but 30 days suspended. He will also be on two years of supervised probation following his re-

Savage was charged after he apparently fought with Garrett County Sheriff deputies in May 1992. According to the report, the defendant was being served an arrest warrant by Dep. D. Crossland when he attempted to strike the officer several times and resisted being handcuffed.

Randall S. Pettit, 29, Silver Spring, pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated, failure to drive right of center, and driving without a license. The pleas were accepted and Thayer handed down a 30-day sentence in jail, suspended, and fined the defendant $500 for the first count. For the remaining counts, the judge fined Pettit $50 each, suspended.

Pettit was charged in September 1992 by Maryland State Police after officers observed him operating his vehicle in an erratic manner on Mosser Road, McHenry.

A Deer Park man was sentenced to 30 days in the local jail for a DWI conviction. Richard E. Tasker, 35, on two years of supervised probation, according to the report.

Low Interest Mortgage Loans Now Available

Governor William Donald Schaefer has announced that approximately $50 million in low-interest mortgage loans is available for income-eligible Maryland homebuyers.

The funds are available through the Department of Housing and Community Development's (DHCD) Maryland Mortgage Program (MMP). Most MMP eligible people will be purchasing their first home with the loans.

The Maryland Mortgage Program helps low and moderate-income people buy a home," said Governor Schaefer. "More than 31,000 Maryland families and individuals have purchased homes through this program."

To qualify for an MMP 30-year, fixed-rate mortgage loan, individuals may earn up to $32,800 a year and families up to $40,950. The Maryland Mortgage Program (MMP) is administered by DHCD's Community Development Administration, which is remarketing tax-exempt revenue bonds to finance the program.

The available interest rates for the program are based on household income. The interest rate is 7 percent for households earning $28,900 or less a year. Those earning more than $28,900 a year up to the program's maximum income limit will pay 7.75 percent interest. Maximum purchase prices vary depending on location and whether the home to be purchased is newly constructed or an existing house. Interested persons must first have a signed sales contract on a qualifying home before contacting a participating lending institution. Borrowers must make their sales contracts contingent upon receiving financing through the MMP.

For a program brochure and list of participating lenders, persons may call the Homeownership Program office at (410) 514-7514 from the Baltimore metropolitan area, or dial toll-free 1-800-638-7781.

PSI Ordered For Swanton Man In Drug Case

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for a Swanton man by Judge Jack R. Turney in Garrett County District Court proceedings last week.

Thomas K. Vance Jr., 41, was found guilty of one count of attempted drug conspiracy prior to the ordering of the pre-sentence investigation. Three additional counts of conspiracy and one count of possession of drugs were not prosecuted.

Vance had been charged with those offenses by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force whose report stated that during the month of February, 1992, Vance allegedly entered into an agreement to purchase five pounds of marijuana and one ounce of cocaine from an undercover police officer. The report also stated that Vance gave $5,700 to another defendant in the case to purchase drugs from the undercover agent. Officers then responded to Vance's home and reported that they smelled burning marijuana. They also stated that they found marijuana in his home during a search authorized by Vance.

In other District Court news, Allan A. Green, 22, Bloomington, was sentenced on a reckless endangerment charge of which he had been found guilty in October 27 court proceedings.

Green was handed a one-year suspended jail term, fined $250, and placed on one year of supervised probation. In a plea agreement with the State's Attorney's Office, a second charge of reckless endangerment was not prosecuted.

Green had been charged with those offenses following a September 19, 1992, incident in which Green threatened to kill himself with a knife. The knife was taken away from him by Amy Moomau. He then obtained a 12-gauge shotgun and again threatened to kill himself. The two struggled over the gun and it discharged, striking Moomau in the right thumb causing serious injury.

Donna J. Easton, 20, Mtn. Lake Park, who had been guilty of giving a false statement to a state official in October court proceedings was sentenced. In a plea agreement with the State's Attorney's Office, a second charge of making a false statement to police was not prosecuted.

Easton was given a one-year jail term (all was suspended by 24 hours), fined $250, and placed on one year of supervised probation. Easton claimed she had been sexually assaulted by Jerry Cline, Mtn. Lake Park, in May of last year. She filed those charges on August 18, 1992. Then, in September, she said the report was false. She claimed she did have sexual intercourse with Cline, but that she had given her consent. She said she filed the rape charges because Cline had filed charges against her fiancé.

MILLER, SHAFFER HONORED BY GOVERNOR - Harry Miller, coordinator for the Bear Creek Delta Neighborhood Watch, and Deputy Randy Shaffer of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office were both given the Governor's Award for Crime Prevention. Miller received the citation in recognition of his work in establishing the first Neighborhood Watch program in the county. "Mr. Miller has spent countless hours of his own time to organize the program in the Bear Creek Fish Hatchery area, north of Accident," said Sheriff Van Evans. "He has also assisted our office in other Watch programs." Shaffer was awarded for his assistance in organizing the county's Neighborhood Watch programs. Shaffer has also conducted numerous drug and alcohol-related lectures in the county's schools and has been a key worker in the D.A.R.E. program. The Governor's Crime Prevention Award is presented each year to persons who promote crime prevention in their communities. Pictured above, left to right, are Evans and Miller.

DWI CASES
A number of DWI (driving while intoxicated) and DUI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) cases were heard in District Court last week.

Charges of DWI, DUI, negligent driving, and failure to drive right of center, against Barry E. Jenkins, 34, were not prosecuted because of a Pa. police report, according to court documents. Jenkins had been charged with those offenses by the Maryland State Police.

James S. McCrubbie, 31, Pa., was found guilty of DWI. He was handed a 30-day suspended jail term, fined $500 ($300 suspended), and placed on 12 months of supervised probation. He had been arrested by the Maryland State Police on September 19, 1992.

Lisa R. Knox, 28, Md., was found guilty of DWI. She was given a one-year jail term (all was suspended by time served), fined $1,000, and placed on 18 months of supervised probation. She was also found guilty of driving on a revoked license and fined $100. In a plea agreement with the State's Attorney's Office, charges of driving on a suspended license, negligent driving, and giving false accident information to a police officer were not prosecuted. She had been apprehended by the Maryland State Police on November 26, 1992.

Emily L. Nock, 51, was found guilty of DWI and handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $500 ($300 suspended), and placed on one year of supervised probation. In a plea agreement with the State's Attorney's Office, a charge of negligent driving was not prosecuted.

A DWI charge against a 17-year-old Virginia female was not prosecuted because of test results. She was given one year of unsupervised probation before judgment and fined $35 for failure to drive in a single lane. She was also given one year of unsupervised probation before judgment and fined $25 for a license violation restriction. She had been charged by the state police on October 9.

Clayton E. King, 23, Ohio, was found guilty of DWI and handed a 90-day suspended jail term, fined $500, and placed on 18 months of supervised probation. He had been stopped by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office on July 25.

Electric Bill Payment Schedules Available From PE

Potomac Edison reminds customers it has special bill payment schedules available for those who may have difficulty paying higher winter heating bills.

"If customers are having trouble paying their electric bills, we would like to work with them and develop a payment schedule," according to Western Division Manager Nancy Neff. "Families may be experiencing difficult times for a variety of reasons and Potomac Edison understands and offers several options to help customers who may get behind on their winter electric bills."

Under Potomac Edison's Community Energy Fund, customers are assisted with winter heating bills through assistance agencies in their area. These agencies determine eligibility of each individual and, for each dollar donated to the fund by Potomac Edison customers, PE stockholders contribute 50 cents towards energy bills, up to program limits. Nearly $93,000 was credited to bills of Potomac Edison customers in Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia in 1992 through the Community Energy Fund. The program is already assisting customers with funds donated this heating season.

Several other Energy Assistance Programs are available for eligible customers, adds Ms. Neff. Information on these programs is available by calling Potomac Edison toll-free at 1-800-654-3317.

Another option for customers is Potomac Edison's average payment plan, says Ms. Neff. With this plan, customers pay about the same amount each month all year. High and low bills are averaged through the year so that budgeting is made easier.

State Automated Benefits System Being Re-Vamped

Governor William Donald Schaefer has announced Board of Public Works approval of a $4.2 million contract to International Business Machines (IBM) Corporation to re-engineer the Maryland Automated Benefits System (MABS). The funds, provided by the federal government, will be used to update and enhance the existing system used by the Department of Economic and Employment Development (DEED) to process unemployment insurance claims.

Chaired by the governor, the Board of Public Works also is composed of Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein and Treasurer Lucille Maurer. The board is authorized by the General Assembly to approve major construction and consultant contracts, equipment purchases, property transactions, and other procurement actions.

"We are pleased that IBM is working with the state to improve the current system by updating our technology," said Governor Schaefer. "This contract is a good example of the importance of business and government working together to provide better service to Marylanders."

IBM will reverse engineer, and then re-engineer the unemployment insurance system's 650 software programs, considered obsolete by today's software architectural standards. The project will continue for two years and should be completed by the end of 1994.

The contract includes provisions for converting the present system into a new technology environment using computer-aided systems engineering (CASE) methodology.

It will also provide more timely information to DEED's local offices and to the central staff supporting the system, as well as provide more up-to-date information for claimants. The new re-engineering system will decrease the ongoing software maintenance costs of the automated benefits system and increase DEED's ability to quickly modify the system to implement new programs or law changes, such as the federal extended benefits program implemented last year, in order to collect premiums and distribute unemployment insurance checks in a more timely and efficient manner.

"This updated system will enable us to serve unemployment insurance claimants more efficiently and effectively," said Charles O. Middlebrooke, DEED assistant secretary for employment and training. We are pleased the IBM Maryland Trading Area's Consulting and Integration Services Group will be doing the work."

The contract with the IBM Corporation also involves subcontracting with five other firms: KnowledgeWare, Inc., CBSI (a minority enterprise in Baltimore City), James Martin and Associates, Objectware, and GE Consulting.

NRP Sergeant Doolan Promoted To Lieutenant

The Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP) promoted Sgt. Tim Doolan to lieutenant of the Western Detachment, effective January 4. Doolan will serve as deputy commander of the Northern region, which consists of Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick, Carroll, Montgomery, Howard, Baltimore, Harford, and Cecil counties. He will also be directly responsible for all activities of NRP in the Western Detachment of the Northern region, consisting of Garrett, Allegany, Washington, and Frederick counties. He will serve as chairman of the Potomac River Safety Committee which includes 300 miles of the Potomac River from Jennings Randolph Dam to Great Falls.

In 1990, Doolan was promoted to Sergeant of District 5, Allegany and Garrett counties, and in 1984 he received Maryland's NRP Officer of the Year Award. Other achievements to his credit are: promoted to corporal in Allegany County in 1976, and commissioned as United States deputy of fish and wildlife agent in 1972. He began his employment with the Department of Natural Resources in 1969.

During the course of his career, Lt. Doolan has received several special conservation awards from both state and national environmental and conservation groups and numerous departmental commendations. After 100 hours of night flight in Western Maryland, Doolan was awarded Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Aviation Observer Wings. He implemented the first K-9 deer detector program within the Natural Resources Police with the special K-9 dog, Sgt. Thor.

"If I can fulfill the mission and goals of the Natural Resources Police more effectively by being out of the field and commander of the Western Detachment, that is where I want to be," Doolan said. "During my career, the natural resources always came first and always will."

Doolan noted that 30 years ago, Dr. Franklin Lane, of the Biology Department at Frostburg State University, said, "Conservation of our natural resources isn't saving them, it's the wise use of them."

"Since the National Resources Police goals and objectives follow this edict, my mission is to see that this is accomplished and I look forward to accepting that challenge," Doolan said.

Western Maryland is the largest and most diversified natural resource recreational area within the state and, Doolan emphasized, "With this diversity comes an enormous challenge to my officers and staff. Each officer must insure that every citizen has the opportunity to enjoy the resources Maryland offers now and into the future. We cannot, and will not, tolerate any individual who misuses those resources or reduces any citizen's right to that enjoyment. Any individual who abuses these privileges will be dealt with accordingly. We must leave our resources to our children in better condition than we inherited them. Our legacy will live forever in the quality of their environment."

Doolan is a native of Lonaconing, where he resides with his wife, Toni, who owns and operates her own business, Toni's Family Hair Care. He is the son of Harold Doolan, Lonaconing, and the late Alice Doolan. Besides performing his Natural Resources Police duties, Lt. Doolan guest lectures for conservation groups, clubs, fraternal organizations, colleges, and high schools.

Reports indicate that he was not wearing a seat belt at the time of the mishap. He was transported to the local hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad.

WOMAN INJURED

A McHenry woman was injured following a January 12 mishap and spent two days in the local hospital before being discharged, according to a hospital nursing spokesperson.

Martha J. Vandall, 81, was injured when the 1986 Ford Escort she was operating at the intersection of U.S. Rt. 219 and U.S. Rt. 40 skidded through the intersection during foggy weather. The vehicle then struck a guardrail, according to police reports.

Vandall, who was wearing her seat belt at the time of the mishap, was taken to the local hospital by the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad. Tfc. A.S. MacLane investigated the 1:18 p.m. mishap.

DWI ARRESTS

State police noted several other DWI arrests this past week.

Steven C. Bittering, 27,

Mt. Savage, was charged with DWI on Saturday by Tfc. S.H. Anderson.

Maurice J. Painter, 59, Sterling, Va., was apprehended for DWI on Sunday by Tfc. J.K. Moore.

Stephen C. DeShong, 31, Barton, was charged with DWI on Sunday by Tfc. S.H. Anderson.

had been found guilty of the charge by a jury in a November trial. Thayer ordered the defendant to serve one year in jail with all but 30 days suspended, as well as fined him $500 plus court costs.

Tasker will be on two years of supervised probation upon his release from jail, according to the report. He was arrested in May of last year on Pysell Crosscut Road by Maryland State Police Trooper W. Dixon.

Robin L. Moyer, 20, Deer Park, was found to be in violation of his probation after he apparently did not pay an outstanding fine and court costs. Moyer pleaded guilty to the violation charge.

Originally convicted of battery, Moyer had been sentenced to 90 days in the county jail, suspended, and fined $300 plus court costs. Thayer re-imposed the 90-day jail sentence, suspended it, and re-imposed a fine of $290. The defendant will be

Legal Inconsistencies...

There are some interesting and significant inconsistencies in our laws that we have never quite understood.

Why is it that agencies like the EPA and OSHA can waltz into any business and begin making demands and slapping business owners with fines for the most obscure, ridiculous situations that they somehow decide are "safety violations" when cigarette smoking is not among the violations? If there is a single bottle of whiteout on a secretary's desk, management must design and present a program of instruction to employees informing them that "whiteout" contains hazardous materials, and if they breathe it or drink it they just might get sick. (Thank heavens Big Brother is looking out for all of these poor, stupid employees.) The instruction must be followed by a test. Yet, even after the EPA studies prove that second-hand smoke absolutely, positively can and does cause cancer, smoking is permitted to continue, in the workplace and in most other places.

Continuing with the smoking theme, we lock people up for smoking marijuana, a substance about which we still really aren't sure as to the level of its harmful effects. These people are drug addicts. But the nicotine addicts, whose practice is known beyond a shadow of a doubt to be harmful to themselves and those innocent persons around them, are allowed to continue their habit.

And how about gambling? The state government of Maryland is permitted to promote and operate a wide variety of gambling activities under the guise of the Maryland State Lottery. The new Keno game is about as close to operating a slot machine as one can get without actually operating a slot machine. This immoral practice is permitted if it is government controlled, it is illegal for businesses and individuals to conduct lotteries. It is a double standard, plain and simple.

It has been several years now that most states have seat belt laws on the books, which, by the way, we continue to support. Yet riding in the back of pick-up trucks on our highways, completely unprotected and unrestrained, is still permitted. Legislation is finally pending in Maryland to make this illegal, but why has it taken so long when there has been such an emphasis on the use of seat belts?

We're confused.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Why is it that politicians, and far too many others in positions of public trust, do not know the meaning of the word probity? I assume they don't know its meaning due primarily to its near total absence in the body politic.

Case in point: There are millions of people in this country who do not knowingly break its laws, perhaps even some politicians. There are even thousands of lawyers who do not consciously break the law. However, our president-elect, who promised us "meaningful" change in the way things are done in this country of ours, has given us a chief law enforcement officer who knowingly, and deliberately broke the law "up close and personal" right up to the day she was nominated as Attorney General of the United States.

Mr. Clinton has also seen fit to give us a Secretary of Commerce, a most sensitive position in view of the monumental trade problems we face as a nation, who has, without question, world class conflicts of interests in the very arena he will control. Until recently, as a major lobbyist, if he was not the enemy himself, he represented them!

We will also have as Secretary of Health and Human Services an avowed Leftist; a self-declared admirer of Fidel Castro, as well as a Treasury Secretary who is an insider and designer of almost everything that is wrong or warped in the financial interests of this nation of ours.

If we listen to the stalwarts of the "loyal opposition," the very people who are supposed to intervene when such anomalies occur, there is nothing wrong here. In other words, there are no changes and neither side wants any; meaningful or otherwise.

Their guiding disposition, as usual, is to out one another.

all the moral and ethical slack they need to maintain the "status quo" at whatever cost to probity. It is so ingrained in their warped standards that they are actually increased when normal thinking people apply reasonable standards of morality and ethics to their actions and insist on accountability.

Nothing on the political scene will change in a "meaningful" way until the American people recognize the simple truth that all men (and women) are fallible, and subject to the exigencies of rampant temptations at every turn due to the lack of accountability in the system politicians themselves have designed. You cannot give such people even the potential of Power for Life, which most of them presently enjoy, without paying a horrendous price.

Our present system of governance would corrupt the Apostles, if not their leader, Himself. Our only hope of changing the system is by a wholesale change in the cast of characters who perpetuate it.

Term limitations is a concept which clearly has arrived!

Ronald R. Rowan

To the Editor:

According to the Maryland Department of Education, all students will be (1) required for graduation to complete 75 hours of student service, that includes preparation, action, and reflection components and that, at the discretion of the local school system, may begin during the middle grades, or (2) already designed program in student service that has been approved by the State Superintendent of Schools.

At a recent meeting of the Garrett County Association of Student Councils we had a guest speaker who told us about this new requirement.

Speaking for myself, I went into the meeting with the idea that the requirement for 75 hours of "student service" was totally ridiculous and uncalled for. By the time the meeting was over, my attitude had completely turned around. My problem was that I didn't understand the requirement and what exactly "student service" was, as I think is the problem with most Garrett County residents.

Student Service is not volunteerism! If the plan is prepared correctly, students would not have to complete hours of service time during their days off from school. These hours can be incorporated into the curriculum. Take for instance a science class: the class could go out and clean up the trash along the sides of the road as a service to the community. An English class could take a trip to a nursing home, etc., or the school could be responsible for keeping track of each student's service hours, which would be a time-consuming, confusing way of dealing with the requirement.

Garrett County Association of Student Councils (GCASC) supports the idea of a student service requirement if, and only if, students can be involved in the planning and implementation of the program. We feel that it is incredibly important that students of this county be a part of this project. After all, it affects the students, doesn't it? Wouldn't there be a better and more positive response from the student body if the students' attitudes and feelings were considered in the preparation of the program?

We feel that the requirement should be incorporated into the curriculum because that would take some of the workload off of the students. It would also make classes more interesting for them if they understood what things they were learning in a class that they could actually take into the real world with them. Again, I would like to stress that GCASC feels that it is extremely important that students be involved in the planning and implementation of the program. We are only supportive of the program if the students are involved.

We have chosen a committee of students that we have requested be allowed to attend the meeting that will begin the planning of the program. These members of the council would be attending in the interest of the student bodies of the Northern and Southern secondary schools.

GCASC has come to the conclusion that the new student service requirement is a fantastic idea if it is implemented correctly. It will be very useful to the students of Maryland in giving them lessons on how to interact with people—something that students will carry with them throughout life.

Sincerely,
Wrenny Smith
Publicity Director

The Mind Wanders

Puppy Love
by Pam Ashby

One might say that she adopted us. We had vowed just two months earlier that there would be no more dogs at the Ashby house. It was just too hard to say good-bye. It was just too much trouble. Period. End of discussion. Then it happened. We settled on an aquarium for our younger daughter, Katy, who felt she needed fish in addition to her pet rabbit and in addition to sister Annie's cat. So Katy and I set off to the pet store to obtain fish. And there she was—an adorable puppy with the same markings as our late collie. She had the same smiling eyes, the same white chest, nose, and mittens. I cautiously remarked how cute she was and hurried out of the store with Kate's purchases, pretending not to hear her pleas of "Why can't we have another dog?"

Kate had apparently been so moved by the puppy that a few days later she convinced her father and sister to come to the pet store with her to get a heater for the fish tank. "Come on, Dad. That's how I want to spend my Christmas money," she said convincingly.

Dad unwittingly obliged, but now he claims he was "set up."

"I took them to get fish supplies. I stood there looking at plants and heaters, but the girls were nowhere to be found. Then I heard them calling to me from across the store. They were at the puppy cage. Shucks, the darned thing is cute," he told me over the phone. "And she did look at me with those adorable eyes the entire time I was in the store."

"Honey, did you want me to bring her home after work this evening?" I inquired.

"Oh well, it's up to you," he said in a sort of non-committal, yet hopeful manner. "The girls are bugging me to death about her."

He then did the unforgivable. He put the girls on the phone and they begged and pleaded, vowing that they would take complete responsibility for the puppy.

So for the past few weeks, "Courtney" has been endearing herself to us in so many ways. But it's so hard to train and discipline a brown and white fur ball with dark, expressive (more like manipulative) eyes. She's too cute for her own good. She loves to eat rugs, socks, shoes, any laundry left on the floor, the newspapers she's supposed to use for "other" functions, and other assorted items dropped on the floor. "But she's so cute, Mom." "But she needs discipline." "But she's so..."

Even if she's been outside to relieve herself twice in an hour, she dribbles uncontrollably when a visitor comes to the door or when the kids come home from school or when Jamie comes to visit or when dust settles on a cobweb. It doesn't take much to excite her. "But she's so cute, Mom." "But she needs discipline." "But she's..."

Alfie, the house cat, used to enjoy the run of the house. HE used to get all the attention and affection whether he wanted it or not. Now he has to share space with this creature who wants to do stupid things like play with him by jumping on him with her big, clumsy paws. "But she's so cute, Mom." "But she needs discipline." "But..."

She's turned our lives around and upside down, but we definitely laugh more these days. Guess you could call it "puppy love."

An Update From The Superintendent

By
Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, Superintendent
Of Garrett County Public Schools

The Board Of Education

The Board of Education is a legally constituted body established by the Maryland General Assembly. In Garrett County, the Board of Education is composed of five duly-elected citizens. The five members consist of one member from each County Commissioner district and two members from the county at large. The board members serve four-year terms.

The Board of Education elects a president and vice-president each year. The president, or the vice-president in the president's absence, presides over Board of Education meetings. The Superintendent of Schools, who is not an elected school board member, is the chief executive officer of the board and is responsible for carrying out the decisions made by the Board of Education. He, of course, is assisted by various staff members.

The job of the Board of Education is multi-faceted. For instance, the Public School Law defines the board's duties as:

1. To carry out the Public School Law and by-laws of the State of Maryland,
2. To maintain a reasonably uniform system of public schools designed to provide a quality and equal educational opportunity for all,
3. To determine the education policies of the school system,
4. To adopt by-laws, policies, and regulations for the conduct and management of the schools.

The board members' duties, however, can also be described as administrative, legislative, and judicial. The board members act administratively in carrying out the public school laws and by-laws of the State of Maryland. They can also act legislatively when they enact their own policies and procedures. Finally, they fulfill a judicial function when they listen to appeals by students, parents, employees, or members of the general public.

One other important function the board members render, of course, is to make themselves available to the general citizenry in the county should members of the community want to voice concerns about the public schools.

The Board of Education meets regularly at least once a month. In addition, the board averages at least one additional formal meeting each month. In addition to the formal meetings, board members also attend many school functions as well as other public functions. This year the school board will meet monthly every second Tuesday, beginning at 2 p.m., and the public, of course, is invited to attend.

What's Happening In Our Schools This Week?

* At Accident Elementary, the fourth grade has been involved in the Junior Rangers program. Roger Adams from the Department of Natural Resources instructs the young students on nature, recycling, and being drug-free.

* At Crellin Elementary, Miss Buckel's fourth grade class will visit the planetarium on January 20 and Mrs. Helbig's kindergarten class will visit the Hickory Environmental Education Center.

* At Kitzmiller Elementary the first and second graders began a new reading program entitled "Score and Five More." With incentives built into the program, each student will read 25 literature books over the next three-month period.

* All ninth graders in the high schools will be taking the Maryland Test of Citizenship Skills on February 3 and 4. After visiting several civics classes last week, I know that our teachers are preparing the students for the test.

Note: The Superintendent's Update can be heard every other Sunday on WMSC/WXIE Radio at 8:45 a.m. and every other Saturday on WKHJ at 8:35 a.m.

Maryland Commentary

Frank DeFilippo

Power struggle in the House

The Maryland House of Delegates is one house that's not a home.

It's true that as the General Assembly gathers for its 1993 session, the key question taunting Annapolis rubbernecks is whether the dysfunctional House of Delegates can relax, get its act together and start behaving like consenting adults.

The House has been wracked by two years of internecine backstabbing over state tax policies. It's been ripped apart by bitter regional rivalries. And it's divided by the ham-handed dictates of its autocratic speaker. High on loyalty but low on decorum, the House resembles not so much a parliamentary body of a chosen few as it does the warring ethnic factions of an East-bloc nation.

Early last year, Speaker R. Clayton Mitchell, Jr., D-Kent, rammed through a pricey tax package over the objections of House Republicans and many members of his own leadership team of Democrats.

As a result, Mr. Mitchell got his shorts in a knot and threatened to decommission many of his rebellious hand-picked lieutenants.

Then, in a kind of role reversal, Mr. Mitchell last month had to beat back a threat to his speakership by doing a public challenge from his very own speaker pro tem, Del. Nancy Kupp, D-Mont.

The uprising was the result of the state's decision to discontinue social security payments to local governments for teachers and librarians. With millions of dollars at stake, the special session provoked a divisive feud among legislators from the Baltimore area and the Maryland suburbs around Washington.

Between times, Mr. Mitchell forced his own Appropriations Committee chairman, Charles "Buzz" Ryan, to resign from the House. He lost the services of another committee chairman, Del. Anne Perkins of Baltimore, who resigned to assume a teaching position in China.

Mr. Mitchell scuttled Ms. Perkins' Constitutional and Administrative Law committee and redistributed its members among other major House committees, further altering their makeup and cohesion.

And now, with the sly connivance of Gov. William Donald Schafer, Mr. Mitchell has eased Judiciary Committee Chairman, Del. John Arnick, out of the House and into a coveted seat on the Baltimore County judiciary, further thinning the ranks of experienced leaders.

Moreover, through other purges and cleansings, Mr. Mitchell has virtually restructured his entire House leadership team to give it a decidedly rural coloration.

There are those in the House who view Mr. Mitchell's boudacious display of power as a method of enforcing discipline and control. But others see the maneuvering as further deepening the dark mood of the House and intensifying the nastiness that has bubbled to the surface in the last two years.

And as if that weren't enough, last year's legislative redistricting has thrust many members of the House into newly redrawn districts where they're campaigning for the 1994 elections while still representing their old constituents.

So with Democrats and Republicans divided with unaccustomed vehemence, with the Baltimore and Washington regions snarling at each other trying to decide whether to make love or war, with a speaker whose principal weapon is retaliation and with rural and urban legislators grappling, competing for scarce state dollars, comes now the House Democratic Research Group.

The House Democratic Research Group is the illegitimate stepchild of a group of Washington area lawmakers. It's supposed to be the Democrats' human-trumpet response to the highly vocal and visible tiny band of 25 House Republicans.

But many House veterans view the organization as (at best) just another rival power bloc in the already fractured House or (at worst) and ill-conceived attempt by liberal Democrats to take over the House. HDRG's chairman is Del. Gene Counihan, D-Mont. It has the imprimatur of Mr. Mitchell and its executive director and staff will operate out of Democratic Party headquarters on Mam St., just a chip shot from the State House.

The last such group in the House was formed in 1967 to demand reform of the House rules and leadership. It was organized and led by such newly-elected, reform-minded delegates as Paul Sarbanes, Walter Orlinsky and Rosalie Abrams.

But the group self-destructed before the 1967 session was over when its members suddenly discovered that they lacked enough votes (72) to override the leadership on reform issues.

For the past several years, the House has been the power center of Annapolis, not only because of its size but because Gov. William Donald Schafer has relinquished more and more responsibility and authority to Speaker Mitchell through surreptitious deals on such things as redistricting and tax policy.

It used to be said that the General Assembly was a rubber stamp for the governor. Today it's become a rubber stamp for the leadership.

So the question is this: Can the House get itself together or will it take the sanitizing effect of an election and the threat of term limitations to send 'em a message. And anyone who doesn't think it's possible ought to take a look at what happened to the U.S. House of Representatives. There are 110 new faces.

Senior Citizens' Menus

"Eating Together" sites are now operating two days per week. The menu for the week of Jan. 25-29 is as follows:

Day 1: Cole slaw w/carrots, macaroni and cheese, green beans, pumpkin bread, prunes.

Day 2: Sunshine salad w/carrots, chili w/ground beef/tomatoes and kidney beans, corn bread, apple crisp.

Milk, coffee, and tea are served with all meals.

On occasion, a site may opt to make a substitution in the menu. Senior citizens who wish to eat at one of the "Eating Together" sites are asked to call the individual site to check the menu for the day and to make reservations.

Telephone numbers of individual sites are as follows: Flannery Vale Senior Center, Accident, 746-8824; Finzel Fire Hall, Finzel, 689-8388; Old Mill Grill, Friendsville, 795-1118; Old Mill Restaurant, Gorman, 334-2848; Starmer Hill Apartments, Grantsville, 895-5092; Jennings Community Building, Jennings, 245-4204; Kitzmiller Community Building, Kitzmiller, 453-3445; Oakland Senior Center, Mtn. Lake Park, 334-3399; and Swanton Community Building, Swanton, 947-9191.

Md. Legislature Reduces General Assembly Costs

The Maryland State Legislature has trimmed the cost of running this year's General Assembly by nearly $2 million -- from a reported $37.8 million to $35.2 million -- by reducing staff, not filling vacant positions, decreasing out-of-state travel, and spending less for supplies and equipment.

The proposed budget for next year will be $35.8, amounting to an increase of $640,000 over this year's budget. However, $133,500 of next year's budget will reportedly be used to provide merit salary increases for some House and Senate employees who have not had raises in three years.

Next year's budget will also include about $23 million to be used for pay raises for approximately 40% of state employees, who have also not had raises in three years.

Schaefer Plan Would Provide School Choice

Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer ran into opposition last week when he unveiled a plan during his annual State of the State address that would provide 200 of the state's low-income students with money to attend private schools.

The total cost of the program would be $600,000, with an estimated $2,900 going to each student. The average cost to educate a child for one year in the public school system is roughly half that amount.

Families would be able to use the money (in the form of a voucher) for private or parochial school tuition.

Opponents of the plan say that $600,000 should stay in the public school system to help improve it but some reportedly favor the plan because it provides parents with more control over their child's educational future.

Reports indicate that Maryland is the first state to attempt such a plan.

Governor Adds $2.75 Million In Financial Aid

Governor William Donald Schaefer has proposed a 10 percent increase in funding for state scholarships.

The $2.75 million increase, part of the governor's proposed FY '94 budget, would increase the number of Marylanders receiving state financial aid under the General State Scholarship program by an estimated 2,000 students.

The additional funds would also permit an increase in the amount awarded to all students, partially offsetting the effect of tuition increases.

Total spending on financial aid programs would exceed $31.3 million in FY '94 if the appropriation is approved by the legislature. Funding for the General State Scholarship would total almost $16.1 million.

"If this financial aid budget is approved, it will mean that the governor and the General Assembly in Maryland have increased the amount of money available for scholarships by over 240 percent since Governor Schaefer took office," said Shaila R. Aery, secretary of Higher Education.

Aery said that rising education costs have made it more difficult for students to attend college, and that Maryland's continuing support of broad-based financial aid programs will provide opportunities for students that might otherwise not exist.

Funding for financial aid stood at $9.1 million in FY '86; 15,416 students received grants that year. In FY '93, an estimated 26,750 students are receiving state assistance to attend college.

Schaefer's FY'94 Budget Shows No Tax Increases

Although reports indicated that Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer would not -- for the third year in a row -- submit his proposed budget on time, he did comply with Maryland's Constitution by submitting a $12.7 billion budget for Fiscal Year 1994 this week.

The budget calls for a 4.5 percent increase in spending, a pay raise for some state workers, and no new taxes, although the governor does call for an increase in various fees.

According to reports, the budget is based on a projected growth in tax revenues of 2.5%, $100 million from the new Keno lottery game, and the fee increases. Some legislators are skeptical, however, that revenues from the new lottery game will continue as projected.

The only new spending that is being proposed in the 1994 budget is for programs designed to prevent drug, alcohol, and substance abuse.

The budget will keep in place a $36 million disparity grant aimed at helping the state's poorer jurisdictions (including Garrett County). Baltimore City would reportedly receive about $30 million of that grant.

Pay increases for about 40% of the state's workers would be granted from a $17 million fund.

Schaefer also proposed a capital works budget, in a separate bill, that would total $329 million -- $20 million below the recommended limit for building projects funded through the state. The proposal includes $60 million for new school construction and improvements, $44 million for new prison construction and improvements, $20 million to acquire state office buildings, and almost $9 million for park land acquisition.

Open-Bed Truck Bill Submitted

Delegate Kevin Kelly (D-Allegany) has introduced a bill in the Maryland General Assembly that would prohibit children ages 16 and under from riding in the open beds of trucks on any public roadway in the state.

The bill, which recently had its first hearing before the House Judiciary Committee, is being supported by the Maryland Chiefs of Police, the National Transportation Safety Board, the American Automobile Association, the American Academy of Pediatrics, Advocates for Highway and Auto Safety, and the Maryland Safe Kids Coalition.

There has been some opposition voiced, however, with one legislator stating that the bill should include exemptions for farm use, as well as for parades, military use, and fire fighters' use.

Delegate Kelly, according to reports, responded that while he didn't think the parade inclusion was a valid exemption, he would agree to amend the bill to exclude farm use.

Governor's Birth Control Proposal Stirs Controversy

Controversy has developed over Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer's recent proposal that involves the state offering Norplant (a contraceptive that is implanted under the skin) to welfare mothers and vasectomies to inmates in an effort to prevent unwanted pregnancies.

The proposal was part of a three-part measure -- the most expensive component of which was the plan to insure access to birth control for those without health insurance -- that Schaefer outlined in his State of the State address last week. The proposals were part of a larger series of measures dealing with welfare and family issues.

Schaefer's birth control proposal was criticized by some for implying mandatory birth control and by others for the implied suggestion that all welfare families are too large. One opponent reportedly stated that welfare mothers do not, as a rule, have many children, and that the recession is to blame for increasing numbers of people on welfare assistance.

Others praised the governor for taking the initiative to attempt a welfare reform during his last two years in office.

Besides the pregnancy prevention component of the package, Schaefer also outlined steps to deal with fathers who neglect to pay child support, as well as developing a pilot program designed to help young fathers get involved with their children.

Redistricting

number for each of the three districts would be 9,379. A letter to the board from District 1 Senator John J. Hafer and District 1-A Delegate George C. Edwards stated that the current population in each of the districts is as follows: Commissioner District 1 - 9,434 'or 33.5%; Commissioner District II - 10,328 'or 38.7%; and Commissioner District III - 8,378 'or 29.8%.

The percentage spread between the districts, then, is currently at 6.9%. The revised redistricting plan -- recommended by Hafer and Edwards and adopted by the election board -- would reduce that spread to 1.1%.

The redistricting law, introduced by Edwards seven years ago, allows the redistricting to take place so that the proposal is finalized no later than February 1, allowing the appropriate legislation to be filed during the present Maryland General Assembly session.

Under the proposed plan, Commissioner District I will consist of Mtn. Lake Park, Bloomington, Deer Park, Kitzmiller, Swanton, and Ryan's Glade, Commissioner District II would consist of Accident, Avilton, Friendsville, The Elbow, Grantsville, Jennings, Finzel, and Bittinger, Commissioner District III would consist of East Oakland, Red House, West Oakland, Crellin, and Sang Run.

The new proposal calls for adding Ryan's Glade and taking away Bittinger in Commissioner District I, adding Bittinger and taking away Sang Run in Commissioner District II, and adding Sang Run and taking away Ryan's Glade in Commissioner District III.

HETRICK SERVES LEGISLATURE - Mike Hetrick, a student at Northern High School, served as a page for the Maryland Legislature in Annapolis this past week. Pages are responsible for keeping legislators' bill books, a notebook of all introduced legislation, current and in order. They are also responsible for delivering messages, making and distributing copies, and getting refreshments for the legislators. Hetrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hetrick, is a Maryland Distinguished Scholar, is a member of the National Honor Society, band, Student Council, mock trial team, and tennis team, and is a photographer for the Northern yearbook. He has been named to Who's Who Among American High School Students. While serving in Annapolis, he was present for Governor Schaefer's 1993 State of the State address.

GCC Announces Continuing Ed. Course Selections

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College is offering a variety of courses for area residents. All of the courses will be held in Oakland, either at the Oakland Center of GCC or at the Garrett County Extension Service office at the courthouse. A description of the courses follows.

UPHOLSTERING

A course entitled Learn the Art of Upholstering (Tackling) is being offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College. This course is scheduled to begin January 27, and will be held each Wednesday at the Oakland Center of the college from 6-9:15 p.m. until March 17.

This course is designed to introduce students to the art of upholstering using the tacking method. Students will need to provide a small piece of the furniture to work on and will be responsible for all materials used.

CAKE DECORATING

A Basic Cake Decorating Course is being offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College. This course will begin January 28 and will be held each Thursday from 9 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. for four sessions at the Oakland campus of the college.

This course will introduce the student to cake, frosting, and decorating techniques.

Students will be responsible for their own materials. Interested persons should contact the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College, 334-8304 for information.

OLD TESTAMENT HISTORY

An Old Testament History course is being offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College. This course is scheduled to be held each Tuesday from 6-8 p.m., beginning January 26 for eight sessions at the Oakland Center of the college.

The Old Testament portion of the Bible is a book which spans 1,000 years of written history as seen through the eyes of the Hebrew people. The student will begin by learning the historical age of different portions of the Old Testament. Rev. John

FRIENDSVILLE LIONS DONATE TO PTA - The Friendsville Lions Club recently presented a donation to the Parent-Teacher Association of Friendsville Elementary School. Making the presentation was Marilyn Lawson, president of the Lions Club, and accepting the check was Judy Livengood, a teacher at Friendsville School.

Grant, retired Episcopal pastor, will be the instructor for this course that will use the King James version of the Bible for its text.

PAINTING FOR SENIORS

A Painting for Seniors course is being offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College. This course will be held at the Oakland Center and will focus on oil painting, with classes beginning January 22, and continuing through February 19. Sessions are scheduled to be held each Friday from 9 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. for five weeks.

Maryland Senior citizens, persons 60 years of age or older, may attend this course tuition free, but will be charged a $12 fee. They must also supply their own materials, which includes a canvas panel about 18 x 24", oil paints, brushes and pencil. A fee of $15 plus materials will be charged for others wishing to enroll. For more information, persons may call Pat at 334-8304 or 387-6666, ext. 169.

BAKING BREAD

A course entitled The Art of Baking Bread is scheduled to be offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College. This course will begin January 30, and will be held each Saturday from 6-8 p.m. at the Garrett County Extension Office for four sessions.

This course is designed for those who wish to learn or improve their bread-making skills. The student will learn the techniques of yeast and chemically leavened breads. In the hands-on course students will produce a variety of their own creations such as white, wheat, and rye breads. They will also learn one quick bread as well as English muffins and a "healthy" bread. The last class will consist of students baking the bread of their choice. The instructor for this course will be Teresa Feather.

For registration information students should contact Patricia Baer at 334-8304 or the Continuing Education Division at 387-6666, ext. 169.

Harlem Boys Choir To Perform At FSU Feb. 7

The "irresistible, unforgettable, and inspirational sounds" of the Boys Choir of Harlem will be heard at Frostburg State University Sunday, February 7, at 3 p.m. in the Lane Center. The performance is a part of the Cultural Events Series and the month-long Black History Month celebration. Tickets are available now at Main Street Books, Frostburg; The Book Center, Cumberland; Disc Jockey Records, Country Club Mall; and the Lane Center.

Under the direction of Dr. Walter J. Turnbull, the choir has performed for audiences world-wide with a repertoire embracing classical and modern music, popular songs, spirituals, gospel and jazz -- highlighted by choreography and an unerring sense of showmanship," stated one critic.

Turnbull will present a special educational session prior to the performance, at 2 p.m. in Library 237, where he will share his success story on the creation and development of the Boys Choir of Harlem program. Library 237 is adjacent to the Lane Center and the public is invited to this free session.

The Choir regularly tours

throughout North America, Europe, and the Orient, including concerts at the renowned halls of great cities as well as schools, churches, and smaller communities. They make frequent appearances on national television and have released two recordings, with soprano Kathleen Battle, Florence Quivar, and others. They were also featured on the soundtrack of the motion picture "Glory."

The Boys Choir of Harlem performance is co-sponsored by the FSU Cultural Events Committee and the Black Student Alliance. The 1992-93 tour is sponsored by Pepsi-Cola, the official soft drink of the Boys Choir of Harlem. These performances are made possible by public funds from the National Endowment for the Arts and the New York State Council of the Arts and the New York City Department of Cultural Affairs. Kawai is the piano of choice of the Boys Choir of Harlem.

This program was made possible by a grant from the Mid-Atlantic Arts Foundation in partnership with the Maryland Arts Council and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency, and the DeWitt Wallace Reader's Digest Fund.

For information on the performance, persons may call the Lane Center at 301-689-4411.

Irene Hixon To Be Guest Speaker At Oakland Aglow

Irene Hixon, Swallow Falls, will be the guest speaker at the Oakland Women's Aglow Fellowship set for Saturday, January 23, at 9:30 a.m. at the Mtn. Lake Park Campgrounds Dining Hall, located off Md. Rt. 135.

Mrs. Hixon is a graduate of Eastern Bible Institute, now known as Valley Forge Christian College, near Philadelphia, Pa. She has taught and substitute taught in public and Christian schools and presently teaches piano lessons in her home. "Having had an experience with cancer, she knows the power of prayer and what God can do," said an Aglow spokesperson.

Mrs. Hixon is married to Pastor Gail K. Hixon and they are the parents of three children. They have ministered since 1957 in Kentucky, West Virginia, and Maryland.

She will speak on "The Colors of Life," relating personal experiences, followed by the presentation of a "simple, yet complete tool for leading someone to Christ."

All area women are welcome to attend. Aglow is an international, interdenominational organization of women committed to Jesus Christ. The local group meets in the fourth Saturday of each month.

OAKLAND

Mrs. Faye Nally was visited by her daughter, Mrs. Stephen Feldman, Ellicott City, and her sons, Samuel, Jerry, and Timothy, with two of his friends from Frostburg State University, to help celebrate Mrs. Nally's 80th birthday on January 15. They celebrated with a birthday dinner at Pizzeria Uno.

Mrs. Nally received several birthday cards, two of which came from the White House (one from President Bush and one from Barbara Bush) and several telephone calls.

Mrs. Marie Bigna and daughter Janet Dudash from Fairmont, W.Va., visited with Mrs. Nally on Monday.

Small Business Classes Scheduled At GCC Campus

The Small Business Administration encourages anyone thinking about starting a small business to improve the chance for success by learning the basics before getting the business underway. Several short classes have been designed at Garrett Community College to provide potential or start-up business owners with this opportunity. These classes are scheduled to begin February 1.

"Introduction to Small Business" will meet on February 1 and 8 from 6:30-9 p.m. Key topics for this class will include: start-up considerations; marketing; financing; management; and various types of ownership.

"Developing a Business Plan and Finances for the small business" will focus on: developing a business plan; types of financing; cash flow analysis; business taxes; budgeting; and financial statement analysis. This class will meet on three Mondays from 6:30-9 p.m. on February 22, March 1, and March 8.

The final class in the series, "Records Management for Small Business," will focus on how to set up the basic record-keeping requirements for a business. Topics will include: inventory and personnel records; receipts and disbursements; and tax forms. The class will meet March 22 and 29 from 6:30-9 p.m.

According to Sandy Major, program coordinator, these GCC classes are planned to offer practical

ROTARY CLUB DONATES TO SAFETY PROGRAM - The Oakland Rotary Club recently donated funds to the National Child Safety Program. During a recent club meeting, Garrett County Sheriff M. learning experiences which can immediately be "put to work" in business. They are co-sponsored by the Continuing Education Division of GCC, the Small Business Administration, and the Western Maryland Small Business Development Center.

All classes will be held at the main campus of Garrett Community College. Anyone wishing to register for these courses or obtain additional information may call Ms. Major at the college at 387-6666, ext. 180.

Winter Hikes Set On C&O Towpath By Sierra Club

The local Sierra Club has announced a series of hikes on the towpath of the C&O Canal, to begin January 23 and continue through the winter. Hikers will complete a six to eight-mile section of the towpath on each outing. Each hike will begin at 10 a.m. and will last three to four hours.

The first hike will begin at the C&O Canal parking lot at Paw Paw Tunnel, just off Maryland Route 51. Successive hikes will begin at Oldtown on Feb. 5, at Spring Gap on Feb. 20, and at Little Orleans on March 6.

The hikes will be held regardless of weather conditions. Hikers should dress accordingly and should carry water and a lunch. Each hike will be led by an experienced hiker working in cooperation with staff of the C&O Canal National Historical Park. No registration is required; persons should show up at the designated time and place. For more information, persons may call Tom Dulz at 301-478-2487 or Fred Bolton at 301-895-5881.

Barry Garris New Sales Rep For J&J Ford

Barry Kirk, owner of J&J Ford Sales, Inc., recently announced the appointment of Barry L. Garris, Oakland, as sales representative to the Terra Alta, W. Va., based Ford dealership. Garris was previously employed by J&J Ford from 1981 to 1987 and was a top sales producer for that period.

"We are very pleased to have Barry back with us at J&J Ford. He brings with him over 11 years of Ford sales and customer satisfaction experience and is a valuable addition to our staff," stated Kirk.

Garris has been recognized for outstanding sales achievement by Ford Motor Co. with induction into The Society of Professional Sales Counselors as well as The 300/500 Ford Masters Program.

Garris earned a bachelor of science degree from Old Dominion University. Upon relocating to Oakland from Virginia Beach in 1974, Garris assumed the position of manager for the Oakland Division of Cumberland Paint and Glass Co. He was also the proprietor of Garris Glass and Mirror Co., which he operated in the Oakland area until selling the business in 1981.

Garris is a former member of the Oakland Rotary Club and was a charter member of the Southern Garrett Junior Chamber of Commerce. His interests include tennis and skiing and he has been a member of the National Ski Patrol at the Wisp Resort for 16 years.

Extension Office To Host Seminar

"Personal Record Organization" will be the focus of a two-hour seminar to be offered twice next week by the Garrett County Extension Service office.

Irmgard R. Koscielniak, Extension agent, home economics, will instruct the course, which will be offered Friday, Jan. 29, from 7 to 9 p.m., and again Saturday, Jan. 30, from 10 a.m. to noon at the Extension Office in the Garrett County courthouse (Third Street entrance). Topics to be covered will be: how to organize a home filing system; how long to keep tax records; how to establish a record index; what to keep in a safe-deposit box; how to replace lost documents; and how to make a household inventory.

A fee of $3 will be charged, which will pay for a record book and a packet of labeled folders for a home filing system.

Persons desiring more information or wishing to register may visit or telephone the Extension Office (334-1990).

Food SHARE Update Noted

The distribution site for Food SHARE has been temporarily changed to the Oakland fire hall from the National Guard Armory in Oakland because of an armory drill scheduled for the same day, January 23. The distribution will begin at 9:30 a.m.

Registration for February's Food SHARE will also be taken at that time from 8:30 a.m. until 1 p.m. Other registration dates are as follows: Jan. 27, Feb. 4, and Feb. 10.

Any person who wishes to sign up to receive a Food SHARE package may do so. "If you eat, you're eligible," a spokesperson stated.

The food packages consist of four to five fresh frozen meats, five to seven fresh vegetables, three to five fresh fruits, and at least two food staples. The cost to compile each package ranges from $25-$35, the spokesperson said.

To obtain a package, persons must pay $14 and do at least two hours of community service. For more information, persons may contact Betty Hare at 301-245-4430.

Rosedale Faith Chapel To Sell Valentine Roses

The ladies auxiliary of the Rosedale Faith Chapel, United Pentecostal Church, will sponsor the selling of boxed roses for Valentine's Day. One dozen roses, boxed with greenery and a bow, will be sold for $20. Colors available will include yellow, red, pink, or white.

To place an order, persons may call either 334-9646 or 334-8731. The pick-up date will be Saturday, Feb. 13, from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m.

The monies from the effort will benefit the church, the spokesperson said.

Adult Basic Ed. Courses Offered

A series of courses in Adult Basic Education and GED preparation are being offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College.

These courses are designed for individuals who wish to improve their skills in reading, writing, and math and for those at more advanced levels who wish to test for their high school diploma. Courses are currently in progress and will continue through May 1993. Students may enter these courses any time during the year.

Scheduled times and locations are as follows: Monday, 6-9:15 p.m., Oakland Center, GCC; Monday, 6-9:15 p.m., Bloomington Elementary School; Monday/Wednesday, 1-3 p.m., Oakland Center, GCC; Monday, 6-9:15 p.m., Crellin Community Center; and Thursday, 5:30-8:45 p.m., Accident Elementary School.

Each year approximately 200 students take advantage of this opportunity to improve on skills they have already developed during life or to pursue the goal of achieving their GED diploma. These courses are supported by a grant from the Maryland State Department of Education and are free of charge to all students.

For further information on any of these courses, persons may contact Patricia Baer at 334-8304.

COVE KIDS
by Melissa Paugh
The Christmas party of the Cove Kids 4-H was held January 14 because of the bad weather in December. It was held at the St. John's Church in the Cove.

The members received their 1993 project books. The officers selected for 1993 were installed. The president, Shonna DeWitt, announced a roller-skating trip for February 4. Details for the trip are not final.

BITTINGER
The Bittinger 4-H club welcomed four new members Brian Stanton, Christine Platter, Micah Plevyak, and Laura Miller -- at the January 4 meeting held at the Bittinger fire hall. This meeting focused on various members giving demonstrations. Jackie Brenneman did a demonstration on guinea pigs and Cody Brenneman showed muzzleloader functions. Ryan Brenneman told about calves and Jessica Cooper demonstrated cooking a dump cake. Patty Lohr made wreaths and Carla Miller told about her pet cat.

There were six leaders and 19 members present at the meeting. Also, the 4-H is planning a skiing trip for the county-wide 4-H.

On January 11 the Program Planning Committee met. These members are Patty Lohr, Micah Plevyak, Dawn Lohr, Christine Platter, Laura Miller, Vicki Teets, and Pat Lohr. Mary Platter was the visitor for this meeting.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

U.S. Coast Guard Sea man Apprentice James A. Dunithan, a 1987 graduate of Northern High School, recently reported for duty aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Cowlip, homeported in Portsmouth, Va.

He joined the Coast Guard in August 1992.

U.S. Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class James A. Neary, son of Zelma M. Neary, Oakland, and Petty Officer 2nd Class Donald J. Kisner, son of Donald J. and Nancy L. Kisner, Crellin, recently deployed with the Naval Mobile Construction Battalion-One, Gulfport, Miss., to Somalia in support of Operation Restore Hope.

Approximately 600 Sea Bees from the battalion were flown to the U.S. naval base in Rota, Spain, where they linked up with their equipment before deploying to Somalia.

"The battalion's ability to deploy on such short notice is a textbook example of mobility, flexibility and capability of the Navy-Marine Corps team. U.S. Navy Sea Bees are playing a tremendous role in repairing and rebuilding Somali facilities, such as airports and roads, so that relief supplies can continue to flow into the country," stated a Navy spokesman.

Sea Bees are trained in constructing roads and airfields, drilling water wells and setting up and maintaining large tent camps. In addition to serving in every conflict since World War II, they are also known for their worldwide humanitarian efforts. Recently, they helped the Kurdish refugees in Northern Iraq during Operation Provide Comfort and victims of Hurricane Andrew in Florida and the eruption of NHS SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT TEAM STRIVING - The Northern High School Improvement Team, consisting of staff and parents, has set as a goal to maintain the high school's current high ratings in the Maryland School Performance Program. Northern received high marks in the recently released test results, meeting 10 of the 11 standards with excellent and satisfactory ratings. Only the mathematics standard was not met, and the improvement team will strive to meet this deficit. Special emphasis will be placed on math by all staff in particularly the ninth grade classes. Other areas of emphasis will be in writing, science, and social studies to increase mastery levels on the Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills. The School Improvement Program places emphasis on improving cognitive thinking and student leadership skills, as well as to encourage and invite parent participation in the education of children. Special programs are conducted by the improvement team to help parents aid their children and to involve parents in support roles through parent organizations and school committees. Three members of the School Improvement Team are pictured above as they review the '91-92 NHS report and discuss the '92-93 plans. Shown left to right are Betsy Deem, math; Michelle Harman, science; and Jackie Davis, English. Other members of the team are Rebecca Alken, school nurse; Mary Doude, counselor; Philip Carr, special education teacher; Robert Yunker, social studies; Donetta Nice, vocational; Martin Green, assistant principal; and Mildred Wucik, school principal. The parents included in the team are Michelle Ahlfeld, Madeline Collins, Pete Forno, Marjorie Fratz, Esther Friend, Bill Graham, Scotty Houser, and Steven Yelovich.

MOUNTAINEERS MEET

The first meeting for 1993 was held January 11 at the Eglon Memorial Building by the Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club. The Music Committee led the group in "It's Four" and also had the devotions. Those participating were Rebecca Wotring, Malinda Mayne, Michelle Shaffer, and Sharon Shaffer. Maria Harsh led the 4-H and U.S. flag pledges.

A thank-you note was received from the Preston Caring Council for the donations to Food for Preston. Sharon Shaffer reported about the December 29 workshop for first year members. There were 25 4-H members and five adults attending the December 23 Cortland Acres Nursing Home birthday party, according to Mark Utterback who reported.

The entries for either the photo or poster competition should be brought to the next meeting. Both forms and National Report they are due in the county office by February 15. Reservations for Teen Leader/Charting weekend are due in the office by February 5.

Talks were: Nutritional Needs of Different Age Groups by Michelle Shaffer; 4-H Facts by Sharon Shaffer; West Virginia Camping by Christopher Mullenax; WV 4-H Camps by David Collins; Electricity by Tom Teets; This Is 4-H Project by Adam Bachtel; Bobcats by Matt Robinson; Selection of Beef Cattle by Brian Corbin; West Virginia Jr. Angus Association, Kevin and Brian Corbin; Do You Know Your 4-H Facts? by Jessica Shaffer; Understanding Your Personality, Becky Snyder; and Staying Motivated and Keeping 4-H Fun by Mark Utterback.

An illustrated talk, Parts of a Sheep, was given by Rebecca Wotring.

Demonstrations were: Making An Orange Smoothie by Shawn Rembold; How to Complete a Film Order Form by Maria Harsh; Tools Used in Woodworking by Bryan Pate.

Grant Harsh had a talk on Bicycle Safety Practices and a demonstration, Hand Signals.

There were 31 members, four leaders, and four parents in attendance.

The next meeting will be February 8 with devotions by the Citizenship Committee. Becky Snyder, chairman. Rebecca Snyder, Reporter.

HEAR ABOUT SAFETY
For their January meeting, the Aurora Pioneer 4-H Club met at the home of leader Stacy Fint, on the 12th. Opening song, "I've Got the 4-H Spirit," was led by Kim Fike.

Courtney Fike called the meeting to order and Shawn Stumpled the pledges. Beth Hauser read "Playtime" and Joe Hauser read "Country Child" as devotions.

For the roll call, each member present was asked to answer by naming an article of clothing worn by Rebecca Fint who was dressed as a hiker.

The club discussed a project of adopting Hope-Mont residents as grandparents and several members voiced their willingness to participate.

Hats, gloves (or mittens) and scarves from the tree at Aurora School were given to needy children from the school at Christmas time.

Applications for dance camp were distributed and also those for Leaders' Craft Weekend. The county photo and poster contest entries need to be given to Mrs. Fint by February 2. The February birthday party for Hopemont residents will be sponsored by the Aurora Pioneers.

Joe Stemple of Aurora, a medic with Union Ambulance, was present to give hints on Trailblazing Safety and tell some first aid to be used for outdoor related injuries. Meghan Durst, Reporter.

D'ATRI BIRTH

Michael and Suzanne D'Attri of Cumberland are announcing the birth of Dylan Michael on January 12 in Sacred Heart Hospital. Dylan weighed 10 pounds, 11 ounces at birth. He has an older sister, Emily.

Larry and Donna Knotts of Cresaptown are the maternal grandparents. "Pap" D'Attri of Cumberland is the paternal grandfather. Great-grandmothers are Mrs. Lillian Knotts of Eglon and Mrs. Reba Miller of Bridgewater, Va.

PERSONAL MENTION

Bruce Rembold of Eglon received word that his great uncle, Faye Livengood, 95, of Springs, Pa., died there on January 9.

Arthur Harrison "Harry" Friend, 95, of Oakland, died January 11 at the Goodwill Mennonite Home in Grantsville. His wife, Mabel Parks Friend, survives at the Goodwill Home. Mrs. Friend is formerly from Eglon.

Alan and Helen Lipscomb of Aurora went last week to Ohio where they stopped for a visit in Kent with her mother and sister, Mrs. Lydia Harsh and Cleota and Ray Hoisington with whom Mrs. Harsh resides. They also visited with another brother and sister-in-law, Oran and Delores Harsh at Brunswick.

Weekend guest of Kirk and Anita Lantz and family at Aurora was her sister, Marilyn Bachman, Eldersburg, Md. Sunday guests were Greg, Barbara and David Knotts of Frostburg; Lillian Knotts of Eglon, and Martha Bolyard, Aurora.

Cindy Parks, daughter of James and Cheryl Parks, Eglon, and Donald Keeney Jr. of Aurora, son of Donald and Virginia Keeney of Aurora, were selected as two of the Coca-Cola Students of the Month for December at Preston High School.

Lorain and Mary Jane Hanline went to Ohio this weekend where they stayed with a sister, Shirley, and Harold Doolittle and visited her mother, Mrs. Lydia Harsh, at Kent.

Greta, Andy and Kristi Weeks of Claymont, Del., were weekend visitors in Aurora with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Teets. Also visiting their parents, the Teetses and Homer and Marguerite Myers, were Alan and Mary Teets of Springfield, Va.

Mary Jackson and Vesta Anderson of Warren, Ohio, visited in their Horse Shoe Run home this weekend and on Sunday prepared dinner and shared it with Dave, Beulah and Kathy Hardesty at their Mt. Top home. Also invited to the dinner was Mrs. Wilma Rembold of Aurora. Mrs. Edith May Funk of Kingwood was a last Sunday visitor of the Hardestys.

Alice Feather (Mrs. Willard) fell Saturday evening at her Aurora home and is a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital as the result of a fractured hip.

Elda "Sue" Fike of Mt. Lake Park will be undergoing surgery this week in Monongalia General Hospital, Morgantown.

Mrs. Jean Lantz remains quite ill at Cortland Acres Nursing Home where she was returned last week from GCMH.

David F. Stemple of Aurora is a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital as the result of a heart attack experienced at his home on Monday evening.

The body of Lucy Parrack Tasker Kelly of Terra Alta was brought Monday to Eglon for burial. She was a daughter of the late Sylvia Slaubaugh Parrack, Eglon.

CORRECTION

In the January 7 column it was incorrectly reported that the Herb Gabler family had purchased the former Josephine Stanton house. In fact, the house is still owned by the Robert Dunkin family, Pittsburgh, and is being rented by the Gablers.

Peter Marshall To Be Speaker At Conference

Peter Marshall, author and renowned teacher on Christian growth and maturity, will be the featured speaker at the seventh annual get-away conference "Mountain-top '93," to be held March 5-7 at Lakeview Resort, Morgantown, W. Va.

Born and reared in Washington, D.C. Rev. Marshall is the son of Dr. Peter Marshall, the chaplain of the United States Senate from 1947-49, and Catherine Marshall Leosord, author of many best-selling books.

This Presbyterian pastor now devotes himself to full-time writing and to speaking/teaching at rallies, churches, and conferences across the country. He has co-authored two best-selling books, The Light and the Glory and From Sea to Shining Sea, Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory, a third book, is now in preparation.

"Because of Rev. Marshall's burden for America's destiny in our time, he will inspire and motivate attendees with exciting and dramatic stories of God's hand in history and our part in 'Restoring America,' the conference title," said Anne Gibson Robinson, former Oakland resident and chairman of the nondenominational sponsoring organization, Living for Christ Conference.

In addition to Peter Marshall's five-session teaching, Richard Allen Farmer, accomplished pianist and vocalist, will appear in concert at "A Festival in Celebration of the Righteousness of God."

Two seminars - "Sharing without Scaring" led by WTV-TV 9 news anchor Jim Forbes and "Saints Alive" presented by Tim Dye, Presbyterian Church in America pastor from New Martinsville, W. Va., -- will expand the weekend. "A Man Called Peter," the film about Peter Marshall, father of the main speaker, will be shown. Other features of the conference include the Mountaintop Bookstore, "Jazzercise" workouts, tennis, and the many exercise opportunities available at Lakeview Resort.

Registration fees, including all programs, two nights lodging and four meals, begin at $135 per person (four per room). Brochures and information are available through Living for Christ Conference, P.O. box 217, New Martinsville, WV 26155; (304) 455-1.FCC (5322).

SCOUTS IN ACTION

CADETTE TROOP 5021
Cadette Troop 5021, Deep Creek Service Unit, has been busy the past three months, according to a troop spokesperson.

The members attended the fall jamboree at Camp Henry Kaufman in September where they made new friends and brought back ideas for crafts and ceremonies.

The troop hosted two troops from Morgantown, W. Va., for an overnight visit at Deep Creek Lake in October. During their stay, they canoed on the lake and rode the Wisp chair lift to see the fall foliage. The canoes were donated by Deep Creek Outfitters and lunch was partially donated by Dominick's Pizza.

During one of the troop's meetings, the scouts spoke to Frank Vitez, vice president of Phenix Technologies. He gave the scouts a tour of the facility as part of the Business-Wise badge they are earning. The tour included a visit to the drafting computer room, circuit board setups, and the construction of high voltage test equipment.

The Morgantown scouts hosted Troop 5021 in November at an ice-skating party and spaghetti dinner. Kim Yoder, a representative of Mary Kay Cosmetics, spoke to the scouts about skin care and nail care during a sleep-over meeting. That activity coincided with the Makeup Fashion and Becoming a Teen badges the members are earning.

The scouts planned a mother-daughter holiday party and fashion show that was held December 30. That event was chaired by Jane Williamson and Jill Speicher who are both working on a Leadership award. One of the requirements of that badge is to take charge of planning a special event for the troop.

Huskies Capture Team Title, Two Divisions In Annual Pepsi Tourney

The Northern High wrestling team went into the annual Pepsi Invitational tournament in Fairmont undefeated this past Saturday and came home with a first place finish in the small schools division, plus a sixth place overall finish among the 21 teams participating.

The Huskies, coached by Scott Stough, amassed 128 team points in the AAA division to easily defeat second place Clay-Battelle, who finished with 76 points.

Tirrell Burdock and Chris Rowe each captured individual championships for the Huskies, as Burdock won the 103-pound division and Rowe pinned James Glass of Lewis County in the 135-pound title match. It was Rowe's eighth straight pin in tournament competition. Burdock also won the tournament's pin award by pinning an earlier opponent in just 13 seconds.

Finishing as the runner-up in the 145-pound division was Northern's Greg Miller, while Allen Bittinger placed fourth in the 140-pound class. Bittinger had the flu during the meet and had to forfeit his final match.

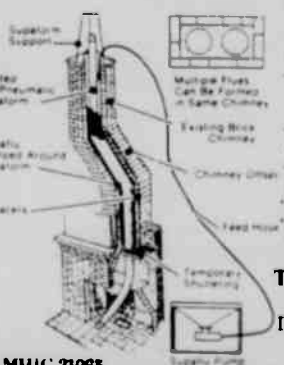

The Huskies' dual meet winning streak came to an end at home Tuesday night, however, in a tri-meet with Westmar and Berkeley Springs, as Northern lost to Berkeley Springs, 44-16, before topping Westmar, 48-28. The split left the Huskies' with a 9-1 mark which they will take to Southern next Tuesday.

In the Berkeley Springs match, the only Northern victors were Burdock, Rowe, and Miller, who won on points, and Steve Savage in the heavyweight division.

Ram Grapplers Fall To Berlin, Vie In Tourney

The Southern High School wrestling team met its toughest opponent to date when it took on Berlin last week. The Rams were defeated, 50-18, but much of the difference in points was because of six forfeits by the under-manned Southern squad.

The Rams also participated in the Braxton County (W.Va.) Invitational last weekend, where they captured one individual title, one runner-up award, a third, and a sixth place.

In the Berlin match, Jason Burgess kept his undefeated string alive by pinning his opponent in the 125-pound bout, while Pete Strawser also won by pin in the 145-pound division. Mike Liller was awarded a forfeit victory in the 130-pound division.

Winning on the mats for Berlin were C. Webbreck (135), G. Cornell (140), and J. Krause (171). All other divisions involved forfeits.

Burgess was the individual champion in the 125-pound class at the Braxton County tourney on Saturday, as he pinned his opponent from Webster County and out-pointed three others from St. Albans, Nicholas County, and Calhoun County. Burgess is currently 12-0 on the season.

Winning a runner-up trophy was Sonny Livengood in the 171-pound division, who won three of four matches. Livengood has won 10 of 12 matches so far this season.

Winning a third place was Pete Strawser in the 145-pound division, who also went 3-1 in the tournament. Strawser's present record is 13-2.

Mike Liller, who is 11-4, placed sixth in the 130-pound division, with a 3-2 tournament mark.

Coach Terry Kendall's team will compete again this evening in a tri-meet with Petersburg and Grafton at Petersburg and again Saturday in the Potomac Valley Conference Tournament at Frankfort.

Huskies Top Oldtown, Then Upset Mount Savage; Record Now 8-3

The Northern Huskies rolled to an easy Mid-Appalachian League win over host Oldtown, 47-37, Friday night and then pulled off a big two-point win over Mt. Savage, 49-47, Tuesday night on the Indians' floor to improve their season mark to 8-3.

The win over Oldtown clinched at least a tie for the Huskies' third straight MAL championship. Paul Edwards led the Huskies with 15 points, as Northern pulled away in the third period after a close first half. The score was knotted at 7-7 at the end of the first quarter and Northern was on top by four, 24-20, at halftime. They out-scored the home team in the third stanza, 14-7, to take a 38-27 advantage into the final period. Oldtown could get no closer than seven points in the fourth quarter.

Bill Younkun also reached double figures for the Huskies with 12 points, while Brian Kamp grabbed 10 rebounds. Chris Wachter dishd out five assists, and Rob Speicher was credited with five steals.

Randy Shupe scored nine points and pulled down 11 rebounds to pace Oldtown. Bud Swick had eight rebounds and five assists and Chris Bingham scored six points to go with his eight rebounds.

The loss dropped Oldtown

Miss McCord Becomes Bride Of Mr. Kline In Double-Ring Event

Alisa Dawn McCord and Richard Earl Kline were recently united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony at the Oakland Church of Christ with the minister Randy Cook officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence L. McCord, Accident. Mr. Kline is the son of Thomas and Nicky O'Brien, Swanton.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a formal gown of bridal satin V-neckline and fitted bodice encrusted with pearls and lace and a full skirt, sweeping to a semi-cathedral train accented with lace motifs and etched by deep milons lace. Her veil was a Juliet caplet accented with pearls and lace and arched cut capelets featuring a double layer of scalloped illusion and scattered pearls. She carried a cascading bouquet of pink, mauve, mint, and white chrysanthemums, roses, lilies, and daisies.

Serving as maid of honor was friend of the bride, Michelle Radcliff, Huntington, W. Va. The bridesmaid was the bride's sister, Sherri McCord, Accident. The bridesmaids' dresses were made by Fran's Fashions in Frostburg. The dresses were mint green and ballerina pink teal with a drop waist and spaghetti straps.

Ashley Warfield, Mt. Airy, the groom's brother-in-law, was best man. Groomsman was Jason O'Brien, brother of the groom, Swanton. They wore gray tuxedos with matching bow ties and cummerbunds.

The reception was held at the Deer Park fire hall. Decorations consisted of sea foam green and ballerina pink balloons centered on the tables with pink napkins. A buffet dinner was prepared by Lisa Landis, who was also in charge of the set up of the reception hall.

The three-tiered cake with a heart figurine was baked by Sweet Street Cafe. It was accented with fresh carnations, baby's breath, and fern scattered around the base of the cake and the cake table. The flowers were designed by the Flowerloft in Grantsville.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Kentucky, West Virginia, Virginia, and Pennsylvania.

The bride is a graduate of Northern High School and is currently employed with Recreational Industries.

Mr. Kline is a graduate of Southern High School and is currently assigned to the 372nd Military Police Company (reserves). He is also attending Garrett Community College, majoring in secondary education.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at Cornish Manor, Oakland.

The couple established residence in McHenry.

Collins-Cady Couple Engaged

Robert and Gladys Collins, Swanton, announced the engagement of their daughter, Tawnya Linn, to Gerald Charles Cady, son of Elizabeth and Roy Dixon, Greenwood, Del., and Hugh Cady, Girard, Pa.

Miss Collins will be a graduate of Southern High School this spring. Mr. Cady is a 1990 graduate of Southern and is currently enlisted in the United States Army. He is stationed at the Schofield Barracks, Hawaii.

The wedding date has not been set.

Mandy Kimble Weds Timothy Ford In August 8 Double-Ring Ceremony

Mandy Sue Kimble and Timothy David Ford were united in marriage August 8, 1992. The double-ring ceremony took place at the First Church of the Nazarene with the Rev. Gary W. Barkley officiating.

Marie Grimm was the organist and Stephanie Wilhelm and Ruben Colon were the soloists. The scripture reading was given by Terri Monahan.

The bride is the daughter of John and Janice Kimble, Cumberland. The groom is the son of David and Lois Ford, Accident.

Given in marriage by her parents and met at the altar by her mother, the bride was given in marriage by her father via telephone from Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

The bride wore a gown of white satin. Hand-beaded, re-embroidered Alencon lace accented the Queen Anne neckline, fitted bodice, and Juliet sleeves. The full skirt fell from a Basque waist and swept into a chapel-length train that featured lace cut-outs and a lace edge. She wore a lace tiara with sequins, pearls, and Austrian crystals. A sequined pouf caught the pearl-studded illusions veil. The bride's jewelry included a diamond heart necklace with pearl earrings, gifts from her mother. She carried a cascading bouquet of fresh pink roses, white carnations, stephanotis, baby's breath, and ivy.

Serving as matron of honor was Lori Humberson, sister of the bride, Cumberland. Serving as maid of honor was Christy Spataro, Mt. Savage. Bridesmaids were Kelli Kline, Auburn, Kansas; and Melodie Ford, sister of the bridegroom, Accident. Flower girl was Miriah Fletcher, Finzel.

Stanley Lewis, Cumberland, was best man. Groomsman were Eric Loar, Ludwick, Ga.; Wesley Loar, Finzel; and Mark Kimble, brother of the bride, Washington, D.C. Ring bearers were Derek and Tyler Humberson, nephews of the bride, Cumberland.

Following the marriage ceremony, the wedding party was chauffeured to Sacred Heart Hospital by Allegany Limousine Service to visit the bride's father.

The reception was held in the church fellowship hall. The food was catered by John Barton and his staff. The three-tiered cake with lighted fountain and five heart-shaped side cakes were baked by Carolyn Lundgren, cousin of the bridegroom.

Robyn and Amy Garland attended the guest book and distributed the wedding to her marriage by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources and is currently employed as a secretary at Eastern Tech Manufacturing, Columbia.

Mr. Ford is a graduate of Northern High School and Capitol College, Laurel. He is employed at RMS Technologies, NASA Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, as an electronics engineer.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the parents of the bridegroom and catered by Po Folks Restaurant.

The bride was the guest of honor at three showers. The first was given by her co-workers at the Department of Natural Resources. The second was given by Christy Spataro and the third by the ladies of the First Church of the Nazarene.

Out-of-town guests were from the Ivory Coast, Georgia, Kansas, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia, and Massachusetts.

Administration, was approved by the Cancer Institute for much wider use.

Unfortunately, Blue Cross & Blue Shield of Maryland suddenly refused to fund the administration of Taxol, ruling that the drug was still experimental, and that past funding of experimental administration of Taxol was a mistake. (The drug itself was provided free by the manufacturer, Bristol-Myers Squibb, the only cost was for administering the drug.)

Cancer always has a chance of returning, but "High-dose" taxol, reduced the size of tumors in patients with advanced ovarian cancer by more than 50 percent in half of the patients treated. Seven of the 44 patients had complete disappearance of their tumors based on X-ray examination," according to Dr. Gisèle Sarney, presenter of a report on Taxol research to the American Society of Clinical Oncology, San Diego, Calif., May 17-19 1992.

With Blue Cross & Blue Shield of Maryland's ongoing history of shoddy coverage, excesses in pay and benefits for top executives, false reporting of assets, excessive expenses for questionable consultant fees, and other items, it would seem that to deny benefits to save the lives of Marylanders' wives, mothers, daughters, and sweethearts is beyond the pale.

Added to this is the testimony of Gov. William Donald Schaefer at a meeting of the Board of Public Works, Dec. 16, 1992. In that meeting Gov. Schaefer blamed Insurance Commissioner John O. Donahoe for shaking "the confidence of all of us in Blue Cross & Blue Shield."

Once again, Gov. Schaefer has misread the tenor of an issue to such an extent that his comments border on the bizarre. What he should have done is demand that Blue Cross & Blue Shield get their act together, and play their part in health protection for the State of Maryland.

Management Class To Begin At GCC Campus

A class at Garrett Community College titled "Managing to Hire and Develop Good Employees" will begin January 26. According to Sandy Major, program coordinator, participants in this class will gain new effectiveness as supervisors by focusing on practical issues that are critical to hiring, developing, and keeping good employees. Key topics include employee selection, orientation, training and development, job descriptions and policy manuals, performance evaluations, effective supervisory techniques, legal responsibilities, progressive discipline, and termination.

The class will meet on January 26 and February 2 from 6:15 to 9:30 p.m. at Garrett Community College, McHenry Campus. Anyone wishing to register for this course or obtain additional information may call Ms. Major at 387-6666, ext. 180.

M.I.C.E. Forum Open To Youth 16-21 Years Old

The 1993 Maryland Institute of Cooperative Education (M.I.C.E.) forum will be held March 12, 13, and 14 at the National 4-H Center in Chevy Chase. M.I.C.E. is an educational forum for Maryland high school and college youth, 16-21 years of age. M.I.C.E. utilizes a workshop and idea exchange format to educate youth about the way cooperatives do business.

The program is sponsored by the Maryland Council of Farmer Cooperatives through funding from the Maryland Cooperatives which hold membership in the council. The council also sponsors youth selected from M.I.C.E. to attend the National Institute of Cooperative Education.

Seminar sessions will be offered in history and philosophy of cooperatives, cooperative structure, financing of cooperatives, M.I.C.E. Cooperative, Incorporated, GOBA, DCLBA HONOR GARRETT COUNTY WOMEN - The Greater Oakland and the Deep Creek Lake business associations (GOBA, DCLBA) gathered recently to promote Garrett County women who have had an impact on the community. In celebration of the Year of the Garrett County Women Nominations were made last week for 28 women to be honored on each day of February. Pictured above are GOBA members Connie Margison, Pam Lipscomb, Barbara Briggs, Barbara Finn, Cathy Cocker, Brenda McDonnell (DCLBA president), Martha Jachowski (Civic Club president), Becky O'Connell, Amy Rudy, Janna Naylor, Madonna Pool, and Traci Martin.

types of cooperatives and leadership. All of the seminar sessions are led by cooperative employed staff members who either work or do business in Maryland. Seminars are informal and designed to be a learning experience. Questions are encouraged. Participation is emphasized and fun is a requirement.

M.I.C.E. will offer delegates fun in the form of meeting other youth delegates from around the state, at a pizza party, by sharing ideas on current issues, and competing in the Cooperatives Bowl.

A night-time tour of Washington, D.C., will take place after the office lights go down and the street lights come up. Delegates will travel by coach under the direction of a licensed tour guide. They will see the White House and the Washington Monument and make stops at the Lincoln, Jefferson and Vietnam Memorials.

Delegates will also tour the manufacturing division of Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Cooperative in Laurel to see first hand butter coming out of a churn capable of processing 7,600 pounds of butter per hour and dry milk powder being bagged from two dryers with a total capacity of 20,000 pounds per hour. This facility is owned by the dairy farmers who are members of this cooperative.

M.I.C.E. forums offer delegates the opportunity to learn about careers in marketing, public relations, production and general agriculture. They also find out the difference between Marketing, Service, Purchasing and Credit Cooperatives.

They will meet several cooperative leaders from around the state of Maryland including managers, staff and directors. Delegates will hear first hand opinions on why cooperatives are important from their members within Maryland.

The opportunity is there to meet national staff people from USDA's Agricultural Cooperative Service, the American Institute for Cooperatives and the National Council for Cooperatives.

Delegates will also be selected from those attending to represent Maryland at the National Institute for Cooperative Education (N.I.C.E.) to be held July 26-29 in Cincinnati, Ohio.

All applications must be returned by February 1, and may be picked up at the Garrett County Extension Office. For more information, those interested may call 334-1990.

Education Board

It's the most inexpensive sport to sponsor, and good for students to have on their college applications. Scholarships and the Olympic Development Program are also to be considered.

He noted that Bausch & Lomb has already donated goals at Southern Middle School, and referees and coaches are now available. Nine schools have been contacted in reference to possible competition, and they will apparently be able to fit Northern and Southern into their schedules if they receive a definite commitment in the next few months.

Those schools contacted were Bishop Walsh, Allegany, Fort Hill, Flintstone, Beall, Westmar, Mt. Savage, and the two Morgantown, W.Va., high schools.

Spirk said $2,000 has already been donated as seed money for the endeavor, as well as the first set of uniforms. The board of education expenses would include the purchase of soccer balls at $15-50, officials at $30-$50 per game, and possible transportation costs ranging from nothing to approximately $100. The items each player would be responsible for would include uniforms (when not donated), protective equipment at $2-$20, shoes at $10-$100. A coach would be hired as a volunteer or on a stipend, as other high school coaches.

Luther Parrack Jr., director of secondary education, continued the discussion by introducing recommendations of the School Activities Review and Evaluation Committee, which consists of one administrator, one student and two teachers from each high school, and two parents from each school.

The committee recommended that soccer be offered as an interscholastic sport in each high school pending sufficient enrollment, and that beginning in the fall of 1993, a head soccer coach be authorized at each high school and paid on the same scale as the head volleyball coach.

The committee discussed school activities in general, and formulated a plan to assign assistant coaches in accordance with student participation. For example, when the volleyball team consists of eight members, one coach is needed. If the team grows to 16 members, an assistant should be named. The same formula (with varying team-member numbers) would be used in all activities, including sports as well as hand, mock trial teams, theatre, and VICA.

This procedure would limit the number of staff and justify the number of extracurricular assignments allocated to each activity. Another recommendation includes the elimination of an activity after two years of insufficient participation. If interest in the canceled activity is regenerated later, it may be re-introduced to the system. The board will be considering high school soccer teams at the next regular meeting.

PTA Requests

Guests at the meeting included several PTA representatives who were invited to make requests and comment on the progress of this school year.

Jeannie Matras, Oakland, spoke for Dennett Road Elementary School and asked for new world maps to help the students understand how countries have changed in the past year. She also asked the board to consider purchasing new chairs and desks at the school, as the current ones are in poor condition.

Cindy Kolbe, president of the PTA County Council, asked the board members if they were considering hiring a new elementary school guidance counselor for the northern end of the county. Dr. Jerome Ryscavage advised Mrs. Kolbe that the board is already advertising for a new counselor.

Duane Yoder, Broad Ford Elementary School PTA president, noted the school's playground needs and told the members that he is hoping to put together a master plan for the area and to present that to them. Dan Yoder from the Swan Meadow School expressed his satisfaction with the staff at the school, explaining that several teachers are new this year.

"It's been a good year so far - it's working out very well," Yoder said.

Larry Bruch represented the Grantsville PTA and expressed a concern about the open classrooms at the elementary school and asked if partitions could be purchased.

All PTA guests thanked the board for hearing their requests.

Architect Chosen

At the continuation of the board meeting Monday night, members selected an architect for the Southern High School locker room renovation. The choice was between Altman & Altman of Uniontown, Pa., a company hired several times in the past by the board; and Bishop Associates Inc., of Hagerstown. As Bushey's bid was at least $1500 less than Altman & Altman, the board chose Bushey for the work, which is scheduled to begin in May, according to the superintendent.

NHS Water Supply

The water supply at Northern High School was found to be contaminated several weeks ago during a routine check, according to Michael Sines, maintenance supervisor. Sines was questioned about the incident and he explained that the routine check showed a positive non-fecal chloroform. The students were told not to drink the water, and bottled water was provided for a wrestling match that evening.

"It was not a huge concern," Sines said. "The system was super-chlorinated and the problem cleared up almost immediately. Rt. 40 had the same problem last summer."

Sines indicated that a fluctuation in the water table can cause the contamination.

GOOD MOVIES

BY BEVERLY ROBIN

HOFFA

Twentieth Century Fox; directed by Danny DeVito, starring Jack Nicholson, Danny DeVito, Armand Assante, J.T. Walsh and Natalia Nogulich.

The latest vogue in biographical film epics seems to be reverential revisionist history, and full speed ahead. Now, to this season's 1492: Conquest of Paradise and Malcolm X, add the tedious, but well acted, Hoffa.

Danny DeVito's unabashed tribute to the Teamster labor leader manages to track Hoffa's career in flashback from 1930's local union organizer to his 1975 disappearance, with nary a mention of motivation or even rough time frame.

Unaccountably, DeVito undermines his credibility as a truth seeker by falsifying the historical record regarding major strikes and the causes of Hoffa's jail sentence, for no discernible dramatic gain. Such techniques negate the director's stated mission of making an heroic epic to reveal the truth about the man who organized U. S. labor.

DeVito rejects the idea that Hoffa's dedication to his men made him beholden to the Mafia for favors. His alliance with organized crime to manhandle union pension funds is shown as a necessary Faustian bargain for an ultimately noble cause.

It is the intricacy of Jack Nicholson's performance that breathes life into the union czar. His Hoffa may be enhanced by terrific, jowly make-up, but it is the barely contained rage underlying every movement that creates his raw power. And Hoffa's reveling in power, living for it and eventually dying to get it restored is the strongest impression left from this misguided piece.

Screenwriter David Mamet's tale is laid out in vignettes. DeVito plays Bobby Chiaro, a fictional aide to Hoffa during his tumultuous career. Armand Assante is at his sinuous best as an elegant Mafioso crony of the labor leader. Kevin Anderson is a gross caricature of Bobby Kennedy, Hoffa's primary nemesis.

Even when this tale of manipulation and idealism comes perilously close to profane (and excessively profane) misrepresentation, it is always absorbing to view a morality play, even when the moral choices are unencumbered by a sense of good and evil.

Rated R for profanity and violence.

1-10 Rating: 5 1/2. Labor leader Jimmy Hoffa uses whatever means necessary to gain and then preserve his position as head of the Teamsters' Union.

Maryland Is Seeing An Invasion -- An Invasion Of Wily Coyotes!

by Bernice Kepple

A newcomer is moving into Maryland. Some call it an invasion! But whatever the movement is called, the newcomer is the eastern coyote with approximately 140 confirmed sightings documented in the state since 1985 with 35 of those in Allegany and Garrett counties.

Tall, slender and long-legged, the coyote ranges in color from light cream to nearly black and weighs between 35 to 40 pounds. Though color and size may vary, there is a "typical" eastern coyote which has a pelt color of overall brown, mixed with highlights of rust and black. The ears are large and pointed while the snout is long and narrow. Usually there is a noticeable white lining around the mouth. Often the front legs have a black stripe along the leading edge, sometimes with a dark smudge or spot just above the foot. The tail is very bushy, much like a fox's.

The tracks left by a coyote are noticeably different from those made by dogs. Most dog tracks are about as wide as they are long, being roughly circular in shape. Coyote tracks, on the other hand, are longer than they are broad, making them oval in shape. Additionally, any toenail marks visible in a dog track tend to point outward, away from the center of the track. The toenails in a coyote track tend to point inward.

"The coyote is a fascinating animal. From a biological standpoint, it's hard not to admire them, primarily because they are so adaptable," said Peter Jayne, furbearer and upland game program supervisor with the Wildlife Division of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources in Wye Mills.

But Jayne and other wildlife managers, as well as farmers and hunters, would prefer they did not move into Maryland.

"The reality is, they are coming, and there's nothing we can do to stop them," Jayne said.

The invasion is not a new phenomenon. A number of coyotes have been killed in the state, especially since the late 1980s. Public sightings of coyotes have increased dramatically in the last 10 years.

"There have been a cluster of sightings around Deep Creek Lake," Jayne reported.

"As they travel down through Garrett County they pass Deep Creek Lake. Most are moving south from Pennsylvania, but some are moving north from Virginia -- the Shenandoah and Potomac cluster. They are often dispersed along geographic features such as a ridge or river."

Garrett and Allegany county coyote sightings have greatly increased in the last three years. Leslie Johnston, District Wildlife manager in Garrett County, reports sightings near Swanton, on Wisp Mountain and other areas near Deep Creek Lake, near Finzel, near Friendsville, near Kitzmiller, near Swallow Falls, in the Cove, and in February of 1992 one was spotted on the Winters Farm near downtown Oakland.

Considered one of the biggest threats to livestock, coyotes are not indigenous to the Mid-Atlantic. "They were not here in 1492," Jayne said, "not in the East at all."

Coyotes started moving east at the turn of the century, he said, and their range now includes all of the eastern states and every Canadian province. The coyote is well established in Pennsylvania and, to a lesser extent, parts of Virginia and West Virginia. Nationally, the USDA's Animal Damage Control program killed nearly 96,000 coyotes last year (1991).

"We know wolves and coyotes don't co-exist," Jayne said. "The wolves were here in early colonial times; we assume they kept the coyotes out."

"As the wolves were wiped out, however, that opened the door for coyotes, is our best guess."

Maryland has excellent coyote habitat. Dens, typically used only for pup rearing, are usually located on brush-covered slopes, steep banks, rock ledges or hollow logs.

Opportunistic feeders, coyotes eat almost anything. Studies show that deer, rabbits, small rodents, carrion, insects and plant foods such as berries and fruits are important food items. Jayne stated that a coyote is able to kill an adult deer, and that they "prey on sheep. They definitely take calves, and may hit the calf during birth and damage the cow as well. They will also take goats and hogs. There's no question we'll have losses," he said.

Jayne says that although they do not outwardly promote it, the state has a provision where coyotes may be killed at any time.

Under certain conditions Jayne says, having a coyote in your area might not be a bad thing. He explained that a coyote pack, consisting of male and female, mated for life, and their young for that year, establishes a home range which becomes exclusively theirs, as far as other coyotes are concerned. Rarely will any other coyote venture in.

"If I were a sheep farmer," Jayne said, "and the coyotes which included my farm in their home range were not stock eaters," he might count on them to keep other coyotes from venturing in, one of which might be a sheep eater.

"So, in effect, the best protection you can have is a pair of coyotes that don't bother your stock."

"If you kill one of them, the remaining adult might pair up with a transient adult in the future. The new animal may or may not be a stock eater. If it is, the pups will be, and you'll have your hands full."

There are two major reasons that Jayne is sorry to see coyotes move into the area: the threat to livestock and to the red fox.

"The red fox and coyote don't co-exist, although the grey fox doesn't seem to be bothered by coyotes. The red fox resource will be reduced dramatically to a fraction of what it is today," Jayne said.

"The coyote is stronger, and their niche overlaps," he explained.

"I hate to see the fox go, because it's a real important resource recreationally, with fox hunting. I call it fox chasing--and trapping," he said.

Coyotes are so adaptable that human population has no effect on them. "Coyotes are found in some of Maryland's most populated counties, Harford and Cecil for example," Jayne said. Residents, he added, should not be overly alarmed. "To have one around is no more of a threat--and probably less--to human health than the average neighborhood dog. That's not to say there won't be a problem with garbage cans."

As Predator Problems Intensify, Farmers Strive To Cope

by Bernice Kepple

Farmers are used to facing problems. They are nothing new--bad weather, managing herd health and production, broken machinery, government regulations, the economy, never enough time, never enough money, lots of stress, and bills, bills, bills. They come with the territory, but apparently this territory (the mountain top) also comes complete with another problem--wild animals, predators in increasing numbers and varieties with a large number of people anxious to protect them and further increase their population.

Coyotes, perhaps the latest emigrants to the area, have been spotted by a number of landowners. Some damage has been attributed to them, but officials question whether much of the

"In the East, especially in suburbia, coyotes show a particular fondness for groundhogs and house cats. 'House cats are their one major vice,' said Jayne. 'The typical pattern is that coyotes move in and foxes, groundhogs and house cats disappear. Sometimes they get very bold, coming onto people's porches.'"

According to the Maryland DNR, states that have significant coyote populations manage them either as a game species or as an undesirable animal. Some states conduct control programs in addition to hunting and trapping seasons to reduce livestock depredation. Generally, even year-round control programs by government trappers have failed to completely control this predator.

The Maryland Wildlife Division of the DNR is interested in monitoring the occurrence of coyotes in the state. They ask those in Garrett County who see what they think is a coyote to pass on the date, location and description of the animal to Leslie Johnston at the Mt. Nebo Wildlife Office at 301-334-4255.

"We see very few positive aspects to coyotes moving into Maryland," Jayne said, "but the coyote will move in and prosper and be here a long, long time."

damage is done by coyotes or packs of dogs. Coyotes have been sighted in every corner of the county--singles, pairs and family groups--and they are very prolific in the Canaan Valley of neighboring West Virginia.

Ron Bowers, who resides on Steiding Church Road in the Turkey Neck area, spotted two coyotes, a male and female, this past fall. He found them stalking a newborn calf and was able to chase them away. Bowers says he is sure they were coyotes, as he has hunted out west and knows what they look like. He says his neighbor half a mile away saw one of the coyotes a month later. He also knows of three that were trapped near Bloomington, and has seen them while hunting along the Yough River.

So far, sheep farmers have been the biggest victims of "alleged" coyote attacks. This is mostly conjecture, however, because without eyewitnesses the attacks are usually attributed to dogs.

Wayne Harper, a sheep farmer in Hendricks, West Virginia, knows about coyote kills, he has seen them. "A coyote is a lot bigger than a fox but it can put you in mind of a fox," he says, but added that a coyote is "unmistakable." Harper runs 70 head of ewes producing 120-140 lambs every year. This spring, coyotes came within 150 feet of his house and he lost 20 to 25 head to the predator. He says he lost an additional 20 lambs to a bear. Harper, whose farm is located on Rt. 72 between Parsons and Canaan Valley, shot two coyotes this spring, both reddish brown (dark brown to almost red) and figures his loss at over $1,000, $50 for each lamb.

Jack Teeter, another West Virginia sheep farmer in the Dry Fork Valley toward Harman on the west side of the Allegheny Mountains, also had coyotes come into his yard and they attacked his dog. One was a big male coyote that killed four or five lambs every night before he was able to kill it.

Two years ago, federal trappers set a line and got one coyote that was killing baby lambs and eating them, and in 1990, five coyotes were killed in one day. "They are hard to hunt," he said. "Sometimes they act real dumb, other times they are really smart." He says most of them look like a large gray fox but are darker in color.

Teeter has had his share of problems with other predators, too. "I've had bear problems for 40 years," he said. "I've lost thousands of sheep and some full grown cows to bear. I used to run a couple hundred head. Now I run only a hundred, and I had a notion to go clear out of business." Teeter also saw a lion three times on the mountain and has lost a 300-pound calf to a lion that cut its throat.

Lee Shillingburg, of the White Church area south of Oakland, has lost sheep annually to wild dog packs, but this year he feels the kills are different. All of the animals killed, many of them full grown and two of them full grown rams weighing over 200 pounds, had their throats torn and many had one shoulder eaten including the bone. Some had the whole chest cavity torn open. In one case, DNR personnel confirmed that it was a coyote kill, and when the next morning that kill was found 100 yards away from the area of the kill, they determined it had been carried that far by a

THE EASTERN COYOTE is moving into Western Maryland from points both north and south. The animal weighs between 35 to 40 pounds and ranges in color from light cream to nearly black. Over 35 sightings have been made in Garrett and Allegany counties since 1985. A meeting with representatives of the Department of Natural Resources has been scheduled by Del. George Edwards and Sen. John Hafer this Saturday at 10 a.m. in Grantsville at the Caselman Sportsman's Club on Rt. 40 to give farmers and landowners a chance to report damage from a wide range of wildlife, especially bear and coyotes.

Shillingburg says he has lost 68 head of sheep to violent death in 1992, and 22 head since Labor Day. Adding to the mystery, one of Shillingburg's neighbors reported hearing the cry of a mountain lion in the night, and hunters saw both large and small mountain lion tracks behind White Church during hunting season.

DNR also reports two dead coyotes found in the Cove, most likely poisoned, they say.

Dr. Jim Fearer, state veterinarian who has examined some of the sheep kills, says he doesn't believe the kills were made by bear. "They could have been dogs," he said. "There's no question about that." He said that there were wounds on the neck and front leg or shoulder area of all the kills.

For that reason, he contacted officials of Virginia Coyote Control, where problems have been extensive. He was told that coyotes normally work in pairs, one taking the front legs of the victim and one the throat. They crush the trachea and tear the front shoulder off clean to get at the heart and lungs, then tear open the abdominal cavity.

Bear are causing an increasing amount of "nuisance" damage in this area as their number climbs uncontrolled by any hunting season. Many farmers report "bear swirls" in corn fields or small grain fields. The bear will sit on its hind and pull the corn or grain toward it until it has eaten and damaged an area about 12 feet by 12 feet then move to another area.

One farmer near Swallow Falls, Ross Sines, says he found lots of areas like this in his corn and estimates his corn loss at $500. Sines had one nuisance bear trapped and moved by the DNR but he still sees four or five bear in the area. He says there is a lot of misinformation about bear and even bear meat. "Bear meat is a greasy meat," he says. "It is not something many people will eat."

Sines says Delegate George Edwards told him to send a bill for damages to the state treasurer, he wouldn't be reimbursed but it would be on the record for future reference. Sines told him that would be just another 29¢ down the drain. Sines says the unfair thing is that the state collects revenues for all game hunting seasons, and the farmer must feed the wildlife and take the damages. He says in addition to the bear, he's feeding turkey and deer as well. "I can not afford to feed all this wildlife," he said.

Nevin Sines, also of the Swallow Falls area, feels the problem may be more serious. After losing a calf, Sines said there was no doubt in his mind something large like a bear had killed it. "If a calf has its head and neck area eaten, something's done it, it didn't just get sick and die," he says.

He also had a scare a couple of years ago when his cattle started bawling at two in the morning. Driving to the field in his pickup truck, he saw a bear among the cows and calves in the pickup's lights. The mother cows were trying to protect their calves from the bear and the truck frightened the bear away.

The more common reports have been from damage to hay, more specifically, round bales in the field. John Wright, off Rt. 495, reported that a bear ripped the plastic bags that covered several of his round bales and pulled out the hay. The DNR investigated and found paw marks and hair. ## Students: Consider a Career in Pharmacy

High school and college students who have good communication skills, enjoy dealing with people, and excel in math and the sciences should consider pharmacy as a potentially satisfying career choice. As drug experts, pharmacists help people prevent and care for numerous health problems. Employment opportunities exist in retail pharmacies, in hospitals, and in the pharmaceutical industry. And for decades the demand for pharmacists has been relatively unaffected by fluctuations in our economy.

Pharmacy education generally requires a minimum of five years for a bachelor's degree and six years for a doctor of pharmacy degree.

The Human Impact On Coyotes Has "Invigorated" The Species

Through the centuries, human activities have had a profound impact on many other organisms. Yes, we have endangered various species, but we are also largely responsible for the emergence of what is termed "invigorated species."

According to an article in The Smithsonian by Bill Gilbert, these are creatures whose numbers, reproductive rates and distribution are now doing very well, in many cases seemingly better than they have ever done in the recorded past.

Gilbert's list of animals belonging in this special category includes alligators, badgers, white-tailed deer, house sparrows, gypsy moths, herring gulls, jays, lampreys, opossums, raccoons, starlings, turkeys, woodchucks, red-winged blackbirds and coyotes.

A common characteristic of these and other invigorated species is that they have prospered because people have protected them or increased the resources available to them, or have enriched or enlarged their habitats.

Some of these creatures have been intentionally encouraged because of their rarity, while more often, species have been invigorated quite by accident. When Europeans arrived in North America, for example, many of these creatures were largely confined to beaver meadows and other small glades in the forests that covered much of the Eastern third of the continent. Since then, much of that land has been cleared and opening up millions of acres for whatever reason, and also creating new habitat in which the animals have proliferated.

Among large native mammals, Gilbert says the coyote probably best illustrates what might be called the Pandora's Box Phenomenon. For a century, private citizens and public servants have done their level best to eradicate coyotes in some areas and thin them out generally. Despite and, ironically, because of these efforts, coyotes are now generally thought to be one of the most invigorated species of all.

Coyotes are one of the most primitive of living dogs, absolutely native American animals. One of the main reasons they have become an invigorated species has to do with how and what they eat. They have very broad tastes and ingenious methods of satisfying them. But although they consume a great variety of things, they depend primarily on meat-rodents and rabbits.

In his research, Gilbert found that in the proper season, coyotes were known to harvest apples, peaches, corn, onions, acorns, asparagus and melons. In late summer and fall, during grasshopper season, coyotes consumed a large number of the insects. At all times they ate some beetles, grubs and other invertebrates. Paving about in rocky places and in leaf litter, they regularly took snakes and lizards. He occasionally saw them catch frogs and salamanders around stock tanks, and turtles and amphibians in shallow water.

He notes that they are the most efficient hunters of small mammals, able and inclined to hunt out, dig up, ambush, trail, run down, pounce on and overpower all sorts of rodents and medium-sized animals as well, including weasels, skunks, opossums, otters, bobcats, groundhogs, foxes, domestic cats and small dogs.

In 1915 the federal government appropriated funds so employees of the then Bureau of Biological Survey (the bureaucratic ancestor of the present U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service) could take to the field against coyotes. From that time on, there has been in existence a national vermin-exterminating service. As a conservative estimate, about 20 million coyotes have been "controlled" in this century.

At the same time that coyotes and some of their traditional food sources were being eliminated, through common agricultural and waste disposal practices, new and more varied edibles were being provided for them.

Over the years, some zoologists have come to the conclusion that if for some reason biologists were asked to devise a plan to produce bigger, smarter and more widely distributed coyotes, they no doubt would recommend doing more or less what had been done to control the coyotes.

Coyotes are inclined to get out of areas where they are under heavy pressure from controllers. Some leave temporarily, returning to their home ranges when the pressure has eased up. Others emigrate permanently, seeking better and safer places. For many centuries, coyotes were largely restricted to the regions west of the Mississippi between what is now central Mexico and the southern prairie provinces of Canada. By the early 1900s they had extended their range to Costa Rica in the south, to Alaska and parts of Canada in the north. They continued into Alaska during the 1890s during the Yukon gold rush. As thousands of would-be miners headed north toward the diggings, they were followed by coyotes that scavenged on dead horses, mules and cattle, which were abundant along the hard, cold trails.

The coyote movement toward the Atlantic Coast has happened during the past 80 years. Adapted to the open, brushy Western territories, coyotes previously had little reason to enter heavily forested areas. But as the coyotes began dispersing, many former woodlands in the East had been "prairieified" and suited them just fine. Coyotes invaded those fine new habitats along two broad fronts. Most directly, they advanced from Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas into the Gulf Coast and, in lesser numbers, they invaded regions of the Ohio Valley.

Coyotes reached the Northeast by a much longer, more circuitous route around 1900. Starting in northern Minnesota, they moved into Ontario directly or after first crossing Wisconsin and the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. From Ontario they migrated to New York. After that, some moved on to New England while others went south into Pennsylvania, New Jersey, West Virginia and western Maryland.

Coyotes in the Northeast seem to have become measurably different animals. Zoologists have found that males average between 35 and 40 pounds; occasionally, 55-pound animals are found. Females weigh between 30 and 35 pounds. Western coyotes of both sexes are typically 20 to 30 percent lighter. Also, Eastern coyotes may be a bit darker in color and have somewhat larger skulls. When they first began to appear in appreciable numbers, it was suggested that these Eastern animals were crosses between true coyotes and domestic dogs. At the time, that theory seemed to make sense. During the past 15 years, however, zoologists have become convinced that the prevalence of these so-called coydogs was greatly exaggerated.

As to why these animals are different from Western coyotes, the presently accepted explanation is that they have a significant infusion of wolf genes. The thinking is that the first few coyotes moving eastward from Minnesota above Lake Superior and across Wisconsin met the last few wolves remaining in northern Michigan and southern Ontario. The animals have the same sexual cycles, and since potential partners of their own species were scarce, they put aside their traditional differences, mated and raised pups. The descendants of these pups continued the eastward migration. This theory is supported by physical evidence having to do with body size and skeletal characteristics.

The coyote, either a subspecies of the Western coyote or one that has hybridized with wolves, has established itself as the dominant predator in the East.

USDA Agency Helps Solve Problems Between Humans And Wildlife

There is a wildlife agency within the U.S. Department of Agriculture that provides help with everything from bats in the belfry to bears in the backyard.

"When wild animals cause damage to property, threaten public health and safety, feed on valuable crops, kill livestock and pets, or harm endangered species, we're here to provide safe and responsible assistance," said Bobby Acord, deputy administrator for animal damage control in USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service.

ADC has offices in most states throughout the country, Acord said. These offices are staffed by professional wildlife biologists who are trained in handling a variety of situations.

Following is a review of recent ADC activities:

--Red Wolf Recovery: In October, ADC helped trap a pair of endangered red wolves that were suspected of killing livestock in Tennessee. The wolves were fitted with radio collars and released in a new location.

--Roaming Coyotes: This summer, residents in a New Mexico neighborhood became alarmed after coyotes killed a pet dog and wandered into several backyards. An ADC wildlife biologist evaluated the situation and suggested the county cut the vegetation around the neighborhood. ADC recommendations were followed, and the coyotes have stayed away from the neighborhood.

--Wildlife Hotline: For the past year, a toll-free hotline has assisted more than 1,000 Maryland residents with wildlife-related problems. The service, established in cooperation with the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, receives calls about nearly every animal-related problem imaginable. About 40 percent of the calls involved health and safety problems caused by wildlife. The number is 1-800-442-0708.

--Too Many Geese: The population of nonmigratory Canada geese in several Eastern states has reached an all-time high. ADC regularly receives requests to relocate geese from golf courses, business parks, sewage treatment plants, airports and residential areas. In the past few months alone, ADC relocated 500 geese in Virginia and 400 geese in Alabama.

--Fish-Eating Birds: In August, an ADC specialist in Williamson County, Texas, received a request for assistance from a manager of a catfish farm reporting a loss of 125,000 fish to cormorants. ADC recommended the use of propane exploders and other frightening devices that were successful in keeping the predatory birds at bay.

--A Taste For Poultry: In September, ADC specialists in Benton County, Oregon, trapped and relocated a great horned owl that had killed 33 exotic chickens. The chickens were valued at more than $5,000. The owl was released near the Cascade Mountain range, more than 200 miles away from the farm.

--Grizzly Guard Dogs: This summer, ADC provided a sheep rancher in Montana's Absaroka Wilderness area with two Akbash guarding dogs. The dogs were used to protect a flock of sheep in an area inhabited by black and grizzly bears and coyotes. The herder and the owner of the sheep observed encounters between the dogs and predators during the seven-week season and were impressed with the demonstration. The rancher plans to use the guarding dogs again next summer.

For more information on the ADC program or for the nearest ADC office, those interested may call the ADC operational support staff at (301) 436-8281.

Predator Problems

Hill near Kitzmiller, reports that bear tore the outside layers from several round bales of hay and scattered it as though playing with it. Some say there may be mice and insects in the bales that attract the bear.

Roland Murphy, of Dry Run Road off Rt. 495, says he has suffered thousands of dollars in corn damage by bears. He's seen three bears together in his corn two different times that left "bear swirls" the size of his house.

Mike Steyer sighted a sow and three cubs this summer on his farm close to Rt. 560. One also ran across some plowed ground on his farm this spring after he installed a new electric fence. He thinks the bear got into the fence. So far, he hasn't seen any damage from the bear yet.

These losses may seem minor to non-farmers, but predators can cause financial difficulties to farmers and landowners. According to Garrett County Extension Agent Jim Simms, the value of a 1,200-pound round bale is approximately $55, depending on the type of hay that was baled. A bagged silage bale (by the way, if the bag is torn, the silage will spoil) would have the same value plus another $7 (approximately) for the bag. A newborn calf, whether beef or dairy would be valued in excess of $100, and the value of a lamb is at least $50 plus the cost of feed for the ewe during gestation.

The DNR encourages anyone to report sightings, as all animal sightings are used by the DNR to compile statistics so they may adjust some of their management plans. They are most interested in reported sightings of family groups of all the animals mentioned, as that shows increase in population. To report sightings or damage from any of the animals mentioned, including deer and beaver, call the Mt. Nebo Wildlife Office at 301-334-4255, and Leslie Johnston, District Wildlife manager will take the necessary action.

Delegate Edwards does advise farmers or landowners with damages to file a report with the State Treasurer's Office. The landowner won't be reimbursed, but the destruction caused by these animals will be on record.

Delegate Edwards and Senator John Hafer have scheduled a meeting this Saturday at 10 a.m. with members of the state Department of Natural Resources to hear complaints from local farmers and landowners who have suffered damage. The meeting will take place in Grantsville at the Casselman Valley Sportsmen's Club on Rt. 40.

Questions On Poultry Manure?

During the last couple of weeks I have had several inquiries about using poultry manure for animal feed and fertilizer. I know of some beef producers in the area that are successfully feeding the manure. The manure can be a good source of urea nitrogen (protein) and major minerals such as calcium and phosphorus. In my opinion, the poultry litter is better adapted to a beef feeding program than to a dairy feeding program. The main reason being is the potential of a great variation in the nutrient content of the litter. Consistent level of milk production requires an equally consistent nutrient content in the feedstuffs. I am not saying it could not be fed effectively, but the chances of major milk production fluctuation are increased, particularly in high producing dairy cattle. The nutrient fluctuation is not that critical in beef production.

Poultry manure is a very good source of fertilizer, particularly nitrogen and phosphorus. During the last five years the University of Maryland has analyzed several hundred poultry manure samples from broiler houses to come up with an average volume and value as follows: 57.57 lb/t nitrogen, 14.65 lb/t NH<sub>4</sub>, 63.45 lb/t P<sub>2</sub>O<sub>5</sub>, 40.96 lb/t K<sub>2</sub>O, 30.92 lb/t Ca, 13.33 lb/t Mg. Keep in mind that not all the nitrogen is available to plants. The average value for the poultry manure was $27.66 per ton. My advice would be to have a nutrient analysis on the manure before purchasing.

Beef Producers-Check Your Forage

This year we are seeing a lot of variation in the nutrient values of forages, particularly corn silage that did not go to maturity. In many instances, the early frost stopped corn from maturing, reducing the levels of protein and energy. I have seen wide variations in TDN of corn silage. Feeding corn silage that had a reduction of 10 percent from normal TDN to steers or replacement heifers would result in an average daily gains about five percent lower than normal. This would be a loss of about 20 pounds per animal. The loss from one animal would more than pay for a forage analysis.

Farm Bureau Delegates Urge Pro-Growth Economic Policies

Delegates to the American Farm Bureau Federation's 74th annual meeting today approved policies calling for growth-oriented economic measures that reject tax increases, protection for private property rights in the enforcement of environmental laws, and the adoption of the North American Free Trade Agreement, with "transitional safeguards" for sensitive agricultural commodities.

Asserting that the nation's economy is their overriding concern, the farm and ranch delegates approved recommendations to be sent to President Clinton next week. The Farm Bureau proposals include the following items: reinstatement of capital gains treatment and the investment tax credit, which Clinton has called for; a line-item veto for the president; and a constitutional amendment requiring a balanced federal budget.

The package addressed estate tax issues, calling for eventual repeal of the federal estate tax, with an interim increase in the exemption of $1 million from the present $600,000. Delegates opposed taxing capital gains at death. They also called for indexing of capital gains to negate inflation's impact.

AFBF President Dean Kleckner said, in a post-convention news conference, "With a new administration and a Congress that is one-quarter new, we have the opportunity to present our ideas" on economic policy. Kleckner also stressed the delegates' sense that they are facing "regulatory overkill." President Clinton, he said, "must address the issue of over-regulation. If not, his plan for a growing economy will fall in shambles."

In several policy statements, the delegates expressed their concern that private property rights are under assault from environmental laws and regulations. They said the rewrite of the Clean Water Act should rely on voluntary actions by farmers, with incentives from state and federal programs, to remedy problems with non-point source pollution (agricultural runoff). Delegates supported pollution permit trading in the reauthorized Clean Water Act.

They said farmers should be compensated for restrictions resulting from Endangered Species Act measures that put the burden of protecting plants and animals on landowners.

Turning to international trade, the delegates endorsed NAFTA as signed by President Bush. They said the implementing legislation that Congress will begin writing soon should include temporary safeguards for commodities that will be hurt by imports from Mexico. Kleckner said the delegates expressed "overwhelming" support for NAFTA and "strong" support for the ongoing world trade negotiations. In new policy, the delegates called for the filing of a Section 301 trade complaint against Japan for its rice import ban if the trade talks falter.

Delegates also called for the elimination of federal agricultural disaster programs in favor of federal or private crop insurance programs. They said crop disaster programs and crop insurance should be combined into a single program and designed to encourage widespread participation.

In other actions, the delegates voted to:

- * Oppose additional delays in revisions to the wetlands manual and support the exemption of prior-converted cropland and any land that has been cropped from wetlands provisions of the Clean Water Act.

- * Oppose the imposition of new gas or carbon taxes or the use of gas tax revenues for other programs.

- * Support efforts to improve the present health care system based on minimal government intervention, tort reform dealing with medical malpractice lawsuits and pursuit of innovations in medical care, such as individual medical savings accounts.

- * Support strong intellectual property provisions under the Plant Variety

Protection Act allowing farm producers to retain seed for their own personal use.

Wool, Mohair Filing Procedure Announced By ASCS

ASCS official Michael R. Kozier reminds wool and mohair producers to submit their 1992 sales receipts by January 31, 1993.

Although producers have until March 1, 1993, to file 1992 sales documents and qualify for a 1992 price support payment, ASCS encourages all producers to submit their sales documents to the county office by the end of January so that sales receipts can be included in determining the national average market price.

Kozier says producers who file after March 1, 1993, will be ineligible for price support payments.

He says wool and mohair producers are subject to payment limitation and payment eligibility provisions, and must certify that they are in compliance with highly erodible land and wetland conservation provisions. For additional information, those interested may contact the Garrett County ASCS Office.

Several Obstacles Stand In Way Of GATT Progress

While the Uruguay Round of GATT negotiations appeared to move closer to a conclusion last month, many obstacles remain in farm issues—particularly market access—and other sectors. Consequently, the chances of an agreement being completed before the Bush administration leaves office January 20 or before "fast-track" negotiating authority ends look increasingly slim.

A major breakthrough in the talks came in late November when the United States and EC reached an agreement over the EC's oilseed subsidies. Negotiators in Geneva continued to make progress until the holiday recess but the talks have been at a virtual standstill since then, although bilateral meetings between various delegations have continued.

In the farm talks, agreements have been reached in the areas of export subsidies, calling for export subsidy volumes to be cut by 21 percent over six years, and internal supports. Under the agreement, neither the United States nor the EC will have to reduce domestic farm supports, because

Anderson Doesn't Know Jack About Greens

Journalism is not necessarily a factual enterprise. Just ask muckraking columnist Jack Anderson.

In his January 14 column Anderson joined the environmentalist fray on the side of the Greens, aiming his poison pen against supporters of our "wise use" of the environment. Wise users realize that, like it or not, man has achieved the title of steward of the Earth. We believe man should respect this honor and use it ethically and productively. Anderson labels us "extremist" and "radical fringe."

"Wise use" means using scientific resource management to enhance the quality of all life by our "sustainable use" of renewable resources for generations to come. That's everything from wildlife management which combats animal overpopulation and disease; to fighting forest fires; to conservation-minded and ecologically sound mining, logging, ranching, and a myriad of other uses that benefit humans. Most of America wouldn't think that's extremist or radical at all.

What is radical, but not mentioned by Anderson, is the attitude of the Greens. They generally agree with Friends of the Earth: "The only good technology is no technology." In other words, don't take advantage of human ingenuity to improve things for the earth, plants, animals, and humans. Just let everything degenerate.

Not to mention the profit motive, a uniquely human characteristic that's paid for more useful research and conservation than most folks could imagine. Listen to Judi Bari of the eco-terrorist group Earth First! — "I think if we don't overthrow capitalism, we don't have a chance of saving the world ecologically." Or renowned Green and frequent third-party presidential candidate Barry Commoner, who has charged, "Capitalism is the Earth's number one enemy."

Putting these extremists in control would put Jack Anderson and his profession out of business. You can't print a newspaper when all the forests are off limits to logging or the overthrow of capitalism dries up your ad money.

Anderson swallowed whole various Green tall tales about being targets of our "violence." Mostly trumped-up charges saddle us with brutal acts that include arson and shootings. In a recent 60 Minutes program a woman paraded her cuts and bruises before the camera and claimed to have been assaulted by angry out-of-work low-lives on account of her environmental activism. Turns out she had just come from the wrong end of a barnroom brawl!

For the record, we do not use such tactics and we publicly condemn anyone who does.

It is the Greens who have been responsible for the majority of the violence, but Anderson makes no mention of them. Earth First! tree-splitters have seriously hurt lumber workers and vandalized their equipment. Arsonists firebombed the California Cattleman's Association. Greenpeace activist Graham Hood was arrested for firing on a hunter from a forest ranger's tower. Four Earth First! leaders were convicted of conspiracy to sabotage a nuclear power plant in Arizona.

Is there a call for a moratorium on violence by the Green leadership? Hardly. Former Senator Gaylord Nelson, the originator of Earth Day, said that Earth First! makes "a significant contribution to the educational process." David Brower, of Earth Island Institute and a former lobbyist for the Sierra Club says, "They're not terrorists. The real terrorists are the polluters, the despoilers."

People on our side generally believe in God, so Anderson quotes former Interior Secretary Stuart Udall, "Their use of religion to further their cause is absurd and dangerous."

But no hue and cry arose from last year when the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service sponsored "spiritual values workshops." Among these taxpayer-supported gems were "Toward a Buddhist Environmental Ethic," "The Perceptual Implications of Gaia," and "Sacred Land, Sacred Sex: Rapture of the Deep Concerning Deep Ecology and Celebration of Life" (Gaia, by the way, is an "Earth Goddess.")

This sounds like religious propaganda to me, and it's a violation of the First Amendment for our government to be promoting it. Why isn't Jack Anderson complaining?

For the last year or so Greens have been running a slick media campaign against wise use. Journalists who want to save the environment, while not leaving the comfort of their offices, have taken the Green gossip as fact, failing to investigate both sides of the story. Anderson has long been criticized for this shoddy style of writing. It may be one reason for his placement in the Washington Post's comic section rather than the editorial page. Nonetheless, his column is read and the lies are spread.

Help me set the record straight. Write Jack Anderson at 1531 P Street, N.W., Washington, DC 20036. Then write his United Features Syndicate at 200 Park Avenue, New York, NY 10166. If your local paper carries Jack Anderson's column, write or call it too.

Let them know that the vast majority of normal Americans support the wise, sustainable use of our great land's renewable resources. That we abhor violence under any guise and call on the Greens to say the same. If you have been personally affected by environmentalist government restrictions or Green meddling, be sure to say so.

And, if you can afford the postage, please send me a copy of your letter. Write to Putting People First, Suite 310-A, 4401 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., Washington, DC 20008.

both have reduced aggregate farm supports since the 1986-88 base period, according to Paul Drazek, American Farm Bureau Federation trade specialist.

But some Europeans, especially the French, remain adamantly opposed to any concessions in the EC's agricultural policies. Some U.S. officials believe that opposition could intensify in March after the French elections. And major sticking points remain in areas critical to U.S. farmers and ranchers—market access and the tariffication of existing trade barriers (the

Farm Focus

AG Trade Helps U.S. Economy

Farmers help the United States economy by creating a large, favorable trade balance of U.S. agricultural exports over agricultural imports.

The United States is the world's largest exporter of agricultural products ($40.2 billion worth annually).

The United States is overwhelmingly an industrial nation, only 2 percent of population works on farms. But U.S. farmers are so productive that agriculture still accounts for more than 15 percent of all U.S. exports. The production from one out of every 2.5 acres of cropland harvested is exported.

The great productivity of U.S. farms allows us to use all of the farm products we can inside the United States, and still be able to sell 69 percent of our wheat, 41 percent of our corn, 59 percent of our soybean products and more than 80 percent of our cotton to earn income in foreign countries.

U.S. farm productivity helps the nation hold strong market shares in the worldwide market for farm products. The U.S. shares of important crop markets are on the order of 37 percent of world wheat exports, 86 percent of world soybean exports and 21 percent of world rice exports.

Looking at it another way, U.S. farmers have developed their exports to a point where 25 percent of the income they generate to keep their operations going comes from foreign consumers instead of U.S. consumers. The huge export industry that U.S. farm productivity is able to keep supplied employs more than a million people in the United States. Each dollar's worth of U.S. farm commodities exported generates about $1.59 in additional economic activity in finance, transportation, warehousing, and farm supply manufacturing, distribution and sales.

Percentage of Farm Products Sold Overseas

Graphic provided by Deere & Company

transforming of import barriers into equivalent duties, and a reduction of those amounts). Although meetings on this issue also have been ongoing in Geneva, there have been no breakthroughs.

Another snag could come in the non-agricultural areas of the negotiations that remain unresolved. For years, agriculture has been the main stumbling block to an agreement. Now that some significant progress has been made in agriculture, it remains to be seen just how contentious the other issues are.

The next formal meeting scheduled is a January 15 session of the GATT Trade Negotiations Committee in Geneva. That leaves little time for meaningful progress before the Clinton administration takes office, or before March 2—the last date that an agreement can be submitted to Congress under the current fast-track authority.

It is widely expected that Clinton will seek a renewal of fast-track authority, but that process, coupled with the transition of the new administration, could mean further delays in the road to an agreement.

Prices Decline In Maryland; Delaware

The Index of Prices received by Maryland and Delaware farmers was down six points to 123 in December, 1992. Crop prices generally rose and livestock prices generally declined when compared to November, 1992. Most crop prices and some livestock prices were below December 1991.

Forest Board Seeks Applicants For Annual Camp

The Garrett County Forest Conservancy District Board, in cooperation with the Maryland Department of Natural Resources - Forest Service, is now accepting applications from area high school students for the 1993 Maryland Forestry/Conservation Week. The deadline for submitting these applications is April 15, 1993.

The week is designed to acquaint college-bound high school students with careers in forestry and natural resources management. Staff personnel will include professional foresters from the Maryland DNR - Forest Service and private industry natural resource professionals, in a variety of disciplines, supplement the program. The week-long program consists of a series of lectures and field trips to give students a first-hand knowledge of natural resource careers.

The Maryland Association of Forest Conservancy District Boards sponsor the program. Student selection, fees, and transportation are coordinated by the local county forestry board. There is no cost to students attending.

The 1993 program will be held at Camp Hickory Environmental Education Center near Accident, July 25-31.

FIRST FEDERAL ASSISTS CRIPPLED CHILDREN - First Federal Savings Bank of Western Maryland recently completed a mailing of over 14,000 pieces for the Allegheny County League for Crippled Children. Every January the bank helps the League with its fund-raising campaign. Staff at First Federal handles the folding, stuffing, and stamping of the fund-raiser letter. Preparing the mailing in the above photo (left to right) are Amy Snyder, Jennifer Golden, Loulae Smyth, Ellen Stevenson, director of the League for Crippled Children, and Connie Baseler.

The Garrett County Crime Solvers organization is currently seeking information on a breaking and entering incident that occurred on Oct. 30, 1992.

Unknown persons apparently broke into a residence located just south of Grants-ville along Rt. 495 and removed a Smith & Wesson 22 calibre revolver, a Panasonic VHS camcorder, a portable cellular phone, a gold pocket watch, and approximately $1,000 in cash. The total loss was $2,592. Any person with information about this or any other unsolved crime is urged to contact Crime Solvers at 334-1975. Callers do not have to give their names nor appear in court. Rewards up to $1,000 are available to persons who provide tips that lead to arrests.

Farm Bureau Delegates Urge Pro-Growth Economic Policies

Delegates to the American Farm Bureau Federation's 74th annual meeting today approved a resolution calling for growth-oriented economic measures that most tax increases protect private property rights in the enforcement of environmental laws, and the adoption of the North American Free Trade Agreement with "transitional safeguards" for sensitive agricultural commodities.

Asserting that the nation's economy is their overriding concern, the farm and ranch delegates approved recommendations to be sent to President Clinton next week. The Farm Bureau proposals include the following items: reinstatement of capital gains treatment and the investment tax credit, which Clinton has called for a nine-item veto for the president, and a constitutional amendment requiring a balanced federal budget.

The package addressed estate tax issues, calling for eventual repeal of the federal estate tax, with an interim increase in the exemption of $1 million from the present $600,000. Delegates opposed taxing capital gains at death. They also called for indexing of capital gains to negate inflation's impact.

AFBF President Doan Kleckner said, in a post-convention news conference, "With new administration and a Congress that is one quarter new, we have the opportunity to present our ideas on economic policy. Kleckner also stressed the delegates' sense that they are facing "regulatory overkill." President Clinton, he said, "must address the issues of over-regulation. If not, his plan for a growing economy will fall in shambles."

Delegates also called for the elimination of federal agricultural disaster programs in favor of federal or private crop insurance programs. They said crop insurance should be combined into a single program and designed to encourage widespread participation.

In other actions, the delegates voted to "oppose additional delays in revisions to the wetlands exemption of prior vested cropland and any land that has been cropped from wetlands provisions of the Clean Water Act."

"Oppose the imposition of new gas or carbon taxes or the use of gas tax revenues for other programs," Support efforts to improve the present health care system based on minimal government intervention, tort reform dealing with medical malpractice lawsuits and pursuit of innovations in medical care, such as individual medical savings accounts.

Support strong intellectual property provisions under the Plant Variety

Protection Act allowing farm producers to retain use for their own personal use.

Wool, Mohair Filing Procedure Announced By ASCS

ASCS Official Michael R. Koziar reminds wool and mohair producers to submit their 1992 sales receipts by January 31, 1993. Although producers have until March 1, 1993, to file 1992 sales documents and qualify for a 1992 price support payment, ASCS encourages all producers to submit their sales documents to the county office by the end of January so that sales receipts can be included in determining the national average market price.

Koziar says producers who file after March 1, 1993, will be ineligible for price support payments. He says wool and mohair producers are subject to payment limitation and payment eligibility provisions, and must certify that they are in compliance with highly erodible land and wetland conservation provisions. For additional information, those interested may contact the Garrett County ASCS Office.

Several Obstacles Stand In Way Of GATT Progress

While the Uruguay Round of GATT negotiations appeared to momentum for conclusion last month, many obstacles remain in farm issues—particularly market access and other sectors. Consequently, the chances of an agreement being completed before the Bush administration leaves office January 20 or before "fast-track" negotiating authority ends look increasingly slim.

A major breakthrough in the talks came in late November when the United States and EC reached an agreement over the EC's olive subsidies. Negotiations in Geneva continued to make progress until the holiday season but the talks have been at a virtual standstill since then, although bilateral meetings between various delegations have continued.

In the farm talks, agreements have been reached in the areas of export subsidies, calling for export subsidy volumes to be cut by 21 percent over six years, and internal supports. Under the agreement, neither the United States nor the EC will have to reduce domestic farm supports, because

Chairman,

Anderson Doesn't Know Jack About Greens

Journalism is not necessarily a factual enterprise. Just ask muckraking columnist Jack Anderson. In his January 14 column Anderson joined the environmentalist fray on the side of the Greens, aiming his poison pen against supporters of our "wasteful" environment. Was he right? Like it or not, man has achieved the title of steward of the Earth. We believe man should respect this honor and use it ethically and productively. Anderson labels us "extremist" and "radical fringe."

What is radical, but not mentioned by Anderson, is the attitude of the Greens. They generally agree with Friends of the Earth. "The only good technology is no technology." In other words, don't take advantage of human ingenuity to improve things for the earth, plants, animals, and humans. Just let everything degenerate.

Not to mention the price motive, a uniquely human characteristic that's paid for more useful research and conservation that most folks could imagine. Listen to Judi Hart of the eco-terrorist group Earth First! "I think if we don't overthrow capitalism, we don't have a chance of saving the world ecologically." Or renowned Green and frequent third party presidential candidate Barry Commoner, who has charged, "Capitalism is the Earth's number one enemy."

Putting these extremists in control would put Jack Anderson and his profession out of business. You can't print a newspaper when all the forests are off limits to logging or the overthrow of capitalism dries up your ad money.

Anderson swallowed whole various Green tall tales about being targets of our "violence." Mostly trumped-up charges suffice us with brutal acts that include arson and shootings. In a recent 60 Minutes program a woman paraded her cuts and bruises before the camera and claimed to have been assaulted by angry out-of-work low-lives on account of her environmental activism. Turns out she had just come from the wrong end of a barroom brawl.

For the record we do not use such tactics and we publicly condemn anyone who does. It is the Greens who have been responsible for the majority of the violence, but Anderson makes no mention of them. Earth First! tree-spirers have seriously hurt lumber workers and vandalized their equipment. Arsonists firebombed the California Cattleman's Association. Greenpeace's Graham Lloyd was arrested for firing on a hunter from a forest ranger's tower. Four Earth First! leaders were convicted of conspiracy to sabotage a nuclear power plant in Arizona.

Let's face it: a moratorium on violence by the Green leadership. Hardly. Former Senator Gaylord Nelson, the originator of Earth Day, said that Earth First! makes "a significant contribution to the educational process." David Brower of Earth Island Institute and a former lobbyist for the Sierra Club says, "They're not terrorists. The real terrorists are the polluters, the despoilers."

People on our side generally believe in God, so Anderson quotes former Interior Secretary Stewart Udall, "That use of religion to further their cause is absurd and dangerous." But no huff and cry arose from last year when the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service sponsored "spiritual values workshops." Among these taxpayer-supported games were "To ward a Buddhist Environmental Ethic," "The Perceptual Implications of Gaia," and "Sacred Land, Sacred Sex: Rapture of the Deep Concerning Deep Ecology and Celebration of Life (Gaia, by the way, is an Earth Goddess)." This sounds like religious propaganda to me, and it's a violation of the First Amendment for our government to be promoting it. Why isn't Jack Anderson complaining?

For the last year or so Greens have been running a slick media campaign against wise use. Journalists who want to save the environment, while not leaving the comfort of their offices, have taken the Green gossip as fact, failing to investigate both sides of the story. Anderson has long been criticized for this shady style of writing. It may be one reason for his placement in the Washington Post's comic section rather than the editorial page. Nonetheless, his column is read and the low spread.

Help me set the record straight. Write Jack Anderson at 1531 P Street, N.W., Washington, DC 20036. Then write his United Features Syndicate at 200 Park Avenue, New York, NY 10166. If your local paper carries Jack Anderson's column, write or call it too.

Let them know that the vast majority of normal Americans support the wise, sustainable use of our great land's non-renewable resources. That we abhor violence under any guise and call on the Greens to say the same. If you have been personally affected by environmentalist government restrictions or Green meddling, be sure to say so.

And, if you can afford the postage, please send me a copy of your letter. Write to Putting People First, Suite 310-A, 4101 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., Washington, DC 20008.

Farm Focus

AG Trade Helps U.S. Economy

Farmers help the United States economy by creating a large, favorable trade balance of U.S. agricultural exports, some agricultural imports. The United States is the world's largest exporter of agricultural products, $40 billion worth annually.

The United States is overwhelmingly an industrial nation, only 2 percent of population works on farms. But U.S. farmers are so productive that agriculture still accounts for more than 15 percent of all U.S. exports. The production from one out of every 2.5 acres of cropland has vested its export.

The great productivity of U.S. farms allows us to use only 16 percent of our land to produce 69 percent of our food. 41 percent of our corn, 39 percent of our soybeans, more than 90 percent of our wheat and 90 percent of our cotton are exported.

The U.S. export market accounts for 21 percent of world's total production. Looking at it another way, farmers have developed a market for a portion of transforming of import barriers into equivalent duties, and a reduction of those amounts. Although meetings on this issue also have been ongoing in Geneva, there have been no breakthroughs.

Another snag could come in the non-agricultural areas of the negotiations that remain unresolved. For years, agriculture has been the main stumbling block to an agreement. Now that some significant progress has been made in agriculture, it remains to be seen just how contentious the other issues are.

The next formal meeting scheduled is a January 15 session of the GATT Trade Negotiations Committee in Geneva. That leaves little time for meaningful progress before the Clinton administration takes office, or before March.

It is the Greens who have been responsible for the majority of the violence, but Anderson makes no mention of them. Earth First! tree-spirers have seriously hurt lumber workers and vandalized their equipment. Arsonists firebombed the California Cattleman's Association. ## Forest Board Seeks Applicants For Annual Camp

The Garrett County Forest Conservancy District Board, in cooperation with the Maryland Department of Natural Resources Forest Service, is now accepting applications from area high school students for the 1993 Maryland Forestry Conservation Week. The deadline for submitting these applications is April 15, 1993.

The week is designed to acquaint college-bound high school students with careers in forestry and natural resources management. Staff personnel will include professional foresters from the Maryland DNR Forest Service and private industry. Natural resource professionals, in a variety of disciplines, supplement the program. The week-long program consists of a series of lectures and field trips to give students a first-hand knowledge of natural resource careers.

The Maryland Association of Forest Conservancy Districts sponsors the program. Student selection, fees, and transportation are coordinated by the local county forestry board. There is no cost to students attending.

The 1993 program will be held at Camp Hickory Environmental Education Center near Accident, July 25-31.

Farm Bureau Delegates Urge Pro-Growth Economic Policies

Delegates to the American Farm Bureau Federation's 74th annual meeting today approved policies calling for growth-oriented economic measures, protection for private property rights in the enforcement of environmental laws, and the adoption of the North American Free Trade Agreement, with "transitional safeguards" for sensitive agricultural commodities.

Asserting that the nation's economy is their overriding concern, the farm and ranch delegates approved recommendations to be sent to President Clinton next week. The Farm Bureau proposals include the following items: reinstatement of capital gains treatment and the investment tax credit, which Clinton has called for; a line-item veto for the president; and a constitutional amendment requiring a balanced federal budget.

The package addressed estate tax issues, calling for eventual repeal of the federal estate tax, with an interim increase in the exemption of $1 million from the present $600,000. Delegates opposed taxing capital gains at death. They also called for indexing of capital gains to negate inflation's impact.

AFBF President Dean Kleckner said, in a post-convention news conference, "With a new administration and a Congress that is one-quarter new, we have the opportunity to present our ideas" on economic policy. Kleckner also stressed the delegates' sense that they are facing "regulatory overkill." President Clinton, he said, "must address the issue of over-regulation. If not, his plan for a growing economy will fall in shambles."

In several policy statements, the delegates expressed their concern that private property rights are under assault from environmental laws and regulations. They said the rewrite of the Clean Water Act should rely on voluntary actions by farmers, with incentives from state and federal programs, to remedy problems with non-point source pollution (agricultural runoff). Delegates supported pollution permit trading in the reauthorized Clean Water Act.

They said farmers should be compensated for restrictions resulting from Endangered Species Act measures that put the burden of protecting plants and animals on landowners.

Turning to international trade, the delegates endorsed NAFTA as signed by President Bush. They said the implementing legislation that Congress will begin writing soon should include temporary safeguards for commodities that will be hurt by imports from Mexico. Kleckner said the delegates expressed "overwhelming" support for NAFTA and "strong" support for the ongoing world trade negotiations. In new policy, the delegates called for the filing of a Section 301 trade complaint against Japan for its rice import ban if the trade talks falter.

Delegates also called for the elimination of federal agricultural disaster programs in favor of federal or private crop insurance programs. They said crop disaster programs and crop insurance should be combined into a single program and designed to encourage widespread participation.

In other actions, the delegates voted to:

- Oppose additional delays in revisions to the wetlands manual and support the exemption of prior-converted cropland and any land that has been cropped from wetlands provisions of the Clean Water Act.

- Oppose the imposition of new gas or carbon taxes or the use of gas tax revenues for other programs.

- Support efforts to improve the present health care system based on minimal government intervention, tort reform dealing with medical malpractice lawsuits and pursuit of innovations in medical care, such as individual medical savings accounts.

- Support strong intellectual property provisions under the Plant Variety

Protection Act allowing farm producers to retain seed for their own personal use.

Wool, Mohair Filing Procedure Announced By ASCS

ASCS official Michael R. Koziar reminds wool and mohair producers to submit their 1992 sales receipts by January 31, 1993.

Although producers have until March 1, 1993, to file 1992 sales documents and qualify for a 1992 price support payment, ASCS encourages all producers to submit their sales documents to the county office by the end of January so that sales receipts can be included in determining the national average market price.

Koziar says producers who file after March 1, 1993, will be ineligible for price support payments.

He says wool and mohair producers are subject to payment limitation and payment eligibility provisions, and must certify that they are in compliance with highly erodible land and wetland conservation provisions. For additional information, those interested may contact the Garrett County ASCS Office.

Several Obstacles Stand In Way Of GATT Progress

While the Uruguay Round of GATT negotiations appeared to move closer to a conclusion last month, many obstacles remain in farm issues—particularly market access—and other sectors. Consequently, the chances of an agreement being completed before the Bush administration leaves office January 20 or before "fast-track" negotiating authority ends look increasingly slim.

A major breakthrough in the talks came in late November when the United States and EC reached an agreement over the EC's oilseed subsidies. Negotiators in Geneva continued to make progress until the holiday recess but the talks have been at a virtual standstill since then, although bilateral meetings between various delegations have continued.

In the farm talks, agreements have been reached in the areas of export subsidies, calling for export subsidy volumes to be cut by 21 percent over six years, and internal supports. Under the agreement, neither the United States nor the EC will have to reduce domestic farm supports, because

Anderson Doesn't Know Jack About Greens

Journalism is not necessarily a factual enterprise. Just ask muckraking columnist Jack Anderson.

In his January 14 column Anderson joined the environmentalist fray on the side of the Greens, aiming his poison pen against supporters of our "wise use" of the environment. Wise users realize that, like it or not, man has achieved the title of steward of the Earth. We believe man should respect this honor and use it ethically and productively. Anderson labels us "extremist" and "radical fringe."

"Wise use" means using scientific resource management to enhance the quality of all life by our "sustainable use" of renewable resources for generations to come. That's everything from wildlife management which combats animal overpopulation and disease; to fighting forest fires; to conservation-minded and ecologically sound mining, logging, ranching, and a myriad of other uses that benefit humans. Most of America wouldn't think that's extremist or radical at all.

What is radical, but not mentioned by Anderson, is the attitude of the Greens. They generally agree with Friends of the Earth: "The only good technology is no technology." In other words, don't take advantage of human ingenuity to improve things for the earth, plants, animals, and humans. Just let everything degenerate.

Not to mention the profit motive, a uniquely human characteristic that's paid for more useful research and conservation than most folks could imagine. Listen to Judi Bari of the eco-terrorist group Earth First! -- "I think if we don't overthrow capitalism, we don't have a chance of saving the world ecologically." Or renowned Green and frequent third-party presidential candidate Barry Commoner, who has charged, "Capitalism is the Earth's number one enemy."

Putting these extremists in control would put Jack Anderson and his profession out of business. You can't print a newspaper when all the forests are off limits to logging or the overthrow of capitalism dries up your ad money.

Anderson swallowed whole various Green tall tales about being targets of our "violence." Mostly trumped-up charges saddle us with brutal acts that include arson and shootings. In a recent 60 Minutes program a woman paraded her cuts and bruises before the camera and claimed to have been assaulted by angry out-of-work low-lives on account of her environmental activism. Turns out she had just come from the wing end of a barroom brawl!

For the record, we do not use such tactics and we publicly condemn anyone who does.

It is the Greens who have been responsible for the majority of the violence, but Anderson makes no mention of them. Earth First! tree-splitters have seriously hurt lumber workers and vandalized their equipment. Arsonists firebombed the California Cattlemen's Association Greenpeace activist Graham Ilood was arrested for firing on a hunter from a forest ranger's tower. Four Earth First! leaders were convicted of conspiracy to sabotage a nuclear power plant in Arizona.

Is there a call for a moratorium on violence by the Green leadership? Hardly. Former Senator Gaylord Nelson, the originator of Earth Day, said that Earth First! makes "a significant contribution to the educational process." David Brower, of Earth Island Institute and a former lobbyist for the Sierra Club says, "They're not terrorists. The real terrorists are the polluters, the despoilers."

People on our side generally believe in God, so Anderson quotes former Interior Secretary Stuart Udall, "Their use of religion to further their cause is absurd and dangerous."

But no hue and cry arose from last year when the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service sponsored "spiritual values workshops." Among these taxpayer-supported gems were "Toward a Buddhist Environmental Ethic," "The Perceptual Implications of Gaia," and "Sacred Land, Sacred Sex: Rapture of the Deep Concerning Deep Ecology and Celebration of Life" (Gaia, by the way, is an "Earth Goddess.")

This sounds like religious propaganda to me, and it's a violation of the First Amendment for our government to be promoting it. Why isn't Jack Anderson complaining?

For the last year or so Greens have been running a slick media campaign against wise use. Journalists who want to save the environment, while not leaving the comfort of their offices, have taken the Green gossip as fact, failing to investigate both sides of the story. Anderson has long been criticized for this shoddy style of writing. It may be one reason for his placement in the Washington Post's comic section rather than the editorial page. Nonetheless, his column is read and the lies are spread.

Help me set the record straight. Write Jack Anderson at 1531 P Street, N.W., Washington, DC 20036. Then write his United Features Syndicate at 200 Park Avenue, New York, NY 10166. If your local paper carries Jack Anderson's column, write or call it too.

Let them know that the vast majority of normal Americans support the wise, sustainable use of our great land's renewable resources. That we abhor violence under any guise and call on the Greens to say the same. If you have been personally affected by environmentalist government restrictions or Green meddling, be sure to say so.

And, if you can afford the postage, please send me a copy of your letter. Write to Putting People First, Suite 310-A, 4401 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., Washington, DC 20008.

both have reduced aggregate farm supports since the 1966-68 base period, according to Paul Drazek, American Farm Bureau Federation trade specialist.

But some Europeans, especially the French, remain adamantly opposed to any concessions in the EC's agricultural policies. Some U.S. officials believe that opposition could intensify in March after the French elections. And major sticking points remain in areas critical to U.S. farmers and ranchers—market access and the tariffication of existing trade barriers (the

Farm Focus

AG Trade Helps U.S. Economy

Farmers help the United States economy by creating a large, favorable trade balance of U.S. agricultural exports over agricultural imports.

The United States is the world's largest exporter of agricultural products ($40.2 billion worth annually).

The United States is overwhelmingly an industrial nation, only 2 percent of population works on farms. But U.S. farmers are so productive that agriculture still accounts for more than 13 percent of all U.S. exports. The production from one out of every 2.5 acres of cropland harvested is exported.

The great productivity of U.S. farms allows us to use all of the farm products we can inside the United States, and still be able to sell 69 percent of our wheat, 41 percent of our corn, 59 percent of our soybean products and more than 50 percent of our cotton to earn income in foreign countries.

U.S. farm productivity helps the nation hold strong market shares in the worldwide market for farm products. The U.S. shares of important crop markets are on the order of 37 percent of world wheat exports, 86 percent of world soybean exports and 21 percent of world rice exports.

Looking at it another way, U.S. farmers have developed their exports to a point where 25 percent of the income they generate to keep their operations going comes from foreign consumers instead of U.S. consumers. The huge export industry that U.S. farm productivity is able to keep supplied employs more than a million people in the United States. Each dollar's worth of U.S. farm commodities exported generates about $1.59 in additional economic activity in finance, transportation, warehousing, and farm supply manufacturing, distribution and sales.

Percentage of Farm Products Sold Overseas

Graphic provided by Deere & Company

Prices Decline In Maryland; Delaware

The Index of Prices received by Maryland and Delaware farmers was down six points to 123 in December, 1992. Crop prices generally rose and livestock prices generally declined when compared to November, 1992. Most crop prices and some livestock prices were below December 1991.

Forest Board Seeks Applicants For Annual Camp

The Garrett County Forest Conservancy District Board, in cooperation with the Maryland Department of Natural Resources - Forest Service, is now accepting applications from area high school students for the 1993 Maryland Forestry/Conservation and Natural Resources Week. The deadline for submitting these applications is April 15, 1993.

The week is designed to acquaint college-bound high school students with careers in forestry and natural resources management. Staff personnel will include professional foresters from the Maryland DNR - Forest Service and private industry. Natural resource professionals, in a variety of disciplines, supplement the program. The week-long program consists of a series of lectures and field trips to give students a first-hand knowledge of natural resource careers.

The Maryland Association of Forest Conservancy District Boards sponsor the program. Student selection, fees, and transportation are coordinated by the local county forestry board. There is no cost to students attending.

The 1993 program will be held at Camp Hickory Environmental Education Center near Accident, July 25-31.

FIRST FEDERAL ASSISTS CRIPPLED CHILDREN - First Federal Savings Bank of Western Maryland recently completed a mailing of over 14,000 pieces for the Allegany County League for Crippled Children. Every January the bank helps the League with its fund-raising campaign. Staff at First Federal handles the folding, stuffing, and stamping of the fund-raiser letter. Preparing the mailing in the above photo (left to right) are Amy Snyder, Jennifer Golden, Louise Smyth, Ellen Stevenson, director of the League for Crippled Children, and Connie Baseler.

The Garrett County Crime Solvers organization is currently seeking information on a breaking and entering incident that occurred on Oct. 30, 1992.

Unknown persons apparently broke into a residence located just south of Grants-ville along Rt. 495 and removed a Smith & Wesson 22 calibre revolver, a Panasonic VHS camcorder, a portable cellular phone, a gold pocket watch, and approximately $1,000 in cash. The total loss was $2,592.

Any person with information about this or any other unsolved crime is urged to contact Crime Solvers at 334-1975. Callers do not have to give their names nor appear in court. Rewards up to $1,000 are available to persons who provide tips that lead to arrests.

Marshall Pike

Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty is proud to announce that Marshall Pike has joined our organization. Marshall is a young man with excellent credentials and unusual poise. While working for Westmar Builders this past summer, and studying for a Business Management degree, he decided to make real estate his career.

Marshall is a life-long resident of Garrett County, a member of Bethel United Methodist Church in Mt. Lake Park, and a 1990 Graduate of Southern Garrett High School. While in high school, he was selected by his teachers for two outstanding honors: he was nominated and accepted as a member of the National Leadership Association, and he was chosen to attend the Hugh O'Brien Youth Foundation Seminar. Marshall was also a youth counselor during his junior and senior years.

Marshall values the trust and confidence that people have placed in him. He feels that his most important asset is his credibility. With Marshall's familiarity with the area, and with the resources and training of Coldwell Banker behind him, we believe that Marshall will provide you with outstanding service for your real estate needs. We are delighted that he has chosen to join our company.

Everyone has a favorite season. Ice skaters skim through winter, yet swimmers soak up summer. Romantics relish spring, whereas football fans fancy fall.

God created variety in our world, resulting in encouragement as we go through our days anticipating those times of personal fulfillment.

Just as the seasons vary, so do our choices of worship. Our choice of worship is an important one . . . the choice resulting in our greatest personal encouragement and fulfillment.

Whether God's house is vast or compact, whether it be ornate or more simply structured, no matter what it is called . . . a church or a synagogue . . . it is the one time and place to which we may all look forward . . . and through this most precious time we shall all go forward each day of our lives.

Background Scripture:
1 Corinthians 1:1 through 2:13

Devotional Reading:
1 Corinthians 2:1-13

If I remember this story correctly, it was during one of their World War II meetings that Winston Churchill was speaking of the influence of the pope. With a sardonic smile, Stalin asked: "How many divisions has the pope?"

Of course, Stalin was a devotee of "godless Communism," so we can understand that he was contemptuous of the power of religion. But his dismissal of spiritual power is shared by many who profess to be Christian. The fact is that, regardless of what most people may profess about the supremacy of spiritual values, most of us live as if we shared Stalin's disdain for them. When it comes to getting something done in what we perceive as "the real world," we want to know "How many divisions has the pope?"

It's not that we dismiss a spiritual power completely; we know that it works—sometimes, if we're willing to wait long enough. But, in business, in politics, in community life, and in the world at large—and sometimes even in the church—secular power seems to get the job done faster, more surely and more obviously—if not everlastingly.

TEMPORAL POWER
And that's the rub, isn't it? Secular power, for all of its immediate and visible success, does not last and in the long run does not get the job done. Stalin's divisions, as well as those of Churchill and Roosevelt, won World War II. But the armies of the Allies did not win the peace, nor even solve the problems that caused the war in the first place. In the long run, the power of armies, governments, and material might does not prevail.

In Jesus' day, the Jews looked for temporal power, a messiah to lead them in military revolt against the might of Rome. That's why Jesus was such a disappointment to so many, for the cross was a symbol of weakness and defeat. This is what Paul meant when he wrote, "For Jews demand signs, but we preach Christ crucified, a stumbling block to the Jews." (1:22-23)

If the Jews looked for power, the Greeks looked for wisdom. Not just wisdom per se, but wisdom to reveal the meaning and purpose of life. With their philosophy, the Greeks sought the enlightenment of the intellect. Plato, Aristotle, Plotinus and others sought to unlock life's mysteries. And that's why so many of them found Jesus Christ such a disappointment, for the cross seemed no explanation at all. The Gospel was down right foolishness.

THE POWER OF THE CROSS

But Paul knows that, just as in the long run the power of the world turns out to be ineffectual, so the wisdom of the world is its real foolishness. As Paul put it: "...the foolishness of God is wiser than men, and the weakness of God is stronger than men" (1:25) and "God chose what is foolish in the world to shame the wise" and "what is weak in the world to shame the strong" (1:27). Our secular concepts of what is powerful and wise, for all their attractiveness, turn out to be a total disappointment in the long run.

The key is the cross of Christ: "...to those who are called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God and the wisdom of God" (1:24). Human power and human wisdom, no matter how great and compelling, fail in the long run. What works, what delivers the goods, is the wisdom and power of God: "For the word of the cross is folly to those who are perishing, but to us who are being saved it is the power of God" (1:18). In the cross of Jesus Christ we see the only power and the only wisdom that ultimately work and endure: the gracious, self-sacrificing love of God in Christ.

Stalin and his kind have never understood that. Do we?

Drug Added To Maryland AIDS Assistance Effort

People with AIDS and those who are infected with HIV can now take advantage of an additional drug through the Maryland AIDS Drug Assistance Program (MADAP), the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene AIDS Administration has announced.

The new drug, zalcitabine (ddC), was added to the MADAP formulary through an emergency regulation, effective for six months beginning December 24, 1992.

ddC was recently approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration and is one of the three drugs which work directly against HIV, the virus that causes AIDS. The other two drugs, zidovudine (AZT) and didanosine (ddI), are already part of the MADAP formulary. The addition of ddC brings to 19 the total number of drugs available to MADAP recipients.

ddC is expected to be used in conjunction with AZT, which was the first antiviral drug used to slow the progression of HIV disease. ddI is similar to AZT, and may be prescribed for those who cannot tolerate AZT.

This addition to MADAP, which has been submitted for public comment as a proposed change to the MADAP regulations, should be permanent by the time emergency regulations expire on June 24, 1993.

MADAP helps to pay for prescribed drugs for Maryland residents diagnosed by a physician as having HIV disease or AIDS. Over 700 individuals have received medication through MADAP since the program began in 1987.

The program is supported by a grant from the federal Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA). It is estimated that ddC will cost the MADAP program an

DAR Donates To Nursing Homes

The Youghiogheny Glades Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution recently presented monetary donations to the activities departments of Cuppett and Weeks and Dennett Road Manor nursing homes.

Barb Smith and Melissa Copeland, activities directors of the homes, arranged for the resident veterans to be present when the checks were presented. Making the presentation were Donna Garman, regent of the Youghiogheny Glades Chapter, and Wilda Sanders, chairman of the DAR Service for Veterans-Patient Committee.

According to a spokesman for the nursing homes, the money was used to fulfill various needs of the veterans who reside in the homes.

Health Care Study Topic Of LWV Meeting

The League of Women Voters of Garrett County will host a meeting on Phase 2 of the national League of Women Voters Health Care Study on Monday, Jan. 25, 7:30 p.m., at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, 316 E. Oak Street, Oakland.

Last year, Phase 1 of the Health Care Study had covered broad, philosophical directions on the delivery and financing of health care, and had focused on goals, minimum benefit levels, delivery of services, and cost control.

Leading the discussion on Phase 2 questions will be Clint Englander and Charles Morris. Discussion will focus on such issues as financing, the role of government, and alternative health care systems.

The public is invited to participate, and League members are especially urged to attend. Connie Margison may be contacted at 334-1109 (during business hours) if background information is desired.

Citizens For The Arts Reorganized

Maryland Citizens for the Arts (MCA), a statewide arts advocacy organization with more than 10,000 supporters, has restructured to pave the way for a sound future for the Arts in Maryland.

Karen Dement, former chairman of the Maryland State Arts Council, will serve as the new chairman of MCA and its 25-member Board of Trustees. MCA's former chairman, Sue Hess, will remain in a strong arts advocacy role as president of the organization. Headquarters for MCA are now in downtown Baltimore in the Mercantile Building (2 Hopkins Plaza, Suite 700), in office space donated by the accounting firm Grant Thornton.

The restructuring will allow MCA to act on the initiatives recommended to Governor William Donald Schaefer by the "Governor's Commission on the Future of the Arts in Maryland," MCA's new board, comprised of business leaders, arts administrators, artists, and arts supporters from across the state, will continue to promote MCA's advocacy efforts, which have concentrated on state funding for 10% of the operating budgets of all qualified Maryland Arts organizations.

MCA will continue to alternate the biennial ArtSalute and Maryland Arts Day in Annapolis and will place top priority on implementing the Governor's Commission's recommendations which include the following goals:

- 1) Put the arts on the agenda of every county and city government.
- 2) Encourage foundations to give to arts organizations' operating budgets as well as to arts projects.
- 3) Double the number of business and professional representatives on the boards of arts organizations across the state, and urge them to give 15% of their total charitable contribution to the arts.
- 4) Implement a recognition program to honor leading Maryland corporate, foundation, and individual arts donors, calling them "Maryland Medici."
- 5) Plan a week of statewide arts activities and promotions, focusing on the importance of the arts in our lives.
- 6) Encourage businesses to make support of the arts eligible for matching contributions.

Because of the recession, Maryland arts funding has been cut more than 40% in the last two years, leaving more than 960 statewide arts organizations scrambling to make ends meet. "The future of the arts in Maryland is in real jeopardy," said Ms. Hess. "Now more than ever, we must all pull together to insure the stability of the arts for our children and grandchildren."

Founded in 1977, MCA will continue to be a strong "grass roots" advocacy organization which speaks for ALL the arts in Maryland, Hess said.

Cooking with Fruit

A CULINARY LEGACY FOR TODAY

Cooking with fruit is part of a rich culinary legacy that began in Africa and wound its way around the world, leaving an especially delicious taste in the dishes of the Caribbean and South America.

Cooks in these regions discovered long ago that characteristics such as the juiciness of pineapple, the mellow flavor of firm bananas and the perfume of ripe mangoes all add a new dimension to basics such as chicken or beans and rice. Today, the idea has special appeal for all kinds of cooks. It's a great way to add more fruit to your diet as well as more variety to your recipe repertoire when it comes to entertaining or cooking something new for the family.

For instance, firm yellow or green-tipped bananas hold up extremely well when sauteed in oil or margarine or added to stews. They add appealing texture to savory entrees and salads while soaking up and carrying spices and herbs. The same goes for fresh pineapple, which is also great on the grill. Both of these tropical fruits take well to heating, which intensifies their natural flavors. They also cool the "fire" of hot chiles.

Each of the following recipes uses fruit to transform everyday chicken into something completely new. You may recognize some of the exquisite (and until now, mysterious) flavor combinations you've tasted in restaurants or on some little island in the West Indies. Enjoy them in good health! Remember, fruits add important nutrients and fiber to your family's diet.

TIPS

- ▶ Green-tipped bananas may be sauteed, grilled, baked or broiled with your choice of sweet or savory spices and herbs.
- ▶ To slow ripening, it's OK to refrigerate bananas. The peel may darken, but the fruit inside will stay fresh.
- ▶ Pineapple is excellent grilled, broiled or sauteed. As with bananas, it takes just a few minutes.

- ▶ Fresh pineapple is fully ripe when picked, so please don't leave it out at room temperature to ripen further. It won't.
- ▶ Cooking with fruit is an excellent way to work more low-fat, high fiber ingredients into your family's diet.

CARIBBEAN CAESAR SALAD

- 1 Dole® Fresh Pineapple
  - 6 cups torn romaine lettuce
  - 2 cups sliced cooked chicken
  - 2 medium Dole Bananas, peeled, sliced
  - 1 mango or orange, peeled, sliced
  - 1/2 cup croutons*
  - 1/2 cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese
- Caesar Dressing:
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
  - 2 tablespoons chicken broth
  - 1 tablespoon nonfat plain yogurt
  - 2 cloves garlic, pressed
  - 1 teaspoon grated lime peel
  - 1 teaspoon Dijon mustard
  - 1 teaspoon anchovy paste
  - 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

- ▶ Twist crown from pineapple. Cut pineapple in half lengthwise. Refrigerate half for another use. Cut fruit from shell with a knife. Core and chunk fruit.
- ▶ In a large bowl, combine pineapple, lettuce, chicken, bananas, mango, croutons and Parmesan cheese. Pour dressing over salad. Toss gently.

Serves 6

CAESAR DRESSING: Whisk together all ingredients.

- ▶ To make croutons, spray cookie sheet and bread cubes with cooking spray. Sprinkle with garlic powder. Bake in 300°F oven 30 minutes, stirring occasionally.

GREEN CURRY CHICKEN WITH BANANAS

- 2 green-tip, medium bananas, peeled
- 2 teaspoons vegetable oil, divided
- 4 boneless, skinless chicken breast halves, cut in thin strips
- 2 teaspoons garlic powder
- 1 medium onion, halved, thinly sliced
- 1 medium green apple, cored, chopped
- 1 (1-inch) piece fresh ginger, minced
- 2 teaspoons basil, crumbled
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1 can (7 oz.) green chile sauce
- 1/2 cup chopped cilantro
- 2 cups hot cooked rice

Coconut Sauce:

- 1/2 cup each: chicken broth, frozen pineapple orange juice concentrate, thawed
- 1 teaspoon coconut extract
- 1/2 teaspoon cornstarch

- ▶ Cut bananas in half crosswise, then lengthwise to make 8 pieces. In nonstick skillet, saute bananas in 1 teaspoon oil until lightly browned. Remove.
- ▶ Season chicken with garlic powder. Stir fry in remaining oil until browned. Remove.
- ▶ Saute onion, apple and ginger in pan until soft. Stir in basil, lemon peel and nutmeg. Cover, simmer 5 minutes. Add Coconut Sauce and green chile to pan. ## Maryland Sells Bonds For Low Interest Rates

The Maryland Board of Public Works, consisting of Governor William Donald Schaefer, State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein and State Treasurer Lucille Maurer, today approved the sale of $130,000,000 in General Obligation Bonds for a low interest bid of 5.3773%, the lowest rate since 1978. The bonds had been rated "triple A," the highest possible rating, by Moody's Investor's Service, Standard & Poor's Corporation, and Fitch's Investor's Service, the three major bond rating agencies.

Maryland remains one of only four states in the nation to win the coveted triple A rating from all of the major bond rating agencies.

The winning bid of 5.37% came from a syndicate of firms from across the country led by First Boston Corporation and including Signet Bank and Chapman Company of Maryland. A total of four bids were received at the Annapolis meeting of the Board. The two lowest bids were less than two one-hundredths of one percent apart.

Governor Schaefer said, "This low interest bid is proof of the financial community's confidence in the financial management of the state and the cooperation of the General Assembly in dealing with the state's budget problems."

Treasurer Maurer added, "The four very competitive bids we received indicate the financial community's continued faith in Maryland, despite the difficulties of the past few years. We are especially pleased that the major bond rating agencies still consider us one of the very few triple A states left in the nation."

Comptroller Goldstein stated "This is an excellent interest rate, especially when you realize that two huge municipal bond sales took place the day before we had our sale. This rate is proof of the high regard for Maryland bonds."

The low interest rate obtained by Maryland on general obligation bonds is important to every state taxpayer because of the significant savings in repaying the bonds. The highly regarded triple A rating ensures that Maryland taxpayers benefit from the state paying the lowest possible costs of borrowing money for capital projects.

The Board of Public Works is authorized to approve the sale of General Obligation Bonds and to supervise the expenditure of all funds obtained from the sale

LEGIONNAIRES VISIT NURSING HOMES - Members of Proctor Kildow Post 71, American Legion, and Auxiliary Unit #71 recently accompanied Santa Claus (alias Ron Friend) to two Oakland nursing homes to distribute gifts to residents who are veterans of the various branches of the U.S. armed services. Among those visiting were Debi Dixon, Joyce Dixon, Julie Dixon, Moe Miller, Jim Judy, Judy Upole, Randall Kahl, Jack Ford, Dave Ringer, Ron Friend, Hazel Meyers, and Bill Meyers. Residents visited at Cuppett and Weeks Nursing Home were Robert Swisher, William Lyles, Carl Benson, Louis Pridle, Alve Lewis, William Sherwood, Lovett German, Roy Keyser, Dice Crites, Harry Weicht, Darwin Whitehair, Russell Lambert, Ervin Helmick, Earl Miller, and Joe Walters. Veterans visited at Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home were Wilbur Renn, Henry Hoover, Leonard Forester, George Johnson, Deknar Canan, Charles McArthur, Amos Roberson, Ed Schmidt, and Joe Ervin. All enjoyed refreshments and then gathered around the Christmas tree to sing their favorite carols. Fruit baskets were later delivered to several homebound or hospitalized veterans by members of Post #71. Pictured above at Cuppett and Weeks, left to right, first row, are Dice Crites and Russell Lambert; second row, Joseph Waters, William Lyles, Roy Keyser, and Earl Miller; and third row, Santa (Ron Friend) and Lovett German. ## Day-Use Fees For State Parks Are Established

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary Torrey C. Brown, M.D., has announced the 1993 facility fees for state forests and parks. "Maryland's state forests and parks continue to lead the way, providing exciting educational and recreational opportunities for the whole family at a very inexpensive price," Brown said.

As some parks did last year, most parks will charge a $2 per-person entry fee in 1993. Dr. Brown noted that charging a per-person fee instead of a per-vehicle charge more equitably spreads the cost among the users of forest and park facilities. As in the past, day-use fees will only be charged between April and October, with no fees charged during the rest of the year.

The only state-wide change in day-use fees this year involves an increase in the charges for pavilion use at state parks. Pavilion use fees have not increased in the last 15 years. The amount of the increase will depend on the size of the pavilion.

Day-use fees for 1993 are as follows: $2 per person (children in car seats free); Wednesdays (non-holidays), 1/2 price; youth groups, 25 cents per person; Golden Age passes (62 years and older), vehicle and passengers free; boat launching, $5 (where an entry fee is not charged, free if an entry fee is charged); Summer Fun pass, $50 (unlimited day-use of state forests and parks, and discounts on concession items); and pavilion use fee, check with local park, as fees vary based on the size of the pavilion.

Fees will be charged between April and October, with specific dates being set by each park.

Local Computer Programmer Attends Two Conferences

Kelly Ann Allen, Grantsville, recently attended both the 1992 National Sales Conference of Royal Alliance Associates and the Microsoft Fox Pro Developer Conference as a representative of Financial Computer Support Incorporated, Oakland. While participating in these two conferences in Phoenix, Arizona, Ms. Allen had an opportunity to strengthen her computer programming and her marketing skills.

As a programmer for Financial Computer Support Incorporated, a computer consulting firm that functions like a users' group for financial advisors, Ms. Allen helps write and maintain dbCAMs+. This software package is used by financial advisors to give them instant information on their clients' financial positions and manage their offices with greater effectiveness. Interaction in the two conferences enabled Ms. Allen to explore techniques and customer concerns that will be helpful to her in continuing to address the special software needs of financial planners.

According to Gary W. Krat, chairman and CEO of Royal Alliance Associates, Inc., the 1992 Sales Conference was designed to assist financial planners in every phase of their business in order to position them to respond quickly and effectively to client needs and the state of the marketplace. During this five day event, participants became better acquainted with the unique perspectives of financial planners and learned how FCSI software can best be adapted to meet these needs. In addition to hearing many positive comments about the FCSI software made by current dbCAMs+ users, participants received suggestions about how the software might be modified to meet needs in the future.

While participating for three days in the Microsoft Fox Pro Developer Conference, Ms. Allen attended a variety of workshops and a unique programmers' exchange to learn more about the effective use of Fox Pro. She currently uses this programming language while helping write the latest version of dbCAMs+. This new version which is due for release in 1993 will be the first financial planning software using Windows and will offer many new user friendly functions. Conference participants also learned about tips and tricks for using Fox Pro to program these functions and joined other programmers in exchanging ideas for working through various types of problems. They also learned techniques for managing a Fox Pro team by setting goals and working positively with team members.

Ms. Allen and her husband, the Rev. Tim Allen, and their children, Zachary and Sarah, reside in Grantsville. She is a graduate of Marshall University in Huntington, W. Va., and has worked at FCSI for one year.

SWANTON

Jeff Switzer, son of James and Barbara Switzer, graduated from the Natural Resource Police Academy in Annapolis last Saturday. In addition to his parents, those attending from here were his brother, Jason, and sister, Andrea. Kim and Tim Rush and family, Robert Winters, and his grandparents, Earl and Helen Winters. Following graduation Earl and Helen spent the night with his brother, Roy, and from there flew to West Palm Beach, Fla., where they will spend several weeks with their daughter and her husband, Carolyn and Sam Snyder.

Persons from the area attending the Farm Show in Harrisburg, Pa., were Joe Browning, Sharon Lohr, Bonnie Major, and Catherine and Becky Williams.

M.O. Harvey and Louise Harvey spent last weekend in Sewickley, Pa., to visit their grandson on his second birthday.

On Monday, Bill Hammon and Mrs. Francis from the Anwar Cataract Center in Moundsville, W. Va., spoke to the senior citizens at the Swanton Community Center. They explained their procedure for removing cataracts and other eye treatments. A trip to their center is being arranged.

Monday afternoon George and Freda Rexrode visited with Clarence and Mary Paugh and Frances Otto at their home.

Members of the Swanton Community Association held their regular monthly meeting, Monday evening. A meat loaf dinner will be served on Saturday, Feb. 13, with Phyllis Friend as chairman and Louise Beckman, co-chairman.

Jack Rexrode is now a patient in the Cuppett Weeks Nursing Home in Oakland.

Carl Switzer, who was seriously injured in an automobile accident several weeks ago, continues to recuperate at his home here.

Sara Friend is recovering very well from knee replacement performed several weeks ago.

Neal Riley remains a patient in Ruby Memorial Hospital in Morgantown.

Betty Wildesen is a patient in Monongalia General Hospital, Morgantown, where she is scheduled for heart surgery in the near future.

OTTERBEIN U.M. CHURCH NEWS

On Tuesday evening the United Methodist Women met at the home of Mary June Harvey with the following persons attending: Wanda Maphis, Barbara Rexrode, Louise Beckman, Ildra Frantz, Luella Baker, Mary Louise Wilson, and Mary June Harvey. "Hope in the Midst of Change" was the title of the program presented by several members. The Call to Prayer and Self-Denial service will be held February 9 at 7 p.m. at Otterbein Church with Bethel, Mtn. Lake Park, St. Paul's, Oakland, and Mt. Bethel, Kittling joining in for this observance. All United Methodist Women in the South Garrett Parish are invited to attend. Following the business session refreshments were served. ## Real Estate Facts

Some Things Never Change!

Shopping for a new car is great fun, isn't it? You size up the lineup of this year's shiny new models, then move to the left rear window for a look at the "sticker" price.

Sticker price represents the manufacturer's suggested retail price. Next to it, you find a second sticker with some of the dealer's add-ons, i.e. super rust protection, lifetime guarantee on the dipstick, etc. You soon realize that the car's price is inflated well beyond its "fair market value."

That seemingly high price arouses an interesting trait of human nature—curiosity about whether the same model can be purchased for less at another dealership. It causes you to shop around.

Very few people enjoy paying more for an item than they perceive it to be worth. That's true when buying a home too. Most buyers compare a number of similar homes before making a decision. They compare features, amenities, and price.

When several homes have the same or similar features, yet one is priced higher, it may be passed over in favor of the others.

When a home is priced in a range equal to similar homes, it is said to be priced at "fair market value." This means it is priced at or near the probable final sale price.

When buyers find a home which both meets their requirements, and is priced fairly, they often purchase the home at the full asking price. They recognize a home which offers benefits in exchange for fair value, and they buy it.

Overpricing a home invites at least three difficult situations. First, to compensate for overpricing, buyers make dramatically lower purchase offers. Second, other homes priced at fair market value are chosen first by buyers when measured against the overpriced property.

Finally, even if a buyer pays too much, chances are good that the appraisal will fall short of the sale price resulting in a "no sale!" A fair home price results in a big win for both buyers and sellers.

COVER
STORYThrough 'Love & War,'
Thomas keeps day job

BY LYNN HOOGENBOOM

Jay Thomas owes his role in the CBS Monday night series "Love & War" to an unsuccessful audition.

"I'd auditioned for a main character on Murphy Brown," recalls Thomas.

Jay Thomas

"They thought I was, in the audition, really obnoxious. In fact, they said, 'We don't want to spend seven years with this guy.'"

But a year or so later, when the producers of "Murphy Brown" created the occasional role of obnoxious talk-show host Jerry Gold, an on-again, off-again love interest of Murphy's, they knew exactly who they wanted. Thomas took that role and ran with it, earning a 1990-91 Emmy for Guest Actor in the process.

He worked so well as Jerry that when "Murphy Brown" creator Diane English started toying with an idea for a new series, Thomas was offered the male lead. "Love & War" stars Thomas and Susan Day as a couple who connect romantically but remain uncertain how to deal with each other.

Thomas would be happy to compare himself and Day to other TV couples, except that, like most actors, he doesn't watch much television.

"It's sad, but it's true," says Thomas. "You meet them and you go, 'Well, what do you do?' I'm a TV actor, but I never watch TV. They always say that. But I watch everything I'm in a lot."

This is his fifth series. "I've been on 'Mork & Mindy,' 'Cheers,' 'Murphy Brown,' 'Married People' and now this," he says. "I guess I did a very forgettable two or three other episodes of things, maybe three or four. But I've really stopped doing that. I would just wait for the good stuff to come, and if it didn't come, I'd just sit around for six months instead of doing something that'd make me miserable."

Thomas can afford to sit around because of his other career—radio. He is the morning disc jockey on KPWR-FM in Los Angeles. The key to radio success?

"Just being stupid," he unexpectedly answers. "Radio is not difficult. If radio were difficult, somebody like Howard Stern or Rush Limbaugh would not be successful. It never has been a hard job. It's never been filled with mental giants and never will be."

And no, even with a starring role in a CBS series, he doesn't think he can afford to leave his day job.

"That's only true if the show is a hit," he says. "Even then, 'Married People' was a hit, but they took it off, basically to put two shows that have since been canceled in that time slot. And there you go. I was in a show that did really well. So you don't know what people are going to do."

In "Love & War," Jay Thomas and Susan Day star as a mismatched couple who are trying valiantly to build a relationship. The romantic comedy airs Mondays on CBS.

TV DIALOGUE

BY TONI REINHOLD

STROKES OF BAD LUCK—My brothers and sisters and I loved to watch "Diff'rent Strokes," because Gary Coleman was our favorite actor. I recall that Coleman had kidney trouble during that series, but my sis says it was some other illness. Can you shed some light on this? J.Z., Streator, Ill.

Gary Coleman in "Strokes"

You are correct. Gary Coleman was only 6 years old when he had a kidney transplant. But the replacement kidney also began to fail, and in 1984 he underwent a second transplant operation. He returned to work on "Diff'rent Strokes" (1978-86) two months later.

HEY, CISCO! Who played the Cisco Kid on TV? Wasn't he a famous film actor? K.V., Richland, Wash.

The hero of the 1950-56 Western "The Cisco Kid" was played by Duncan Renaldo. He was born Duncan Duncan in 1904, but just where is something of a mystery. Sources list Spain, Romania, and even Camden, N.J. His Scottish father and Romanian mother abandoned young Renaldo and he was raised as a found JOYCE NOEL—We've been playing TV nostalgia games and have been wondering about the fellow who played Mark in the old "Girl From U.N.C.L.E." series. What was his name? W.L., South Bend, Ind.

In this 1966-67 series, the role of Mark Slate was played by Noel Harrison, the son of film star Rex Harrison.

MOVIES ON TV

Nolte and Murphy star as an unlikely pair

BY FELICIA A. FEASTER

Through the "Lethal Weapon" films seem to have improved with each successive picture, there is little difference between "48 HRS." and its 1990 sequel "Another 48 HRS." (CBS, Jan. 26). Jack Cates (Nick Nolte) must again use the recently released-from-prison Reggie Hammond (Eddie Murphy) to help him battle a gang of leather-clad, unshaven bikers in his crusade to nab the Ice Man, a notorious drug lord. The relentless pursuit of the Ice Man has gotten Cates thrown off the police force and the criminal has put a contract out on Hammond, giving the pair ample reason to again join forces to fight crime. Being a carbon copy of its predecessor means "Another 48 HRS." has all the elements that made the 1982 film so popular: gritty and violent action, language and comedy. It also means, however, that the sequel is devoid of originality, spontaneity and mystery.

Nick Nolte

• An updated gangster film set in contemporary Italy.

"Killer Rules" (NBC, Jan. 24) adds little to the mobster tradition. Jamey Sheridan stars as Marco Ponti, a hybrid mob hitman and Ivy League-educated investment adviser torn between a white-collar life of clean fingernails and the bloody expectations of his adopted father, an underworld don. Elaborate relationships and double crossings, in the form of remarkably coiffed U.S. Department of Justice investigator Richard Guinness (Peter Dobson) and the woman (Sela Ward) both he and Marco love, substitute for any real narrative interest in this remarkably thrill-less drama. Sheridan has a difficult time punctuating his icy corporate demeanor with the outbursts of temper the story demands. Whether this is Sheridan's own failing as an actor or simply the fault of a flimsy teleplay is anybody's guess, since none of the characters is particularly interesting.

• Kelly McGillis ends her sabbatical from the public eye in "Bonds of Love" (CBS, Jan. 24), about a love affair between an unusual couple. Treat Williams co-stars in this true story as Robby Smith, a mentally retarded man who falls in love with a luckless divorcee (McGillis). Smith's parents fight the couple's relationship, believing their son is too emotionally immature to leave his family.

• Wendy Hiller stars as a World War II survivor, Countess Alice von Holzendorf, in the Masterpiece Theatre production "The Countess Alice" (PBS, Jan. 24, check listings). Zoe Wanamaker co-stars as Alice's middle-aged daughter.

THIS WEEK

Vanessa Williams

NO, It's Not a Sequel to "Amy Fisher: My Story": On Monday, Jan. 25, NBC rebroadcasts "Full Exposure: The Sex Tapes Scandal." Vanessa Williams, Lisa Hartman, Anthony Denison and Jennifer O'Neill star in the 1989 drama. • "In Censors We Trust," a documentary on recent censorship battles, premieres Sunday, Jan. 24, on cable's E! Entertainment Television. • Ron Reagan hosts interviewees include Keenen Ivory Wayans, Lee Grant, Tom Smothers, advertiser-boycott organizer Terry Rakolta and author John Irving. • "Renaissance," a five-part series on a time of remarkable creativity in European culture, begins Monday, Jan. 25, on PBS. (Check local listings.) • Pierce Brosnan and Patrick Stewart star in "Alistair MacLean's Death Train," a thriller premiering Tuesday, Jan. 26, on cable's USA Network. • Oprah Winfrey hosts "Shades of a Single Protein," an "ABC AfterSchool Special" in which teenagers across the country discuss their views on race. It airs Thursday, Jan. 28. • Rutger Hauer, Rebecca DeMornay and Ron Silver star in "Blind Side," a psychological thriller premiering Saturday, Jan. 30, on cable's HBO.

SOAP SCOOP

Korf leaving it all for the lights on Broadway

BY CONNIE PASSALACQUA

One of soap's most controversial characters gets a surprise retirement on Friday, Jan. 29, as "One Life to Live" star Mia Korf (who plays Blair Damlser Buchanan) heads to Broadway.

Korf is leaving the soap for a role in "Face Value," which is the latest project of Jerry Zaks, who is among the hottest directors on Broadway ("Guys and Dolls") and himself a soap veteran (he played the hilarious Lous Van Dine from 1983-84 on "The Edge of Night").

Blair Damlser (the only soap character ever to be named after the Nazis' favorite touring car) was intended to be a soap opera version of Scarlett O'Hara. She was to be wildly mercurial, both as a passionate villainess and as a heroine. And she was written that way first as a total witch who married the older Asa Buchanan (played by Philip Carey) and later as a heroine in what was hyped by the show to be the romance of the century between Blair and perpetual stud puppet Max Holden (played by James DePaiva). That romance was an embarrassing bust. It's virtually impossible to turn an unsympathetic soap character into a sympathetic one overnight.

As a vixen, Korf did breathe a little fire, but her acting lacked the depth and dimension that makes for a great soap villainess (such as Elizabeth Hubbard's Lucinda Walsh on "As the World Turns" or Berilee McKinney's Alexandra Spaulding on "Guiding Light").

Two great soap villainesses imbued by the actresses with plenty of vulnerability: Korf's lack of technical depth virtually wrecked Blair's transformation to heroine.

Yet Korf was given more air time in 1992 than almost anyone else on "OLTL" (including London leading lady Erika Slezak, who plays Vikki). Soap weddings are almost monthly events, and competition to produce the best has become something of an Olympic sport among producers. But the loveliest nuptials of 1992 had to be the hitching of Andy Dixon (played by Scott DeFreitas) and Courtney Baxter (played by Hayley Barr) on "ATWT," just before Christmas.

It was so simple, so loving, so lacking in the traditional soap nuptial melodramatics. That means no thought-dead former mates interrupting the ceremony, no shootings, no baby delivered by the bride in midceremony. Held in the Hughes newly expanded living room, this was the joining of two young characters joyfully in love. How unique!

On Monday through Thursday, Jan. 25-28, Nickelodeon airs "The Tomorrow People," billed as the first mini-series for kids. The sci-fi adventure stars Kristian Schmid (1) and Christian Tessier as ordinary kids who happen to be able to read minds and teleport themselves around the world. But they are forced to flee government scientists bent on studying them. The opener is an hour, subsequent episodes clock in at a half-hour each.

IN FOCUS

Don't touch that dial, saddle pals! It wouldn't be the cowboy way. Ranger Doug (J. Too Slim (r) and Woody Paul (not pictured) of Riders in the Sky bring their unique blend of cowboy music and campfire comedy to "Austin City Limits." Saturday, Jan. 30, on PBS. (Check local listings.) It is the band's fourth appearance on the show. They're joined by Asleep at the Wheel, paying tribute to the music of Bob Wills and his Texas Playboys.

The "Deadly Deception" investigates the "Tuskegee Study of Untreated Syphilis in the Negro Male," the longest nontherapeutic research project ever performed on humans. Subjects were falsely told they were receiving medical care and forbidden to seek outside treatment. Herman Shaw (shown), for example, was tracked down at a clinic and sent home. It airs Tuesday, Jan. 26 on PBS's "Nova." (Check local listings.)

It hardly seems like tennis weather across much of the country, but remember, it's summer Down Under where the 1993 Australian Open tennis championships conclude this week. The hard-court tournament is the first Grand Slam event of the year and ESPN has live prime-time coverage of the women's and men's finals Friday and Saturday, Jan. 28 and 30. Last year's winners were Monica Seles (pictured) and Jim Courier.

Proposed Amendments to the Deep Creek Lake Sewerage Regulation

The Board of County Commissioners, sitting as the Garrett County Board of Health, will hold a public hearing on the Commissioners' Meeting Room in the Courthouse on February 9th at 9:00 a.m. The purpose of the hearing will be to hear testimony on proposed changes to the regulation governing sewerage disposal for homes and other establishments in the Deep Creek Lake Drainage Basin. The proposed major changes are:

1. Increase the minimum lot size from one acre to 60,000 square feet (approx. 1.4 acre). This would not apply to existing lots or lots served by the Deep Creek Lake public sewerage system.
2. Update the legal authority for the regulations.
3. Prohibit the use of an on-site sewerage system if the property is connected to the Deep Creek Lake public sewerage system.

Copies of the regulation outlining the proposed changes are available in the County Commissioners' office or the Environmental Health office, Room 104 of the courthouse. Interested citizens are invited to attend.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE OF VALUABLE COMMERCIAL AND RESIDENTIAL REAL ESTATE

All those parcels of land lying in and adjacent to Route 39, West of Oakland near Hutton, Election District No. 14, Garrett County, Maryland.

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage from Richard E. Stewart, dated January 11, 1990, recorded in Liber No. 542, folio 614, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, default having occurred under the terms and conditions of said mortgage and it has been duly assigned to the undersigned for the purpose of foreclosure, I hereby give notice that I will on in the rotunda of the Courthouse in the Town of Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, offer for sale and sell at public auction to the highest bidder the following property:

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1993 at the hour of 11:30 o'clock a.m.

The property contains several parcels as follows:

- One quarter acre, 2 acres, the surface of 4.4 acres excepting one half acre for a net total of 6.15 acres as set forth in a deed recorded in Liber No. 542, folio 602, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The property is improved by 3 buildings believed to be described as follows:

1. A 28.5 x 38.5 one story frame house with 1 1/3 basement and resting on a block foundation. Composition siding, thermopane windows, A/S roof, and front and rear porches. The interior is composed of 2 bedrooms, kitchen, living room, and bath. Heat is with a wood/coal space heater.
2. 26 x 56 double wide resting on a full basement, with no interior steps down. Aluminum siding with aluminum windows and storm windows and a front porch. The interior is composed of 2 bedrooms, 2 baths, living room, dining room, kitchen, and laundry along with a den. Heat is propane gas/air duct system. The den has a fireplace with a metal chimney.
3. A 30.5 x 75 metal building with painted concrete floor, used as auction barn. Building is heated with an oil/air duct system, contains a serving kitchen, counter, sink, panel walls and an exhaust fan. The seating area has old style theater seats for 174 people. There is a small office sectioned off from the general seating area.

The improvements are believed to be served by two septic systems and two springs.

Directions: U.S. Route 39 West from Oakland. Property is located on the East side of the road a short distance from the Hutton Road underpass. The barn has an auction sign on it. The frame house sits closer to the road than the double wide.

Terms of Sale: A cash deposit, cashier's check or certified check of TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS ($10,000.00) shall be paid at the time and place of sale, balance in cash, cashier's check or certified check at settlement, which shall be within twenty days (20) after final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, time being of the essence, interest at the rate of 7% per annum shall be paid on unpaid purchase money from date of sale to date of settlement. Except that if the mortgagee, its successors or assigns is the purchaser, no deposit shall be required and a credit will be allowed for the mortgage debt. The property will be sold subject to all restrictions, liens, covenants and encumbrances of record. In the event that the purchaser fails to go to settlement as required, the property shall be re-sold at purchaser's risk and expense. Taxes and all other public charges to be adjusted to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes, and document preparation shall be borne by purchaser. The above-described property will be sold in "as is" condition and without warranty as to the accuracy of information furnished to and/or by the Assignee and made available to prospective bidders.

The Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing on February 4, 1993, at 7:30 p.m. in the Planning Commission Meeting Room (Third Floor Courthouse, Oakland). The Board will review applications on the following docketed cases:

- 1) Docket VR-307: This application for Variance made by Clara J. Ersoz is continued from the January 7, 1993 meeting.
- 2) Docket SE-232 and VR-308: an application made by Mr. Sam Housley on behalf of Bruceton Farm Service for a Special Exception permit to allow the development of gas-line service in conjunction with a convenience store operation on the BFS prospective property. Mr. Housley is also requesting a Variance to allow the convenience store structure to extend to within 12 feet of a rear property line instead of the required 35 feet. The BFS prospective property is located along U.S. 219 in McHenry (Zoned TC).
- 3) Docket VR-308: an application made by Mr. Peter J.D. Gordon for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the side yard setback requirement for attached garages. Specifically, Mr. Gordon is requesting a Variance to allow the reconstruction of a new house on his property with an attached garage which would extend to within 5 feet of the side line instead of the existing setback of 11 feet. The property is located on Rock Lodge Road (Zoned LR).

The Maryland resident agent for service of process is Suzanne X. Conger, whose address is 5000 Thayer Center, Oakland, MD 21550.

At the time of death, the decedent owned real property in the following Maryland County: Garrett, 1.14 acres, more or less, improved real estate, within the "Lake Forest Development," on plat recorded in Drawer "F," File No. 5, as shown as Parcel 38, on Tax Map No. 57, Grid No. 17.

All persons having claims against the decedent must file their claims with the Register of Wills for Garrett County with a copy to the foreign personal representative on or before the earlier of the following dates:

(1) Six months from the date of the decedent's death; or
(2) Two months after the foreign personal representative mails or delivers to the creditor a copy of this published notice or other written notice, notifying the creditor that the claim will be barred unless the creditor presents the claim within two months from the mailing or other delivery of the notice. Claims filed after that date or after a date extended by law will be barred.

Balance to be paid in cash within ten (10) business days of the final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. If payment of the balance does not take place within ten business days of ratification, the deposit will be forfeited and the property will be resold at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser, or in any manner designated by the Substitute Trustees. Interest to be paid on unpaid purchase money at the rate pursuant to the deed of trust on the date of sale to the day the funds are received in the office of the Substitute Trustees. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason and the property is purchased by someone other than the noteholder, there shall be no abatement of interest caused by the delay. Taxes and water rent to be adjusted to date of sale. Condominium fees and/or Homeowners Association dues, if applicable, shall be adjusted to the date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. All other public charges and assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges to be adjusted for the current year to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps and transfer taxes shall be borne by the purchaser. If the Substitute Trustees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law or equity shall be limited to the refund of the deposit to the purchaser. Upon refund of the deposit, this sale shall be void and of no effect, and the purchaser shall have no further claim against the Substitute Trustees.

NOTICE OF OPENING

The Garrett County Health Department has an opening for a coordinator in the Tobacco Use Prevention program.

This will be a new program and position. If chosen, you will coordinate the development, implementation, and evaluation of multi-faceted tobacco prevention activities - an excellent opportunity to work with a variety of media and organizational components.

This is an exciting position for someone interested in prevention and health education. It's an opportunity to really make a difference in the health of Garrett Countians. Bachelor's degree is required, but experience may be substituted for education. Salary range is $16,735-$29,362, commensurate with education and experience. Benefits included.

Candidates should forward a copy of their resume with a cover letter to: Carol K. Brown, Garrett County Health Department, 253 N. Fourth Street, Oakland, MD 21550 by Feb. 4, 1993. Call 334-8116, 895-3111, or 359-0855 for more information.

Results Of Local Christmas Bird Count Announced

A dozen local amateur birders took to the woods and fields to participate in the recent 93rd annual National Audubon Society Christmas Bird Count, the results of which were released this week by Connie Skipper, local count compiler. Several other individuals also participated in the effort by taking counts at their own backyard bird feeders that day.

There was a total of 9,011 individual birds, representing 52 species, counted in the local effort, which covered a total of 390.5 square miles and took a combined time of 55 hours by the field observers. Those counting at their feeders contributed 12.5 hours.

Of that total number of individual birds counted, there were 6,476 American crows counted. The second most counted bird was the European starling - 566 - followed by the black-capped chickadee - 282 - mallard - 258 - slate-colored junco - 178 - American coot - 138 - cowbird - 100 - horned lark - 99 - house finch - 85 - Canada goose - 80 - tufted titmouse - 73 - mourning dove - 72 - and white-breasted nuthatch - 69.

Ms. Skipper said that some of the highlights of the count were that the pied-billed grebe were present in unusually high numbers - 27 - that the mockingbird, which had not been seen during the 1980s probably because of severe winters, were back (two observed); and that the Carolina wren, also rarely seen between 1978 and 1985, have been gradually increasing in numbers (six observed). Various hawks, grouse, wild turkeys, and woodpeckers were also among those species observed and counted.

Field observers included: Ken Bauer, John Churchill, Kevin Dodge, Charles Hager, Rebecca Harvey, John Holt, Jan Janssen, Jeff Opel, Bill and Fran Pope, Judy Scorsone, and Ms. Skipper. Those counting at their feeders were: Liz Forrester, Harold and Frances Hoecker, Edith Jack, Jesse and Barbara Skipper, Mary Kathryn Speicher, and Sallie Thayer.

Glimpse Of The Past . . .

DURING WORLD WAR II the population of Vindax was 500 and there were approximately 100 houses. By 1961, when this photo was taken by A. Aubrey Bodine, the once-thriving municipality was a ghost town, as the coal mines that supported the town were depleted and closed. At the peak of the town's 50-year existence, about 250 miners dug 302,000 tons of coal in one year. The town was complete with a post office, two-room schoolhouse, company store, and a Methodist church. Most of the houses and buildings are now gone. This photo is published courtesy of the Garrett County Historical Society and The Republican.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING

The Board of Supervisors of Elections for Garrett County has revised its redistricting plan because of some incorrect figures. The public meeting will be held on January 27th at the Courthouse at 7 p.m.

According to Article 33-2-9G Registration and Election Laws, in Garrett County, following each decennial census of the United States, the Garrett County Board shall:

(1) Evaluate the population of the county commissioners districts to determine whether the districts are equal population; and

(2) Recommend to the Garrett County delegation to the General Assembly any adjustments to the boundaries of the county commissioners' districts necessary to maintain districts of substantially equal population.

The supervisors of Garrett County have reviewed the official census data for 1990. As a result they drafted a proposed plan to be submitted to the General Assembly.

Under the proposed plan Commissioner District I will consist of Mt. Lake Park, Bloomington, Deer Park, Kitzmiller, Swanton and Ryan's Glade; Commissioner District II will consist of Accident, Avilton, Friendsville, The Elbow, Grantsville, Jennings, Finzel and Bittinger; Commissioner District III will consist of East Oakland, Red House, West Oakland, Crellin and Sang Run.

The meeting is an information meeting for any interested voters. The proposed changes will not affect registration, polling places or voter status. As a practical matter, only the Ryan's Glade, Bittinger and Sang Run will be affected by the boundary changes. This review is required every 10 years by law.

Jack Fridinger Named Ali Ghan Shrine Potentate

Jack W. Fridinger, Swallow Falls, was installed as potentate of the Ali Ghan Temple of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine on Friday, January 15.

Fridinger, who is the first Garrett County resident ever to serve as the Ali Ghan potentate, entered the Shrine in 1968 in Almas Temple in Washington, D.C. and transferred his membership to Ali Ghan Temple, Cumberland, in 1975 after he retired to Garrett County. He has been an active member of the Harige-Crown Unit based in Oakland and when in make-up is known as "Snippy" the clown.

Prior to retirement Fridinger served over 33 years with the Defense Dept. in the Washington Metropolitan area and retired from the Naval Ordnance Laboratory in Silver Spring. He moved to Garrett County in June of 1974.

During his working career and since retirement, Fridinger has been active in many governmental, civic, professional, fraternal, and political organizations. He has served as Judge of Orphans Court and on the Board of Election Supervisors in Garrett County. He is a member of the Oakland Rotary Club, Oakland Lodge No. 2151 of the Elks, Proctor Lodge No. 1349 of the American Legion, and serves on the Board of Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Fridinger became a Master Mason in Potomac Lodge No. 5, FAAM, Washington, D.C., in 1950 and is Past Master of that Lodge. He is an associate member of Oakland Lodge No. 192, and has been secretary of that Lodge for 10 years. In the Scottish Rite he is a 32nd Degree Mason and has received the knight Templar Degree in the York Rite.

Fridinger was born and reared in Washington County, (Hagerstown-Willemansport) the son of William and Hazel Fridinger, and is married to the former Laura A. (Lollie) Harding of Washington, D.C.

Ali Ghan Temple is one of the 191 Shrine Temples in North America that is committed to the support of 22 Shrine hospitals that offer free orthopedic, burn and spinal injury care to children under 18 years of age, regardless of race, religion or nationality. Ali Ghan Shrine includes the four Western Counties of Maryland.

Other Officers of the Divan elected and installed include Chief Rabbi Huntington Smith Jr., (Berkeley Springs), Assistant Rebban J. Thomas Jacobs (Frostburg), High Priest and Prophet Wayne A. Couter Sr., (Cumberland), Oriental Guide Larry R. Marshall (Frederick), Recorder G. Fred van Elsted and installed include Chief Rabbi Huntington Smith Jr., (Berkeley Springs), Assistant Rebban J. Thomas Jacobs (Frostburg), High Priest and Prophet Wayne A. Couter Sr., (Cumberland), Oriental Guide Larry R. Marshall (Frederick), Recorder G. Fred Widmyer (Rawlins), and Treasurer John Schartiger (Cumberland).

Transportation Grant Monies To Be Allocated

The Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH) is issuing $3.6 million in grants to the state's 24 local jurisdictions so they may provide transportation services to Medical Assistance recipients who have no means of getting to and from their medical providers.

"This safety net" has been created to help provide transportation services that were eliminated during the last round of budget cuts," said Governor William Donald Schaefer. "Under this plan, transportation will now be provided to those medical assistance recipients who have no other means of getting to their medical appointments."

Garrett County will receive $105,725.

Funding for the state's Medical Assistance General Transportation Program was eliminated last October as part of the state's overall budget reduction plan in the face of a projected revenue shortfall of $450 million. The action, approved by the Board of Public Works, saved an estimated $4.8 million in General Funds.

At the time of the board's action, its members directed DHMH to provide a transportation safety net for Medical Assistance recipients by transferring funds from other departmental programs.

"We are going to fund this safety net program with $1.8 million in state money, which will be matched dollar for dollar with federal funds under the Medicaid program," said Nelson J. Sabatini, secretary of the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene. "The state funds have been shifted from other programs within the department to help provide this service for the truly needy."

The program will be administered by local health departments throughout the state with the exception of Montgomery County which will provide the services through its transportation department. The funds will be available beginning February 16.

Two Taken To Local Hospital After Mon. Mishap

Two persons were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a two-vehicle mishap Monday on U.S. Rt. 219, north of Oakland.

Linda L. Frazee, Friendsville, was admitted for injuries, but has since been released, and Kenneth W. Dement, Oakland, was treated and released from the local hospital, according to a hospital nursing spokesperson.

Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, reported that Frazee, operating a 1989 Chevrolet, was traveling north on Rt. 219 when she lost control of her vehicle, crossed the center line, and struck a 1985 Ford pickup, operated by Dement.

Tfc. P.R. Brown investigated the 5:15 p.m. mishap. DRIVER IDENTIFIED

The driver involved in a fatal truck wreck last Thursday morning has been identified by Maryland State Police. Killed was Theo A. Maynard, 62, Apple Grove, W.Va., when the rig he was operating on Interstate 68 near Friendsville jackknifed and traveled through the guardrail and down a steep embankment. He was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident which was caused by icy road conditions.

DWI ARRESTS

Two persons were arrested for DWI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) by the Maryland State Police this past week.

Tfc. W.L. Mowbray charged Stephanie L. Harman, 22, Oakland, with DWI on Friday.

Robert J. Shea, 24, no address given, was charged with DWI on Monday by Tfc. P.R. Brown.

Clarification Noted

In a Garrett County District Court case article in last week's edition of The Republican, it was reported that Donna Easton, 20, Mtn. Lake Park, was found guilty of making a false statement to police. She had initially falsely stated that she was sexually assaulted by Jerry Cline, Mtn. Lake Park. She later admitted to police that she lied about the assault in revenge to Cline because he had charged her fiancée with assault, trespassing, harassment, and disturbing the peace. She also falsely claimed that she had consensual sex with Cline.

Cline reportedly had never been contacted by the Maryland State Police about the false charges against him nor does he know Easton personally. The Republican regrets any inconvenience this may have caused Cline or his family.

Science, Math Forum At GCC Slated By AAUW

A Science and Math Forum, featuring a community-wide demonstration of math manipulatives and science projects done by Garrett County students, will be held Tuesday, Feb. 9, at Garrett Community College, McHenry.

Sponsored by the Garrett County Chapter of the American Association of University Women, the event will begin at 7 p.m. and be held in Room 307-309 of the Continuing Education Building. Algebra tiles, geoboards, platonic solids, projects concerning the Pythagorean Theorem, along with projects by local students grades 4 through high school, will be displayed. Some 15-minute presentations will be given and coffee, tea, and snacks will be provided.

According to Janet K. Archer, AAUW vice president programs, the event is being sponsored to promote math and science learning and interest. She said it is tied in with the Computer, Math, and Science Fair that will be sponsored by the AAUW's of Western Maryland and West Virginia in Morgantown, W.Va., this May.

Persons with questions about the program may contact Mrs. Archer at 334-1503.

Two Circuit Court Cases End With Guilty Verdicts

Two men stood trial in Garrett County Circuit Court last week, one charged with misdemeanor theft and the other appealing a District Court guilty verdict. The Honorable Fred A. Thayer presided at the proceedings.

Timothy D. Hare, 21, Glen Burnie, made an alford plea of guilty to the charge of misdemeanor theft, and the plea was accepted by Thayer. The judge ordered a pre-sentence investigation for Hare and the defendant was released on bail.

Hare was apparently involved in the theft of a $5,000 stereo system and $4,500 worth of compact discs. The theft occurred in August 1991 and the victim in the case was Matthew Leuck, McHenry. The defendant and other subjects apparently broke into the Leuck residence and removed the stereo and CD's, storing them elsewhere. Other charges of burglary and breaking and entering a dwelling were not prosecuted, according to the court document.

An Oldtown man was unsuccessful in appealing a previous Garrett County District Court guilty verdict. Frank R. Humbertson, 44, was previously convicted of theft in district court and was sentenced to the Garrett County Jail for two years, suspended, fined $50, and ordered to pay restitution to Friend's Stockyard in the amount of $6,778.75. He was also to be on two years of supervised probation, according to the court report.

Humbertson pleaded not guilty in the appeal hearing, but Thayer found him to be guilty of the crime. The judge sentenced him to two years in the Maryland Department of Corrections, suspended, and 36 months of supervised probation. The defendant was also ordered to pay $5,190.57 to Friend's Stockyard.

Humbertson incurred the theft charge after he apparently obtained several livestock animals from Friend's Stockyard without paying for them. The defendant apparently took approximately 13 heifers and several lambs over a span of several months, according to the report. While he reportedly promised to pay for the animals in time, he apparently never did so.

Celebration Of GC Women Planning Meetings Set

A planning session for the 1993 Celebration of Garrett County Women was held in mid-January and was attended by representatives of several local organizations taking part in the event. A second meeting is planned for Feb. 2 at 1:30 p.m. in the Garrett Community College Continuing Education Building. Any organization that wishes to participate is invited to send a representative to the meeting.

Those in attendance at the January meeting includ-

Cases Of Theft

Jeep suit and other clothing, photo album, leather purse, and toys. Police responded to the scene and found footprints around the cabin, in addition to other evidence. The theft took place sometime between January 20-22, according to the report.

Alan Sisler, Deer Park, reported the theft of a front wheel cover apparently stolen from his Buick Park Avenue. The victim noticed the cover missing on Jan. 18. The vehicle had been parked at the Garrett County Health Department and other locations. The loss in this case has been set at $250.

A car phone was reported stolen Saturday. Richard W. Tepper, Mtn. Lake Park, told police that he had parked his car at his Powles Drive residence on Jan. 23, and on Jan. 24 he noticed that the dome light was on in the vehicle. Upon inspection, Tepper found the passenger door ajar and his car phone gone. There are no suspects in the case, according to the report.

Arrests Noted

An Oakland man was arrested Sunday, charged with battery, disorderly conduct, and breaking and entering a dwelling. Stephen E. Wotring, 22, apparently entered Angela Shaffer's trailer at 2:30 a.m. and first pushed her to the floor. He left the trailer, and then returned and grabbed the victim by the hair and punched her face, according to the complainant's statement.

After leaving a second time, the defendant reportedly returned again and began choking Ms. Shaffer, apparently threatening to kill her. The complainant came to the Sheriff's Office to describe the incident and, according to the officers report, was bruised on the left side of her face and had a lacerated lip.

According to the complainant's statement, she and Wotring had broken off a relationship one month ago, and she had not seen him in that time until he

A Calvert County man was arrested Monday, charged with fourth degree sex offense in Garrett County. Nicholas V. Gray, 19, St. Leonard, is accused of the sex offense against a local 14-year-old female, according to the report. Gray was released on his own recognizance.

Joshua M. Browning, 20, Westernport, was arrested Jan. 24 by Dep. J. Green for DWI. He was reportedly arrested on Rt. 219 at approximately 8:30 p.m.

Jason P. DelSignore, 19, Oakland, was arrested for DWI on Jan. 25, according to the police record. Green and Dep. R. Shaffer made the arrest in Mtn. Lake Park after DelSignore apparently wrecked his vehicle in a ditch.

Thomas W. Jackson, 37, Oakland, was arrested on Jan. 23 for DWI, according to the report. Jackson was arrested by Green on Rt. 219 at 1:30 a.m.

A bench warrant was served to Alfred Mullins, 55, Aberdeen. Mullins apparently failed to appear in Garrett County District Court to face a DWI charge.

Allen L. Teter Jr., 22, Kingwood, W.Va., was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant charging him with violation of probation. Teter was originally convicted

ART EXHIBITION AT GCC - An art exhibition of art students from the fall and spring semesters of 1992 at Garrett Community College is currently on display at the college's Bausch & Lomb Gallery. ed of DWI, according to the report.

Pamela M. Brant, 29, Frostburg, was arrested on the strength of a warrant from district court. Charges against her involved the writing of bad checks, according to the report.

Student Art Show Now On Exhibit At GCC Gallery

Currently on exhibition until February 25 is the annual Garrett Community College Student Art Show in the Bausch & Lomb Art Gallery of the college. The exhibit consists of selected artworks from the spring and fall semester students of 1992.

Images displayed range from representational to abstracted and non-objective design, according to Ron Skidmore, associate professor of art and coordinator of the Gallery.

The show includes over 70 pieces of art created in various media such as pencil drawings, collages, frottages, pen and ink drawings, ink wash drawings, watercolor paintings, oil paintings, ceramic sculpture, and pottery. Most of the artworks in the show are from the fall semester courses - Basic Design I, Painting I, Painting II, Ceramics, and Special Topics in Art. Several pieces are from the spring semester courses - Drawing I, Basic Design II, and Painting II.

The public is invited to view the artworks during the Gallery hours, Monday a.m. to 9 p.m. and Fridays through Thursday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Year of the Woman...

The Year of the Garrett County Woman has been proclaimed by the county commissioners, and a number of local organizations are planning a variety of special programs and celebrations that will span the entire year.

Given the fact that women have, in so many ways, been such a downtrodden lot for decades - no, for centuries - we heartily support the philosophy behind such an endeavor. It is true that women have "come a long way, baby," but various forms of discrimination still exist today, particularly in the workplace.

Among the activities slated for the Year of the Garrett County Woman will be the public recognition of various local women for their many accomplishments. This newspaper will carry such feature articles about some of our more outstanding female citizens. While we understand the significance of this exercise, we also know there are hundreds of local women who have made major contributions that never garnered any headlines, including those in unsung-hero staff or service occupations, or those in the ever-important area of rearing children.

We believe that the educational activities that are planned are far more important. If handled properly, this awareness campaign will provide the perfect setting to demonstrate, particularly to young women in our county, the many opportunities available to them as they progress into adulthood.

Too many of our female children are led to believe that their only role in life is to get out of high school, get married, and have children. In no way do we suggest that this is not an admirable and vital role, but we believe it is important for girls to know about and consider all of the options that are available to them, particularly in the area of post-high school educational opportunities. Also available will be lots of information, activities, and presentations on everything from women's health to parenting to nutrition and exercise to fashion and make-up.

We are hopeful that this effort will receive strong support and participation.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I would like to thank every one who helped in any way at the scene of the school bus accident last Thursday morning on Crosscut Road.

Our own Oakland Volunteer Fire Department that arrived so quickly and were all so kind and helpful.

The emergency medical personnel and all the Sheriff's Department and Maryland State police officers, especially TFC Wayne Dixon who was cheerful and considerate. Mr. Clark Sharpless and Mr. Ed Bach who helped make sure the buses would be safe to drive again. And I would like to thank our former supervisor of transportation, Mr. Michael Sines, for his emphasis on safety and bus evacuation drills. After 11 years of bus evacuation practice, when it was the "real thing" all my students passed nger evacuated the bus quickly and safely.

These student passengers also deserve a word of praise for their brave behavior at this time, especially John Mayne and Kevin Tasker for keeping calm and getting the smaller children off the bus first.

And lastly, although he might not thank me for it, I am glad if someone had to be in the path of my sliding school bus that it was another bus driver, Mr. Lawrence Sines, who had the skill and the presence of mind to avert what could have been a much more serious accident.

Sincerely,
Melissa Eastman Johnson
Contractor Driver Bus 16

To the Editor:

In response to Wrenny Smith's letter in last week's paper, I'm vehemently opposed to any student having to perform 75 hours of community service in order to graduate from high school in the state of Maryland. This is outrageous in my opinion, which means according to Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary, not conventional, exceeding the limits of what is usual, going beyond all standards of what is right or decent.

This is going to cost a lot of money to pay bus drivers, teachers, and aides to be in charge of these students.

At a time when the school budget is already strained and there is not enough money to cover the bare necessities, I think this is a bad idea.

I believe we pay enough taxes in this state and county to send our children to school for a real education, not to have a science class go out and pick up trash along a highway, or an English class to a nursing home. There are Boy and Girl Scouts, and other civic groups that already do these things.

I am not opposed to picking up trash along our highway, or visiting nursing homes, but do not have our students doing it in order to graduate when there are people sitting home doing nothing but waiting on their welfare checks every month.

I am certain that some could be put to work (pardon me for using a nasty word), cleaning up our state and county.

I understand that picking up trash and visiting nursing homes are only examples of some of the work the students would be doing, but I am still opposed to mandatory community service for students. It's like they are being punished for something.

Our taxes pay for everything this state does, including the governor's salary down to the least paid salary in the system, but this is still not enough for our state leaders. Now they want our children to pay back to the community 75 hours of service in order to graduate from high school in Maryland.

For what? I thought we lived in the Free State. Thank you for allowing me to vent my opinion in your paper.

Sincerely yours
Charles F. Craver

To the Editor:

Ask yourself, why, given the sorry state of our once great nation, should we celebrate the inauguration of another mainstream, conservative President of our country? Are there any signs that "meaningful" change is in the offing? Or are there real signs to the contrary? Look at his selections for secretary of commerce (the fox is in the hen house), attorney general (he'll have no difficulty holding others to a higher standard than he set for himself), secretary of the treasury (another fox let loose), and secretary of health and human services (a leftist admirer of Fidel Castro). And how about the ratio of promises made to promises kept - not that his promises are always worthy of execution.

If you are even vaguely aware of what is happening on the national political scene, you must know that neither of the two major parties is even remotely interested in addressing the catastrophic structural problems in our system of government that threaten our very survival; our credibility; our standing as a world leader. They prefer to work around the edges of a problem where they can continue to play their games, rather than attack its core where they, themselves, live and prosper. And if you are even remotely aware of the realities out in the real world, you must know that elected officials are primarily concerned with the maintenance of their own power base, to the near exclusion of every other consideration. It's a necessary part of the power syndrome of officials elected for life, for all practical purposes. And it will never change until the system itself is changed through term limitations, mandatory balanced budget and line item veto capability, to mention a few necessities.

If you accept the simple truths that men (and women) are fallible, and power corrupts, you begin to understand why, in politics, nothing is contemptible - making the imposition of term limitations on all politicians an absolute necessity of paramount importance to the survival of our nation. And it is a question of "survival," make no mistake about it.

Our country has not lost its viability, the two major parties have lost theirs! They are more interested in maintaining the status quo (read their own survival), than they are in attacking the obvious ills of our nation, which they have created through their own shortsightedness and venality. "All political parties die at last of swallowing their own lies." But we've got to hurry these two along!

We need a major upheaval in this country to turn it around. It can still be done at the ballot box, but time is fast running out.

Ronald R. Rowan
Shallmar

To the Editor:

The recent spending figures for the 1992 elections released by the Federal Elections Commission (FEC) - showing that spending for House races has jumped 41 percent from 1990 - underscores the need for comprehensive reform of the campaign finance laws.

In order to raise the huge amount of money necessary to run for office, most congressional candidates must turn to special interest Political Action Committees (PACs) and wealthy individuals to bankroll their campaigns. According to the FEC, PACs contributed over $160 million to congressional candidates in 1992. Large individual contributions (i.e., those over $200) to congressional candidates totaled $164.2 million in 1990. Can we really expect Congress to prevent environmental degradation, protect consumers, or stop special interest giveaways like the savings and loan debacle when their campaigns are being funded by the special interests that profit from these abuses?

President Clinton has spoken out for the need to reform the elections process. He said he would support, "even stronger" reform than the campaign finance bill passed last year by Congress and vetoed by President Bush. If he is serious about cleaning up Congress, President Clinton should act now and make campaign finance reform a top priority of his first 100 days.

An "even stronger" campaign reform package should include:

A. Limits on overall campaign spending to help create a level playing field for candidates.

B. Significant public resources, such as matching grants and low cost mailings

Fire Experts Issue Winter Home Safety Guidelines

News USA

(N) With the winds of winter sending temperatures down to the freezing mark and below, the U.S. Fire Administration (USFA) has issued recommendations to help prevent an expected rise in residential fire deaths. The guidelines are particularly important to areas of the United States where there is significant use of wood stoves, fireplaces, kerosene and space heaters.

According to Assistant USFA Administrator James Coyne, "Statistics show fires from heaters are the leading cause of fire death in the southeastern United States, and the third leading cause of residential fire deaths overall."

The organization recommends that space heaters be used only in well-ventilated rooms and places where they will not be easily knocked over, and cautions against putting the units too close to curtains, furniture and all combustibles. Electrical heaters should be plugged directly into wall sockets, no into extension cords, and should be unplugged when not in use.

Fireplaces and woodstoves should be fueled only by seasoned wood and never by green wood, artificial logs or trash. Protective screens should be used when fires are burning, and chimneys should be cleaned annually.

Sincerely,
Christina Mastrianni
Maryland Public Interest Research Group (PIRG)

To the Editor:
I will try to keep this letter short. I would like to encourage all Marylanders and West Virginians and all Americans who believe that Target: Detectors.

The USFA also aims to reverse a trend toward what it sees as a complacent attitude about smoke detectors.

"About 86 percent of homes in the United States have smoke detectors - the problem is with people maintaining them," says Coyne. "It's tragic to see so many deaths occur in homes where firefighters are able to look right at the wall or ceiling and see the detector in plain view, only to open it and find the batteries missing or the wires disconnected."

The best way to ensure the effectiveness of the detectors, Coyne added, is to test the batteries monthly and change them as often as is necessary. A working smoke detector, he noted, doubles a person's chance of surviving a fire.

Once detectors sound, the organization said, all family members should go to a common meeting place outside, and never return to a burning home or building. Everyone including children should know how to call for emergency help.

What many people don't realize is that fire kills more Americans than all the major natural disasters combined," said Coyne. "Close to 5,000 people die and another 30,000 are injured."

The USFA has also announced the availability of a free doorknob "hang tag" that explains details and other dangers in greater detail. Individuals can receive it by writing The United States Fire Administration, Dept. NU, P.O. Box 70273, Washington, DC 20024.

Dial-A-Story with Biblical and moral messages is available 24-hours a day, seven days a week by calling 334-8677. The free story service is provided by St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland.

Offering electronic Keno as well.

Enter, now, the race tracks (some of which also have caught the eye of the law). Track owners are constantly bellyaching about high costs and low profits (salaries excluded). And they've been awarded major concessions by the pie-slicers in Annapolis. First, the state greatly reduced its share of the "take" so track owners could - ha, ha - increase purses and attract better horses. Next, the state authorized off-track betting parlors where you can put your credit on the line for a $2 bet. The first one is about to open in Frederick.

Now the hot rumor along the Rialto is that Joe DiFrancis, part owner and operator of Pimlico and Laurel, wants the state to legalize video poker machines for race tracks only. The tracks can have Keno, all right, but they'd get only the legally allowable share of the profits. With video poker they'd be like hogs in clover. They'd own the machines and get all of the profits.

Mr. DiFrancis, remember, is also a major partner (along with ABC-TV sports) in the combine that's converting the Inner Harbor's Power Plant into what's coyly called a "sports palace." And anyone who thinks that the Power - Plant isn't destined to become a gambling casino featuring off-track betting, Keno and, at some point, maybe video poker machines, had better take a sobriety test.

And to show his gratitude for what Maryland's done for him and for racing in the state, Mr. DiFrancis is taking his money and building a race track in Texas.

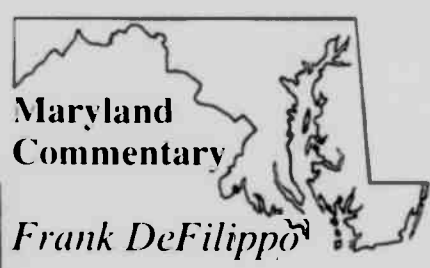

When slots were abolished in 1963, the rap was that illicit money passed among gambling hall owners and government officials. There was widespread skimming and the machines were rigged against the players. And mothers spent entire days, with babies on their hips, feeding quarters to the bottomless one-armed bandits. Now slots are back again with a vengeance.

When the lottery was established in 1975, it was done with great caution as a popular game and not as an addiction that's assumed the unintended consequence of the state's third largest source of revenue after income and sales taxes. And the Lottery Agency's under heavy pressure from Mr. Schaefer to pump up revenues with hard-sell ads and cut-price pie games.

The issue of video poker is still to be addressed. And the zip codes for future off-track betting parlors and Keno casinos are still being selected.

It's true. When it comes to gambling, what goes around comes around. And we, the people, are the suckers every time.

Gambling Hits Maryland Hard

It was 30 years ago this month that the General Assembly took up legislation to outlaw slot machines because of their corrupting influence in the four Southern Maryland counties where they were legal.

Today, the legislature is considering a Nevada-style gaming commission to regulate the proliferation of gambling in Maryland - legal and illegal - the Lottery, Keno, horse racing, bingo, tip jars, off-track betting, casino nights, cruise ship gambling, video poker games, maybe even the illegal numbers.

The question about gambling seems not so much the variety of games that are becoming available to the betting public. But more to the point, it's increasingly a matter of who gets their greedy little hands on what share of the gambling dollars that are bet. No matter how many games there are, there are only so many gambling dollars to go around.

And the difference between then and now is that the state wants a larger and larger piece of the action. So do the race tracks.

The Democratic primary election for governor in 1962 was a three-cornered affair among the incumbent, Millard J. Tawes, the perennial populist marplot George P. Mahoney, and a gentleman farmer from Southern Maryland, David Hume, son-in-law of the Daddy Warbucks of his day, industrialist Cyrus Eaton.

Mr. Hume ran a one-note campaign. Abolish slot machines. With the campaign assistance of the shiny brights of the era (Walter Orlinsky and his merry band), Mr. Hume mobilized from out of nowhere and accumulated 119,000 votes, even though he ran third.

But the votes were enough to give Mr. Hume leverage in the State House. In exchange for his endorsement for governor in the general election, Mr. Hume forced Mr. Tawes to pledge that he would banish the one-armed bandits from Maryland forever. Mr. Tawes grudgingly lived up to his promise.

Against the backdrop of a grand jury investigation into charges of bribery (never proven) and a platoon of slot machine lobbyists marauding the State House, the Assembly voted to phase out slots over a three-year period from Anne Arundel, Charles, St. Mary's and Calvert Counties.

But slots are back again, thank you, the result of a munificent campaign gesture from Gov. William Donald Schaefer. And they're doing a $30 million a year business, as near as anybody can tell, because they're unregulated. The one-armed bandits had found their way back into fraternal organization halls until former Attorney General Stephen H. Sachs, Mr. Schaefer's rival for governor in 1986, ruled that they were operating illegally.

But as part of his quiver of campaign promises in 1986, Mr. Schaefer pledged to repatriate slots if he was elected. He was. They were. And now, once again, their presence is under investigation by another Attorney General, Joseph L. Curran, Jr., presumptive candidate for governor.

So, too, is the Keno contract under the U.S. Attorney's microscope because of its non-bid award to G-Tech, the Rhode Island firm that also has the Lottery computer contract and thus had the hardware already installed at many locations.

Remember, too, that only recently there were a half dozen indictments by the U.S. Attorney relating to the bingo in Anne Arundel County. The mob found those little old ladies from the sodalities and garden clubs a convenient way to sanitize their ill-gotten gains from gambling, racketeering, fencing, loan sharking and sham auto thefts for insurance. The money came upstream from Florida, through the rinse cycle on the books of Bingo World and returned to Florida freshly laundered and starched.

And it's one of those toothsome twists that commercial bingo was allowed to remain legal in Anne Arundel - the only place outside of Las Vegas and several Indian nations - as a trade-off for outlawing slots. And now, bingo halls, commercial and the theatrically non-profit, are about to become Keno's biggest beneficiaries. They'll be ot-

Md. House Speaker Advocates Merging State Departments

The Maryland General Assembly this year will be studying some re-organization proposals that would result in the merging of several state departments -- most notably the Department of Natural Resources with the Department of Agriculture. Also under consideration is a plan to combine the Departments of Budget and Fiscal Planning, General Services and Personnel, and the Office of Planning into a new department called Budgetary and Technological Development. Speaker of the House, R. Clayton Mitchell reportedly made the proposals to the assembly in the form of three separate bills, the third of which would incorporate the Maryland Natural Resources Police into the Maryland State Police system, forming the new Department of Public Safety and Correctional Service.

According to reports, Governor William Donald Schaefer has responded to the proposals with the threat of a veto, reasoning that the re-organization effort would be better served by being introduced when a new administration takes over.

The re-organization proposals are all designed to downsize state government and alleviate the duplication of services and the unnecessary costs associated with that. The proposals specifically target a 20% savings.

The Maryland Department of Agriculture has been quick to respond to the proposals, with officials saying that the merging of departments would, in fact, result in a larger bureaucracy, "reducing responsiveness and efficiency."

See Page C-2 for a more complete reporting of the Department of Agriculture's response.

Schaefer's Budget Plan Claims To Control Spending

Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer has reportedly stated that his Fiscal Year 1994 budget will help to control state spending, even though the proposal includes funding increases for some social programs and aid to local governments. Baltimore and the 23 other jurisdictions are scheduled to receive a total of $185.8 million more than they currently receive.

Other spending increases under the governor's plan would include an increase of $18.9 million for Medicaid and welfare, and a two percent increase in welfare benefits. Reports indicate that more people are applying for welfare and Medicaid because of the increase in health care costs.

The $12.7 billion budget plan, however, would eliminate approximately 700 jobs in an effort to downsize state government.

Correction Noted

In last week's issue of The Republican newspaper, it was incorrectly stated in a story about Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer's proposal to provide private school vouchers for some of the state's low-income students that the voucher would amount to $2,900 -- approximately double what is spent per child in the public school system.

The article should have stated that the amount is approximately half the amount spent on a student in the public school system within the state.

The Republican regrets the error.

Schaefer Again Asking For Ban On Assault Guns

Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer has introduced legislation that would ban a total of 15 models of assault weapons -- about half the amount he proposed to ban last year. This is the third year in a row the governor has introduced legislation to curb the sale of rapid-firing, military style guns.

Reports indicate, however, that this year's attempt will fare no better than last year's when the measure was voted down.

Schaefer also stated he plans to introduce another bill that would close the loopholes in the state's gun registration law by placing regulations on private gun merchants at gun shows.

According to reports, the chairperson of the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee stated that a majority of the 11-member committee is against the proposal.

House GOP Caucus Disputes Schaefer's Budget Numbers

House Minority Leader Ellen R. Sauerbrey recently announced that a closer examination of Governor William Donald Schaefer's fiscal year 1994 budget request calls for a level of spending that exceeds the adjusted FY 1993 spending level by 7.5%, not the 2.3% increase the administration claims.

"They're cooking the books," Sauerbrey said. "It's business as usual in Annapolis. By failing to account for programs eliminated by the General Assembly in FY 1993 and by treating new spending requests as if they were already approved and appropriated, the administration minimizes the actual growth of the spending program its presenting to the citizens of Maryland."

The difference in the figures originates in the method by calculating the actual FY 1993 spending level approved by the General Assembly. The figure used by the governor to state the FY 1993 amended budget appropriation has subtracted from it the $224 million general fund reduction approved during the special session, but not the $147 million reduction in payments of local governments' Social Security costs. As a result, Schaefer overstates the FY 1993 general fund appropriation expenditure and, therefore, understates the increase in the FY 1994 General Fund appropriation request, Sauerbrey explained.

In addition, the governor's FY 1993 figures include $69 million in requests, for deficiencies that the administration hopes to spend in this budget year, she said. These two figures together account for a large disparity in the dollar amount of additional spending authority request in the governor's budget. Schaefer calculates a $177 million increase while the Republican Caucus reaches a figure of $398 million. This, plus the $69 million in deficiencies requested (but not yet approved by the General Assembly), yields a figure of $462 million in total new spending requested over the FY 1993 budget approved by the General Assembly, which is a 7.5% increase.

The governor balances his FY 1993 and 1994 budgets with new revenue sources totaling nearly $197 million from Keno in FY 1993, and $104 million from Keno in FY 1994. An additional $43 million is raised primarily by new charges to taxpayers in the form of higher fees for government services, inspections, and professional licensing.

"Clearly, this level of spending will outstrip existing revenues again this year," Sauerbrey said. "This cannot stand. The governor has miscalculated in more ways than one."

Bill Would Change State's Capital Punishment Law

A bill is currently being introduced in Maryland General Assembly by Senator Walter M. Baker, chairperson of the Judicial Proceedings Committee, that would change the state's method of execution to lethal injection. The current method of execution is by gas chamber but reportedly has not been employed by the state in over 30 years.

The proposal also would speed up the process and would reduce the number of appeals by death row inmates being heard in Maryland courts. Judges or juries have reportedly handed down a total of 57 death penalties to 38 different people since 1978. Since then, appeals have been made that have lasted for years, and convictions and sentences alike have often been reversed.

The General Assembly was besieged this week by a group of husbands, wives, friends, and neighbors of recent Maryland murder victims to pass the bill, but reports indicate that Governor William Donald Schaefer is hesitant to do so.

FRIENDSVILLE MAYOR ATTENDS INAUGURAL - Friendsville Mayor Spencer Schloasagle was in attendance for the inauguration of the 42nd President of the United States last week. Schloasagle observed several events and attended receptions from Sunday through Thursday, culminating his visit with meeting President Bill Clinton shortly after the inaugural ceremony. The mayor invited Clinton to visit Garrett County anytime, and reported that the new President responded cordially. Schloasagle also met Vice-President Al Gore. Pictured above is a shot of the inaugural scene from where the mayor was standing. Shown below is Schloasagle with the Honorable Vera Hall, city councilperson for Baltimore City and the Maryland Democratic Party chairperson. The photo was taken during the state's Democratic Party's inaugural gala on Sunday. Schloasagle also attended a reception for Senator Barbara Mikulski. The mayor noted that several Garrett Countyans attended the inaugural, and that he was also accompanied by a college (Frostburg State University) friend, Robert Kenia of Fairfax, Va.

R. A. Farmer To Perform At Mountaintop '93

Award winning pianist and vocalist, Richard Allen Farmer, will appear in concert at "Mountaintop '93," a week-end conference for men and women to be held March 5-7 at Lakeview Resort in Morgantown, W. Va. He will perform at "A Festival in Celebration of the Righteousness of God."

Dr. Farmer travels extensively as a Bible expositor and concert artist who "aims to make the Scripture and Christian music come alive for congregations and audiences across the country and throughout the world." He has also authored a handbook on creativity, It Won't Fix If You Don't Try.

"Richard Allen Farmer has been performing at Mountaintop since its inception in 1987 and is always one of the highlights of this annual conference. Not only is he a gifted musician, but he has a delightful sense of humor and is an inspirational communicator. His concert is indeed a celebration!" said Anne Robinson, chairman of the nonprofit, nondenominational sponsoring organization.

Ms. Robinson is the former Anne Gibson, daughter of Maxine Gibson, Deep Creek Lake, and the late Dr. Robert Gibson.

Best-selling author Peter Marshall, who has gained national recognition as a teacher on Christian growth and maturity, will be the featured speaker at this annual get-away weekend. He will present the five-session seminar Restoring America.

Conference rates, including all programs, four meals, and two nights lodging, begin at $135 per person. More information can be obtained from Living for Christ Conferences, P.O. Box 217, New Martinsville, WV 26155. (304) 455-LFCC(5322).

AURORA/EGLEON NEWS

LIONS HOST INDIANA MEMBER

When it came time to replace an aging ambulance in the Aurora, Indiana, Rescue Squad, the Aurora Lions Club came to the rescue, as was custom. They provided the financial resources with which to purchase a new ambulance and, in discussing the disposal of the old one, Lion Robert Julrick remembered passing through the small town of Aurora, W. Va., as he made trips to and from Washington, D.C.

Aurora, Indiana, also located on U.S. 50, is south-west of Cincinnati, and because of the names, Lion Julrick made contact with Union Ambulance through Preston County Emergency Services. Further contact by telephone provided assistance and an invitation for a visit took place last week at the regular January 21 meeting of the Mountain Lions Club.

The president and vice president of the Union Ambulance, Rose Ina Harsh, were also present for the meeting, during which Julrick further acquainted them with details of the plan.

Accompanying Julrick was his mother, Mrs. Suzanne Julrick, and brother, Greg. The family was enroute to their home in Aurora after being in Washington for the inauguration of President William Clinton. They were all overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Harsh at Horse Shoe Run.

NATIONAL WOOL PARTICIPANTS RETURN

Becky Snyder, Aurora, West Virginia winner in the Junior Division of the Make It Yourself With Wool competition, and Lee Ann Vecellio of Beckley and a WVU student, winner of the senior division, participated January 20-22 in the national competition held at the Dallas-Ft. Worth Hyatt Regency.

Miss Snyder modeled a dress made of Pendleton wool in blue and blue plaid and Miss Vecellio modeled a cream-colored two-piece knit of mohair and other wool yarns. While there, they attended classes on personal grooming and were sponsored at lunch, and a barbecue held on a nearby ranch, by the American Sheep Association. The style revue was held on Friday evening and followed by the barbecue. Practice for the event occupied much of the time.

Accompanying the contestants were Preston County Extension Agent Pat Pinnell, Miss Snyder's mother, Linda, and Joyce Ely of Gladestown, a Preston County home-maker. On Saturday, the group rented a car and went to South Fork, to the zoo, the Texas Book Depository and the Hard Rock Cafe. During the week they had visited the Dallas Ft. Worth Museum and Suckyards and Billy Bob's.

Each contestant was given some Pendleton wool before returning home.

PERSONAL MENTION

On Sunday evening, Mike Lantz showed slides of his recent trip to Sucre, Bolivia, where he helped in the construction of a seminary. This showing was at the Amboy United Methodist Church.

Thirty-six Amboy youth and adults went to Alpine Lake Resort for swimming recently. They are presently raising funds for a trip to ICHTUSE to be held at Asbury College in Kentucky this summer. A hog sale is currently underway.

Morgan Fulk returned to his home last week and is reportedly recovering from his recent hospitalization.

Recent visitors with Delbert and Lois Waybright and Mrs. Wilma Waybright, Brookside, were Lois's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cave of Barre, Vt.

David Stemple is currently a patient in Monongalia General Hospital where he was transferred last Thursday and is reportedly improving from several recent heart attacks.

Mrs. Sandy Callahan of Aurora slipped last Wednesday evening when emerging from her vehicle and injured her foot, requiring surgery at Garrett County Memorial and a brief hospital stay.

Recent donations to the Aurora VFD have been from Victor Kope, Peggy Houser, James and Ruth Magruder, Miners and Merchants Bank, American Legion Post 71, Dayton Alexander, Ruby Kempher, and Russell and Donna Beckman.

Pat and Lori Adams, Margaret McWilliams and Jessie Bachtel, all Horse Shoe Run, spent the Martin Luther King holiday in Aberdeen, Ohio, visiting with Carolyn and Jerry Laurie.

Services were held Sunday, Jan. 24, at the Maple Spring Church for Mrs. Jean Lantz, 73, of Eglon who died Thursday, Jan. 21, at the Cortland Acres Nursing Home, Thomas.

Pastor and Mrs. Dan Hammel of Eglon attended a retreat for ministers and their spouses held January 22-24 at the Church of the Brethren Center in New Windsor, Md.

Mrs. Avenell Parsons was admitted Friday to Ruby Memorial Hospital for eye surgery and, because of a delay caused by emergencies, underwent surgery on Saturday morning. She returned Sunday to her home in Eglon to complete her recuperation.

Mrs. Jenny Garrett of Eglon was taken Thursday to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where she remains a patient.

Amy Mathes of Friendsville visited Sunday with her father, Charles Mathes, and brother, Anthony at Eglon. Rose and Kathryn Harvey of Clarksburg were Friday visitors with Frank and Wilda Stemple, Aurora.

HOMEMAKERS MEET Betty Fint was hostess for the January 19 meeting of the Aurora Extension Homemakers and discussed the implications to good health when entering into a very low calorie diet, (800 calories). She told of the health consequences, showed a short video on underwater weighing, and then prepared a stir fry dish while Martha Bolyard described an 800 calorie diet and Dorothy Spaid talked of the more healthy 1,200 calorie diet. Fortune cookies were passed during the food preparation and then the stir-fry vegetables were served over rice, accompanied by fruit and an almond cookie.

Devotions were by Dean Siderwhoread, "Why Should I Go to Church?"

Mrs. Fint conducted the business meeting. The club purchased seven gifts from the Santa Tree names, six of which were distributed in this area. Achievement Night will be held April 1.

Twelve members: Martha Bolyard, Maxine Hauser, Fern Jamison, Mildred Kovalek, Virginia Martin, Sue Mayne, Dean Sider, Ernestine Sider, Dorothy Spaid, Wilda Stemple, Rennie Conrad and the hostess were present along with two children, Robin Martin and April Mayne. The hostess showed the group through her new home, especially noting her handwork in the solid white quilt on her bed, other quilts, and two unfinished chests of drawers. Winner of the pig in the poke was Virginia Martin.

The next meeting will be held at 1 p.m. on February 16 in the home of Opal Myers with the hostess serving as lesson leader and Rennie Conrad presenting the devotion.

CORRECTION Charles and Carolyn Wiles are great grandparents of newborn Savannah Rae Sidebottom.

OBITUARIES Mary Catherine Jean Lantz, 73, of Eglon died Thursday, Jan. 21, 1993, at Cortland Acres Nursing Home, Thomas.

She was born in Preston County June 7, 1919, a daughter of the late George C. and Bertha Aletta McVicker.

She was a member of the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren.

Surviving are two sons, William D. Lantz Sr., of Aurora, and Franklin McVicker of Cincinnati, Ohio; one daughter, Delores Becker of Rawlings; six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Raymond D. Lantz, on August 8, 1991, and by one brother.

Services were held at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren, Eglon, by Pastor Daniel Hammel on Sunday, Jan. 24. Interment was in the Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Lantz Ridge.

The family requests that donations in her memory be made to Union Ambulance Service, c/o Diana Bachtel, Rt. 1, Box 322, Eglon, WV 26716. Services were provided by Burke Funeral Home, Rowlesburg.

CURTIS E. LOCKHART Curtis E. Lockhart, 79, of Amboy died Thursday, Jan. 14, 1993, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

He was born May 10, 1913, in Parkersburg, a son of the late Francis and Victoria Wile Lockhart.

He was a member of Amboy United Methodist Church and was a retired dairy farmer.

He is survived by his wife, Gladys Price Lockhart, Amboy; two sons, Alvin Lockhart of Gray Court, S.C., and Roy Lockhart of Cocoa, Fla.; one daughter, Mrs. Denton (Donna) Goff of Amboy; one sister, Mrs. Beulah Dunbar of Amboy, nine grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren. Services were held at the Amboy United Methodist Church on Saturday, Jan. 16, with the Rev. Dennis Mehaffie officiating. Interment was in Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Lantz Ridge. Arthur H. Wright Funeral Home, Terra Alta, was in charge of arrangements.

VITA Volunteers To Be At Town Hall Thursdays

VITA, which stands for Volunteer Income Tax Assistance, is an IRS-sponsored program that offers free help in preparing basic personal income tax returns.

VITA volunteers will be available at the Terra Alta Town Hall every Thursday from Feb. 4 through April 15, from 10 a.m. to noon.

VITA volunteers are trained and certified by the Internal Revenue service to help taxpayers file accurate returns. An accurate return insures that taxpayers pay no more than they should and that they receive all the credits, benefits, and refunds to which they are entitled.

VITA will go to other places to assist individuals or groups who cannot get to the Terra Alta Town Hall on Thursday mornings. Persons may call 780-2201 to make arrangements.

Special Olympic Try-Outs Held At Alpine Lake

The first ever Winter Special Olympic Try-Outs for Preston County were held at Alpine Lake Resort near Terra Alta on Monday, January 18. The Preston County Sheltered Workshop coordinated the registration and activities for the day, with the help of Alpine Lake.

The Sheltered Workshop group traveled by the Workshop bus from Reedsville. The Alpine Lake staff and a group of volunteers provided instruction for the try-out participants in both downhill and cross country skiing.

Following the morning of skiing, Alpine Lake served the participants and volunteers a buffet luncheon which included tossed salad, lasagna, assorted desserts, and soft drinks.

After lunch, the Alpine staff presented the participants with Alpine Lake pins. Afternoon activities included dancing with music by local band Wild Thunder and swimming in Alpine Lake's indoor pool.

Participants from the Sheltered Workshop included Otto Andrews, Jeff Bigler, Lori Bishoff, Carolyn Butler, Pam Butler, Kim Cogar, Danny Feather, Glen Henline, Ray Knight, and Eddie Thorn.

The Preston County Sheltered Workshop expressed its appreciation to the Alpine Lake staff and everyone whose efforts and cooperation made the event a success.

Cigarette Smoking and Cataract Development

Researchers have discovered a link between cigarette smoking and cataract development. In a large study of over 22,000 male physicians, as reported in Journal of the American Medical Association, heavy cigarette smokers (more than 20 per day) were five times more likely than non-smokers to develop vision-impaired cataracts. In a study of over 50,000 women, risk of developing cataracts was greater than for non-smokers.

First Financial Corp. Announces Quarterly Results

First Financial Corporation of Western Maryland (NASDAQ:FFWM), the holding company for First Federal Savings Bank of Western Maryland, has announced that net income, after taxes, for the six months ended December 31, 1992, was $1.2 million or $.89 per share compared to $1.9 million for the six months ended December 31, 1991. Approximately $990,000 of the 1991 total was non-recurring income resulting from the sale of a below investment grade security that had been previously written off.

Contributing to the earnings in 1992 were gains of $504,000 on the sale of mortgage-backed and investment securities. Also, the Company recorded a smaller provision for losses on loans and real estate owned of $163,000 in 1992 as compared to a provision of $805,000 in 1991. The reduction was due in part to recoveries in 1992 from assets previously written down and also to the Company's ongoing analysis of its loan portfolio. In addition, the 1992 results include compensation expense of $488,000 relating to the Company's employee stock ownership plan (ESOP), a stock option plan and separate recognition plans for directors and key management personnel which were approved by the Company's shareholders in October 1992. There was no corresponding expense in 1991. Also, legal expenses have increased approximately $288,000 from 1991 primarily because of costs incurred in connection with being a public company.

Net income for the quarter ended December 31, 1992, totaled $228,000 or $.16 per share compared to $.15 per share for the three months ended December 31, 1991. As previously mentioned, the 1992 results include compensation expense totaling $488,000 relating to various stock plans. The 1991 results include the aforementioned gains on the sale of investment securities. There were no corresponding gains in the 1992 quarter. Net income for the 1992 quarter includes a charge for losses on loans and real estate owned of $246,000 including $230,000 relating to the company's 18% interest in a commercial property previously transferred to real estate owned. The provision for losses in 1991 totaled $455,000.

NEW COMMUNITY SERVICE - Beginning Monday, February 1, Marsha King, owner of Mtn. Lake Park IGA, will begin a grocery delivery program for senior residents of Oakland, Mtn. Lake Park, Crallin, Deer Park, and Swanton. Orders may be called to IGA at 334-6184 on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays before 11:30 a.m. Delivery will be made the same afternoon. Charge for the service is $5 for each delivery. Payment for groceries and delivery must be made by cash or check. Shown is Jane Siskeler, left, senior information and assistance coordinator for the Area Agency on Aging; and Marsha King, owner of Mtn. Lake Park IGA, discussing the community service.

Per share information for the six month and three month periods ended December 31, 1991 has not been provided since the bank did not complete its conversion from a mutual savings bank to a stock savings bank until February 1992.

Net interest income increased $686,000 or 14.3% to $5.5 million for the six months ended December 31, 1992 from $4.8 million for the six months ended December 31, 1991. Net interest income increased $355,000 or 14.7% to $2.8 million for the quarter ended December 31, 1992 from $2.4 million for the quarter ended December 31, 1991.

At December 31, 1992, First Financial had assets totaling $348.6 million, an increase of 1.8% from the balance at June 30, 1992.

At December 31, 1992, First Financial had stockholders' equity of $35.5 million or 10.2% of total assets. The number of common shares outstanding was 1,275,652 and book value per common share outstanding was $27.84.

The Company paid a quarterly cash dividend of $.10 per share on December 30 to stockholders of record at the close of business December 15, 1992.

Richard C. Deckerhoff, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, stated, "Our primary focus has been on managing the business efficiently by concentrating our efforts on marketing our products effectively, customer service and conservative lending."

First Financial Corporation of Western Maryland, based in Cumberland, is the holding company for First Federal Savings Bank of Western Maryland, which provides a full range of financial services through 12 offices in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties.

Marylanders Spend More On Entertainment

Marylanders spent $97.2 million on taxable entertainment during October, November, and December, 1992, nearly 10% more than during the same three months of the previous year, according to State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein. "Entertainment spending is an indicator of how people are spending their disposable income," he said.

The entertainment spending translates into more than $6.6 million in admissions and amusement tax revenue for local governments.

Almost all major entertainment categories showed increases in spending. Marylanders spent almost $16.5 million on movie tickets, a 14.6% increase over the same period last year. Statewide spending for athletic events increased by more than 65%, to $12.3 million. Spending for athletic facilities and equipment rentals increased by about 5%, to $3.3 million. However, spending for skating and skate shoe rentals declined by about 12% to $733,057.

Golf greens fees, cart rentals and driving ranges were responsible for consumer spending of more than $11 million, up 11.3%.

Spending on the types of indoor activities popular in the colder months also posted increases. Arcades benefitted from a one percent increase in spending for coin-operated amusement devices, to $9.4 million. Marylanders spent more than $4.5 million on shows and exhibits, a 12% increase over spending for the same quarter last year.

"All of this spending for entertainment generates admissions and amusement tax revenue which our office collects for Maryland's counties, cities and towns," Goldstein said. The comptroller noted that checks totaling $6,648,347 are on their way to local governments as their share of the admissions and amusement tax receipts. Included in the amount is $449,571 to the Maryland Stadium Authority which the law provides as its share of admissions and amusement tax receipts.

"This distribution is about 11.4% more than the $5,969,408 we returned to the local governments for the October-December period of 1991," Goldstein said. "We collect this revenue at rates set by local officials and return the money to local governments each quarter."

Garrett County will receive $23,681, up significantly from the FY 1992 second quarter total of $16,791.

Treva L. Kerns Receives Award To Attend FSU

Treva Leigh Kerns, Oskaloosa Ct., Rockville, has received a Meritorious Achievement Award to attend Frostburg State University.

Her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Brennehan, are residents of Accident and her great-grandfather, Austin Platter, lives in Grantsville. Her parents, Doris and Bill Kerns, are graduates of Northern High School and Mrs. Kerns is a 1970 graduate of FSU.

Ms. Kerns, who plans to study psychology, is a senior at Richard Montgomery High School, where she is a member of the marching and symphonic bands and a participant in county and state solo festivals. She is also a member of the National Honor Society and the Key Club and is varsity volleyball manager.

Funding for the award is provided by the University of Maryland System and administered by the FSU Scholarship Committee. Selection is based on academic achievement, leadership qualities or demonstrated abilities in the visual or performing arts.

GCC To Offer Dried Flower Class

A course titled The Art of Dried Flowers is being offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College. The course is scheduled to be held each Tuesday for a total of six weeks, beginning February 2, from 8-8 p.m. at the Oakland Center of the college.

Students participating in the course will be given the opportunity to learn the art of drying flowers for the purpose of making floral centerpieces and arrangements, according to Pat Baer, program coordinator.

Instructors for the course will be Shannia Perrine and Mae Custer of Custer's Dried Flower Shop.

Tuition for the course will be $15 plus a $4 fee and materials. Students may obtain a list of materials required for the course from Baer at the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College.

Registration is limited and will be taken on a first-come, first-served basis. Persons desiring additional information may contact Baer at 334-8304.

GRANTSVILLE
by Lisa Hutzler, reporter
The January meeting was brought to order by Jamie Howitineck. The pledges were led by Jenny Lytle. Sarah Hutzler, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting. The treasurer's report was given by Trina Green.

4-H record books for 1992 were collected so they could be sent to the Extension Office.

The recognition dinner was held and the new officers for 1993 were installed: president, Melissa Weimer; vice president, Tammy Wiland; secretary, Cindy Weimer; treasurer, Crystal Colmer; and reporter, Lisa Hutzler. The adult leaders are: Trudy Tester, Karen Hutzler, Debbie Green, and Sally Weimer.

Alice Hevner, Extension agent, installed the new officers.

The next meeting will be Monday, February 1, 7 p.m., at the Sportmen's Club.

Duling, Shepherd Pacing Lakers

Michele Duling

Heather Shepherd

Freshman Michele Duling is leading the Garrett Community College women's team in scoring and is currently ranked fourth in nation, according to last week's NJCAA Division 11 poll. The former Southern High School standout is averaging 22.5 points per game with a field goal percentage of 41.9% and is second on the team in free throw percentage with 80.6%.

"Michele has been a pleasure to work with; she works hard all the time," remarks Dennis Gibson. "Coach Don Stemple has developed her into a complete player which makes my job a lot easier."

Heather Shepherd, a former standout of Fort Hill, is ranked 11th in the nation in scoring, averaging 18.5 points a game. She leads the team in steals and assists with 4.1 pg and 3.3 pg, and is second in overall field goal percentage with 43.5.

After losing their opening game to Frederick Community College, the Lakers have responded by posting a seven-game winning streak. They hope to continue their streak when they host nationally ranked (5th)

Allegany CC, tonight at 7:30 p.m.

Scheffel Takes Two Firsts In FSU Swim Meet

Dawn Scheffel, a member of the Frostburg State University women's swim team, recorded two first places in a meet last week against Grove City and Bethany colleges.

Scheffel, daughter of George and Dawn Scheffel, Oakland, won the 500-yard freestyle event with a time of 6:21.52 and was a member of the first place 400-yard freestyle team (4:19.67).

A freshman and graduate of Southern High School, Scheffel is a former member of the Garrett County Manta Rays swim team.

The FSU women's swim team, which is currently 3-4 on the season, defeated the Bethany team, 64-22, and lost to Grove City, 63-44.

Lakers Nipped By Dundalk, Defeat Baltimore Before Losing To Allegany

A loss on a last-second lay-up, a win for Fan Appreciation Night, and a defeat by their arch rival summarizes the past up-and-down week for the Garrett Community College men's basketball team.

The Lakers were nipped by visiting Dundalk Community College Friday night, 77-76; tripped up Baltimore City CC on Saturday, 73-68, also in McHenry; and then lost to visiting Allegany Community College last night, 81-63. The 9-11 Lakers will host Butler this Saturday (7:30 p.m.).

The Maryland JUCO Conference loss to Dundalk occurred when Darnell Hood broke loose for a lay-up with two seconds remaining in the game.

The Lakers virtually had the game in the bag when they led, 76-75, and Dundalk turned the ball over with just 13 seconds left. But Fred Wilson was fouled and missed the front end of a one-and-one, giving the Lions the opportunity for Hood's winning bucket.

Garrett had a 46-38 lead at halftime, but Dundalk DUNDALK CC (77)

LIONS CLUB HOSTS BLIND SKIERS - The Silver Tree Inn played host to the Deep Creek Lake Lions Club and their guests, students and instructors from the Maryland School for the Blind, recently. This group of students (the first of four for the current ski season) are participating in the Lions' Blind Skier Program held at the Wisp Resort. For over 10 years, the local Lions have been sponsoring the program and hundreds of blind students have been able to enjoy Western Maryland while gaining self-esteem and confidence despite their visual handicap. The Lions expressed their gratitude to the many volunteers and businesses, past and present, who have made the program an outstanding success. Pictured seated from left clockwise are Calvin Jackson, Darnelle Woods, Amanda Garrett, Jay Griffin, Ruth Borgmann, and Dennis Brinkley, all Maryland School for the Blind students. FLASHBACK — During the 1990 Md. State Wrestling Tournament, freshman Allen Bittinger stunned western Maryland wrestlers and fans when he became the first freshman ever for Garrett or Allegany County to win a place finish at the state tournament. Since then, he has become the only grappler in Garrett County history to capture three state finishes, and will have the opportunity this year to become the only Garrett or Allegany matman ever to win four place finishes. Titles at states. Pictured above at the 1990 event, he upset Region III champion Taliaferro Warren, a senior for Frederick Douglass High, with a 7-3 decision. See story. Photo by Craig Speicher.

Allen Bittinger Hopes To Fulfill Dream, Make History At States

by Craig Speicher
I dreamed of a restless arena where untold untold soliflike that I could reach out and touch it if only I weren't spellbound.

In a sea of thousands of onlookers, a few noticed, in the center of the vast floor, what oddly appeared to be a grenade. Hardly anyone gave it a second thought. What would a real bomb be doing in a place like this? The crowd yawned and glanced away.

The explosion claimed four casualties.

As I witnessed the victims writhing in agony, falling one by one, I began to wonder in silent awe if this were not a dream, but the beginning of a story they would tell for decades.

It may as well have been a bomb that blasted so many hopes that March 1990 weekend at Westminster There, at the Maryland State A-AA Wrestling Tournament, four of the most dangerous 119-pound wrestlers state-wide -- two regional champions and two regional runners-up, seniors all but one -- hoping for their finest hour, instead experienced sudden devastation and humiliation as their laboriously laid stairways to the stars, years in the making, came crashing down in mere merciless moments at the hands of Some Freshman who only the week before had finished third in his region -- hardly anything to worry state-seasoned seniors. Now their worries were over forever; tears were more appropriate.

When the mats were finally empty, Northern Garrett County High School freshman Allen Bittinger had buried four opponents, capturing third place in the 52-team tournament, losing only to the eventual state champion -- but not without giving him a scare, also.

Bittinger became the first freshman ever, in two decades of Garrett and Allegany County wrestling history, to win a place finish at states, bringing him instant recognition across the state.

A year later, Bittinger returned to the state championship finals to strike again, this time grabbing fourth place, reaffirming his state caliber status.

In 1992, lightning flashed yet again, bringing another third place finish, and even some glory unknown to Blair Lee Bittinger, Allen's older brother. Blair became Northern's first state runner-up in 1989, then won the county's first title in 1990, his senior year. His solitary poster-size portrait now hangs on a wall in the Northern gymnasium, making him the only such honored athlete in Husky history. But as the 1992 state tourney concluded, Allen became the only Garrett County wrestler ever to win three state finishes -- and the first to be formally extended national recognition.

"We believe that you are among the very best wrestlers in the state of Maryland. We feel that you have the talent to compete with wrestlers from other states on a national level..." wrote Haswell Franklin, chairman of the Maryland State Wrestling Association, in a letter to Bittinger following the 1992 tournament. The letter asked Bittinger to sign a commitment to represent Maryland at the 1992 Junior National Wrestling Championships, held last summer.

The Jr. Nationals, as the tournament is called, is the largest (1,753 participants in 1991) and most prestigious junior wrestling event in the world -- and perhaps the most difficult to enter. For a Maryland matman to compete in the Jr. Nationals, he must be approved by the state association, which does indeed pick the very best grapplers in the state. Out of Maryland's 1,400 high school wrestlers, only 33 finally qualified for and competed in the 1991 nationals.

The event is so elite, in fact, that even after Bittinger accomplished back-to-back state finishes as a freshman and sophomore, the state association still did not solicit him until after his third consecutive state finish, last year.

Unfortunately, travel and training for the event would have been so costly that Bittinger was forced to decline the opportunity. Nonetheless, the state's offer indicated that Bittinger had developed into a national caliber competitor.

Just as he was the first in Garrett County to be sought by the Maryland State Wrestling Association, he was also the first to break his brother's county record of individual career wins, 82, which he did in his first match this season. And he is now rapidly closing in on the Bi-County (Garrett/Allegany) record of 103, set by former Beall High standout Ryan Davis. It is numerically possible for Bittinger to break the record before playoffs begin at regionals.

If Bittinger wins either the title or another finish this year, he will also become the only Bi-County matman ever to win four times at states, a record that could stand unmatched for decades to come, given the extreme difficulty of repeating at the state tourney.

To see how challenging it is to repeat, just examine the state tournament records, crammed with the names of those who won a finish as a junior, sophomore or freshman, but were never heard from again. In the last two years alone, Husky grapplers Tim Thomas (second in 1990) and Scott Butzel (fourth in 1991) failed to repeat in their senior years, while Southern Ram Jason Burgess (fourth as a freshman in 1991) also lost out last year, though he will have two more chances, this year and next.

But this year must be different for Bittinger; a place finish is not his goal.

"Winning the state championship is real important to me. It's what I've been hoping for the last three years. This is my last chance. I need to do it now, or it's over," said Bittinger in a recent interview with The Republican.

Towards that end, Bittinger reported pushing himself in various ways -- working on takedowns, "having more determination," and practicing harder. But he emphasized, "I need to practice shooting (takedowns) and (work on) conditioning more than anything."

Bittinger stressed stamina for a good reason. He lost only one match during last year's tourney, and feels strongly that he could have won if he were in better shape.

Of course, it takes other factors to win, too. "I also need to work out with my brother," he said, explaining that the two often practice on a well padded carpet at home.

Asked whether it is difficult for him to seek guidance from his near-legendary sibling, Bittinger said, "Yes, sometimes, but he knows what it takes to make a state champion."

There are other aspects to having a former state champion for a brother.

"It's hard when you know everybody expects you to win and sometimes they push too hard and expect too much. It's a lot of pressure."

On the other hand, Bittinger said that improvement can result only from "... more pressure, and I do need it to make me work harder."

Why did he succeed so suddenly at states? "I was introduced to the sport earlier than others," Bittinger said, referring to his participation in Northern Youth Wrestling. He discredited any special techniques.

"You don't have to know all the moves in the world, just master the ones you do know. If you have that and conditioning you'll make it."

Bittinger knows he is not the only Husky aiming for a state title. More than a few others also have serious prospects for the tourney, but Bittinger stands in particular awe of senior heavyweight Jason Fazzenbaker (season record, 9-0), who in his first full varsity season last year finished among the top six at 189 pounds.

"I think Jason has a great chance at winning at states this year. He works hard and has a lot of determination, and that is what it takes. You can tell he really wants it."

So do Chris Rowe (senior, 17-0 as of Monday), Greg Miller (senior, 16-1), Tirrell Burdock (sophomore, 16-0) and every other Husky matman. A state tournament can run every which way for a team loaded with as many solid prospects as the current Northern lineup, possibly the strongest every.

No matter what happens at this year's tournament, though, local matmen will long be talking of Allen Bittinger. And if he wins this year, he will become not just a story for the decades, but a Husky legend forever.

Ram Grapplers Lose Tri-Match

The Southern High wrestling team hosted a tri-match last night with Clay-Battelle and Morgantown, and the under-manned Ram squad was defeated by the visitors, 45-22 and 39-17, respectively.

Against Clay-Battelle, Jason Burgess continued his unbeaten string by out-pointing Jason Shriver in the 125-pound class, 15-2. Mike Liller, Kevin Andrews, and Pete Strawser all recorded pins for the Rams in their respective weight classes.

Jack Starsick recorded Clay-Battelle's only pin, while Cliff Anderson won by decision. The other six Clay-Battelle victories were by forfeit.

Liller also recorded a pin against Morgantown's Ron Smith, while Strawser earned a technical fall over Justin Ayersman. Burgess was awarded a win by forfeit.

Clay-Battelle also defeated Morgantown, 48-23.

Three matches were decided by double forfeit and Morgantown picked up five MORGANTOWN 36 SOUTHERN 17

Husky Matmen Out-Point Rams

Despite the fact that only one member of the Southern High School wrestling team lost his match against Northern High School Tuesday night in Oakland, the Rams were defeated by the Huskies, 54-21. The problem is that there are presently only five members of the Southern squad, four of whom won their matches.

Recording pins for the Rams were undefeated Jason Burgess in the 125-pound bout, Mike Liller in the 130-pound division, and Sonny Livengood in the 171-pound clash.

The only Husky to win via a pin was undefeated Chris Rowe in the 135-pound division. All other Northern wins were for forfeits.

Southern's Pete Strawser avenged an earlier loss by defeating Greg Miller on points in the 145-pound class, 8-1. Miller had previously handed Strawser one of his two losses on the season.

The team victory gave the Huskies a 10-1 mark in dual meets.

The Rams competed again last night at home in a tri-meet with Clay Battelle and Morgantown (see separate story).

Huskies Roll To Easy Wins Over Flintstone, Elk Garden

The Northern High Huskies upped their season mark to 10-3 this past week with an easy 63-45 win over host Flintstone Friday night and an 80-29 blowout of Elk Garden Tuesday evening on the Stags' floor.

Coach Harv Speicher will attempt to avenge an earlier loss to Union High this Friday night at home.

Paul Edwards and Brian Kamp spearheaded the Huskies' offensive effort against 4-8 Flintstone Friday night, finishing with 20 and 19 points, respectively. Kamp also pulled down a game-high 17 rebounds.

The Aggies played evenly with the Huskies in the first quarter, which ended in a 14-14 tie, however, Northern out-scored the home team in the second quarter, 17-9, to take a 31-23 advantage. They extended their lead to NORTHERN (63)

Rob Speicher recorded five steals and 10 assists for the Huskies, while Chris Horsman, Travis Cease, and Kevin Rice netted 17, 12, and 11 points for the Aggies. Horsman also grabbed 13 rebounds.

The Northern junior varsity had a similarly easy time in the preliminary game, rolling to a 59-38 win over the Flintstone jayvees.

Scott Hinebaugh led the Husky attack with 23 points and Mark Hinebaugh finished with 13. Harold Turner recorded 11 points for the Aggies.

Kamp finished with 20 points and 15 rebounds in the laughter over Elk Garden Tuesday night, while Speicher added 10 points and 10 assists and Edwards and Chris Wachter also scored 10 points each.

Northern led 19-4 at the end of the first quarter, 41-17 at halftime, and 61-21 after three periods. Every member of the Husky team participated, as Coach Speicher tried to keep from running up the score.

Dave Kepinger scored 15 points for the Stags, who fell to 0-9 on the season.

The junior varsity game was just as embarrassing for the Elk Garden fans, as the Northern jayvees won handily, 58-12.

Three point goals: Northern 0, Elk Garden 5 (Kepinger 4, Baker 1). Total fouls: Northern 14, Elk Garden 19. Fouled out: Evans (Elk Garden).

Northern Girls Edged By Sentinels Before Defeating Flintstone, 54-36

The Northern High School girls' varsity split a pair of games this past week, falling to host Fort Hill Monday night, 48-43, and coming back to defeat visiting Flintstone last night, 54-36.

The results left Coach Larry Speicher's team with a 7-6 mark, and they will attempt to avenge an earlier loss to Bishop Walsh when the Spartans come to Accident on Monday.

The contest with Fort Hill (5-6) was close from the opening tip-off, as the lead changed hands several times until late in the fourth quarter when the Sentinels pulled away.

Fort Hill held a 12-10 lead at the end of the first quarter, Northern was on top by one, 22-21, at intermission, and the Huskies held a 32-30 advantage at the end of the third period.

Northern's Wanda Swartzwelder and Michelle McCarty both fouled out in the final minutes of the fourth period, which helped the home team take a two-point lead with 3:50 remaining and connect at the foul line down the stretch to record the five-point victory.

Krista Smith hit three of four free tosses in the final two minutes for the Sentinels.

Dawn Lancaster recorded 22 points and six steals to pace Fort Hill, while teammate Smith scored 12 points and grabbed 14 rebounds.

Flida Schofield finished with 11 points to lead the Huskies.

The Northern junior varsity won the preliminary game, 31-16, behind an eight-point effort by Jennifer Morgan. Stacy Hall scored eight for Fort Hill.

Three Huskies finished in double figures last night as they handed the Flintstone Aggies their ninth loss in 10 games.

Lisa Stephens recorded 18 points and seven assists, Swartzwelder followed with 11 points, and McCarty added 10 points, as the Huskies were never really threatened by the Aggies.

Northern jumped out at a 17-6 lead by the end of the first quarter, led 27-9 at halftime, and went into the final stanza with a comfortable 44-18 advantage.

Schofield grabbed 13 rebounds for the Huskies, who played their best offensive game of the year, according to Coach Speicher.

Leading the Aggies was Traci Mullenax with 15 points. Beth Hoopengardner netted 13 points, pulled 11 rebounds, and had three steals, while Amy Payne recorded 12 rebounds and three steals.

The Northern junior varsity continued its winning ways by whipping the Flintstone jayvees in the preliminary game, 37-15. Laura Swartzwelder and Danielle Pike each scored eight points for the Huskies.

Newcomb Powers Rams Past Alco For Eighth Win

Carrie Newcomb, the area's leading scorer in high school girls' varsity basketball, ripped the nets for 31 points Monday night at Allegany to pace the Rams to a 40-37 victory, their eighth win in 11 games.

Newcomb connected on eight field goals and made good on 15 of 18 free throws, as she pushed her per game average to over 20 points and increased her free throw shooting percentage to nearly 75 percent, which is also the area's best.

After an 11-11 tie at the end of the first quarter, the Campers (3-7) moved out to a 22-19 lead by halftime and were on top by one, 28-28, after three periods. The Rams took the lead with about three minutes to play and held on for the victory.

Southern actually won the game at the foul line by connecting on 16 of 20 shots, while the Campers netted only three of six. The Rams were out-gunned from the floor by a 16-12 margin.

Amy Beeman paced Allegany in scoring with 18 points, while Becca Wagoner pulled down 11 rebounds and blocked 15 shots.

The Southern junior varsity was also victorious in the preliminary game, topping the Allegany jayvees, 34-27, behind a 13-point effort by Amy Jones. Tina Welch led Allegany and all scorers with 18 points.

Coach Don Stemple's Rams will not play again until next Wednesday when they host the Campers.

Peterson also gained support for his proposal to purchase two sets of soccer videotapes for use by the general public. These will be donated to the Ruth Enlow Library with a request that one set be housed in Oakland and the other in Accident.

President Lovett announced that participation at the Activities Fair held at the Dennett Road School on the 21st had "exceeded expectations." The group had a display table with soccer trophies, equipment, and a place to sign-up if more information was desired pertaining to the recreational program. The highlight of the booth, however, was the demonstrations offered by Selwyn Brown and Derik Spirk, who presented a mini-clinic to a large crowd of on-lookers. The group signed-up 28 new participants as a result of the effort.

Ms. Lovett reported that she has sent a letter to the Casseman Valley Association offering support for its efforts to increase the presence of soccer in the Northern end of the Garrett County. "We believe that this organization can only help to enable the growth of the program so we can eventually have competitive teams at both Northern and Southern high schools," she said.

In new business, it was decided that the group would pursue a spring season of select soccer for the Under-16, Under-14, and Under-12 age groups. Select, or as it is sometimes called, classic, soccer is a highly competitive process with team and tournament play eventually culminating in a state tournament

Mountaintop Soccer Association Convenes, Plans Spring Activities

The executive committee of the Mountaintop Soccer Association met Monday at Bausch & Lomb. Highlights of the meeting included discussion of the upcoming vote by the Garrett County Board of Education pertaining to the addition of soccer as a varsity sport for the fall '93 season.

President Carole Ann Lovett commended Dave Spirk for his presentations to the Board and the Activities Review committee which recommended the addition of the offering at the January meeting of the school governing body. The group plans to distribute packets of information to members of the Board to address any questions they may have prior to the February session. The proposal is tied to a comprehensive recommendation which proposes on-going Board support for any co-curricular activities on the basis of student participation.

Member-at-large and past president Tom Peterson announced plans to sponsor a coaches' licensing clinic this spring. The course would require 16 hours of training and a test and would qualify successful candidates for a FIFA "E" level license. He further indicated that the referee clinic will be repeated prior to the start of the fall campaign. Details will be announced as plans become final.

Peterson also gained support for his proposal to purchase two sets of soccer videotapes for use by the general public. These will be donated to the Ruth Enlow Library with a request that one set be housed in Oakland and the other in Accident.

Select, or as it is sometimes called, classic, soccer is a highly competitive process with team and tournament play eventually culminating in a state tournament sponsored by the Maryland State Youth Soccer Association (MSYSA), winners of this tournament then qualify for regional and possibly national tournaments sponsored by the USYSA.

According to Association secretary, Dave Spirk, this program would be very different from the recreational program offered in the fall. In a classic program, the program begins with tryouts, and only the top 15 or 16 participants make the team. There are very specific criteria that are used in the selection process, ranging from skills to dependability. "There are frequently some disappointed kids following the tryouts and we can only hope that they will continue to develop their skills for future years," Spirk stated. "One family I know was affected that way once, and the next year the kid not only made the team, but he ended the season as the leading scorer."

Classic soccer also differs in two other ways, he explained. One is the level of commitment. Teams normally practice three times a week instead of the usual two with the rec teams and they normally must travel to play in the games. "In Texas it was quite common for our teams to travel two hours to play in tournament or dual meets. Here, we could travel to the shore for some of the activity. It would be fun though to let people know that Maryland really does extend beyond Iagers-town," Spirk said, adding that sometimes Sunday competition is required.

The other significant difference is the cost. The rec programs cost $15 per player, while classic soccer normally costs $65-$70 per player during a start-up year, plus $8 to $10 for each tournament the team enters. "It's a lot of money but it's the best way for the serious player to develop his or her skills," added Spirk. "Improvement in soccer comes with each touch on the ball. The more you practice, and the more you play, the better you get."

Selwyn Brown has volunteered to coach the Under-16 team. He is employed at Bausch & Lomb as the loss prevention coordinator and has recently moved to the area with his wife, Anita, and infant daughter. He is a FIFA licensed coach and last year headed up the state champions in Arkansas at the Under-12 level.

Born in Jamaica and reared in New Jersey, Brown played college ball at Northeast Louisiana State and graduated from the program at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock with a degree in environmental science. He played professional soccer and was team captain with the Arkansas Diamonds of the Southern Inter-regional Soccer League. Assuming the team's form, the organization will be looking for volunteers to coach the Under-14 and Under-12 age groups.

According to upper level coordinator, Don Nuce, "All of this depends upon the level of interest we have from the public. We thought about having a full spring season, but we don't want to try to compete with the baseball program. We do want to offer the choice to players who prefer to pursue soccer at the higher level if they want to make the commitment Dave referred to."

Anyone interested in participating on these teams should call Karen Spirk at 387-8039. Players' names and numbers will be taken and they will be notified when there are enough players to form the teams. Assuming there is sufficient interest, tryouts will be held before the end of February.

Dr. Torrey Brown Notes Waterfowl Survey Results

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary Torrey C. Brown, M.D., has announced the results of the 1993 Midwinter Waterfowl Inventory, which was conducted from January 4-15.

Survey crews counted over 546,000 waterfowl compared to 577,000 last year. Population indices for most species remained unchanged in 1993, except for some diving duck species, Canada geese and snow geese. Mild weather and the lack of snow and ice cover resulted in a broad distribution of waterfowl.

Survey results showed that dabbling ducks totaled 66,900 in 1993, in 1992, 82,000 were counted. The number of mallards counted in 1993 was 40,400 compared to 53,000 in 1992.

Diving duck numbers showed improvement this year, totaling 168,800 compared to 94,000 in 1992. Significant increases were noted for scaup (78,100 up 41%), ruddy ducks (24,600 up 33%) and ring-necked ducks (6,400 up 3,125%). Canvasback numbers (37,700) remained essentially unchanged from last year.

Because of extensive snow and ice cover of key subarctic waterfowl breeding areas on North America during May and June, 1992, goose and swan production was poor. This year's poor nesting season was the eighth consecutive year that Canada goose gosling production has been below average to poor.

The midwinter count of Canada geese was 234,400, the lowest since 1963. Preliminary age ratio data from waterfowl picking businesses and hunter bag checks in Maryland indicate that gosling production was the lowest ever recorded for this population. It is likely that more than 95% of the geese bagged by hunters during the 1992-93 season were adult geese.

Midwinter counts of other subarctic nesters, like snow geese (43,300 down 32% from last year) and tundra swan (18,200 down 21%) were also lower than those recorded last year.

The survey was conducted by three aerial survey teams representing the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and DNR's Wildlife Division. Survey teams included pilots and wildlife biologists.

Any specific comments of proposals related to the 1993-94 goose hunting season are premature at this time, pending the complete review of survey, harvest and breeding ground information.

Proposed waterfowl hunting season will be announced in August, within the context of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service season framework.

abortion is wrong, that abortion is infringing on the rights of our unborn, to write to their senators, congressmen, and President Clinton.

Also those who are against gay rights, against men and women marrying some one of their own sex, against homosexuals being able to obtain spousal benefits from social security, military benefits, adopting children of the same sex or any children, homosexuals being accepted in the military, homosexuality being taught as normal in sex education classes in our schools. If you're not willing to accept homosexual teachers teaching your children, if you want your scout leaders, your 4-H leaders, and other leaders of our children to be homosexuals, if you believe they deserve all the same rights, all the same privileges as you, then sit back and pretend.

President Clinton is now trying to get a Gay Rights bill ready to put through Congress and the Senate, but if you are concerned, if you don't want those things to happen, if you don't want your tax dollars used to support homosexuals, then now is the time to speak up and let your views be heard.

Let's keep our nation strong. Let's keep our moral values and our Christian beliefs high on our lists. Let's write to all our representatives in the Senate, the House, and President Clinton and Vice President Al Gore. Jean Hollobaugh Cumberland

To the Editor:

On January 1, 1993, the Primary Prevention Initiative, Maryland's Welfare Reform program went into effect. In efforts to assist families to move from dependence to independence, Maryland has developed the "New Choices" program for parents receiving welfare. "New Choices" represents one of many opportunities offered by the Department of Human Resources to help families achieve self-sufficiency.

"New Choices" is a statewide program which offers a voluntary, day-long problem-solving workshop to families with children. Using a group approach, this program helps parents develop a process to identify solutions to difficult problems they are facing. The day-long workshop offers support and encouragement as participants share difficult issues and search for possible solutions. The goal of "New Choices" is to enhance self-sufficiency and lessen dependence on the welfare system.

The right choice of many welfare recipients has been the "New Choices" program.

The problem solving concept, while not new, has never been offered as an option for recipients of welfare. The group approach offered through "New Choices" taps into tremendous human potential, which we often under-utilize as we search for answers to the difficulties we face, getting children to improve school attendance and medical attention. The success of the "New Choices" program should be attributed to the ability and willingness of the workshop participants to share their life experiences with the group. Participants, during the day-long workshop, come to rely on each other for support and guidance in facing difficult issues. As we all know, it becomes much easier to face problems when we realize others have met similar difficulties with success. Participants serve as invaluable resources to each other.

As a result of attending the workshop, many participants develop networks to continue the support offered during the workshop. Networking during the workshop offers participants the opportunity to share resources and learn of opportunities which assist in their move toward self-sufficiency.

While no program can address the needs of all, "New Choices" is unique in its approach and offers welfare recipients a tool to overcome barriers which may impede them in their quest for independence.

For more information, contact Susan Fernandez, Women's Services Program, Maryland Department of Human Resources, at (410) 333-0059.

Sincerely,
Carolyn W. Colvin

line with a full floor-length skirt. A chapel-length trail completed the look. The shoulder-length taffeta veil was gathered in the back by a satin bow. She carried a bouquet of white statice, eucalyptus, royal blue satin roses, and cascading royal blue and white satin ribbons.

Jackie Habel, Enterprise, Ala., sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Diane Gianoli and Laura Martin, Peoria, friends of the bride. Holly English, Bushnell, Ill., cousin of the groom, was flower girl.

The matron of honor and bridesmaids wore royal blue floor-length satin dresses featuring princess necklines and full-length tapered sleeves gathered at the top with a satin rose. Royal blue and white flowers were worn in their hair. They carried bouquets of white statice, and royal blue satin roses. The flower girl wore a royal blue floor-length satin dress with lace overlay and featuring bows on the sleeves and at the back. She dropped white and royal blue petals from a white wicker basket.

Serving as best man for his brother was Tim Murfin of Geneseo, Ill. Groomsmen were Bob Park, Bloomington, Ill., friend of the groom, and Joe Murfin, Mt. Carmel, Ill., cousin of the groom. Mitchell Murfin, Knoxville, nephew of the groom, was the ring bearer. He carried the rings on a white satin pillow with royal blue and white satin ribbons. The groom and his attendants were attired in black tuxedos with tails, black vests, and royal blue bow ties.

Ushers were Larry Meinke, brother of the bride, and Eric Emert, friend of the groom, both of Peoria.

Pam Ogborn, Peoria, was the pianist. Martha McCartney and Helen Moyer, Oakland, aunts of the bride, sang the Wedding Song and, as the couple knelt at the altar, The Lord's Prayer.

The bride and groom lit a unity candle from aide candles that their mothers had lit.

Karen Coughlon, Peoria, friend of the bride, was in charge of the guest book and birdseed packets.

The bouquets, the bride's veil, flowers and boutonnières for the wedding party, the pillow carried by the ring bearer, the birdseed packets, and top on the wedding cake were made by bride's friend Diane Gianoli.

Chaplin

TriStar Pictures; directed by Richard Attenborough; starring Robert Downey, Jr., Geraldine Chaplin, Kevin Dunn, Anthony Hopkins, Diane Lane, Moira Kelly, Paul Rhys, Dan Aykroyd, Marisa Tomei, Penelope Ann Miller, Kevin Kline, Maria Pitillo and Milla Jovovich.

Charlie Chaplin was, arguably, the greatest actor/filmmaker of all time. To do justice to his cinematic vision, his political passions, his scandal-ridden private life would take a host of movies.

Director Richard Attenborough (Gandhi) sacrifices intimacy and depth by straining to include all the big picture elements of "the little tramps" life and career. But his film miraculously seems to impart Chaplin's essence nonetheless — through the true marvel of Robert Downey, Jr.'s brilliant interpretation.

Rarely has such reverential justice been accorded an historical figure. With exquisite physical grace, perfect accents and extraordinary range of feeling in his eyes, Downey fully captures the spirit and charisma of the man and artist. His is a performance of great soul as well as impeccable impersonation.

Another amazing piece of casting comes with Charlie Chaplin's own daughter Geraldine sensitively playing her grandmother Hannah, a music hall performer veering in and out of madness throughout Charlie's Dickensian childhood in the London slums.

The film is framed in flashback around a visit by the editor of Chaplin's autobiography to his aged writer/subject in Switzerland. From there, Charlie recounts his early life in vaudeville, the first, lost love who would influence his later penchant for underage women, and his fateful trip to America and glory.

Famous faces flash by too fleetingly, always at the expense of probing the intricacies and complexities of relationships and action.

J. Edgar Hoover's decades long vendetta against Charlie (culminating in the actor's exile from America), Chaplin's short-lived marriages and his enduring love for Oona O'Neill, even the actor's exuberance as he reinvented film as an art form capable of simultaneously provoking intimacy, hilarity and biting social satire, are given regrettably little weight.

Even with an uneven script and misguided direction, Downey as Chaplin is a joy to see. Moreover, the movie generously intercuts classic moments from Chaplin's own performances. Not only does this underline the magnificence of Downey's performance, it also should hurry audiences out to video stores to view the full works of the man said by George Bernard Shaw to be "the only genius developed in motion pictures."

Rated PG-13 for profanity.

1-10 Rating: 7 1/2. The life story of Charlie Chaplin, whose brilliant filmmaking and scandalous private life brought him fame, infamy and political exile.

PRIOR WEEKS RATINGS

Hoffa — R, "5 1/2." Labor leader Jimmy Hoffa uses whatever means necessary to gain and then preserve his position as head of the Teamsters' Union.

The Distinguished Gentleman — R, "7." A Florida scam artist gets elected to Congress and finds he is in the company of the biggest cons of all.

Forever Young — PG, "6." Despairing over the loss of his beloved, a test pilot volunteers to be cryogenically frozen in 1939 and emerges in the world of the 90's.

The Crying Game — R, "9." An IRA terrorist flees his cronies and begins life anew with the lover of a former victim.

A Few Good Men — R, "7." A brash young Navy lawyer defends two marines accused of murdering a fellow soldier.

matching ribbons were placed on the altar in memory of the bride's and groom's grandparents.

The bride's parents hosted a reception immediately following the wedding at Ravina on the Lakes in Peoria, Ill. The royal blue and white color scheme was carried out with white table clothes edged with royal blue satin ribbons and bows. White and royal blue balloons floated over the tables.

The three-tiered wedding cake featured a miniature bride and groom in a gazebo on top and was decorated with royal blue roses with taffeta and satin royal blue roses between the tiers. The cake was cut and served by Phyllis English, Bushnell, Ill., aunt of the groom, and Jodi Starbuck, Bushnell, cousin of the groom.

CBM Sound of Peoria served as master of ceremonies and provided the music during the reception.

After a honeymoon to Branson, Mo., the couple established residence in Peoria.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the parents of the groom at O'Leary's in Peoria on Friday, November 6.

The bride was a guest of honor at two bridal showers, one given by bridesmaid, Diane Gianoli, and the other by aunts of the groom.

Attending the wedding from Oakland were Iva Knotts, Martha McCartney and son, Billy, and Helen Moyer and son, Josh. Other guests attended from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Alabama, Iowa, and Illinois.
